

HAYWOOD LOSES FIGHT TO KEEP OUT WRITINGS

Judge Admits Most of the Articles Published in Miners' Magazine.

BOISE, Idaho, June 20.—The articles denouncing of Frank Steunenberg and other figures of the labor wars of Idaho and Colorado, published in the Miners' Magazine, were today read to the jury that is trying William D. Haywood for murder.

Judge Wood permitted the introduction of almost all of the articles offered by the State as showing the animus toward Steunenberg of Haywood and the other leaders of the Western Federation of Miners, and excluded all of them published after Steunenberg was killed.

The most important of the articles read to the jury by Senator Borah was entitled "The Passing of Steunenberg." It appears in the Magazine issued for January, 1901. It begins:

"On the tenth day of January, 1901, Frank Steunenberg, of Idaho, will sink into obscurity from public view, when he shall forever be buried, damned for the outrages he committed upon the workmen of the Coeur d'Alene during the past twenty months."

Continuing, it says: "Four years ago when the President of the Western Federation of Miners helped make this monstrous Governor of Idaho he did not have $20 in cash, but four years later in 1900, he was able to spend $1,000 to manipulate the Democratic State convention."

"Here Lies a Traitor." In conclusion the article says: "When men and women will bless the name of Paul Corcoran, the model husband, the honest man imprisoned by this filthy reptile, Steunenberg's name will be uttered with loathing. Farwell, Steunenberg, once Governor of Idaho; your political career is ended."

"You have done everything in your power to send the men who made you Governor to the penitentiary, and worse than all, you stand before the world as a convicted perjurer before a Congressional investigating committee."

"Your cheek has long since lost the blush of shame and your damnable deeds will never appeal to your manhood, for such you never possessed. Your sole ambition was money, which in your estimation was superior to honor, but you are good and upon your political tombstone shall be inscribed the indelible words: Here lies a hireling and a traitor."

Judge Wood said he had decided that many of the articles should be accepted. These were the ones printed prior to the death of Gov. Steunenberg. As to articles printed subsequently to that date, the court declared it had some doubt and would resolve that doubt in favor of the defendant.

Signed by Haywood. Senator Borah read from the issue of the magazine of February, 1900, an editorial entitled "Another Outrage," and dealing with the alleged circulation of a petition by Gov. Steunenberg for a continuance of the Federal troops in the mining districts of Idaho. The editorial declared that Steunenberg was being well paid for persecuting the miners' union, denouncing him as a scoundrel and an unscrupulous person, never known to speak the truth.

The next exhibit was an extract from a speech by "Ed" Boyce, president of the Federation at the time delivered on Miners' Day at Britton, Idaho in 1900. Boyce denoted himself mainly to a denunciation of the Standard Oil Company in connection with its invasion of the copper country. Boyce referred to Gov. Steunenberg as the hireling of the Oil Trust.

Under the heading "Eight-Hour Law" Senator Borah read an editorial calling upon the miners of Colorado to defeat Judge Goddard at the polls, holding that he was instrumental in upsetting the short day for workmen. Another article read from the magazine included a resolution adopted by the Western Federation of Miners and signed by Haywood and others, denouncing Gov. Steunenberg for requiring all persons assisting work in the Coeur d'Alene to renounce affiliation with any union.

Just before court adjourned Senator Borah announced that the State could close to-morrow.

HIS ACQUITTAL WINS HIM PLACE ON POLICE FORCE. Chauffeur, at Head of Eligible List, Not Guilty of Assault.

A jury in Judge Warren W. Foster's part of the Court of General Sessions gave Richard Oliver, of No. 109 West Ninety-eighth street, a job on the police force this afternoon by declaring him not guilty of a charge of assault. Oliver had been under indictment since last November when he was accused of assaulting a strike-breaking chauffeur. Since that time he had an examination for a position on the force and landed at the head of the eligible list, but Commissioner Blagden would not appoint him while he was under indictment. His lawyer, George Simpson, took him into court yesterday, explaining the circumstances, and a jury sworn and cleared his client.

BOY BITTEN BY STREET CUR DIES OF HYDROPHOBIA

Three-Year-Old Victim Was Thought to Have Been Cut by Fall.

Coroner Kennedy is to-day investigating the death from hydrophobia of little Arthur Heinz, three years old, son of John Heinz, a cabinetmaker, of No. 42 Troutman street, Williamsburg. The boy died in his mother's arms.

Although he was attacked by a mongrel six weeks ago and his lower lip had been lacerated, his parents were not aware of that fact until yesterday morning, when Dr. George H. Leyh, of No. 71 Jefferson street, Williamsburg, told them the child was suffering from the rabies.

An investigation revealed the fact that the little fellow had been playing with some companions of his own age, when a yellow dog dashed in among them and bit the teeth in Arthur's lip. The youngster's cries brought his mother to his side. His companions had scattered and there was no dog in sight. Picking the little fellow up, Mrs. Heinz took him to a neighboring physician, who sewed up the tear. It was believed that Arthur had struck his lip against the curb and beyond washing it carefully every day, no further alarm was felt about it.

This happened early in May. Yesterday morning Arthur was taken with convulsions and several times started his mother by uttering snarling sounds, like a dog barking. He carried him to Dr. Leyh's office and the physician at once diagnosed the case as hydrophobia.

"It can't be, doctor," said the terrified mother, who refused to be convinced. Dr. Leyh offered the boy some water and he at once barked himself into a convulsion which lasted until he was given a hypodermic injection. He remained quiet until 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when he was again seized with violent convulsions and barking spells. He expired before the doctor arrived.

"One of the worst cases of hydrophobia I ever saw," said Dr. Leyh to-day.

SURGEON 'FISHED' AND SAVED BABY

Hooked Earring Lodged in Little One's Throat While Racing to Hospital.

Heinz Rosa, eight months old and the prettiest baby on the block, is cooling and happy to-day after her perilous feat of swallowing an earring and having her life saved by an ambulance surgeon in the nick of time. The Rosaes live in the big tenement No. 31 East Twelfth street.

Mrs. Rosa wore big gold earrings which she brought over from Italy. Baby clutched at them, so she removed the ornaments and placed them on the mantel shelf. Then she resumed her work.

The glitter of the earrings attracted baby's attention and by and by while passing them a little pudgy hand reached out and grabbed one of the babies. In a twinkling it went into baby's mouth. The next instant the child was in convulsions. The distracted mother came with her baby to a nearby drug store, but the druggist could not dislodge the obstruction.

Mrs. Rosa was sent to Bellevue and Dr. Sherwood responded. He found the child literally at her last gasp. Attempts to reach the earring were futile. In despair the young physician ordered the driver to hurry to the hospital.

As the ambulance bumped along, carrying the weeping mother and the choking child, Dr. Sherwood tried to reach the earring again and again. He saw that the baby would never reach the hospital alive.

As a last resource he pulled his artery clamp from his pocket and inserted it down the child's throat. The ring in the instrument caught the hook of the earring and drew it out. The child was saved.

THREW DYNAMITE IN GREEK PARLIAMENT.

Cartridge Fell Among Crowd of Legislators, but Did Not Explode—Members Stamped.

ATHENS, June 20.—A dynamite cartridge was thrown from the gallery of the Chamber of Deputies by an insane man during an all-night session which began yesterday. The cartridge fell among the benches, which were crowded with Deputies, but a disaster was averted by the fuse becoming detached in the flight of the missile.

The Finance Minister, who was speaking when the outrage occurred, rushed to the floor with all the Deputies. The man who threw the cartridge was arrested and proved insane. The sitting was then resumed.
