Boxing Commission Will Find It Hard to Prove Anything in Its Investigation of the Recent Brown-Attell Bout.

Copyright, 1912, by The Press Publishing Co. (The New York World). MAJOR DIXON says that the Boxing Commission will investigate everything connected with the recent engagement between Knockout Brown and Abe Attell. There was a lot of talk after that fight, and some people, especially those who had picked Attell as an easy winner, seemed to think that Abe purposely let Brown outpoint him. Abe has been summoned to appear before the Commissioners to-day.

THE trouble with an investigation of this kind is that the only thing that can be investigated, nine times out of ten, is a series of rumors. Anybody can say, "Oh, Attell beat me," and that is all that can be put up when he wants to. And anybody can say, "Abe stalled, of course. Why, I heard a man on the corner say that Abe persuaded one of his friends to bet $1,000 on him, and then some somebody around to cover the bet."

DAN MORGAN, manager of Knockout Brown, seems to be disgusted with the idea that any one could think that Abe Attell was "stalling." Says Dan: "I know, I was a great fighter twenty-five years ago. I've been watching closely for a couple of years, and he has gone away back. He's a great strength and speed and his punches. For a long time he has been bluffing the lightweights and featherweights, and they've all been afraid of him. When he fights he makes them by making them miss the first few punches and look foolish. Any good boy who will go right after Attell and keep hitting can beat him now. All the credit that I want for Brown is that of being the first to prove that Attell isn't the old Attell. Now, I won't care to make any bluffs about betting. I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll let K. O. box Attell ten rounds again within a week. Let a committee be appointed to decide the matter, and if Brown doesn't show Abe up again at least as well as he did Thursday night I'll not alone give Brown's name to the newspapers, but I'll add an even $1,000 out of my own pocket. This isn't stage money, either."

"I WAS talking to Wells after he beat Attell," Morgan continued. "I asked him if he couldn't have knocked Abe out in the last two or three rounds. 'What good would it have done me to knock him out?' Wells said. Then he told me that Attell didn't have much left, and that Brown could beat him without any trouble."

Building Up The American Man

Discussed by World's Greatest Health-Makers and Students of Physiology in Serial Instalments Expressly for The Evening World.

Average Business Man Declines Physically Because, Unlike the College Boy, He Has No Ambition to Improve His Physical Make-up, Says Coach Courtney of Cornell.

Talks With Courtney—No. 8. CHARLES COURTNEY, the veteran oarsman and world-wide famous trainer of the victorious crews of Cornell, who is now in his sixty-second year, is inclined to agree with William Muldoon and Prof. Sargent of Harvard in their belief that the Anglo-Saxon race is on the decline physically, but he believes that the college boys of to-day are an exception to the rule. "If the busy men of your cities would look to their physical welfare as do the boys in the colleges there would be no danger of a physical decline," declares Mr. Courtney. "But the trouble is that the college boys are ambitious to become strong and healthy, while the business man is content to let well enough alone. He shows no disposition to improve physically, and consequently he declines. The business man knows oxygen as possible is the only system."

how fatal it would be for him to stand still in his business or profession, but he neglects to apply the same form of reasoning to his physical make-up. He does not realize what is going to happen until it has occurred and then he finds it too late. If they would devote a small part of their time to outdoor exercise they would bestow a great blessing on the whole race. They tell me that men in the cities are now old at the age of forty-five. That should never be."

OUTDOOR EXERCISE A PLEASURE AND NOT WORK. Mr. Courtney's physical condition is a striking example of what he means. He is now sixty-two, and they say up at Cornell that he can get into a boat and row as well as any youngster on his crew. He is over six feet tall and weighs just a trifle over 200.

"I attribute my condition to the fact that I have always led an active outdoor life," he says. "And I will keep it to the end of my days. It is not work to me. It is a pleasure." Occasionally read in the papers, that men are going through certain forms of exercise in their bedrooms every morning. They have a little formula to follow by which they never can get their backs, kick up their heels, bend their stomachs so many times and a lot of stunts like that. Even that small amount of exercise will do them some good, but they could accomplish twice as much by simply walking to and from their offices and never getting in a hurry. A long walk that will stir up the blood and give the pure air a chance to get in their lungs and for the oxygen to burn up the wastes would do more good than all that indoor exercise. That is the main thing they need, and they never can get it. It makes no matter what they do, the game is the remedy when he created mankind, and it is ours for the asking. A walk of four miles twice a day will keep any man in good shape and considerably less than that would make him healthy."

Entries Still Pouring in for Heaphin Tourney

All is in readiness for The Evening World Heaphin bowling tournament, which will take place at the White Elephant Bowling Alley, starting Wednesday evening. The tourney was originally scheduled to open to-night, but as some of the bowlers asked that the opening date be changed, the committee granted their request.

