

SMITH TAXI ROBBER IS SENT TO PRISON.
 "Brigand" Arbano, Who Helped Himself to Bandit's Fortune, Is Last in Custody.
 Matteo Arbano, the last of the taxi-cab bandits in custody, was sentenced to not less than two years or more than four years in Sing Sing prison, by Jus-

Use Davis in the Supreme Court to-day. Arbano is the eighth of the ten who took part in the Church street $25,000 taxicab robbery to receive a prison sentence.
 William Keller, alias "Dutch," one of the two who entered the cab and beat the bank messengers unconscious, is still at large. Another who has not been rounded up by the police is one "Joe the Kid," who acted the part of a lookout. Arbano took no actual part in the robbery. He is one of the "Three Brigands" who waited into the station of "Jimmie the Post" while the robbers were dividing the money, picked up $100; and waited away with it. The share of the loot gathered by Arbano did him little good, for he went to Havana with it and was robbed of all but a few dollars before he had been in the Cuban capital twenty-four hours. On his return to New York he gave himself up.
