

FOUND SOLDIER ASLEEP IN BED OF GUEST ROOM

Deep bass snores issuing from the guest chamber in the home of David Godley, of Whitestone Landing, early to-day, caused the servant, Maggie Parker, much alarm. Maggie knew no company had arrived last evening, but she listened attentively at the keyhole before arousing the family. Instead of screaming for help, the girl awakened Mr. Godley's nephew, Edward Cooley, who quietly opened the door of the guest room. There, in deep slumber in the luxurious bed, with the pillows propped up about him and the counterpane tucked under his chin, lay a red-visaged man. On the chair and over the footboard of the bed lay the sleeper's clothing, and a glance revealed that it made up an artillery man's uniform. Cooley did not awaken the sleeper but telephoned to the police station at Whitestone, and five minutes later a mounted policeman was alongside the bed regarding the sleeper attentively.

"What a pity," he commented as he dug the soldier in the ribs with his knobby fist. It required several vigorous slaps to awaken the man, and when he did open his eyes he was as startled as any one else. He laughed in a shamefaced way when ordered to get up and get on his feet. He had come in the back door, he said, looking for a place to sleep. He wandered through the hall until he found a bedroom. He was very sorry if his presence had caused any alarm. At the police station he said he was Joseph Campbell, an artilleryman at the Willett's Point station. He was taken to the Flushing Court for arraignment on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Mr. Godley did not want any more serious complaint made against him. "Had he been found wandering about the house by one of the family the soldier would probably have been taken to the hospital."

Your folks will relish it immensely every meal—

The Wanamaker Decorators and Assemblers at Your Service

Interior Decoration and Assembling. You will not only find suggestive color-scheme and harmonies already assembled with the right pieces, but you will be served by men of the highest ability and skill who have made a loving life-study of color-harmonies and grouping. Perhaps your house is a simple, little modest cottage; if so your needs will receive just the same attention as though it were a palace, for each of our assemblers and decorators is a specialist and the one who would serve you is an expert in the arrangement of artistic things at modest cost, and is, himself, a lover of sweet simplicity, who can help you make your house quaint, home-like and artistic with the least possible expenditure.

The services of these men are entirely free. They will enter heart and soul into your aspirations and ideals and will help you to develop your own personal conception, adding their own expert knowledge and experience.

If your room or house should be of the more sumptuous character we have specialists in all the classic schools of decoration and your requirements are very carefully thought out, sifted, developed and crystallized by the ablest designers, originators and colorists.

When you visit the Gallery of Interior Decoration and Assembling you will, of course, view the "House Palatial." This superb house is of solid masonry. It has been built into the galleries as a part of their architectural plan and consists of a lofty foyer and gallery hall and staircase, Italian court garden and twenty-two rooms, all fully decorated, furnished and filled with rare works of art, brasses, bronzes, marbles and ceramics—a broad study of harmonious assembling.

Some Talkative Figures

71,000 people entered the Wanamaker Stores on Wednesday, last week (the opening day of the Galleries), between the hours of 11 A. M. and 6 P. M., when the count was taken. We believe this count was exceeded on Saturday, as anyone who was here on both days could see.

20,600 people passed through the "House Palatial," on the opening day—as many as could get in under the existing arrangement for the comfort of our guests.

Last Saturday the throngs came earlier and better arrangements had been made, so that 25,172 people viewed the "House Palatial."

Did Art and Commerce ever receive such a magnificent tribute anywhere in the world?

Seventy-eight Very Beautiful ELECTROLIERS That Formerly Cost Twice as Much

The MOSAIC SHADES on these superb Electroliers include some of the finest pieces we have ever seen. You may be sure we were glad to take all the maker had on hand, when we saw that we would be able to sell them for JUST HALF what they had brought in regular stocks.

The shade on the lamp in the upper picture, for instance, was made by hand, of one thousand, nine hundred and seventy-seven pieces of colored glass—almost as many as there would be touches of a brush in painting it. The shade is in Louis XIV. pattern, with bands of richly colored roses between conventional panels of exquisite workmanship. The base is cast bronze, gold-plated. It is priced at $150. The same lamps formerly sold for twice as much.

The Electrolier, with the beautifully grape-decked dome, shown in the lower picture, now costs only $32.50; though it was formerly $65. The coloring is rich and the design most ornate.

Very artistic Electroliers, with Old Dutch mosaic shades, are priced at $22.50; though they formerly brought double.

Another very elaborate Electrolier, with gold-plated cast bronze base, has a superb mosaic shade, in Louis XVI. design, composed of 2599 pieces of colored glass. It is a fine $400 piece that is now priced at $200.

