

ASBESTOS KING'S SON WEDS TWICE TO FOIL FATHER

Pere Manville Rushing Over Sea to Stop Minor Boy's Romance.

BEAUTY MAY SAVE HER.

"I Beat the Old Man to It," Says Lad Married To-Day in Jersey City.

"Well, I beat the old man to it," chuckled nineteen-year-old Thomas Franklin Manville, Jr., heir to the millions of the asbestos king, as he and his bride stepped out of the office of Richard J. Vreeland, Clerk of the Jersey City Board of Finance, to-day.

Mr. Vreeland had just tied the second marital knot that united young Manville and Miss Florence E. Huber of Williamsport, Pa. Pere Manville is rushing over seas on the Kaiser Wilhelm II, which arrives here to-morrow, for the express purpose of stopping the marriage.

Manville Jr. will be about the maddest man above shoe leather when he makes port. He is lured abroad on a "falsely" tip that son Tommy and Miss Huber had called to be married in Europe. He no sooner arrived on the other side when he heard that son Tommy and Miss Huber had been married by Alderman Dreischer in City Hall.

This marriage occurred on June 8, but after the young couple had spent a few days in Atlantic City they announced that they did not fancy the security of the Aldermanic marriage and told their friends that they would have another ceremony performed in Baltimore.

As the doubly married bridegroom explained to-day, he was afraid his father would take steps to untie the New York knot on the ground of his youth. He had consulted a lawyer and learned that an annulment was quite likely. With a second marriage in New Jersey it would be exceedingly difficult to break the knot.

To-morrow brave young Mr. Manville plans to meet his father at the landing, present his bride, and ask the parental blessing and, "maybe," the young man adds, "father'll be so impressed with Florence's beauty that he'll drop his stip and hug me." To this delightful scene, pictured by young Manville, is added a prayer by both that "father may not see it to cut off Tommy's allowance." And if the worst does come, Mr. Manville is authorized to announce publicly that young Manville "em that he's got something in him and get out and work."

His brother will return Tuesday, and I have reasons to suspect that he will disinherit his son for marrying without his consent," stated the young bridegroom's uncle, C. B. Manville, food-storer, who said he will take steps to have the marriage annulled. The boy has ignored his father for months.

It was not until yesterday that Mrs. Clara Manville, who divorced her husband in Boise, Idaho, two years ago, and obtained custody of her daughter while the son went with the father, learned of her son's marriage. She made many efforts to locate him at the Waldorf-Astoria, from where he started for Baltimore with his bride.

NEW YORK FORTIFICATIONS INVINCIBLE SAYS WOOD.

Great Guns Could Destroy Any Fleet Sent Against City, General Tells Congressmen.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The fortifications guarding the city of New York and other important centers of population on the seaboard are considered invincible by Major-General Leonard Wood, Chief of Staff of the United States Army. He believes the great guns of the fortifications could destroy any fleet that might be sent against them. His views have been submitted to the House Committee on Expenditures in the War Department.

The necessity for co-operation of mobile forces with the great forts is emphasized by the General. Large bodies of troops would be needed to prevent an enemy landing near the points the forts defend. In the event of an invasion the largest cities would be the scene of fighting. No remote coast district would be selected by an enemy to land, but rather the neighborhood of some vital point at which a quick blow might be struck.

Bathing Suits for "Church."

The Nantux, N. J., Bulletin printed this Saturday: "The Brookdale Baptist Church will be in session at 2:30 to-morrow morning. No collection. Please bring bathing suits."

Members of the church were amazed until the editor explained the "Brookdale Baptist Church" is also the name of a swimming hole, and that the notice was a warning to wear something besides their towels.

Divorced 20 Years, Remarry.

The wife of Pittsburgh (Mass.) ministers against marrying divorced couples was quoted in the case of George Gray, sixty-three, and Mary Long Gray, fifty-four.

The reason was that they decided they were still in love and they had been divorced twenty years, and wanted to remarry. The ceremony was performed at the First Baptist Church.

A DETECTIVE BOOK FIVE.

"The Adventure of Peter Ruff" in book form, neatly bound, with stitched and trimmed, free with next Sunday's New York World. This is a great series of stories. Get the first one with Friday World of July 3. Don't forget that the dealer's supply is so limited that you MUST order in advance.

Son of Asbestos King and His Actress Bride, Twice Married

MRS. THOMAS F. MANVILLE JR.

