

CHOLERA SITUATION IMPROVES; NO NEW CASES ARE FOUND

Man Taken to Bellevue as Suspect Will Be Well in Couple of Days.

ORDERLY JUST SCARED.

Hudson River Steamer and Crew Disinfected and Released From Quarantine.

The Department of Health and the Quarantine officials declared to-day that the cholera situation was more satisfactory than it had been at any time since the disease first manifested itself here nearly a month ago.

Herman Mach is the patient who was suspected of having contracted cholera. He was admitted to the hospital last night, having been seized with violent cramps at No. 365 East Third street.

Bacteriological examinations have failed to show any trace of cholera in Mach's case. He will be able to leave the hospital in a couple of days.

ORDERLY'S MAIN TROUBLE IS FRIGHT.

Herrman seems to be suffering from a form of dysentery complicated with a bad attack of fright. He is the orderly who took care of Bermudez, the Spanish sailor who was found to be suffering from cholera after he had been admitted to Bellevue as a typhoid suspect.

The Bellevue doctors say Herrman is well, but he will not believe it himself. There are no other suspicious cases in Bellevue. However, as a matter of precaution, all cases of dysentery, cholera morbus or bowel complaints generally received at Bellevue while cholera threatens will be isolated and tests made for the scourge.

SEARCH FOR SPANISH FRIEND OF BERMUDEZ.

Health Department inspectors are searching the city for the Spaniard who took Bermudez to Bellevue last Thursday night. No trace of him has been found as yet.

Three steamships which arrived from Italy yesterday were detained at Quarantine. Five persons who may be suffering from cholera were removed from two of the vessels.

Three cholera suspects were taken to Hoffman Island from the steamer, which brought 48 steerage and 120 cabin passengers from Italian ports.

The San Giorgio and Principe di Piemonte were released from Quarantine this afternoon.

The Cunard Line steamer Carthage, which arrived today from Trieste, Fiume and Naples, was held at Quarantine for inspection.

All were reported well on board the steamer Berlin, which arrived at night with thirty steerage, 129 second cabin and 166 steerage passengers.

The Carthage steamed at Messina and Naples, but embarked no steerage passengers. Thirty-three cabin passengers embarked at Naples, of whom twenty were in the saloon and thirteen in the second cabin.

All were reported well on board the steamer Berlin, which arrived at night with thirty steerage, 129 second cabin and 166 steerage passengers.

With the latter in the car were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Herrick and Miss Hosen, members of the local social set. They were returning from the Stamford Yacht Club, and only the small oil lights of the car were lit.

On Shippen avenue, where the road curves slightly, the car hit something. Pierson stopped and went back and found Schofield. His skull was fractured and practically every bone in his body was broken.

Then the police arrested Pierson. The motorists claim they were driving slowly and they say they did not see Schofield at all.

When arraigned in the city court to-day Pierson was held in $1,000 bail.

STYLISH WOMAN AND FRECKLED BOY MAY BE BURGLARS

Corona Sherlock Holmes All Hunting for Mysterious Pair of Housebreakers.

Detectives from Brooklyn Central Office are roaming about Corona, L. I., to-day carrying a white Marseilles quilt on which is a clearly marked footprint made by the small shoe of a woman.

The mysterious woman and the red-headed boy are believed to be responsible for a series of small burglaries which have occurred in Corona during the past two weeks.

After each robbery the neighbors would gather around and gossip about having seen a fashionably dressed woman and a red-headed boy loitering around the despoiled houses at about the time they were robbed.

Last night the house of Herbert Wolfoll, an expert accountant, on Spruce street, was entered between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock.

Detectives who made the investigation found that entrance had been effected through a rear window opening into a bedroom and that just underneath this window on the white spread was a clearly marked footprint made by a woman's shoe.

The measurements of the footprint and the fact that the woman's shoe had been taken and if ever the detectives get a line on the mysterious woman, aforementioned she'll have to leave her Trailles Hotel before she will be freed from suspicion.

The most valuable things taken from the Wolfoll home was a package of papers which gave Mrs. Wolfoll title to an estate in California which is now in dispute.

PAID YOUR WATER TAX?

After Next Monday There Will Be a Five Per Cent. Penalty.

The time for the payment of water-tax bills this year, before the exacting of a penalty upon those who neglect to pay them, expires next Monday, July 31.

One of the most valuable things taken from the Wolfoll home was a package of papers which gave Mrs. Wolfoll title to an estate in California which is now in dispute.

LINK STEEL TRUST WITH HARVESTER AT HOUSE INQUIRY

Testimony on Hidden Report Given and Bonaparte Must Explain.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—United States Senator Kenyon of Iowa, former Assistant District Attorney-General, and Herbert Knox Smith, Commissioner of Corporations, testified before the House Steel Trust investigating committee to-day.

Mr. Kenyon identified a report by Burdette Townsend to the Department of Justice on Mr. Townsend's investigation of the International Harvester Company. Mr. Kenyon said he recalled that investigation.

"This report," he added, "charges that the Steel Corporation gave the Harvester Company's rebates of $1 a ton."

Senator Kenyon, amid objections by Republican members of the committee, spoke up, saying: "I wish to say that I always favored prosecutions in trust cases where evidence was conclusive."

When Police Officer O'Connell came along and saw the weeping lion he was very angry.

"Get back," he shouted to the crowd, "and give her air. This is no decent way to treat a poor old lion."

O'Connell telephoned to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and Superintendent Frost sent a conveyance to carry the lioness to the shelter at No. 111 East Twenty-second street.

Attorney-General Wickesham, summoned as a witness this afternoon, testified that he had never seen the Townsend report until to-day.

Mr. Stanley also announced his intention of endeavoring to show a close connection between the United States Steel Corporation and the International Harvester Company, and as a basis for future inquiry he had read into the record the names of the directors of both corporations, the same being identical in many instances.

Chairman Stanley announced that a subpoena had been issued for ex-Attorney-General Bonaparte, who is now in Canada, and that an effort would be made to ascertain from him and from other Government officials why there never was any prosecution of the International Harvester Company upon Townsend's charges.

LEFT A LIONESS FOR ROOSEVELT IN STREET CROWD

Somebody's Going to Catch It for Torturing Beast by Exposure to Gale.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt was not in his sanctum at the Outlook office, No. 27 Fourth avenue, when an express wagon pulled up and the driver dumped a long box on the pavement.

The London Exchange was unsettled after the Moroccan situation.

Crop reports continued favorable. After a long period of dullness, stocks recovered the final hour with a substantial recovery taking place that culminated in highest prices of the day being established at the finish.

WALL STREET.

Apprehension over the Moroccan situation caused considerable uneasiness in early stock market dealings to-day.

Recovering from a lower opening, the list gave a brief demonstration of strength when Reading and Lehigh Valley contributed spirited advances.
