MARINES AGAIN LAND IN CUBA, BUT TAFT ASSURES GOMEZ U. S. WILL NOT INTERVENE

Seven Hundred Men Rushed from Philadelphia on Prairie Reach Guantanamo While Warship Fleet Heads to Key West for Dash to Island.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—United States marines were again landed on Cuban soil to-day, when the force of 700 men who were rushed on the transport Prairie from Philadelphia a few days ago arrived on that vessel at Guantanamo and were immediately ordered ashore at the naval station to protect Americans and their interests. It is expected that the gunboat Paducah will land another force before night at Nipe Bay, on the northern side of the island, where American enterprises figure up to $25,000,000 in property interests.

This news came almost simultaneously with an announcement from the State Department that President Taft, in an official note, had assured President Gomez that the United States had no intention of intervening in Cuba.

Mr. Taft's assurance was given in his reply to Gomez's cablegram of yesterday regarding the attitude of the United States toward Cuba. He declared the American Government's activities in mobilizing war vessels at Key West and despatching the Prairie with marines to Guantanamo was not in any sense an intervention move. The following is the text of the message, which was sent from the President's special train at Jersey City just as he resumed his political tour of New Jersey.

"I am sincerely gratified to learn of your government's energetic measures to put down the disturbance and to know that you are confident of being successful. As was fully explained to the Cuban Charge d'Affaires here, this Government's motive in sending ships to Key West, just as sending the Prairie to the Guantanamo naval station, is merely to be able to act promptly in case it should unfortunately become necessary to protect American life and property by rendering moral support or assistance to the Cuban Government. As was made quite clear at the time, these ordinary measures of precaution were entirely dissociated from any question of intervention.

(Signed) "WILLIAM H. TAFT."

A cable from Havana this afternoon states that President Gomez had received the message from President Taft disclaiming the intent of the United States to intervene. He immediately summoned a meeting of the Cabinet, to which he communicated the text of the message and expressed his highest appreciation of President Taft's attitude. President Gomez is now engaged in preparing a reply.

The cablegram sent by Gomez yesterday that prompted the President's message today read:

"It is my duty to advise you, said Gomez in his cable to Taft, 'that a determination of this sort by the American Government is grave and alarming and injurious to the sentiment of the Cuban people, so loving and so especially so when such measures are taken in the light of the previous agreement between the two Governments, which places Cuba in a position of humiliating inferiority by the forgetfulness of her national rights, producing natural discredit at home and abroad.'"

LYNCHERS RIDDLE NEGRO WITH SHOT; 100 BULLETS FIRED

Assailant of Woman Taken From Officers in Tennessee and Put to Death in Field.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 27.—Jacob Samuels, charged with attacking Mrs. Walter Ramsey, wife of a Robertson County farmer, Saturday night, was taken from officers early to-day by a mob and riddled with bullets. Ramsey left his wife and two small children at home alone Saturday night to go to Orlinda, one mile away, for provisions. On the way he met the negro, Samuels. Knowing that Mrs. Ramsey was alone, it is surmised the negro went direct to the Ramsey home and attacked Mrs. Ramsey. She was dragged from her bed into the yard, and when the negro fled she waited half a mile to give the alarm.

"I WANT NO THIRD TERM, AND WONT CHANGE MIND"

—President Taft.

Declares at Freehold That He Stands Where the Roosevelt of 1904 Stood, Not Campaigner of 1912—Colonel Says Savings Built Canal.

Roosevelt and Taft, in special cars to-day rounded up New Jersey in their final dashes for delegates to be elected at the primaries to-morrow. Each was enthusiastically received along his scheduled route, the Colonel making his start from Morristown and the President beginning his whirl at Perth Amboy. A change in the latter's schedule cut out Bayonne and Elizabethport, where it had been arranged to begin the day. Crowds were disappointed at each of the two places. The President was greeted by 5,000 at Asbury Park, where a company of militia aided the police in handling the assemblage.

At Morristown Col. Roosevelt made the claim that he had paid all the expenditures of the Panama Canal to date out of the two or three hundred millions he saved the country during his Administration.

President Taft's itinerary included the biggest beach resorts and many girls and women listened to his speeches.

President Taft made his first declaration on third terms with respect to himself in his speech at Freehold. The President declared:

"I understand somebody is afraid that I have not promised that I would not take a third term, that I have not directly said so. I have opposed the third term for everybody else, and I would certainly oppose it for myself, and I won't change my mind."

WESTERN UNION GIRLS CAN'T WEAR PEEK-A-BOO WAISTS ANY MORE

Telegraph Company Ruthlessly Puts Ban on Summery Togs and Woe Is Deep.

Low-necked and peek-a-boo waists were put under the ban to-day by the Western Union Telegraph Company. The 15 young women employed in the Western Union offices were notified by a ruthless manifesto that their office garb hereafter must be severely plain and specifically not of the peek-a-boo sort. District Traffic Superintendent T. A. McCannan is responsible for this edict. To-day Mr. McCannan indicated the following order, signed it with a grim flourish and posted it on the bulletin board.