MISSING O'RILEY SAILS FOR IRELAND WITH FAT WALLET

While Alarmed Family Frantically Seeks Him He Starts for Old Home.

John J. O'Riley of Dallas, Tex., has been located. All the time his anxious family was fretting and besieging the office of the White Star line and sending wireless messages he was serenely sailing the high seas on his way to Ireland with $25,000 in his wallet to lift the mortgage on the old place.

The disappearance of Mr. O'Riley was attended by unusual features. He and his wife, his pretty daughter, Anne, and his son, John J. Jr., had booked passage on the Baltic, which sailed Saturday. They were all in their cabins a few minutes before sailing time when Mr. O'Riley suddenly remembered that he wanted to get $500 changed into English money and said he would go ashore and get it.

As sailing time came nearer and nearer and he did not return Mrs. O'Riley's nervousness increased and she finally left the boat, accompanied by her children. A frantic search of the vessel had been made and the pier was combed, but there was never a trace of O'Riley.

Mr. O'Riley had all the family cash. The White Star officials sent a couple of wireless messages to the Baltic, but the answer came back that there was a startling scarcity of O'Riley on board, so the police were asked to search.

The family went to the Hotel Terminal, Twenty-third street and Eleventh avenue and spent a mighty uncomfortable twenty-four hours wondering what they were going to do. Finally there came a message early this morning that relieved their fears. It was from O'Riley, and he was on the Baltic after all. His general tone was one of extreme irritation. It related how O'Riley had dashed back to the steamer which carried a rapid and general diffusion of the malignancy, especially in the lymphatic glands.

The surgeon said the disease might be likened to a stick of dynamite which, if it is to be removed, ought to be transferred before the fuming cap and fuse are attached. In Mr. Mott's case the irritation acted much as does the cap and fuse in a stick of dynamite, making removal fatally dangerous, if not altogether impossible.

Mr. Mott was fifty years old and unmarried. He was born in the old Mott mansion at Third avenue and One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street. He had the distinction of having had for one of his tutors George Clemenceau, later Premier of France, when Mr. Mott was a pupil in the Charlier Institute in Fifth-ninth street.

One of the most prominent members of the New York Yacht Club, Mr. Mott also held membership in the Larchmont Yacht and Larchmont Clubs.

Two months ago he retired from business in seeming good health and went to his shooting box at Plimley Island, N. Y. There the disease, which ended his life, became acute, and he returned North. Surviving Mr. Mott are his father, Jordan L. Mott; his brother, Jordan L. Mott Jr.; and his sister, Mrs. MacLean, the wife of former Justice Charles F. MacLean.

Will Watch Dog to Trace Fate of Missing Child.

An unusual attempt will be made to-day to obtain a clue to the fate of fourteen-year-old Jesse Lenard, who has been missing for five weeks from the home of her parents, No. 84 East Twenty-second street, Bayonne, N. J.

A big St. Bernard dog, belonging to the Lenard family, was with the child when she disappeared. This dog will be sent from the Lenard home to-day with a girl, as near Jesse's appearance as possible. A pretended attack will be made on the child and detectives will watch the dog's behavior. It is expected that the recurrence of similar ideas in the dog's brain will provoke action similar to that it took when the girl disappeared.

It is possible, the promoters of the experiment believe, that the dog may lead the rescuers to the place where the child's body is concealed.

Under arrest, charged with homicide, Policeman John J. Donnelly, twenty-six years old, of No. 13 Park place, Brooklyn, attached to the Flushing avenue station, will be called upon to-day to explain why he had to shoot down and fatally wound a man who ran wild with a knife through Myrtle avenue last night.

The wounded man gave his name as Eugene Cortwell, but declined to give any address. He was about forty years old and wore a button in his coat lapel bearing the inscription "The State of Connecticut." He died at 1:30 this morning in Cumberland street hospital.

Donnelly says he was at Ryerson street and Myrtle avenue when he saw Frank Griffin and his son-in-law, Frank Yates of No. 80 Hall street, running toward him in terror and shouting for help. Right behind them, he says, with knife drawn and shouting that he would cut the throats of the men he was pursuing, was Cortwell.