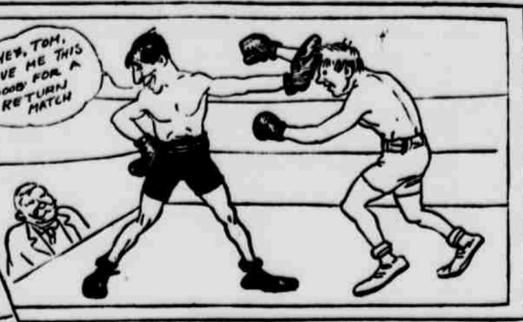

Columbia Meets Princeton Here

The Princeton hockey team, fresh from its victory over Harvard at Ithaca on Saturday, will tackle the Columbia seven at St. Nicholas rink to-night. Neither team has lost a game in the intercollegiate series, and the contest will go a long way toward deciding the championship. Yale's victory over Cornell in an extra period game on Saturday was their first in the series. The standing follows:

Table with 3 columns: Team, Wins, Losses. Princeton: 2, 0. Columbia: 2, 0. Yale: 1, 0. Dartmouth: 0, 2. Cornell: 0, 2.

McKetrick Booked for Paris With His Three Fighters

Lewis, Denning and Jeannette Will Engage in Battles in France's Gay Capital.

BY JOHN POLLOCK. DAN MCKETRICK and his string of fighters, Joe Jeannette, Willie Lewis and Jack Denning, are going over to Paris. McKetrick told the writer to-day that he has secured passage on the Olympic, which sails on Wednesday. Little Danny has already completed arrangements for Lewis to fight George Carpenter, the middleweight champion of France, for twenty rounds; Jack Denning to again take on Marcel Moreau, the French middleweight, and Jeannette to go against Kid McCoy or Bombardier Wells, the English heavyweight champion. All three fights will be fought before the Cirque de Paris, the biggest boxing club in France.

Boxing Shows to-Night

At Olympic A. C.—Jack Goodman vs. Young Otto, ten rounds. At Fordon A. C.—Young Cashman vs. Young Sammy Smith, ten rounds. At Malvern A. C.—Eddie Smith vs. Wee Barton, ten rounds. At Irving A. C.—Eddie Sherman vs. Charlie Goldman, ten rounds. At Brooklyn Beach A. C.—Brooklyn-Joe Rocks vs. Battling Chucks, ten rounds. At East Avenue A. C.—Mapesh, L. I.—Young McDonough vs. Frankie O'Sullivan, ten rounds. At Carlys A. C.—Brooklyn—Philly McGovern vs. Mike Mallia, ten rounds.

Frankie Burns, who defeated Johnny Daly in a twenty-round bout at New Orleans yesterday, has been booked to fight Al Deimos, the New England bantam, in a twelve-round bout before the club at New Haven, Conn., on Jan. 29. Burns will not fight again after this bout until he meets Johnny O'Donoghue for the bantamweight title at New Orleans on Feb. 18.

Joe Masotti, the New Orleans lightweight, has called off his eight-round bout with Pat Moore of Philadelphia, which was to have taken place before the Phoenix A. C. of Memphis, Tenn., on Jan. 20. Masotti claims he broke his hand in his bout with Billy Allen, and on that account he does not intend to fight again for several weeks.

Tommy Maloney, the lightweight of the west side, defeated Al Dewey, the rugged fighter of William Barre, Pa., in a six-round bout at Williamsport on Saturday night. Maloney has been booked to fight on Saturday night, dropping him for the count in the fourth round. Maloney has been matched by his manager, Harry Johnson, to fight Monte Dale of Denver for ten rounds at Hornet, N. Y., on Feb. 1.

Shylock and Karla on Mat. BOSTON, Jan. 22.—What looks to be the most important wrestling contest ever decided in New England is that between Shylock, the Polish mat artist, and Karla, the marvelous Hindu, who came to this country to challenge Goto, which will be the main event of the carnival in Chicago, will take place to-night at the Waldorf Astoria. Shylock is a persistent challenger of Goto and has $10,000 backing to meet the Iowa farmer for the world's title. Karla also comes with big backing to challenge Goto, and the contest to-night is expected to eliminate one of them from the possibility of looking up with the champion.

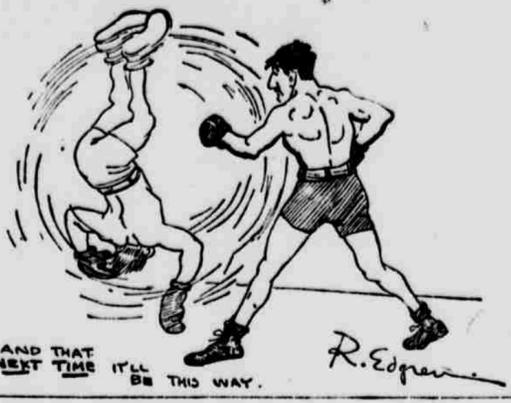

What's the Use of Guessing About Your Drink?

