

expressed that, in the event of the Countess, there might be a legal battle for her millions. It is understood, however, that the contract thoroughly covers this ground, and that the appointment of attorneys can find no hitch in it which might be attacked.

CONVICT WORKED OVERTIME; ASKS $10,000 DAMAGES

John Rohr Sues Officials Who, He Says, Ignored the Eight-Hour Law.

The Jury Disagrees. Defeated Plaintiff Says He Believes in Union Hours, Even in Prison.

The most disappointed man in Westchester County to-day is John Newman Rohr, a former inmate of Sing Sing Prison, who sued State Supt. C. V. Collins and the chief officials of Sing Sing for $10,000 damages in the Supreme Court because he was forced to work more than eight hours a day, as prescribed by law.

ABE HUMMEL TO ATTACK THE STORY OF EVELYN THAW

(Continued from First Page.)

it I can live on hash and ham sandwiches and I will be glad to see the Swiss physician that came to-day," added Evelyn Thaw. "When I last saw him in Europe in the fall of 1904 I spoke French very indifferently. Now I think he will be surprised to see how much I know of the language."

Foreign Witnesses Land.

The much-battered and long-expected witnesses who came from Europe to testify for the defense arrived to-day. They got in on the White Star liner Adriatic, which was delayed nearly two days by stormy weather.

The party consisted of the following persons: Dr. Albert Abrams and Mrs. Abrams, of Paris, W. E. Jarrett, of London, Dr. George, of Switzerland, Dr. Kussner, of London, and John Wainwright, Washington, and Jarrett and Kussner are medical witnesses. The other three men are physicians.

They all are to testify in a series of alternate trials, and the testimony of Harry Thaw on the occasion of one or another of his visits to Europe during times when he was in prison is to be a medical case.

All the way over, the party preserved an air of mystery regarding their business here. It was asked to see whether or not they expected to testify in the Thaw trial. All of them said "no" and they stayed much to themselves.

At quarantine Hugh Herndon, manager of the United States Hotel, and Thaw's lawyer, boarded the steamer. He at once sought out the group and counseled them to testify before the grand jury. Representatives of the defense, including a couple of private detectives, were waiting, ready to fend off any hostile attack.

Clash Over "Lunacy."

While the relations between the District Attorney and the Thaw family have been most cordial up to this time, it is believed that when the trial is resumed on Monday the Thaw family and the defending lawyer will have several interesting clashes.

It is being tried to show that Thaw was insane when he shot White. The jury, the entire testimony taken during the trial, the testimony of Mr. Littleton was none of this testimony, read, as he says it was collected merely to inform the conscience of the jury.

Next Pension Roll

Will Total $150,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Congressman Keifer, of Ohio, chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations, today announced informally that the committee has agreed to recommend a pension roll for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1908.

Help Wanted To-Day!

As advertised for in The Morning World's Want Directory.

Table listing various job openings such as Agents, Bookkeepers, Clerks, etc., with their respective salaries and locations.

The World printed 406 Help Ads. today, 189 more than all other New York papers combined.

GUGGENHEIMS SILENT CONTROL OF SMELTERS

Family Still Holds Majority of Stock, Head of Company Says.

A slump in the price of the stock of the American Smelting and Refining Company in two weeks from 79.14 to 62.84 has been accompanied by a rumor that the Guggenheim family has been forced out of control of Smelters by the Standard Oil Company.

This report has gained wide circulation. But Daniel Guggenheim, head of the Guggenheim family and President of the American Smelting and Refining Company, positively declared this afternoon that it is without foundation.

That Henry H. Rogers and the Standard Oil millionaires are deeply interested in copper and control of American Smelters, is well known. Naturally it would be to Standard Oil advantage to secure control of American Smelters, because the Guggenheims, through their various smelting interests, absolutely control the price of copper.

But here is Mr. Guggenheim's positive and unequivocal declaration of undisturbed control of Smelters given to an Evening World reporter at the St. Regis Hotel.

"I wish to deny through The Evening World that the Guggenheim family, of which I am a member, has lost control of any or all of the enterprises or industries through which it engages in mining or smelting copper."

"I am president of the American Smelting and Refining Company and until September 1st I have been president of the same company. I have no intention of resigning and will not be called upon to resign."

