

DE CHAULNES DIED AS HE AND BRIDE PRAYED

Theodore P. Shonts Returns and Tells of Tragic End of Son-in-Law.

DUE TO HEART FAILURE.

The Duke Had Been in Good Spirits All Day Preceding Death.

Theodore P. Shonts, the railroad magnate, who hurried abroad early in April following the sudden death of his son-in-law, the Duke de Chaulnes, arrived here to-day on the Crown Princess Cecile and for the first time revealed the tragic manner in which the young French nobleman was stricken with heart disease.

"The Duke and my daughter were kneeling at their bedside in prayer," said Mr. Shonts, "when the stroke came upon him that carried him off before medical aid could be summoned.

"The memory of the Duke has been grossly maligned, and outrageous reports were printed about the manner and cause of his death. The facts are these: On the afternoon of the day on which he died the Duke and my daughter were out riding. They dined together and then retired to their apartment very early. After their arrival in Paris, my daughter told me it was their custom to retire at 9 o'clock.

In Good Spirits All Day. "Throughout the day the young man had seemed in jubilant spirits. He had not shown the merest sign of illness. He was hearty and jolly and immensely happy. So it was until they knelted down by the bedside together for their customary devotions.

"They were kneeling close together and the Duke held one arm about his wife's shoulders. Suddenly he lurched forward and then tumbled unconscious at my daughter's feet. He was a big man and the slight girl, but she lifted him bodily on the bed and screamed for aid. As she dropped the Duke on the bed there was a gurgle in his throat; then his body stiffened. He was dead before anything could be done for him.

Not Addicted to Drugs. "The death of the Duke was due to heart disease. The coating of his heart was too thin and he feared that he had little blood. It reports that he was addicted to the use of drugs and that his indulgence in opiates caused his death were infamous libels.

"Upon my arrival in Paris I found my daughter in an alarming condition. Her hair two weeks ago we feared that her reason had gone and would never return. It is just two weeks ago Sunday when the turn for the better came. I was sitting in the room with her when she suddenly rose up and cast herself into my arms, sobbing hysterically and weeping showers of tears. After this violent fit of weeping had passed she began to mend, and now we have hope of her ultimate return to health of mind and body.

"My wife and one of my daughters will remain with the Duchess throughout the summer. My daughter Marguerite returned with me. The Duchess will not come back to America for at least a year, as we do not think it would be well for her to take the trip until that time.

"The relatives of the Duke have been more than kind to my daughter. They have vied with one another in trying to do for her. The Duchess of Uzès has been more than a sister to her, so that she will be among sympathetic friends while she remains in France."

Mr. Shonts did not say so, but the report is that the family wants her to stay in Paris in the expectation of an heir.

FRENCH AUTOS CANNOT RACE FOR VANDERBILT CUP

Notice Given that Clash of Rules Disqualifies Any Makers Who Enter.

PARIS, June 2.—The sporting committee of the Auto Club of France decided this afternoon to recognize only the November race, under the Ostend rules, of the races now being organized by the new Auto Club of America.

This decision involves the disqualification of any French automobile constructor who participates in the Vanderbilt Cup race, which is to be run under the auspices of the American Automobile Association. The Auto Club of America is thus recognized as the only official association.

The Automobile Club of America has made plans to hold an automobile race this fall, under the rules for international races which were adopted at a conference of automobilists at Ostend. The American Automobile Association has planned to hold the Vanderbilt Cup race this fall, but the basis of the regulations for the race is said not to be in accord with the Ostend rules.

The Automobile Club of France and the Royal Automobile Club of Great Britain have both sent letters to the Automobile Club of America declaring that it will be impossible for French and British manufacturers to enter the same race in races held under Ostend rules and in the Vanderbilt Cup race. The French and British manufacturers have notified the American Automobile Association, which promptly notified the foreign automobilists that the American club is a national or international affairs must be addressed to that association and that the Automobile Club of America is a local club without national functions or jurisdiction. The rules of the Vanderbilt Cup race were left unchanged.

CUNARD COMPANY GETS SUBVENTION OF $750,000

Record-Breaking Performances of Lusitania and Mauretania Win Government Grant.

The record-breaking performances of the great turbine Cunarders, Lusitania and Mauretania, have earned for the Cunard Line the subvention of $750,000 a year promised by the British Government when the two ships averaged a round trip of 24.60 knots.

A cable despatch received at the local office of the line to-day stated that all conditions imposed by the Government had been fully met by the company, and that the House of Commons had passed the bill granting the subsidy.

A despatch from Queenstown announces that the Lusitania has made a new eastward record. She broke her own fastest run over the Atlantic course by two hours and forty-three minutes when she touched there, having covered the 2,822 miles in 4 days 4 hours and 30 minutes.

The four records of the Mauretania now holds are for the best eastern passage, the best western passage, the best day's run and the best average speed of 24.88 knots an hour.

Capt. Britton, who is one of the most popular and most able of all the transatlantic captains, was congratulated when the big ship docked, and had to shake so many hands that he hardly qualified for a Presidential nominee. No one was more pleased over the fine showing the Mauretania made.

PAPER BOAT STOOD TRIP, BUT SKIPPER GAVE OUT.

Capt. George W. Johnson, who was coming here from St. Augustine, Fla., by way of the sea in a paper boat, has gone into dry dock at Norfolk, Va.—the captain, not the boat. She, says the skipper, is as good as ever, and he will surely pull her up the North River by Skyscraper Row before long. Illness at Savannah delayed him, but he will shortly be declared for New York shortly, he declares.