Ask for the Bottle That Guarantees Whiskey's Goodness

A man, if he's wise, is pretty sure that he gets a good whiskey when he takes a drink. But he can never know when he has to pour it from the ordinary bottle. Today there's no excuse for his not knowing. The new bottle, with the new top, tells him. It contains the good old Wilson Whiskey—as pure as the day it was bottled. A real drink if there ever was one. Stop in the next place and see for yourself.

New Baseball League Must Buck $2,000,000 War Fund

United States Organization May Get by, but It Will Be Stormy Sailing.

BY BOZEMAN BULGER. WHILE it will be a Herculean task for the much talked of United States Baseball League to go through a season without a smashup, such an enterprise is not altogether one to be laughed at. The sea is well worth thinking over.

In case the newcomer should get a foothold, the big leagues are so well prepared for such an emergency that they each have a stinking fund of more than $2,000,000 to be used in the event of another "war." The major organizations will never be caught as the National League was when the American cut into the big cities and began to grab players right and left.

The instances are very rare when one of these overnight leagues has managed to play out a schedule, but it has been done. One of the few exceptions was the Tri-State League of a few years ago, which was finally forced to get under the protection of the National Commission. As an outlaw organization it had a successful playing season, but made no money. A crowd of wealthy capitalists kept it going purely as a matter of sportsmanship, but that didn't last. To be a permanent success a baseball league must be self-supporting. They grew tired of the playing, and now the Tri-State is a minor organization with a small salary limit and getting along fairly well in the class where it belongs. It was launched as an outlaw by Mr. Whitman of Reading, and his success there accounts for his being chosen president of the new United States League which is about to be organized.

Claim to Have Plenty of Coin. The backers of this league claim to have plenty of money and they will need it. The eight clubs cannot hope to go through the first season without a working capital of $2,000,000. That would give each club $250,000 for grounds and grand stands and leave them as much more to get players and other things. Whether they have that much money or not is a question. The magnates say they have ample backing, but two million is a lot of coin.

The trouble with the new United States League is that it is attempting to invade an old territory and compete with clubs that are bound to be much better. When the American League clubs broke through the protection of the National League were out of town. This new league will have to play on the same days in New York and Chicago that the present major league teams are playing. To win out under that kind of an arrangement is a hard job.

Wanderers' Seven Leads League. In the Amateur League the Wanderers Hockey Club leads with two victories and no defeats. The St. Nicholas team, which started off well, was beaten by the New York A. C. and the New York A. C. and the Crescent A. C. teams have each lost one game. To-morrow night in the St. Nicholas rink the Hockey Club will meet the New York Athletic Club. The game of the week, however, in this league will be on Friday night, when the Crescent Athletic Club will meet the Wanderers, and should the present holders of the championship win there will be a tie among three and possibly four of the teams for first place.

New Yorkers Win Over Hub Boxers Four Bouts to One

(Special to The Evening World.) BOSTON, Jan. 22.—New York four wins and Boston one win was the net result of the five intercity boxing bouts at the B. A. A. John Noonan was the only Boston boxer to score a victory over a New Yorker. John Hopkins, the metropolitan champion, easily defeated Patrick Green of Cambridge in the 166 class. John Noonan of Boston met S. White of New York in the 155-pound bout. Noonan was declared winner at the end of the third round. John Cooper of Boston met Herbert Atkins of New York in the 125-pound bout. Atkins displayed much science and good work. He was given the award. James Dunlop of Boston went against Henry Brain of New York in the 135-pound bout. Brain outclassed Dunlop work and was clever in slipping under Dunlop's leads. The Boston boy landed occasionally with the left and right on the face, but the blows did not affect Brain. The latter got the award. John Fitzgibbon of the Avonlea A. C., New York, and Charles Hasdins of Boston met in the 145-pound bout. They were close in getting into action. In the second round Hasdins got over a right that landed on the New Yorker's jaw and he went down, but was up quickly. After resting a couple of times he put Hasdins down with a right on the jaw. The New Yorker was the fresher in the third round, but over a right to Hasdins' head and face, using both hands on the face and body. The New Yorker finally got over a hard right to the jaw that made Hasdins go to the mat and was given the decision.

Daily Beaten by Frankie Burns

(Special to The Evening World.) NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 22.—In a fierce twenty-round bout Frankie Burns, the Jersey City bantamweight, was awarded the decision over Johnny Daly of New York City before the West Side A. C. The contest was just the kind that pleased the large crowd, as both boys went at each other from the start, and landed heavy blows, both at long range and close quarters.