"The report that control of Smelters has passed over is about to pass from the Guggenheims was first put into circulation by a clique of men engaged in bearing our stock. They have sold it short and are trying to depress the price for profit."

To Reduce Dividend.

All was peace and small beer in O'Connor's saloon at One Hundred and Columbus avenue to-day when in strolled Bill Cullen, better known as "Babe" Cullen, the featherweight scrapper; his brother, Harry Cullen, and one Billy Elmer, a young chap who has the same name as the athletic instructor, but who isn't the same person. A few hours before Mr. "Babe" Cullen had been scientifically trounced by Sam Keller, the English fighter, at the Polo A. C., and he was feeling somewhat irked.

Somebody seemed to know exactly how the pleasures started, but in a very few minutes the Meers, Cullen and Elmer were having glassware and bottles and iron-stone china cuspidors and the official saloon cat and free lunch fixtures and similar portable knickknacks at the barkeeper, John Gleason. Gleason had three friends in the place, but these three discreetly faded at an early stage of the target practice and were seen there about no more. When the contest in the post finally more, Gleason was in a very bad way. It was necessary to send him to Roosevelt Hospital, where the surgeons sewed up his nose, but several stitches in his scalp and dressed a badly lacerated leg, and Mr. Miller was able to leave the hospital.

Lenders, Not Borrowers.

"Along with other industries, we have sustained recent losses. But, as a matter of fact, we were lenders instead of borrowers in the recent crisis. I have investment have included fearing the dividend out and this has helped to depress the price of our stock."

"There is no honest business enterprise in these times but has to cut dividends. Some of our weaker shareholders who have taken our stock for investment have included fearing the dividend out and this has helped to depress the price of our stock."

Worked on Sundays, Too.

"One Sunday I was attending the Methodist services in the prison chapel when the chaplain came to my pew and called me out. 'What are you doing here when we are out?' 'You'll have to get busy in the printing house,' he answered. 'There's a hurry job to be done.' I protested that I had no desire to work on Sunday, but he gave me the laugh. 'All days are alike to you zebras,' he said. 'Of course, I got angry and the next day I meant bread and water and the dark cell for your truly. So I shut up. I worked many Sundays, always under protest.'

Rich Convicts Favored.

"The eight-hour day was once looked upon as sacred by the inmates, but not so with the P. K. (principal keeper) and other officials. Why, when 'Al Adams, the Policy King, was doing his bit, he was treated like a lord. No eight-hour work a day for him. The boys started 'scab' and got from the tramp line when we passed him by. Alford, the bank embezzler, who used to have his nails manicured in prison, was another 'scab.' I could mention thirty others who had soft snaps and whose work we had to do."

Besides State Superintendent Collins, Rohr named in his suit for damages former Warden Addison Johnson, Principal Keeper James Cunningham and John P. Powers, superintendent of industries, all of Sing Sing. The boys started 'scab' and got from the tramp line when we passed him by. Alford, the bank embezzler, who used to have his nails manicured in prison, was another 'scab.' I could mention thirty others who had soft snaps and whose work we had to do."

The law on which Rohr bases his claim is 429 of the Laws of 1896, which follows: "The superintendent of State Prisons the superintendents, managers and officials of all reformatories and penitentiaries of the State, shall, so far as practicable, cause all the prisoners in said institutions who are physically capable thereof to be employed at hard labor for not exceeding eight hours of each day, other than Sing Sing. His holiday, but such hard labor shall be either for the production of supplies for said institutions or for the State or for industrial training."

Said He Wanted Work.

Rohr had several former employees of Sing Sing testify in his behalf to show that he had been worked more than eight hours a day. The witnesses for the defense and the defendants named did not totally deny Rohr's story of night work, but swore that it was at his (Rohr's) own request that he was placed on the extra work list.

Roosevelt Has Big Gathering of Callers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—An unusual number of persons visited the White House to-day to call on President Roosevelt, among them being Speaker Cannon, Vice-President Fairbanks, Congressman Joseph S. East, and Herbert Parsons, of New York. President Roosevelt also had a further talk with Representative Richmond, who is frequently at his desk as early as 7 o'clock A. M.

