

SENATOR O'GORMAN PATRIOTS ACCEPT HISTORIC MANSION AS WALKER, GOFFER AND A HOME LOVER

Chief Characteristics of the Jurist Who Will Represent New York. HIKES 54-2 MILES DAILY. LAUD GENEROUS DONOR And Not One Noticed Brian G. Hughes's Signature or that 'Tis All Fools' Day.

The chief end of man, so far as James A. O'Gorman, the new Senator from New York, is concerned, and after the official titles have been for the time forgotten, is the maintenance of a happy home. For nearly a quarter of a century the most important part of his existence has been that which found him as a part of a family circle that has been the one thing for which he has worked, and to which he has brought whatever honors and emoluments fate had in store for him.

The O'Gorman home is at No. 318 West One Hundred and Eighth street. It is a three-story brick house, and it takes every inch of it to hold the family. The house is half a block from Riverside Drive and some five and half miles from the Court House wherein he sat on the bench.

His Daily Walk. The distance is an interesting part of this story because it is the custom, and has been the custom, of the Judge to walk the entire distance from Chambers street to the red-roofed home. The minutes the judicial robes went to the discard for the day, the man who had been a real father of the judge, as he is long long tramp uptown. Few of his associates know that he is perhaps the champion long-distance pedestrian of the official set. Walks that made the army officers raise their voices in protest have been undertaken by him for the sheer love of the thing.

Magistrate Gives Figures. Magistrate Corrigan then read the following statistics: "The arrests for felonies in 1909 were 3,000, for misdemeanors, 17,000, making a total of 20,000, resulting in 12,000 convictions, or about 60 per cent. In 1910 the arrests for felonies were 2,000; for misdemeanors, 17,000, making a total of 19,000, resulting in 11,000 convictions, or about 58 per cent. These figures are exclusive of juvenile delinquency.

In 1909 there were 1,700 arrests for juvenile delinquency in 1910 there were 1,200 arrests for juvenile delinquency. The percentage show that, by taking the last six months in 1909 and 1910 and comparing them, there was a decrease in 1910 of 29 per cent for gambling; 43 per cent for homicide, 30 per cent for petty larceny, 22 per cent for vagrancy, and 36 per cent for the entire law. These figures show that the decrease in the number of arrests was not due to the practice of not making arrests in trivial matters.

The statistics for the night burglar show, comparing the last four months of 1909 and 1910, respectively, that in 1909, 1,182 women were arrested for soliciting, and in 1910, 478 women were arrested for soliciting. In 1909 there were 354 convictions for this offense, as against 186 convictions for 1910.

The statistics of municipal lodging houses show that for the first twenty-one days in January of this year, there were 19,000 people sheltered; whereas the highest number in any preceding year since 1897 was 1,943 in 1909.

His Home Life. The construction of the home itself supplies the keynote to its character. The reception hall is a part of the front door—not a part of the household. The family lives its own life in the privacy that has always insisted upon its being. The atmosphere of the spot light and the banister light, the glow of the fire, the ever bright things the family life holds, and they have been many, many years reserved for the enjoyment of its constituent members in an atmosphere that is entirely shut away from prying eyes and strange ears.

Mrs. O'Gorman was Miss Ann M. Leach, one of the distinctive of the mother type. Whether or not the tariff should or should not be revised, up or down, was a subservient matter with her to the issue concerning the appearance and lasting qualities of the school clothing of young James A. O'Gorman Jr. The Monroe Doctrine is aptly relegated before the problem of securing the best of the household. The aged actor, comedian, and his medical attendants fear that it will be difficult to overcome the heart affection which has prostrated him. Two specialists are here from Boston to-day to assist the family physician.

Mr. Thompson's daughters, Mrs. W. L. Kilpatrick, and Mrs. E. A. McFarland, both of Boston, came to West Swansey to-day. Their brother Frankie arrived yesterday. Mr. Thompson has been seriously ill on two previous occasions.

WEST POINT FENCER HURT. R. E. Anderson, the West Point cadet who was wounded in a fencing bout at the Hotel Astor last night, was reported to be improved at Roosevelt Hospital to-day. His right lung was pierced by the foil of J. B. D. Parker, of the University of Pennsylvania, with whom he was engaged.

He was struck under the right arm and the force of the thrust broke the foil in three places. Anderson was the leading fencer of the West Point team. The bout was conducted under the auspices of the Intercollegiate Fencing Association.