The policeman tried to subdue the man with his nightstick. Witnesses say that Cortwell, who was of powerful build and at least 190 pounds in weight, against the policeman's scant 150, was too much for Donnelly. Unmindful of the blows rapped on his face and head, he clinched with the policeman. Then, Donnelly says, he saw the knife. They rolled about in the street and Cortwell broke loose. The policeman jumped to his feet although almost exhausted. He stepped back, rapping for assistance. "Oh, that's your game is it?" sneered Cortwell. "Want a few more cops to hammer me up, eh? Well, I'll fix you!" Then he bounded at Donnelly, declaring he would cut his head off.

DYING MAN BEGS POLICEMAN TO CALL A PRIEST.

Donnelly then pulled his revolver and as Cortwell got within a few feet shot him in the abdomen. Cortwell dropped. "Well, you've done me," he said. "Oh, if I only had my knife now, I'd lay you out!"

"What did I do to you?" asked Donnelly. "Oh, you done me all right, and now you're sorry," cried the dying man, who seemed to realize his awful predicament. Then suddenly changing he began to sob.

"Get me a priest; for God's sake, a priest; a priest!" he pleaded. Donnelly had brought Policeman Daniel Herron by his first rapping, and Herron ran to the Church of the Sacred Heart and

POLICEMAN KILLS CRAZED MAN WHO WIELDS A KNIFE

Fired to Save His Own Life, Says Brooklyn Patrolman, Who Is Under Arrest.

Under arrest, charged with homicide, Policeman John J. Donnelly, twenty-six years old, of No. 13 Park place, Brooklyn, attached to the Flushing avenue station, will be called upon to-day to explain why he had to shoot down and fatally wound a man who ran wild with a knife through Myrtle avenue last night.

The wounded man gave his name as Eugene Cortwell, but declined to give any address. He was about forty years old and wore a button in his coat lapel bearing the inscription "The State of Connecticut." He died at 1:30 this morning in Cumberland street hospital.

Donnelly says he was at Ryerson street and Myrtle avenue when he saw Frank Griffin and his son-in-law, Frank Yates of No. 80 Hall street, running toward him in terror and shouting for help. Right behind them, he says, with knife drawn and shouting that he would cut the throats of the men he was pursuing, was Cortwell.

The policeman tried to subdue the man with his nightstick. Witnesses say that Cortwell, who was of powerful build and at least 190 pounds in weight, against the policeman's scant 150, was too much for Donnelly. Unmindful of the blows rapped on his face and head, he clinched with the policeman. Then, Donnelly says, he saw the knife. They rolled about in the street and Cortwell broke loose. The policeman jumped to his feet although almost exhausted. He stepped back, rapping for assistance. "Oh, that's your game is it?" sneered Cortwell. "Want a few more cops to hammer me up, eh? Well, I'll fix you!" Then he bounded at Donnelly, declaring he would cut his head off.

DYING MAN BEGS POLICEMAN TO CALL A PRIEST.

Donnelly then pulled his revolver and as Cortwell got within a few feet shot him in the abdomen. Cortwell dropped. "Well, you've done me," he said. "Oh, if I only had my knife now, I'd lay you out!"

"What did I do to you?" asked Donnelly. "Oh, you done me all right, and now you're sorry," cried the dying man, who seemed to realize his awful predicament. Then suddenly changing he began to sob.

"Get me a priest; for God's sake, a priest; a priest!" he pleaded. Donnelly had brought Policeman Daniel Herron by his first rapping, and Herron ran to the Church of the Sacred Heart and

STATEN ISLAND NOTE.

The annual strawberry festival of the Asbury M. E. Church of New Springville will be held to-morrow evening at the church.

Miss Adelaide Warren of Stapleton is visiting friends in Brooklyn Collins. The opening of the Castleton avenue, West New Brighton, extension will be celebrated to-morrow afternoon with appropriate exercises.

Miss Annie Graham of Lincolnville has returned from Atlantic City, where she stopped for a week.

The Cherokee Democratic Club of Middletown will celebrate its anniversary this evening with a picnic at Midland Park in Grant City. Souvenirs will be presented to the ladies present.

Patrolman Crocheron has been assigned to the District Attorney's office of Richmond for ten days by Inspector Russell.

After a pleasant trip to Washington, Miss Anna Gottlieb is again at her home in Port Richmond.

Arrangements have been completed for the annual picnic of the Charles Underwood Association, which will be held at Delano's Pavilion at Midland Beach to-morrow afternoon and evening.

