VICTORY FOR THE STARS AND STRIPES IN OLYMPIAD

YOUNG JOHN HAYES WAS SURE YEAR AGO HE'D WIN MARATHON

Plucky Irish-American, Only Nineteen Years Old and Weighing But 125 Pounds, Is Marvel of Speed and Endurance.

A LITTLE over nineteen years ago in the shadow of Cochran's Roost, John J. Hayes first saw the light. There were no bells on his initiation—in fact, his coming didn't even interfere with the week's wash.

At six he showed a penchant for running away. A ship's anchor could not hold him to the steeple. Around the block he romped, never tiring. At ten he wore medals—the tin ones the boys make and give to the winners of backyard races.

Said a Year Ago He'd Win. A year ago he said he would win it. In the little room he shared with his cousin, Pat Hayes, on the top floor of No. 219 West Forty-fourth street, he proposed a victory.

Employees, Friends and Associates Celebrate His Victory. Two weeks before he was to sail for England he went to camp with the Twelfth Regiment. He was fit for the race of his life and sure of victory.

Americans Close Olympic Games With Victory in the Last Two Events

April of oak from Windsor forest was handed to each man. These branches, together with the United Jack in which they were wrapped, were sent by King Edward.

Amid the cheers of several hundred of his countrymen, Halswelle, the English runner, to-day "walked over" in the final of the 400-metre (437.2 yards) flat race in the Olympic games, which was won originally last Thursday and won by J. C. Carpenter, Cornell University.

This is the race that was declared void by the judges on the allegation, which has been denied by the Americans, that Carpenter fouled Halswelle. Carpenter was disqualified from competing again, and W. C. Robbins, of Cambridge, Mass., and J. B. Taylor, Irish-American A. C., withdrew and would not run to-day.

Halswelle did not really walk, he actually ran and ran hard in an effort to establish a new Olympic record. His performance was a very great disappointment after all that had been confidently expected.

Dorando Wanted to Protest. Dorando, the Italian runner who was assisted yesterday to the tape in the finish of the Marathon race, and who has quite recovered from the strain of his awful effort, desired to-day to lodge a protest against the giving of this race to John J. Hayes, Irish-American A. C., on the ground that he had been interfered with by officials of the course and that if he had been left alone he could have finished without assistance. His protest, however, would have come too late for consideration, and he therefore did not enter it.

Hayes Gets Reception. John J. Hayes, with the Marathon honors fresh upon him, visited the House of Commons this afternoon. He was introduced to a number of the members, who shook him by the hand and congratulated him upon his brilliant performance.

Hayes is walking somewhat stiffly to-day. He said he was rather footsore, but otherwise well.

The winners of the silver and the bronze medals, diplomas of special merit, and special commemorative medals formed on the far side of the arena while the band of the Grenadier Guards played the national anthems of all the countries represented. Then the drums and bugles of the Irish Guards sounded the advance and the successful competitors marched by the cycle track to a number of tables opposite the royal box, where the silver medalists received their tokens from the Duchess of Rutland.

The winners of the bronze medals were given their prizes by Catherine, Duchess of Westminster, while the diplomas of merit and the commemorative medals were presented by Lady Desborough. The medal giving was quite a social event, and the audience was made up largely of women in their white dresses. The many picture hats and the bright parasols gave a touch of color to the scene.

Olympic Representatives Congratulate the I. A. A. C.

The following cablegram dated the Stadium, London, was received in this city to-day:

P. J. Conway, President Irish-American Athletic Club, No. 163 East Sixth street, New York:

We congratulate the Irish-American Athletic Club on the important part its athletes took in winning the track and field championship of the world. We are all proud of them.

JAMES E. SULLIVAN, American Commissioner to the Olympic Games. GUSTAVUS KIRBY, BARTOW S. WEEKS.

The Irish-American club members scored 53 1/2 points out of the total American score of 115 points.