The paper boat, whose name is not, but might be the W. W. Pulp, is not, as might be inferred from despatches, a folded-up craft like the kind you used to boat about in the wash basin, but is made from pressed paper, and is as a matter of fact, is a stout little craft. She was left at Savannah by Capt. Johnson, whose health became bad soon after he left St. Augustine on May 6.

The skipper covered twenty-five miles the first day out, and leaving the Creek early on the second day of his voyage he made his first stop at twenty-five miles from there, at nightfall on his third day he made his best time, 24.88 knots an hour. He was at Florida, then he fished, fighting malaria all the time, in and out of the Georgia reefs and shoals till at Savannah he was compelled to quit.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., June 2.—James Durkin, forty-five years old, committed suicide to-day by hanging himself from the grated door of a cell in the City Hall Prison. He had been arrested on complaint of his wife. It is said that he had been drinking heavily.

TWO KILLED IN OIL EXPLOSION

Plant in Cincinnati Set Ablaze and Manufacturing District Menaced.

CINCINNATI, June 2.—At least two persons were killed in an explosion at the Burckhardt Oil Company's plant, and a large amount of property was destroyed. The explosion occurred at 11:15 and 11:20 a. m. and spread, and menaced a big territory.

The plant, which is in a thickly populated section of the city, was set on fire, and was soon in flames, and at a late hour the flames were spreading and menaced a big territory.

A general alarm was sent out.

WOMEN ANARCHISTS ARMED WITH KNIVES TRY TO KILL JUDGE.

The women poked as a place of concealment a spot almost directly on the corner where they could safely hide behind a bush and watch the approach of any person from either direction.

There they waited last night, knowing that Judge Carroll would pass. When he came opposite their hiding place they sprang out and rushed him, shouting imprecations in Italian. The Judge knows enough of the Italian language to be sure that they were expressing sentiments of hate and revenge.

A skilled male assassin would have sneaked up behind the Judge and driven a stiletto into his back. The women, more crude and direct, made such a noise that he had time to sidestep and swing around to face them.

Swinging their knives the women jabbed and slashed, fighting side by side and to some extent in each other's way. Judge Carroll was compelled to use all his strength and agility as he avoided the knife thrusts and tried to land on the women with his fists at the same time.

He did not escape unscathed, for the front of his coat was slashed into strips and some of the thrusts reached his waistcoat and shirt. After nearly a minute of spirited fighting he managed to plant a well-directed blow on the jaw of the Caminita woman and she fell to the sidewalk, stunned. The other woman made a mad rush, and Judge Carroll, stepping aside, struck out his foot and tripped her as she passed. She, too, fell prone and half helpless.

Disarmed the Women. The Judge quickly disarmed the women, tossed their knives into the scrubby bushes and held their arms in such a way that they were helpless to do further injury. By that time a policeman had reached the scene and others were on the way. When the women were overpowered Judge Carroll went into the Happers grounds and found the two knives which he turned over to the police.

He acted as judge and prosecutor when the women were arraigned before him to-day. Against each two charges were preferred, one of disorderly conduct and one of assault with intent to kill. On the disorderly conduct charge they were fined $25 each and were committed to the City Jail for thirty days. On the other and more serious charge they were held in $1,000 bail each for trial.

The women said they lived in Cross street, in the Irish quarter. There was a noticeable absence of Anarchists from court when the women were arraigned. It is the hope of the authorities that word of their arrest will break down and confess the inner workings of the lot upon Judge Carroll's life. They had no direct grievance against him, but neither of them had been arraigned before him in court.

DINSER CONVICTED OF KILLING BABY

DINSER, the man charged with the murder of a baby, was convicted of manslaughter. The jury found him guilty of manslaughter in the first degree.

The testimony of Agnes Renoude in General Sessions before Judge Foster today caused the conviction of Gustave Dinser charged with killing the woman's three-year-old child by beating its head against a wall on Labor Day, 1906.

Dinser lived with the woman in a tenement in West Forty-fifth street and he is said to have killed the child because it cried and annoyed him. He hid the body under the stairway of an apartment house in Eleventh avenue.

The woman was also arrested and was sent to the Bedford Reformatory of which institution she is now an inmate.

Dinser was convicted of manslaughter in the first degree and was sent to the Tombs, to be sentenced Monday. It is probable that he will get twenty years. This was his second trial. He was convicted of murder in the second degree and was sentenced to life imprisonment, but the Court of Appeals granted him a new trial.

CHURCH TO HAVE "COURTING-ROOM" FOR SOUL MATES

Cozy Corners, Dim Lights and All Else for Sweethearts in Chicago Edifice.

CHICAGO, June 2.—Joy spread among the young people attending Christ Presbyterian Church when they learned that the church is to have a new adjunct of surpassing novelty—a "courtroom."

The "courtroom" is to be complete with cozy corners, screens, chaperons and dim lights. Everything to encourage the making of acquaintanceships between young men and women will be supplied in the new "courtroom."

The room will be built, says the pastor, Rev. J. E. Snyder, just as soon as property adjoining the edifice can be bought. The new structure will be an institutional annex, with a gymnasium and a library and other features, the courtroom dominating interest.

"We ought to have a courtroom for this is a church for young people," said the pastor to-day. "It is right that we should make every provision for their needs as they grow up. They should not have to go beyond the church for any essential, and a place to court is an essential. It will supplant the beer garden and other reprehensible meeting places."

Several marriages have been solemnized in the church recently. With the "courtroom" installed an immediate boom is expected.