JAP EMIGRATION TO MAW AND MEXICO STOPS

Mikado's Foreign Minister Refuses to Let Politics Affect New Plans.

TOKIO, Jan. 25.—The programme for to-day's session of the Diet, including the speech of Foreign Minister Hayashi, regarding the immigration question, was suddenly changed and the speech was postponed until Jan. 30, when it is expected that Viscount Hayashi will outline definitely the plans of the government for the restriction of emigration to America and Canada.

It is understood that the postponement was due to the fact that a reply from the American Government to the last memorandum from Japan was expected to be handed to the Foreign Office this afternoon.

Since the delivery of its last memorandum, the Japanese Government has issued the most stringent instructions to all governors and other officials concerning the regulation of future immigration along the lines of the future definite policy of restriction, which includes the prevention of emigration of laborers to America and Canada, except under given conditions, which will be satisfactory to the governments of both of those countries. No laborers will be permitted to emigrate to Mexico.

How 3 Fighters "DID" BARKEEPER

Cuspidors, Glassware and Cat Hurlled at Him.

All was peace and small beer in O'Connor's saloon at One Hundred and Columbus avenue to-day when in strolled Bill Cullen, better known as "Babe" Cullen, the featherweight scrapper; his brother, Harry Cullen, and one Billy Elmer, a young chap who has the same name as the athletic instructor, but who isn't the same person. A few hours before Mr. "Babe" Cullen had been scientifically trounced by Sam Keller, the English fighter, at the Polo A. C., and he was feeling somewhat irked.

Somebody seemed to know exactly how the pleasures started, but in a very few minutes the Meers, Cullen and Elmer were having glassware and bottles and iron-stone china cuspidors and the official saloon cat and free lunch fixtures and similar portable knickknacks at the barkeeper, John Gleason. Gleason had three friends in the place, but these three discreetly faded at an early stage of the target practice and were seen there about no more. When the contest in the post finally more, Gleason was in a very bad way. It was necessary to send him to Roosevelt Hospital, where the surgeons sewed up his nose, but several stitches in his scalp and dressed a badly lacerated leg, and Mr. Miller was able to leave the hospital.

Pistol Brought Down Prisoner

"Jump" Said Policeman, "Or I'll Shoot," and Miller Jumped.

James Miller was on a second-story fire-escape in the rear of an apartment house at No. 260 Brook avenue, the Bronx, last night.

Policeman Romer, below, pointed his revolver at him.

"Jump down, or I'll shoot!" cried Romer.

Without an instant's hesitation Miller jumped to the ground, the high leap jarring him.

Romer locked his prisoner in the Alexander avenue police station on the charge of being a suspicious person. Romer told the policeman that Miller had loitered around the flat house all afternoon. Miller said he was a painter.

Mother's Betrothal Made Him Take Acid.

Opposition to the approaching marriage of his widowed mother to a retired mail carrier drove Joseph Keane, twenty-one years old, of No. 415 Degraw street, Brooklyn, to an attempt upon his life.

He was arraigned in Butler Street Police Court before Magistrate Dooley to-day and held in $500 bail for further examination.

Young Keane, it appears, was always a comparatively small quantity of snow has been actually removed, though the centres of the streets have been well brushed and the snow heaped up on the sides. If not removed these heaps are soon blown back or worked up and have to be shoveled up again. Complaints to the Street Cleaning Department are coming in from all over the city, and the complaint is always the same—unfair classification of trucks and loads.

Countess Accused as a Literary Swindler.

DRESDEN, Jan. 25.—Countess von Sturza, a member of the Hungarian nobility, was arrested in this city to-day on the charge of having carried out a series of literary swindles. It was her custom, the police say to sign her own name to the works of authors of known in Germany, Austria, and other countries, and to receive large sums.

Roosevelt Has Big Gathering of Callers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—An unusual number of persons visited the White House to-day to call on President Roosevelt, among them being Speaker Cannon, Vice-President Fairbanks, Congressman Joseph S. East, and Herbert Parsons, of New York. President Roosevelt also had a further talk with Representative Richmond, who is frequently at his desk as early as 7 o'clock A. M.

Campaign May Dock to-Night.