The other seventy-four electroliers are of the same artistic character, and present the same exceptional opportunity to secure the highest art in this home-beautifying craft, at just half the usual cost. It is quite an exhibition, just to view them.

Several fortunate opportunities have come our way lately to buy good things for the house much under their usual prices. These pleasant savings we pass along to those who are fitting up or replenishing their homes this Fall:

Slag-Handed Carving Sets—From one of the best makers in the business. All guaranteed and absolutely perfect. And worth one-half more: Bird Carvers, special at 90c a pair. Steak Carvers, special at $1 a pair. Carving Sets, 3-piece, special at $2. Carving Sets, 2-piece, 9-inch blade, special at $1.50. Carving Sets, knife, fork and steel, sterling silver; ferrules, 6-inch blades, special at $3.

The Wanamaker Galleries Furnishing & Decoration

FACILITIES plus MATERIALS plus ORGANIZATION have produced "The House Palatial"

THE same facilities, the same organization, with the same decorative ability, that have created the "House Palatial" are at the command of every one who has a home or a room to furnish, however modest.

This fact proves that a NEW ERA IS HERE.

In the past, only people of quite ample means could go to a decorator to secure authoritative advice and help; because it added so much to the cost of the furnishings.

Now, in the Wanamaker Galleries, you may secure the help of the highest decorative talent, AND IT ADDS NOT A DOLLAR TO THE ACTUAL PRICES OF THE MERCHANDISE YOU BUY. The cost and amount of "materials" used are at the option of the client whom we serve, because all pieces shown in the "House Palatial" and the other Rooms of Decoration are assembled from the Wanamaker stocks marked in plain one-price figures.

This great SIXTEEN-STORY Wanamaker building holds the greatest stocks and the largest and completest facilities that exist in the Decorating and Furnishing business anywhere. ALL AT THE SERVICE OF EVERY CUSTOMER.

Up on the top floor is the best equipped Factory in the trade for Making Up Carpets.

The CARPET FACTORY
We have made up a carpet of FOUR HUNDRED YARDS, ALL IN ONE PIECE. Of course, we could make up a practically unlimited size by making it in sections. Experts have frequently pronounced the work of Wanamaker carpet layers as the finest and most accurate that can be done.

For years our Upholstery organization has been producing some of the finest hangings in New York City. The curtain of the Metropolitan Opera House and curtains and hangings for almost all theatres in the city have come from the Wanamaker factory. Scores of the better hotels have been beautified by our decorators, and many of them furnished entire. But, perhaps, the most artistic work has gone into the private homes of discriminating New Yorkers.

The Wanamaker Mattress Factory is one of our most gratifying institutions. Of all things the bed on which one sleeps should be above suspicion. Many years ago we found that to get safely sanitary Hair Mattresses, Pillows and Down Comfortables we would have to make them ourselves. Today we have every modern appliance for cleansing and sterilizing hair and down, and we KNOW that they are absolutely CLEAN and PURE before they go into the bedding you buy. And the mattresses FIT your beds perfectly.

Nothing tends so much to soften the tone of the newly furnished home as the intelligent intermingling of harmonizing furnishings with the charm of genuine AGE. For many years our foreign organization, largely under the direct guidance of Mr. Rodman Wanamaker, has been gathering up choice collections of valuable, historic and truly artistic furnishings and objects of art, which are now assembled in the Gallery of Antiques.

One notable collection came from the possessions of the late Duke of Cambridge, and a number of these fine pieces now decorate the "House Palatial," while others may be seen nearby.

The Wanamaker Furniture Stores, New York and Philadelphia, not only distribute the largest quantity of furniture sold at retail by one organization, in the United States, but we are quite reliably informed that the output of either of our stores, alone, is not equaled by any other store in the country. This gives a power and prestige that militates tremendously to the public benefit in the matter of prices on furniture that is most dependable in every grade.

But these stores have a still greater fame for the CHARACTER of the furniture shown. The finest collections of Period Furniture of American construction are displayed. Also the fine Library pieces that come from England's most famous maker.

We design and execute the work in producing original furniture, true to the classic periods, and we also reproduce from photographs of antiques any old-style piece desired.

The story of the Wanamaker Galleries and their past accomplishments would make an interesting book, but cannot be told here. Those interested in furnishings will find exhaustive collections of the things that beauty and make livable the home, in The Gallery of CARPETS and Oriental and Domestic Rugs.

The Gallery of UPHOLSTERIES and Wall Papers.

The Gallery of CHINA, Lamps and Art Wares.

The Gallery of PLANTS and Ornaments.

The Gallery of HOUSEFURNISHINGS.

If you have a room or a home to decorate, furnish or re-harmonize you will receive expert attention in the Gallery of
