

THREE SAWED THEIR WAY OUT OF CASTLE WILLIAM

Prisoners Lowered Themselves With Blankets and Flew in Boat.

HAD "OUTSIDE" HELP.

Police of Two States Join in Hunt for Men Under Sentence as Deserters.

Three soldier prisoners who sawed their way out of Castle William are being sought in every part of New York and New Jersey to-day, but seem to have made good their escape. That the men had outside assistance in breaking from the military prison is certain. They got away at 2 o'clock yesterday morning and reached the New York or New Jersey shore by boat. It was one of the most daring escapes in the history of the ancient and picturesque fortress. The men sawed their way to freedom through a heavily grated window on the third, or top, tier of cells, lowered themselves to the ground by means of a rope woven from strips of their blankets and disappeared while the guard was being changed, or within a period of five minutes. Call No. 6, on the third tier of the fortress, was occupied by twelve prisoners, five of whom were long-term men. Among the long-term men were Charles Comer, whose home is in California but who enlisted from New York; Frank West, of New York, and Ross Campbell. They were under sentence for desertion, the first for two and a half years and the others for two years each. They are the men who sawed their way to freedom. When the guard stationed on the western side of the castle passed a little before 2 o'clock in the morning there was nothing to excite suspicion. The guard mount came five minutes later, and when the relieving sentinel passed he saw a rough rope made from the strips of a blanket, dangling from a window of the upper tier. He gave the alarm. The guard was called out, and in five minutes the island, the smallest military reservation in the United States, was surrounded. But there was no sign of the fugitives. Only one of the escaped prisoners could swim, and the feat of reaching the shore from Governor's Island would be hazardous for the most expert swimmer. It is believed the men were supplied with plain clothes by their friends, who undoubtedly waited for them in a boat and rowed them ashore. Each was dressed in regulation army prison garb, which is of rough brown cloth. On the back of the coat is stamped the letter "P" in red, with the prisoner's number in white, and the number appears on the left leg of the trousers.

WORKHOUSE FOR RUFFIANS WHO BATTER WOMAN

Magistrate Expresses Regret at Inability to Inflict Life Sentence.

Michael Healey, a motorman in the employ of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, and Daniel Murphy, a conductor for the same company, were committed to the Workhouse to-day by Magistrate Whitman in the Yorkville Police Court for brutally assaulting Mrs. Lena Krug, of No. 311 East Twenty-seventh street. Healey and Murphy both live at No. 1874 Third avenue.

Mrs. Krug was a passenger on a southbound Second avenue car at 11 o'clock last night. Healey and Murphy boarded the car at One Hundred and Tenth street, the former being in uniform and the latter in plain clothes. John Singer, the conductor, asked Murphy for his fare, but met with a refusal punctuated with oaths. Healey joined in the dispute and soon the crowded car was in a panic. Healey and Murphy finally threw singer off his car and frightened half a dozen women passengers so that they fled from the car. Mrs. Krug stood up ground and called on some of the men passengers to restore order. At that Murphy kicked her in the side and Healey knocked her down with a blow in the face. All of the men passengers then made a rush for the assailants of Mrs. Krug. A free fight was in progress when Policemen Skelly and Winters, of the East Sixty-seventh street station, came to the rescue at Eightieth street. After a hard struggle they overpowered Healey and Murphy and locked them up. "I only regret that I cannot give you two things life sentences," said Magistrate Whitman after hearing the evidence.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How To Find Out. Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or floating indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order. What To Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or head effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Write, mentioning this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

GOULD'S NIAGARA IS TOLD TO MOVE ON.

Yacht Not Allowed to Tie Up at Pennsylvania's Pier at New Brunswick.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., June 5.—There is general comment here to-day over the ordering away from the Pennsylvania Railroad pier of George Gould's yacht the Niagara, which, on her way South, had tied up there for a day. Hardly an hour had passed after her arrival when the captain received an urgent invitation from the company to get away, and hurriedly departed. As the order forbidding the tying up of craft there is general, it is not believed action in the Niagara case was provoked by business hostility between Mr. Gould and the railroad.

To-Morrow Silk Jumper Dresses at $12.75

Those smart, fetching creations at a price that lends unusual bargain importance to to-morrow's selling. Not the ordinary jumper dresses that smack of the factory, but exclusive effects—the finished excellence of a skilled dressmaker.

No need to remind you of the unseasonable weather. That's a painful subject—but then, as the old saying goes, "It's an ill wind that blows no good." It's the weather that makes this extraordinary bargain possible.

Under ordinary conditions you couldn't buy a great many of these silk suits for less than $32.50—a wide comparison to be sure, but then you'll say the value warrants it when you see the dresses—then, too, these are such extremely dainty creations—nothing akin to the many suits now so extensively advertised as silk jumper suits.

Every dress the very newest, and most wanted style, both in color, fabric and general fashion effect in taffetas and foulards—$12.75

DIES HELPING TO DOCK STEAMSHIP

Bloodvessel Bursts and Strike-Breaker Collapses in Boat.

Theodore Anderson, forty-five years old, a strike-breaker employed on the North German Lloyd line pier in Hoboken, died suddenly to-day in a rowboat in which he had gone out to take a line from the Kaiser Wilhelm II as she was warping into her dock. With another man at the oars, Anderson stood in the stern of the boat to catch the line from the steamer. Just as it struck his hands he dropped to the bottom of the boat. It was supposed that the line had knocked him down, but when he failed to get up his comrades hurriedly pulled ashore and Anderson was hauled up on the pier. There it was found that he was lifeless. The ship's surgeon said death was due to the bursting of a blood vessel.
