

DR. HAUBOLD MUST GIVE UP HIS SON

Child Given to Mother by Court Now Said to Be on Way Here.

Five years ago Bryant Haubold, son of Dr. Herman A. Haubold, famous surgeon and member of the faculty of the medical division of Cornell University...

Dr. Haubold and his wife separated last June. Mrs. Haubold lived at the Collingwood, in West Thirty-fifth street, with little Bryant. They had a separation agreement under which the boy was sent to his mother for a year...

Instead the doctor appeared and said he didn't know where the child was. He tried to produce out of this jurisdiction Justice Clinch gave the doctor until to-day to produce him, and Mrs. Haubold's lawyer, Edmund L. Mooney, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Nolan, still in deep mourning for their late father, were in court to receive the child.

Doctor Now Willing. The child was missing, but Dr. Haubold promised to restore him to his mother to-morrow—perhaps to-night—if he can get him here.

The doctor was very humble. He presented an affidavit reciting how he had kept the telephone and telegraph wires hot for three days in his effort to locate his missing child and custodian.

On Wednesday night, the doctor said, he telegraphed to the person having the child in charge:

"Have to produce him in court at once or held in contempt. Wire to club without code how to reach you, and go no further."

An answer came from Montreal Thursday afternoon:

"Wire too late. Bryant has left Wednesday night for Sudbury, Ont. I attempted to call Sudbury up on the long-distance telephone, but there was no connection," the doctor said.

"Whereupon I telegraphed: 'Must have him in court Saturday morning or be in contempt. Start back immediately and keep me informed of your movements.'"

"To this came in answer: 'You were too late for to-night. Impossible to reach Montreal, Windsor Hotel, before Saturday morning. Will go then to Boston.'"

"Yesterday morning I wired to Sudbury: 'Get back as fast as you can. Wire me your movements for court presentation.'"

"To this I received answer: 'Will give faithfully complied with every suggestion and direction of Mr. Howe, regardless of time and expense, and shall be able to produce Bryant before Mr. Howe at the opening of court on Friday.'"

Justice Clinch's face wore anything but a reassuring expression when, after making careful inquiry about trains and conditions, he signed an order directing Dr. Haubold to 'deliver Bryant Haubold to his mother, Elsie Haubold, at her residence on the arrival in New York of the train having direct connection at Boston with the train arriving there from Montreal at 8:25 to-night.'"

And the doctor said he would go to Boston and get the little fellow himself, in his eagerness to obey the order of the court.

Probably Dr. Haubold doesn't know it, but he has been shadowed every moment since the disappearance of little Bryant by Central Office detectives as to the operations of one of the big detective agencies, and he will have their company on his journey to Boston and return.

GOES ABROAD ON EVE OF HIS TRIAL.

Charles A. Henderson, Under Indictment and Free on Bail, Sails for Europe.

Considerable surprise was expressed in financial circles to-day when it was learned that Charles A. Henderson, under indictment in West Virginia for swindling a Wheeling millionaire out of $10,000 and at liberty on bail, had sailed for Europe on the American liner Philadelphia.

As his case is set for trial in Wheeling early in May, his trip abroad will necessarily be brief unless his attorneys succeed in getting a postponement.

Henderson's wife, who is a charming young actress up to the time of her marriage a year ago, is in Paris. It is supposed he has gone abroad to see her.

Henderson's trouble grew out of the old International Mercantile Agency, which failed with a crash about two years ago. The Wheeling lawyer asserts that Henderson sold him $10,000 stock in the concern, which was worthless.

INDICTMENTS FOR WASHINGTON LIFE

Grand Jury, It Is Believed, Will Find Bills Against Former Officers Monday.

As a result of the Grand Jury investigation into the management of the Washington Life Insurance Company previous to its reorganization by Thomas F. Ryan, indictments, it is asserted, will be filed with Recorder Goff in General Sessions early next week.

Charges of larceny and fraud against former officers have been considered by the Grand Jury, and it is understood have been sustained by experts in the employ of the District-Attorney's office.