The recently elected officers of the S. R. Smith Infirmary of New Brighton are William E. Wilcox, President; Norman S. Walker Jr., Vice-President; William Y. Wemple, Secretary; and Ferdinand C. Townsend, Treasurer.

Miss Margaret Black of Arcochar will spend the next two weeks at Long Branch.

BISHOP FALLOWS MARRIES HIS SON TO AN ACTRESS

Bride of Young Lawyer Was Member of "The Fortune Hunter" Company.

There was a notable alliance of church and stage yesterday when the Right Rev. Samuel Fallows, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of New York, married his youngest son, Charles Samuel Fallows, to the actress, Mrs. Edna von Laska Bruna, until recently an actress in the support of Jack Barrymore in "The Fortune Hunter."

The marriage was celebrated at 1 o'clock in the First Reformed Episcopal Church, Madison avenue and Fifty-fifth street. Bishop Fallows was assisted by the Rev. Dr. W. D. Stevens. Only members of the families of the bride and bridegroom were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Fallows left for a honeymoon trip and after Aug. 1 will live at Port Washington, L. I.

Mrs. Fallows is a graduate of Smith College, where she was a roommate of a daughter of Prof. Henry van Dyke of Princeton and classmate also of Bishop Fallows's daughter, Miss Alice Katherine Fallows. At college Miss Bruna was prominent as amateur theatricals, and after her graduation, five years ago, she went upon the professional stage. Her last appearance here was in "The Fortune Hunter" at the Gaiety Theatre. She will retire from the stage permanently.

Mr. Fallows is a lawyer and has an office at No. 30 Church street with his brother, former Assemblyman Edward

Excursions.

Excursion to Low Haven.

Excursion to Hudson.

Excursion to Rockaway Beach.

Excursion to Staten Island.

Excursion to Long Beach.

Excursion to Coney Island.

Excursion to Manhattan.

Excursion to Queens.

Excursion to Richmond.

Excursion to Newark.

Excursion to Jersey City.

Excursion to Hoboken.

Excursion to Elizabeth.

Excursion to Passaic.

Excursion to Paterson.

Excursion to North Plainfield.

Excursion to Scotch Plains.

Excursion to Springfield.

Excursion to Summit.

Excursion to Union.

Excursion to Warren.

Excursion to Westfield.

Excursion to Woodbridge.

Excursion to Yonkers.

Excursion to Albany.

Excursion to Amsterdam.

Excursion to Cohasset.

Excursion to Colon.

Excursion to Easton.

BISHOP FALLOWS MARRIES HIS SON TO AN ACTRESS

Bride of Young Lawyer Was Member of "The Fortune Hunter" Company.

There was a notable alliance of church and stage yesterday when the Right Rev. Samuel Fallows, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of New York, married his youngest son, Charles Samuel Fallows, to the actress, Mrs. Edna von Laska Bruna, until recently an actress in the support of Jack Barrymore in "The Fortune Hunter."

The marriage was celebrated at 1 o'clock in the First Reformed Episcopal Church, Madison avenue and Fifty-fifth street. Bishop Fallows was assisted by the Rev. Dr. W. D. Stevens. Only members of the families of the bride and bridegroom were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Fallows left for a honeymoon trip and after Aug. 1 will live at Port Washington, L. I.

Mrs. Fallows is a graduate of Smith College, where she was a roommate of a daughter of Prof. Henry van Dyke of Princeton and classmate also of Bishop Fallows's daughter, Miss Alice Katherine Fallows. At college Miss Bruna was prominent as amateur theatricals, and after her graduation, five years ago, she went upon the professional stage. Her last appearance here was in "The Fortune Hunter" at the Gaiety Theatre. She will retire from the stage permanently.

Mr. Fallows is a lawyer and has an office at No. 30 Church street with his brother, former Assemblyman Edward

Excursions.

Excursion to Low Haven.

Excursion to Hudson.

Excursion to Rockaway Beach.

Excursion to Staten Island.

Excursion to Long Beach.

Excursion to Coney Island.

Excursion to Manhattan.

Excursion to Queens.

Excursion to Richmond.

Excursion to Newark.

Excursion to Jersey City.

Excursion to Hoboken.

Excursion to Elizabeth.

Excursion to Passaic.

Excursion to Paterson.

Excursion to North Plainfield.

Excursion to Scotch Plains.

