

DUCHESS TELLS LIGHTLY OF TRIP INTO COAL MINE

"Black as Pitch," Says My Lady, "and as Hot as —!"

LONDON, April 11.—Guests at the wedding of the Marquis of Stafford, son of the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland, to Lady Mabel Butler to-day, which was one of the principal events of the season, discussed with great interest a signed article which the late and beautiful Duchess published in last night's Westminster Gazette on her descent of a coal mine during the strike. The Duchess displays much humor in her description of her experiences.

"The manager handed me an old black coat," she says, "to save my green one and we got into a cage formed of a few loose boards and an iron bar. I thought this, but I couldn't stand upright. The manager, who carried a masked light, gave me a safety lamp, but the draught blew both lights out and when the cage reached the bottom it was pitch black there and as hot as hell."

"When I spoke of the danger of an explosion the manager said: 'There is little danger. Some gas got in between Thursday and Monday recently and a foreman being the first to come with a light in Mappley morning got burnt and died.'"

"Now, then," he shouted, "mind your head." That moment my forehead bumped against the roof and a shower of shingle fell into the trim of my scarlet coat. "Don't go so fast," I cried; "I have stepped into three holes already and my lamp is out."

"As it was Saturday only one man was working in the pit. It seemed to me a marvel why any one should work in the awful place. My fingers were touching my toes, my heart was bumping against my side and my shirt was wet with honest sweat. Every time I took a deep breath in the steaming atmosphere I hit my head against the roof."

THREE MEN HURT BY FALLING CABLE IN WATER SHAFT

Aqueduct Workmen Narrowly Miss Death as Heavy Metal Rope Drops 355 Feet.

As five workmen were being lowered in the bucket to the bottom of shaft No. 9 of the new aqueduct, on St. Nicholas avenue between One Hundred and Forty-ninth and One Hundred and Fiftieth street, shortly before 1 o'clock this morning another workman was lowering a length of wire cable. The cable got out of the man's control and crashed down the shaft, badly injuring three men.

The pool of the heavy wire cable was mounted on a trestle and its unwinding was controlled by means of a lever. At first it went slowly and easily enough, but as it unwound the weight of the dangling end increased so that the man in charge could not check it, and the whole of the cable went with a rush down the 355 foot shaft.

Three of the men in the bucket succeeded in getting out of the falling cable's way, but Barney Bates, forty, of No. 125 Morris avenue, the Bronx, and Ivan Lapowski nineteen of No. 216 Eighth avenue were caught by it. Bates's left tibia and several of his ribs were broken. Lapowski's head was severely out and he suffered concussion of the brain.

John Carter, twenty-one, of No. 621 Morris avenue was standing at the bottom of the shaft. He heard the cable coming and jumped, but did not completely avoid it. His back and head were much bruised.

The three injured men were taken to Washington Heights Hospital by Dr. Penner.

GOV. DIX SIGNS BILLS.

Approves Amendments to the Insurance Law.

ALBANY, April 11.—Gov. Dix has signed two insurance law amendments, a bank trustee bill and bills extending the life of a couple of up-State railroad companies.

The bank bill permits the election of residents of New Jersey as trustees of savings banks in New York City provided that not more than one-fifth of the trustees of any bank shall be non-residents.

The new insurance laws, framed by Senator "Big Tim" Sullivan, permit the writing of life, health and accident insurance in one policy and the consolidation of certain surety companies and authorize insurance against loss by theft of livestock.

The railroads which are given an extension of time in which to complete their lines are the Champlain and Saratoga and the Buffalo and Susquehanna.

SPONGES SEWED INSIDE HIM BY DOCTOR, HE SAYS

Weiss Sues for Damages, but Physicians Declare He's Victim of Delusion.

Jacob Weiss of No. 128 East Eighty-seventh street yesterday sued Dr. Otto Kilian of No. 44 West Seventh-seventh street and Dr. Herman Fischer of No. 1014 Lexington avenue for $20,000 damages. He alleges that when they performed an operation on him in the German Hospital they left two sponges sewed up in his abdomen.

The operation on Weiss was performed on Jan. 14, 1917. He was discharged on March 4 as cured, he says, but soon afterward began to suffer such pain that he called in Dr. Carl Eggers of No. 118 East Eighty-ninth street. On June 17 a second operation was performed, and when the old wound was opened, it is alleged, Dr. Eggers removed from it two sponges "and other medical appliances."

Dr. Fischer was not returned when informed last night of the filing of the suit.

"So he has sued, has he?" asked the physician. "He has been talking about it a long time, but I didn't know he had got around to bringing action. It is a delusion Weiss has. For one thing, Dr. Kilian had nothing at all to do with the operation. For the rest of it, it was the stitches used in closing the incision that bothered him. It often happens that nervous men in around them, and that was all that happened in this case."

Dr. Eggers, upon whose operation Weiss bases his complaint, confirmed Dr. Fischer's statement.

TOOTHACHE WAS FATAL.

CHIEF Clerk, who had a fish market at No. 123 Jamaica avenue, Brooklyn, when he was struck by a brick at St. Mary's Hospital in Jamaica this morning. He was sent to that institution on Wednesday evening by Dr. Moroch.

When Dr. Moroch was summoned to attend to the patient he found him suffering from unbearable pain. His neck was swollen badly. The doctor told the patient that he had a tooth pulled a few days before. The nature of the trouble was not plain and the patient's friends of the neck might be infected and blood poisoning had set in. Dr. Moroch sent him to the hospital. Death was caused by pneumonia according to the hospital report. Coroner Ambler will make an inquiry into the case.

A Diplomatic Husband. (From the Boston Transcript.)

Mr. Man—Can't afford to let me go to the garden. Why not? My board there wouldn't cost more than it does here.

Mr. Man—I admit that, my love; but that of all the money I'd have to spend entertaining myself in your absence.

The Opening of the Baseball Season

brings great hopes of two pennant-winning teams for greater New York.

In the "Optical League" the Optical House of M. H. Harris has already been declared the victor. We have long ago made a hit with the eyeglass-wearing "fans."

Can't you sacrifice just a little time to call at one of our eight stores to have your eyes examined? Remember, the examination incurs no obligation to pay nor to buy.

Harris Glasses cost $2.00 or more.