More than a dozen witnesses were examined by Foreman Treacy of the Grand Jury, aided by Assistant District-Attorney Nott. Besides these witnesses documentary reports of Mr. Jerome's experts were gone over by the members of the Grand Jury, who displayed considerable interest in the work, as shown by the quickness with which they have completed their investigation.

After the "Big Three." With the Washington Life matter disposed of, the Grand Jury will make a demand upon the District-Attorney for the evidence he has said he had in his possession against officers of the "Big Three" companies, pursuant to Recorder Goff's instructions. While no formal demand as yet has been made for this evidence, there has been some preliminary conversation between Foreman Treacy and the District-Attorney on the subject. It is understood that the format demand will be in the form of a signed communication. If Mr. Jerome does not heed the demand the Grand Jury will report the matter to Recorder Goff, who will again instruct them as to their right to have the evidence presented to them. If the District-Attorney insists upon refusing to furnish the evidence demanded, indictments will be filed by the Grand Jury and the Court and the Grand Jury.

Col. Gardiner's Trouble. When Asa Bird Gardiner was District-Attorney he got into a row with Recorder Goff over the trial of a woman and much to the surprise of Gardiner the Grand Jury walked into court one day and handed to the court a written denunciation of the District-Attorney's office in the form of a press release. It is asserted, with reference to the records of the court, and it is said, he never recovered from the blow.

Investigating the Washington Life has given the members of the present Grand Jury a desire to continue insurance work, and they are looking forward to their examination into the present trial of the big concern. They will have several expert accountants on the grand jury, and it will be their right to give into the books of the "Big Three."

RILEY GRANNAN BACK; GIVES HIMSELF UP.

Race Track Plunger Wanted on Warrant Sworn Out by His Wife for Non-Support.

Riley Grannan, the race track plunger, walked into the West Side Court room to surrender himself to the service of a warrant charging him with non-support of his wife. Grannan said he was willing to give her $10 a week, but his attorney advised the case until to-morrow in order that Mrs. Grannan may be present.

Grannan was placed in the custody of his lawyer, Dan O'Reilly. He said he returned yesterday from Henning's, where he had been confined. The warrant was issued last winter on his wife's application.

"This matter before in court on this matter before," said Grannan, "I was in New Orleans and was having a good season, so I put it off for this."

SHOWMEN WEEP AS BAILEY IS BURIED

Simple, But Impressive Service as Great Circus Owner is Laid to Rest.

Funeral services over the body of the late James A. Bailey were held at two o'clock this afternoon at his beautiful home, the Knolls, Corcoran Manor, Mount Vernon. Members of Mr. Bailey's family, such of his associates as could reach New York and the devoted members of his business staff, were the sole attendants. Earlier in the day about one hundred and fifty of the principal performers passed through the room in which the coffin was lying and gazed upon the face of the man who had been the friend and employer of most of them for many years.

The Rev. Harry H. Beattys, of the Chester Hill M. E. Church, conducted the services, which were short but impressive. Dressed in a simple suit, he sobbed without restraint as the lid was placed on the coffin and preparations were made for the removal of the body to Woodlawn Cemetery.

The funeral cortege was short and all possible display was avoided. Those who saw the body of the great showman lowered into the grave were the wife, her brothers Joseph and Theodore McCaddon, Mrs. Edard McEneaney, Dr. W. F. Harper and wife, Mrs. Anna Hutchison, Mrs. M. Larkin and Charles Hutchison, Mrs. Edard McEneaney, Dr. W. F. Harper and wife, Mrs. Anna Hutchison, Mrs. M. Larkin and Charles Hutchison.

The addition to floral pieces sent by performers and other employees of the circus were tributes from the staffs of other circuses. Buffalo Bill, from Italy, sent orders for a beautiful wreath. There were set pieces from the Ringling Circus, the John Robinson Circus, the Pawnee Bill Show, the Wallace Show and Hagenback's Show, all of which are rivals of the Barnum & Bailey.

STAR BOWLERS IN CLOSE TOURNAMENT CONTESTS

Greater New York Series on Three Alleys Result in Very Exciting Games.