The Cunard Line steamer Campana, from Liverpool and Queenstown for New York, was reported by wireless telegraph the Xarrows before daybreak and was waiting at quarantine for the Customs-House men. The Collector was shown how things were done and was asked to inspect anything to do with the Customs' trouble," he was asked.

Head Crushed in by Plunge from Train in Tunnel

Passenger From New Haven Killed by Fall From Platform.

After the passengers on the 8:25 train from New Haven had left the Grand Central Station to-day a worried looking man approached a policeman on the station platform and said that he had lost his brother-in-law, Michael Mulvey, of New Haven, who had been on the train when it left the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street station. The man, who said he was Francis Gilroy, of No. 31 Ashland street, New Haven, expressed the fear that Mulvey had been thrown off.

He said that he and Mulvey left New Haven at 4 o'clock in the morning and on the train left the Harlem station. Mulvey stopped to the platform of the smoking car and did not return.

The policeman and Gilroy went to the office of the station agent, who took the man to the old station in the tunnel at Eighty-sixth street, where there is a section foreman's station. F. Long, the section foreman, was instructed to take a man and walk north on the track to the mouth of the tunnel.

At Ninety-second street Long and his companion found a dead man lying beside the southbound track with his head crushed in. They carried the body to Eighty-eighth street and called Policeman Ryan, of the East Eighty-eighth street station. Ryan summoned an ambulance from Presbyterian Hospital, but the surgeon said the man had been dead for nearly an hour.

In the pockets of the dead man was found a letter establishing him as Michael Mulvey, of New Haven. Among them was a third class ticket calling for passage on the Mauritania. The body was removed to the East Eighty-eighth street station, where it was claimed later by Gilroy. It is believed that Mulvey fell from the car platform at Ninety-second street and plunged headlong against the tunnel rail. He was not run over by the train.

Mother's Betrothal Made Him Take Acid.

Opposition to the approaching marriage of his widowed mother to a retired mail carrier drove Joseph Keane, twenty-one years old, of No. 415 Degraw street, Brooklyn, to an attempt upon his life.

He was arraigned in Butler Street Police Court before Magistrate Dooley to-day and held in $500 bail for further examination.

Young Keane, it appears, was always a comparatively small quantity of snow has been actually removed, though the centres of the streets have been well brushed and the snow heaped up on the sides. If not removed these heaps are soon blown back or worked up and have to be shoveled up again. Complaints to the Street Cleaning Department are coming in from all over the city, and the complaint is always the same—unfair classification of trucks and loads.

Port Collector Shows Officials How to Hustle.

Edward F. Fowler, the new Collector of the Port, gave a surprise to the Customs officials to-day by boarding the tug cutter Hudson when that craft left the battery for quarantine.

When Collector Fowler was asked the reason for his visit to quarantine he replied that nobody should be surprised to find him on the job.

In company with Deputy Williams he boarded the Adriatic, which came through the Narrows before daybreak and was waiting at quarantine for the Customs-House men. The Collector was shown how things were done and was asked to inspect anything to do with the Customs' trouble," he was asked.

"No, not directly," he replied, "but I'm looking around."

The new Collector is proving himself of a different type from his predecessor as early as 7 o'clock A. M.

Unjust Measurement of Carts Is Claimed, and 1,000 Vehicles Taken Off.

Of 800 men who marched from the Bureau of Street Cleaning at midnight to give battle with snow-filled streets in the financial district, 400 fell exhausted from exposure within four hours.

Most of them were men in threadbare clothing—some in rags; few had gloves, and few had shoes that kept the snow from their sockless feet. Not one man in twenty had an overcoat. It was an army recruited from the unemployed that marched under the shadow of Trinity Church and worked their way down toward Wall street.

Then a few of the weaker ones—those with the thinnest clothes or the emptiest stomachs—began to waver. A few fell with shovels half raised. Others suggested like drunken men and dropped out. Those who continued to hurl the snow into the carts were blue from cold.

There is a serious hitch in the arrangements between the snow contractors and the Street Cleaning Department that may result in a complete rupture before the day is over. So declared John F. Chaughnessy, the principal contractor for this borough, to an Evening World reporter to-day.

Ready to Quit Contract.

When seen in his office, in the East River Savings Bank Building, he was boiling over with wrath, and said that unless he got what he considered fair treatment he would throw up the job and forfeit his $100,000 bond.