All office girls employed by the Western Union Telegraph Company are required to wear plain shirt waists with moderately high adjustable collars and sleeves that extend below the elbow.

A wall of woe went up when the six scores and five young women read the manifesto. Not one of the number wore a high-collared waist and long sleeves. Of peek-a-boos there was a great variety.

When Mr. McCannan was asked for explanations he replied the order was issued for sanitary reasons, but he could not explain just why the high collar and the long sleeves are more sanitary than the other kind. He added that the scientific experts of the company had been studying the subject and had advised the order. Therefore it had been issued.

MOORS AGAIN ATTACK FEZ: FAIL WITH HEAVY LOSS.

Make Repeated Dashes at French Guns Under Hot Fire Before They Are Driven Off.

FEZ (Via Wireless to Tangier), May 27.—A strong body of Moors made another attack on this city to-day. Some penetrated inside the walls, but were dispersed or killed. The French lost one officer killed and thirty soldiers killed or wounded. The Moors' casualties were heavy.

The French artillery was in action for a considerable time shelling the Moors who made repeated dashes at the guns. By noon quiet had been restored in the city, but in view of the situation Gen. Lyautey, the new French Resident, has decided to postpone his official visit to the Sultan, who insists on abdicating the throne.

TWO DARING BANDITS BEAT AND ROB VICTIM ON SUBWAY PLATFORM

Women Scream as Assailants Blackjack Man, Steal His Jewelry and Money and Flee Before the Police Arrive.

TENANTS IN APARTMENTS NEARBY SEE BOLD CRIME

Salesman Displayed Money Before Climbing to Station of Elevated Section of Tube System

The Jackson avenue station on the elevated subway extension in the Bronx was the scene of an amazingly bold crime at 11:30 o'clock to-day when two highwaymen attacked Isaac Stern, a salesman, of No. 52 East Ninety-ninth street, with a blackjack, inflicting mortal injuries, and robbed him of a diamond stickpin and $80 in cash. The assault and robbery was committed on the downtown station platform in the view of scores of men and women waiting for trains and looking on from the rows of apartment houses that wall both sides of Jackson avenue.

A policeman stood on post directly beneath a bicycle policeman was half a block away. Throats filled the pavements on both sides of the avenue. Indeed there was nothing wanting in the effort to lend melodramatic thrill, and after the robbers had accomplished their purpose they slipped a whistle, made a dash for a nearby building, and a multitude of policemen and detectives ran after them in chase.

Stern, a slim young man of about thirty, was followed out of a saloon near the station by his two assailants. He had extended his roll of bills to the saloon, where he bought a glass of beer and a cigar. He had lighted his cigar and strolled to the station platform, paying no attention to the smoking pair behind him.

MEN FOLLOWED VICTIM DOWN STATION PLATFORM.

At the ticket box Stern paused a moment to smile on Joseph Williams, the ticket-collector, and remark, what a fine day it was. The two thugs came stepping along slowly, waiting for him to pass through and start down the platform. Williams got a good look at both men, one tall with a drooping black mustache and the other short, heavy-shouldered and fair.

Mrs. Pasquale Zurillo, who lives at No. 23 Sherman street, and Johnny Martin, who lives at No. 21 Sherman street, sixteen sticks of dynamite were stolen from a rifle case in an open box cart which stood on Saturday, on the Sherman street siding of the Erie Railroad. When the local freight agent of the railroad discovered the theft, he set the police to tracing the three boys, whom he had seen playing in the vicinity of the box car on Saturday. Then it was that several scores of people in the tenements on Sherman street got the scare of their lives.

Mrs. Pasquale Zurillo, who lives at No. 23 Sherman street, said the boys had brought some straws, yellow sticks into her rooms, Saturday, and had broken some of them open and laid the sawdust they was inside. When they found it was not good for boys to eat, they tried to force some into the mouth of the Zurillo family cat, much to the outwringing of that intelligent creature. Then they attempted to shove their shoes with the greasy sticks.

When the police located the boys to-day they confessed they had stolen the dynamite sticks, not knowing what they were, and the youthful thieves showed the officers where they had hidden most of their dangerous loot in some iron sewer pipes near the track. The police led the youngsters go with a scolding.

BLACKJACK CRUSHED HAT AND BROKE HIS SKULL.

The young man didn't have a chance to scuffle. As the tall thug sprang at him he seized his neck and jerked it with a stranding twist. Simultaneously the shorter thug stepped in and swung a blackjack that split Stern's straw hat in twain and cracked his skull. The young man dropped as if he had been felled with an axe. As he fell, the tall highwayman half supported him by still gripping the necktie, and with deft fingers plucked the diamond pin from the necktie and fastened the roll of bills from the pocket.

All this was done in a few seconds. Probably fifteen seconds more passed before the stupefied witnesses of the crime could find voice. The suddenness and brutality of the crime had numbered every spectator. With eyes that stood out with horror young Mrs. Mendelsohn says she saw the three men the blackjack fell she saw the parting