John Nelson, the Brooklyn star bowler from the Universal alleys, bumped into a hard proposition last night at the New Star Casino alleys, One Hundred and Seventh street and Lexington avenue, where P. J. Riddell won a series of six out of nine games in the Greater New York individual tournament.

In two games of the series, which is the best six out of eleven, Riddell won by a total of three pins. There was a big crowd present to see the games. The scores: Riddell—189, 103, 100, 158, 210, 176, 180, 175, 225, 200, 222, 210, 179, 226, 211, 219, 192.

Riddell and Lindell rolled another lot of high scores in his series against Bert Allen, the Eastern Division alleys, ranging 210-23 for nine games. The Brooklyn "Red Man" averaged 208.9. The full scores: Riddell—220, 200, 222, 210, 179, 226, 211, 219, 192.

Riddell and Lindell rolled a postponed series at the Eastern Division alleys, ranging 210-23 for nine games. The Brooklyn "Red Man" averaged 208.9. The full scores: Riddell—220, 200, 222, 210, 179, 226, 211, 219, 192.

MRS. DEPEW WILL BE HERE TO-MORROW. Coming of Senator's Wife, Apparently Not Known to His Nephew, May Be Significant.

The White Star Line steamship Celtic, on which Mrs. Chauncey M. Depew is returning from a long stay abroad, was reported by wireless from Siasconnet, Mass., to-day. The vessel will not reach her dock before to-morrow morning.

The return of Mrs. Depew's arrival at her home in New York is taken by some as confirmation of the report that she would remain in the United States. Her trip abroad followed on the advice of her husband and physician.

AGED WOMAN FELL TO DEATH FROM WINDOW. Mrs. Minnie Suffell, sixty-eight years old, a widow, of No. 346 East Forty-sixth street, fell from the third floor of her home from a rear window to the yard to-day. She was removed to Flower Hospital, suffering from contusions of the body, internal injuries and a broken leg, and died shortly after her reception at the hospital.

After eleven hours' investigation the police decided that she had been seized by a fit of vertigo while reaching out for a window for a bottle of medicine. Joseph Meyer and his wife, who is the sister of Mrs. Suffell, were in the flat at the time Mrs. Suffell fell from the window, but did not know of her fall until notified by the janitor, Mrs. Andrew, who found Mrs. Suffell groaning in the yard.

HARRY SHWAB IN HOSPITAL. Press Agent Stricken with Acute Indigestion While in Hotel Lobby.

"Harry" Shwab, the press agent, was taken to a private hospital at No. 23 West Sixty-first street yesterday afternoon, suffering from an acute attack of indigestion. Mr. Shwab was standing in the lobby of the Glisye House when he was stricken.

It was thought at first that he had suffered a stroke of paralysis. Dr. William S. Fishbein, of No. 21 Gramercy Place, was immediately summoned and said Mr. Shwab's ailment was acute indigestion. The physician said there was no cause for alarm, that the patient needed rest and would be well in a week.

Mr. Shwab has been one of David Belasco's press representatives this season.

Are You A MASON?

Perhaps you are; and perhaps you are not. Of the 80,000,000 people in the United States how many of the eligibles belong to secret societies?

Not one man in every ten thousand can answer this question any way nearly correct.

In New York State alone there are 126,177 men who are members of the Masonic Order.

If you would like to know how many there are in the United States, and how many in each State, consult the

1906 World Almanac

There are many secret societies besides the Masonic Order; in fact there are more Odd Fellows than there are Masons.

The Masons, no doubt, had something to say about the building of King Solomon's Temple, but they did not necessarily have a monopoly of the secret society business.

There are 1,175,635 Odd Fellows in the United States and 1,062,425 Masons.

There are other secret societies, such as the Royal Arcanum, Knights of Pythias, the Good Templars, and perhaps a hundred or more fraternal orders built on the secret society basis.

The 1906 Almanac tells about each and every one of them. Price, 25 Cts. By Mail, 35 Cts.