"I have lost 1,000 trucks during the night," said Mr. Shaughnessy, "because of the unfair classification of trucks made by the officers of the Street Cleaning Department. Under our agreement the trucks are divided into five classes—A, B, C, D and E. A Class A truck is supposed to contain one and one-half cubic yards, a Class D truck six cubic yards."

Now, ever since the Street Cleaning foremen began to measure trucks yesterday, under specific directions from their superintendents, they have been putting Class D trucks in Classes A and B. This means a serious loss to my sub-contractors, and they would not stand for it. They have been quitting the job by fifties and hundreds."

400 Prostrated by Cold While Handling Snow

Hungry, Ill-Clad Men Succumb.

CONTRACTOR MAY QUIT.

Of 800 men who marched from the Bureau of Street Cleaning at midnight to give battle with snow-filled streets in the financial district, 400 fell exhausted from exposure within four hours.

Most of them were men in threadbare clothing—some in rags; few had gloves, and few had shoes that kept the snow from their sockless feet. Not one man in twenty had an overcoat. It was an army recruited from the unemployed that marched under the shadow of Trinity Church and worked their way down toward Wall street.

Then a few of the weaker ones—those with the thinnest clothes or the emptiest stomachs—began to waver. A few fell with shovels half raised. Others suggested like drunken men and dropped out. Those who continued to hurl the snow into the carts were blue from cold.

There is a serious hitch in the arrangements between the snow contractors and the Street Cleaning Department that may result in a complete rupture before the day is over. So declared John F. Chaughnessy, the principal contractor for this borough, to an Evening World reporter to-day.

Wants Thaw Trial Details Suppressed

Evening World Reader Fears for Young Girls Who May Be Affected.

To the Editor of The Evening World: May I be allowed, through the columns of your paper, to make a request, which I believe expresses the sentiments of every decent citizen in this city as well as the entire country?

Is there no way of suppressing at least a portion of the degrading details of the Thaw trial? While the public may be interested in the case to the extent of wanting to see justice done, still there seems no reason why the nauseating details should be so fully published to poison the mind of every child who is old enough to read.

It does not require a mature mind to understand what is printed, and girls, especially at an impressionable age, are led to look upon Evelyn Thaw as a heroine, and some of the weaker ones become easy victims for men of the Stanford White type, after reading about one or two pages of sensational reports about her wonderful beauty, her terrible temptation and how she was so unscrupulously led to her ruin, and how she continued right on in the path after she knew right from wrong, and is to-day the most talked of woman in America.

There is no question that to many silly girls this notoriety may be even at so great a cost. We have seen the photographs in from three to four different poses on an average of two to three times daily since the tragedy, and it seems as if the public have suffered enough from "Evelyn and Harry."

To punish the plain facts is bad enough, but why enlarge upon all the baseness and degradation of the Vice but if you will be so kind as to print this I believe at least one-half of the citizens of New York will thank you and will endorse these sentiments. Yours very truly, ETTA FOSTER.

A Tip for Fat Women.

In a few years that excess fat of yours will become a bad habit—impossible to break. Better take time by the forelock and reduce now in a natural way if you would keep intact the youthful symmetry of 20 through the trying years of middle age. Go to the druggist and ask him for 4 ounce Marmola, 1/4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 3/4 ounce Syrup Simplex. Take a teaspoonful with meals and a bedtime. Mix them at home if you wish, but see that the Marmola comes to you in a sealed package.

This mixture makes firm-fleshed, well-formed women out of flabby, shapeless ones. It animates their stomachs to burn up the food fats instead of allowing them to gather at the waist line. Without disturbing the diet or requiring exercise to help it out, it dissolves the fat away just where there needed the most. It has been known to melt away harmlessly as much as 12 ounces a day without causing a single wrinkle.

Deputy Commissioner Edwards was in charge of the offices to-day, while Commissioner Crowley was driving about the city in an effort to straighten out the checking tangle. He said that there had been a slight mistake in the foreman had measured the trucks for simply the water capacity, not taking into consideration the heaping above the level.

This had caused a good deal of trouble, Mr. Edwards admitted, but an effort was being made to straighten it out.

