

WALDO CRITICISES COURTS AND ASKS PREACHERS' HELP

Heavy Sentences Would Act as Preventive of Crime, Police Commissioner Declares.

BOYS LET OFF TOO EASY.

Lack of Gambling Convictions "Not a Matter of Police Work but of Public Morals."

Police Commissioner Waldo in an address before the Methodist Preachers' Association today at No. 150 Fifth avenue renewed his criticism of the courts of this city for showing too much sympathetic leniency toward convicted offenders.

In comparing the police conditions of New York with those of London and Paris, the Commissioner said that in London arrest and conviction were almost invariably followed by stern sentences. There were only seventeen murders in London last year, he said, and he attributed the small number to the preventative effect of strict sentences.

In Paris, on the other hand, where sentiment sways the courts largely, policemen must patrol in pairs at night and even then crime is increasing.

New York, said the Commissioner, is midway between London and Paris in its criminal situation, but if it is not to become like Paris the would-be criminal must learn that his arrest and conviction will be followed by strict punishment.

Commissioner Waldo appealed to the preachers to help the police in fostering a public sentiment to convince judicial officers of the necessity for backing up the police in the prevention of crime.

The time had come, he said, when the Police, Fire and Health Departments all realized that their greatest work was preventative.

RACETRACK DETECTIVES HAVING A GOOD TIME.

In speaking of the changes made in the Detective Bureau under his administration, Commissioner Waldo said that on one visit to a racetrack he found "two carloads" of detectives loafing around under the pretense of watching for crooks—enjoying themselves. He stopped them all back to the city. He believed every detective was now working every inch of the time, becoming acquainted with his district, getting the confidence of residents and picking up information that strange detectives from Headquarters possibly could not get.

"The courts suspended sentences," said Mr. Waldo, "on 1,304 persons who had been actually convicted. You cannot sentence a man for releasing a man not convicted, but in the case of conviction—well, you may draw your own conclusion. Of thirteen murderers arrested and convicted not one was executed."

"If every gambler arrested and convicted went to jail the courts would be more jammed. But a judge has said that a policeman's evidence must be supported by gambling apparatus. A gambling case was thrown out because a policeman got his evidence by looking through a window. Another case was thrown out because the policeman making the arrest had a sweater he had gambled with United States currency to get evidence. We raised one gambling place eight times. This shows it is not a matter of police work, but one of public morals."

SENTIMENTALITY ABOUT CRIMINALS DOES HARM.

"A great deal of sentimentality about criminals and crime is doing harm. Criminals should be made to realize the responsibility for their acts. A boy for shooting and killing another was sent to Elmira Reformatory. Boys are treated merely as juvenile irresponsibles and receive far too light punishment. Gangsters are beginning to recognize this, and they are getting young boys to do their work."

"They should be made to realize that punishment will follow wrongdoing. A man does not fall out of a fourth story window, for he realizes that God's law of gravity will get him even if he has a lot of good friends and votes the Democratic ticket."

"The Police Department today is the finest body of men in the world, and they are doing good work. You often hear people say, when they do not know what the police are doing, they are at sea. Don't you believe it. We have clues which are taking us right into port in most cases."

CROWDED FUNERAL TRAIN CRASHES INTO HANDCAR.

Society People Accompanying Remains of Mrs. Montagne Get a Shaking Up.

The passengers on a special funeral train bearing the remains of Mrs. Louise Le Montagne, widow of the noted polo enthusiast, Rosa L. Montagne, from Park Row to the Pennsylvania Terminal in this city early today had a narrow escape from a serious accident at Glendale out-of.

A crew of workmen at Penelope street had left a handcar on the track. The funeral train of the three electric cars was going at high speed. Being a special train, it was not expected by the workmen, who barely had time to leap out of the way themselves. The handcar was struck with such force that it was knocked through the air a hundred feet ahead of the train.

The passengers, all of whom were society people of prominence, were badly shaken, but nobody was hurt. A careful inspection by trainmen proved that there had been no damage, and the trip was resumed after the handcar had been taken out of the way. The funeral was at the Church of St. Vincent de Paul in West Twenty-third street.

Love Finds the Way at 85, Although the Bride Is 83.

THEO. KOENTIG AND MARIE BRODERICK

Love was of such slow growth to Theo. Koentig and Mrs. Marie Broderick that for eleven years they were associated daily in the life of the Odd Fellows Home at Union Port, Bronx Borough, before they found they could not get along without each other. Now they are to be married, although Theodore is eighty-five and Mrs. Broderick is eighty-three and each of them has been married twice before.

The Board of Directors of the home has forbidden the pair to wed, but the Board of Directors reckoned not the resourcefulness of the octogenarian lovers. Koentig and Mrs. Broderick will leave the home if they are not allowed to live there as a married couple.

MRS. RUPP'S CASE FAILS.

Judge Kelly Says He Can't See Any Ground for Annulment.

At the conclusion of the trial of the suit for annulment of marriage brought by Clara A. Rupp, daughter of Frederick Boyd Stevenson, a Brooklyn editor, against her husband, Clarence Rupp, a Flatbush architect, Justice Kelly in the Brooklyn Supreme Court today said that he did not see any grounds upon which to grant a decree of annulment. The plaintiff, who is only twenty years old, alleged that her husband had not been legally divorced from his first wife, who is now Mrs. Eva W. Sullivan, wife of Dr. Edward C. Sullivan, of No. 197 East Eleventh street, Flatbush. Mrs. Sullivan was the divorcee in South Dakota. After Rupp had testified today that there had been no collusion in obtaining the divorce Mrs. Sullivan went upon the stand and backed his statement up.

How to Have the Best Cough Syrup and Save $2, by Making It at Home.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain sugar. If you take one pint of granulated sugar, add 1/2 pint of warm water and stir about 2 minutes you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly.

And you will find it the best cough syrup you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold—usually stops the most severe cough in 24 hours. It is just as effective, has a good tonic effect, and taste is pleasant. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for whooping cough, croup, hoarseness, asthma, chest pains, etc. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualacol and all the healing pine elements. No other preparation will work in this formula.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used and has proved of hundreds of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan is often being initiated, but never successfully. A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

BROKER GRANDALL SAYS WIFE WAVED REVOLVER AT HIM

Derby Grandall, stock broker and businessman, whose wife, Mrs. Marie A. Grandall, filed a suit for separation against him in the Supreme Court, replied today with a counter claim, in which he made sensational charges against Mrs. Grandall.

After denying his wife's charge that he abandoned her, Grandall declared that since their marriage in Jersey City on July 19, 1888, Mrs. Grandall's conduct toward him has been uniformly abusive and brutal.

While they were living at the Hotel Marie Antoinette, at Broadway and Sixty-sixth street, Grandall alleged, his wife pointed a loaded revolver at him and threatened to kill him. He said she insulted him publicly, hurled china-ware and glassware at him, and on one occasion cut him about the face and neck, so that he could not go to his office for three days.

The complaint charges that Mrs. Grandall's conduct, with rare exceptions, has been such as to make it unsafe for her husband to live with her any longer.

Grandall asked that his wife's suit be dismissed, and that he be granted a separation from her.

The couple have a son, Derby Grandall, Jr., now attending Yale. Grandall was a member of the old stock exchange firm of J. B. Van Schaick & Company of No. 7 Wall street, which failed several months ago. He entered the firm as a boy and has been well known in Wall Street for years.
