Dashed Up to College. Father With Strange Woman Invaded Daughter's Room at Wellesley and Tried to Gag Her as He Struggled to Drag Her to Street.

(Special to The Evening World.) WELLESLEY, Mass., June 20.—Wellesley College was thrown into the wildest state of excitement to-day when a bold and determined effort was made to kidnap Miss Dorothy Straine, nineteen years old, a Dana Hall student, from her room at the residence of Mrs. Elizabeth J. Hurd, in Washington street, where the girl boarded.

The desperate attempt to carry her away by force was made by her father, Robert H. Straine, who lives at the Hotel Lenox, Boston. He and a woman who gave her name as Mary Smith, of Worcester, drove to the home of Mrs. Hurd, in Washington street, at dawn, and while Straine left his companion in the street he took his daughter from her room.

The girl's screams attracted William McLean and Jerry Bullman, neighbors, who ran to the house, beat off Straine and saved the girl. The men say the father was forcing a black bag over his daughter's head, and had a rope around her neck when they entered. The girl and the man lay on the floor.

Just how Straine got into the house no one appeared to know clearly. The first that was known of his presence was when Miss Straine awoke to find him at her bedside. Terrified at his appearance, the girl cried out for help and called the entire house. Her maid, who was sleeping in a nearby room, came to the rescue.

"You must come along with me," Straine informed his daughter. "Dress as quickly as you can and don't make any further disturbance. You have no choice about this, for go with me you must."

When Miss Straine refused to go with her father, he seized her by the hair of her head and tried to force her away. However, until McLean and Bullman got into the house on the run, followed by Policeman Armitage, Straine was immediately arrested, and later the mysterious woman was taken into custody.

This mysterious woman declines to tell the police who she is further than to say she is Mary Smith and how she happened to be in the house. She has no choice about this, for go with me you must."

Stops Runaway Near Ferry Crowd. Brave Policeman Kelly Is Dragged Two Blocks With Grip on Bridle.

An admiring citizen today reported to the Evening World office the brave act of a runaway by Policeman stopping it. Kelly, who is a boyish-looking young fellow, was at Barclay street and West Broadway when a horse dragging a driverless truck plunged west from Church street.

Henry Allen, of No. 77 Barclay street, had left the rig while he went into a building and the horse had taken a runaway. Kelly jumped for the bridle and clung on, scraping along on the side of the horse while the nag dragged him two blocks.

A big crowd was streaming from the gains of the Barclay street ferry, toward Kelly's animal dangle when Kelly halted him at Washington street.

Four-Year-Old Boy Tumbles From Window and Dies in Hospital. Douglas C. England, four years old, fell from a window in the fifth story of the apartment house at No. 47 West One Hundred and Thirty-fourth street this afternoon. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he died.

Mix-up of Passengers. Minority of Names Causes Some of Them to Board Wrong Ship. The White Star liners Celtic and Cedric sailed from pier No. 6 and 6th North River, to-day within half an hour of each other. The Celtic left at noon, bound for Mediterranean ports, and the Cedric at 12:30, bound for Liverpool.

During the morning the Yale team had some practice, and then went for an auto ride to Winchester, where, as the guests of an old Yale man, Samuel Elder, they had luncheon. Mr. Elder sat on the Yale bench during the game.

In the preliminary practice Yale showed to good advantage, the team work being very clear. Some enthusiastic supporters of the Blue wanted to bet 10 to 7 on the New Haven boys, and much money was placed around the figures. Harvard warmed up most satisfactorily and on the Harvard bench were several old athletes, including Bob Kerlan, Bert Waters and others. Class songs were sung before the game.

First Inning. Chappin was an easy out, Simons to Briggs. Madden grounded to Leonard, who chucked it over to Briggs. It was a bad throw and Madden went down on second. King popped to Manning, who fanned. Camp went out. McCall to Briggs. NO RUNS.

Second Inning. Leonard whacked the first ball served up for a fly to Church. Briggs fanned. Currier singled over first. Dexter was an easy out, Williams to Cushing. NO RUNS.

Third Inning. Cushing opened with a single to infield garden. He fell asleep off first and was out. Hartford to Briggs. Church rolled out down to Briggs, who tossed it to Hartford for the second out. Williams fanned to Harvey. NO RUNS.

Fourth Inning. Capt. Deater got a great reception as he came to bat. He swatted the first ball for a single to right. McCall bunted to Van Vleck, who tossed to Camp for a force out, but Umpire Smith thought Dexter was out. Four men out, Dexter was out. Simons bunted down toward first, advancing Dexter and McCall a base. Simons was out to Cushing. Harvey tried to bunt, but was hit by a pitched ball and Hartford came to bat with the corners full. He fanned. NO RUNS.

Fifth Inning. Van Vleck swung third, but couldn't connect. Chappin lined one to Leonard. Madden hit to Hartford, who tossed to Briggs. NO RUNS.

Sixth Inning. Kinney hoisted a high fly, which Leonard gathered in. Jones doubled to left garden. Camp flied to Dexter, who chucked it to Manning. Dexter's up. Jones at second. NO RUNS.

Seventh Inning. Dexter singled to the left garden. Kinney hoisted a high fly, which Leonard gathered in. Jones doubled to left garden. Camp flied to Dexter, who chucked it to Manning. Dexter's up. Jones at second. NO RUNS.

Eighth Inning. Jones placed a safe one over second. He went to second on Camp's sacrifice. Hartford to Briggs. Cushing smashed a single. Dexter flied to Manning. Jones at second. The Yale routers went wild with joy. Church went out. Simons to Briggs. Van Vleck batted second. Dexter came up for the Crimmon and fanned. McCall was out on a grounder to Cushing. Kinney hoisted one up for Kinney. NO RUNS.

Ninth Inning. Jones placed a safe one over second. He went to second on Camp's sacrifice. Hartford to Briggs. Cushing smashed a single. Dexter flied to Manning. Jones at second. Boy Found Shot Dead in Vacant Lot in Corona. Schoolmate, Carrying Revolver with One Cartridge Explored, Detained by Police.

Frank Jones, a thirteen-year-old schoolboy, who lived with his parents at No. 27 Tulp street, Corona, L. I., was found dead in a vacant lot in that town late this afternoon. There was a bullet-hole through the boy's abdomen which showed the cause of death. The place where the body was found was not far from the scene of the two strikes on little girls in which the Stamford girl was murdered.

The police of the Newtown station at once began a search for the murderer, and on learning that the dead boy had been seen playing with Albert Lipshitz, a twelve-year-old lad, who lived at No. 2 Willow street, they took him to the station and questioned him. In his possession was found a .22 caliber revolver with two shells, one of which had been discharged.

The boy vigorously denied knowing anything about his schoolmate's death, but was detained for investigation by the coroner.

Following the clue of the island-laden trunk seized at the Long Beach City depot, Sheriff Underlee of Nassau County, today took Detectives Daniels and Holmes to No. 44 East One Hundred and Twenty-third street, where the trunk broke into a flat. It was found filled with trunks loaded with silversware, oil paintings and rugs which the Sheriff says were stolen from country homes in Nassau County. One item was a polar bear rug worth $100.

The trail to Harlem led from a road house on Merrick road, near Fremont, L. I. The road house was leased, owned and operated by August von Sharrick, after the lease, Charles Schaag, had been imprisoned for keeping a disorderly house. Officers watched the hotel when burglaries multiplied in the county.

Yesterday the Sheriff examined a trunk sent from the hotel to New York. It was found it filled with stolen silver and raised the hair of four men and two got away after a gun fight. The men caught were Von Sharrick and Morris Burke.