Excursion to Springfield.

Excursion to Summit.

Excursion to Union.

Excursion to Warren.

Excursion to Westfield.

Excursion to Woodbridge.

Excursion to Yonkers.

Excursion to Albany.

Excursion to Amsterdam.

Excursion to Cohasset.

Excursion to Colon.

Excursion to Easton.

BISHOP FALLOWS MARRIES HIS SON TO AN ACTRESS

Bride of Young Lawyer Was Member of "The Fortune Hunter" Company.

There was a notable alliance of church and stage yesterday when the Right Rev. Samuel Fallows, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of New York, married his youngest son, Charles Samuel Fallows, to the actress, Mrs. Edna von Laska Bruna, until recently an actress in the support of Jack Barrymore in "The Fortune Hunter."

The marriage was celebrated at 1 o'clock in the First Reformed Episcopal Church, Madison avenue and Fifty-fifth street. Bishop Fallows was assisted by the Rev. Dr. W. D. Stevens. Only members of the families of the bride and bridegroom were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Fallows left for a honeymoon trip and after Aug. 1 will live at Port Washington, L. I.

Mrs. Fallows is a graduate of Smith College, where she was a roommate of a daughter of Prof. Henry van Dyke of Princeton and classmate also of Bishop Fallows's daughter, Miss Alice Katherine Fallows. At college Miss Bruna was prominent as amateur theatricals, and after her graduation, five years ago, she went upon the professional stage. Her last appearance here was in "The Fortune Hunter" at the Gaiety Theatre. She will retire from the stage permanently.

Mr. Fallows is a lawyer and has an office at No. 30 Church street with his brother, former Assemblyman Edward

Excursions.

Excursion to Low Haven.

Excursion to Hudson.

Excursion to Rockaway Beach.

Excursion to Staten Island.

Excursion to Long Beach.

Excursion to Coney Island.

Excursion to Manhattan.

Excursion to Queens.

Excursion to Richmond.

Excursion to Newark.

Excursion to Jersey City.

Excursion to Hoboken.

Excursion to Elizabeth.

Excursion to Passaic.

Excursion to Paterson.

Excursion to North Plainfield.

Excursion to Scotch Plains.

Excursion to Springfield.

Excursion to Summit.

Excursion to Union.

Excursion to Warren.

Excursion to Westfield.

Excursion to Woodbridge.

Excursion to Yonkers.

Excursion to Albany.

Excursion to Amsterdam.

Excursion to Cohasset.

Excursion to Colon.

Excursion to Easton.

Celebrate the Fourth Specially; but safeguard yourself against possible calamity by having Vernas Lotion on hand.

Conceded as being the most powerful antiseptic. Free Trial Bottle for your dealer's name. Use it as a mouth wash tonight. Its daily use does wonders for teeth and gums.

Sold by all Druggists, 15c 50c $1.00

Vernas Lotion

VERNAS CHEMICAL COMPANY, 240 W. 30th St., N. Y. C.

SAVINGS BANKS.

EXCELSIOR SAVINGS BANK

Temporarily Located in the Masonic Building.

46 W. 24th St.

Temporarily Located in the Masonic Building.

4% PER ANNUM

On all sums of $5 and upward to $5,000, payable on or before July 1, 1911.

Deposits made on or before July 10 will draw interest from July 10, 1911.

Deposits made on or before July 10 will draw interest from July 10, 1911.

Bank open Monday until 7 P. M.

THE WILLIAMSBURGH SAVINGS BANK

Broadway and Driggs Avenue, Brooklyn.

Notice is hereby given that on and after the 1st day of July, 1911, an annual interest of the rate of

FOUR PER CENT

(4%) per annum will be paid to all depositors in this bank who, on the first day of July, 1911, may be entitled thereto.

Money deposited on or before July 10, 1911, will draw interest from July 10, 1911.

Bank open Monday until 7 P. M.

NEW YORK SAVINGS BANK

N. W. Cor. 14th St. and 6th Avenue.

July 1, 1911, divided at the rate of

FOUR PER CENT.

per annum on all sums from $5 to $5,000

entitled thereto under the $5,000

DEPOSITORS SHOULD BEFORE JULY 10

JAMES WILLIAMS, President.

WILLIAM W. HERRICK, Cashier.

ARCHIBALD M. FENTZ, Secretary.

UNION DIME SAV