RESULTS IN LAST DAY'S EVENTS. 110-METRE HURDLE RACE. (120.2 Yards.) Final Heat—F. C. Smithson, Miltonomah (Ore.) A. C. America, won J. C. Garrels, Chicago A. A. America, second; A. B. Shaw, Dartmouth, America, third. Time—15 seconds. This establishes a new world and Olympic record, the former mark being 15.25 seconds, made by Kraenzlein at the Paris Olympiad of 1900.

1500-METRE SWIMMING RACE. Final Heat—Taylor, United Kingdom, won; Battersby, United Kingdom, second; Beaupaire, Australia, third. Battersby, who was a close second, continued to the mile post and made a new record for the distance at 24m. 35s., clipping 9.3-5 seconds off the previous record.

400-METRE FLAT RACE. (Huron.) Halswelle, United Kingdom, had walkover. American refusing to compete. Time, 50s.

1.600-METRE RELAY RACE. America won, Germany second, Hungary third. Time—3m. 25.2s.

There Are Times When Americans Quit. In the Olympic games it is charged the Americans are not getting a square deal. They refused to continue in the tug-of-war, charging 15g unfairness; they refused to re-appear in the 100-metre race.

YES, IMITATION BALL WAS USED, BUT SWAT THREW IT AND SAVED THE DAY

B. Bulger, Evening World, Sporting Department: I am reliably informed that Swat Milligan once went down to defeat through the dastardly trick of Limpy Leghorn, who threw in an imitation ball, and the umpire called Swat out. Can you give me the details of this incident?

AL SELBACK. Catala E. S. Y. M. C. A. Baseball Club, No. 421 East 139th street. It is with a sense of profound regret, Al, that I am compelled to continually dilute on the unscrupulous practices indulged in by certain players in the Willow Swamp League. As you undoubtedly know, there was a player on the Poison Oak team known as "Limp" Leghorn, and he was so called through the fact that he had a stiff leg and walked with a decided limp. "Limp" was an ardent supporter of Swat Milligan, and on the occasion of the great game with the Meadow Larks the band of conspirators, composed of Harold Hangover, Zeke Bender, Luke McGloob, et al., saw to it that he was kidnapped one dark night and held a prisoner until after the game. This was a part of their foul plot to put a dishonest man in left field—one on whom they could rely to carry out their foul designs.

They cut out a section of the fence of the Poison Oak Park, and it was their purpose to hit a ball through this opening into a large potato sack just back of the park. They knew that if "Limp" Leghorn took part in the game he would discover the plot and would expose it to Swat and the public.

To further carry out their plot it was arranged with a crooked umpire that the peerless Milligan was to be put out of the game for an offense of which he was entirely innocent. Milligan was notified of the plot that was hatching by one of his secret-service agents, and with a sly wink he told the detectives to get them as "far as they liked," or words to that effect.

The great game began with due ostentation, but the great cheering was suddenly stopped when it was announced that Milligan was out of the game. It had also been reported that "Limp" Leghorn was not to play. A cry of disgust arose, however, as a man with a decided limp was seen taking his position in the outfield. Harold Hangover was dumfounded. His dishonest neder was nowhere to be seen. If he could have seen two secret-service men carrying a struggling man along the road, he would have had a better understanding. He would have been also very much amazed if he had observed a detective strapping up Milligan's crack collegiate pitcher, will be in the box for the Xelters. There will also be a preliminary game.

Swat Milligan would have disclosed the starting fact that two using left fielder was no less a personage than the peerless Swat Milligan, better known among the Poison Oaks as "Swat" and not so to him for they would surely have ascertained his majestic swing. He was content to remain in the outfield and work out his plan along these lines: The Poison Oaks were two runs ahead when the Meadow Larks went to bat in the last half of the seventh. Hangover's eye was on a certain set of boards in the 100-foot zone. "Limp" dared not go to bat for they would surely have ascertained his majestic swing.
