

WHAT! NO REAL WHISKEY IN THE UNITED STATES?

English Expert Declares American Booze Is Not What It's Taken to Be.

ROT, SAYS KENTUCKIAN.

Kernel Cornob Doesn't Believe the Britisher Ever Touched Any Real "Licker."

What do we drink that steers our brains And makes folks act so frisky? An English expert now disdains To think of it as whiskey.

Old Demon Rum is still staggering at the awful swat he received from a hand across the sea and members of the Water Wagon Outing Association and Moonlight Picnic Coterie are now asking one another:

"If that ain't whiskey, what is it?" It all arises from the fact that Dr. William Murrell, physician and lecturer at Westminster Hospital, also expert on thirst quenching liquids, when summoned to testify in a case against two inn-keepers, said he had inhaled American whiskey and had failed to recognize it as such. Speaking of the Yankee product the eminent booze taster said:

"I tested it while in America and I must say that I did not recognize it as whiskey."

Think of This, Kentuckians! He followed this knock-out with another to the effect that most men who prided themselves on being connoisseurs of whiskey, in reality knew as little about it as do rank teetotalers.

The inconspicuous natives of this benighted country who for years have been shocking the W. C. T. U. by decorating their interiors with what they had supposed was whiskey naturally feel quite abashed at the doctor's revelations. Some of the doctoberers are of the opinion that he may have been steered up against a little Stryker's Farm coffin varnish or Bowery third rail essence, and that from this he drew his scathing deductions of the great American potation.

Kernel Con Cobb, of Toddy Run, Ky., who is stopping at a Broadway hotel, said to-day: "It is evident, sub, beyond the peradventure of a doubt, that the English gentleman has never tasted any real Heker. His acquaintance with American bottles or bar'l goods has no doubt been confined to Pennsylvania rye, which is merely a sort of inferior decorative fluid for interiors—a wall varnish, so to speak, for the human dining-room. Or, possibly, he knows only the Peoria, Ill. fell oil products, which, when not employed as a beverage, may be used to take off warts. "The gentleman should have come, sub, to the land where the springs of purest moonshine, pouring from the ice-crowned mountains, flow downward to where they mingle their fragrant currents with perennial rivulets of rich, red, ripe bourbon, and thus go flowing on together past concatenations of julep straws, having sandbars of granulated sugar, through jungles of greenest mint—in short, sub, I refer to the grand old commonwealth of Kentucky. It is not necessary to know liquor by the taste or sight. It is best known by the feel of it."

Expert vs. Expert. Old Dr. Ben Sammett, of Park row, who has just returned from London, says that Americans are blissful in their ignorance of what real "sikes is if the London brand of nose-paint is the real thing. "London nose-mixture," he said, "taken internally, is calculated to throw the ordinary tourists into spasms and allow various brilliant-hued animals, including elephants and hippos to romp through his system. For thruppence a navy can be so jolly well illuminated that he feels impelled to go out and lick James J. Jeffries or some old appie woman. "One beaker of London's justly celebrated may, as Dr. Murrell says, pull patients through typhoid, but after a brief experience with the article which he considers superior to our own make I prefer to have typhoid. Several other well-known connoisseurs were interviewed on the supremacy of American over English spiritus frumenti, but all were too full of their subject to do justice to it.

ROAST PEANUTS BROKE JAIL.

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 12.—A fire that originated by spontaneous combustion last night in its four-story brick peanut factory of the Norfolk Storage Company entirely destroyed that building, damaged the east wing of the jail and falling walls crushed a foundry like an eggshell. All of the 215 prisoners in the jail were marched to the police barracks under a guard of police, but nine escaped before they had been transferred to rooms in the court-house when the flames endangered the barracks.

"BIG TIM'S" ACT AS HERO IS SPOILED

Congressman Quit Rescuing Small Boy When Officer Told Who He Was.

Representative "Big Tim" Sullivan saw a man dragging a boy from the steps of the Hotel Metropole rathskeller at midnight, and, having made his reputation by taking the part of the under dog, he dashed upon the man and was handling him roughly when the individual cried: "Get away, Congressman; I'm an officer." "Show your shield," Sullivan demanded. Plain Clothesman McKay complied, and "Big Tim" hurriedly ducked back into the hotel, having begged the officer's pardon. The lad was one of three arrested in the vestibule of the Belasco Theatre for lighting cigarettes. The striking of matches there at the close of the performance had endangered the flimsy gowns of women patrons.

DOES DYSPESIA OR INDIGESTION BOTHER YOU? Do you know what it is to enjoy a good square meal? Even if you feel like it, dare you satisfy your desire? Digestion is one of the most complex functions of the human body, yet it is, too, the most simple. Digestion is simply the converting of food into a condition in which it can be added to the blood. When your system is overdone or run down, Rosell Dyspepsia Tablets, which are really a digestive treatment, readily set things right. First, the gastrics increase secretion of gastric juices, and saturate the food and stop fermentation, and then with the aid of the dyspepsia tablets digestion goes on naturally—that's the whole secret. Fifteen days' treatment for twenty-five cents may be had at any Retail Store in New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City and Newark.