"Of course," said the young man "the whole trouble was caused by wrangling between the contractors and truckmen over these measurements, but now that we have ordered that the heap measurement be allowed we expect to make a better record. We will have 4,000 men and 2,000 trucks out to-morrow, which is twice the usual Sunday shift. We expect to have the streets in good shape by Monday."

Many Victims of Cold.

All through the early morning the police were active in saving persons overcome from cold from freezing to death. They had been warned to be extra vigilant for such cases.

Passing through Rutgers Square Park a policeman saw a man huddled in the snow, almost unconscious. His hands and feet were frozen. When warned at the police station he said he was Alexander Pollock, and that it didn't matter much about him because he had no home or friends. He was sent to Gouverneur Hospital.

John Stimpert, a handy farmer from Manitoba, who is used to pretty cold weather in his home country, wandered into the White Star Line pier, at the foot of West Tenth street, so weak from cold that he fell unconscious. He was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital.

James Nickerson, a grocer, of No. 103 Stimpert avenue, the Bronx, started for market on his wagon early this morning, and when his team drew up at Gansevoort Market he was frozen stiff and sitting in his wagon unconscious. He also was hurried to St. Vincent's Hospital.

A handsomely dressed man, whose condition is so serious that he has not been able to tell his name, was found in a snow pile in Clinton Street Island, and taken to the C. R. Smith Infirmary. The traffic conditions throughout Greater New York and the suburbs are greatly improved to-day. The elevated trains and the incoming suburban trains were mostly on time, but there were many delays on the surface roads, especially by falling horses and stalled wagons.

Boys Rob Church and Try to Burn It

Three small boys were arraigned in the Children's Court, Brooklyn, to-day, charged with robbing the Fourth Avenue Baptist Church, at Thirty-fifth street, and then setting fire to it. The youngsters are Frank Marble, of No. 154 Thirty-fifth street, and Arthur Johnson, of No. 29 Thirty-third street, each thirteen years old.

The Fourth Avenue Baptist Church is a small frame structure and the boys got into it yesterday afternoon by breaking a window. They cut out the north end of lead pipe and then set fire to a pile of hymn books. The blaze was discovered before it had done any material damage. The boys sold the lead pipe for 25 cents. They were arrested by Detectives Charles Byrnes and Newman, of the Fourth Avenue station and immediately confessed the crime. They were arraigned in the Children's Court for further investigation.

Thousands Here Helped by Recipe

Announcement of Home Prescription Created Many Calls, Says Druggist.

That the readers of this paper appreciate advice when given in good faith is plainly demonstrated by the fact that one well-known local pharmacy supplied the ingredients for the "vegetable prescription" many times within the past two weeks. The announcement of this simple, harmless mixture has certainly accomplished much in reducing the great many cases of kidney complaint and rheumatism here, relieving pain and misery, especially among the suffering population, who are always suffering more or less with bladder and urinary troubles, backache and particularly rheumatism.

Another well-known druggist asks us to continue the announcement of the prescription. It is doing so much real good here, he continues, that it would be a crime not to do so. It cannot be repeated too often, and further states many cases of remarkable cures wrought.

The following is the prescription, of simple ingredients, making a harmless, inexpensive compound, which any person can prepare by snaking well in a bottle: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Any first-class drug store will sell this small amount of each ingredient, and the dose for adults is one tea spoonful, to be taken after each meal, and again at bedtime. There is enough here to last for one week if taken according to directions. Good results will be apparent from the first few doses.

Steady Nerves

are needed by all who work with hands or brain. Nerve strength depends on stomach strength. Keep the digestion sound and robust with

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 10c. and 25c.

DR. TOBIAS' Venetian Liniment

FOR RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, Pains in the limbs, back or chest, soon relieved. Sold everywhere. In boxes 10c. and 25c. Sold by all druggists.

Parker's Hair Balm

Clears the scalp, restores the hair, promotes a luxuriant growth. It is the only hair restorer that is safe for the hair. Sold by all druggists.

DR. MORRIS WALSH'S CIGARETTES

DR. MORRIS WALSH'S CIGARETTES. Sold by all druggists.

Religious Notices

Religious notices and church services.

Lost, Found and Rewards

Lost and found notices and rewards.

Real Estate for Sale

Real estate listings and property for sale.

Religious Notices

Religious notices and church services.