

CUSTOM OFFICIALS STRIP AND SEARCH GIRL AS SMUGGLER

Employee of Steamer Is Shad- owed on Car and Then Arrested.

An investigation was set on foot to-day by Henderson Brothers, agents of the Anchor Line Steamship Company, at No. 12 Broadway, into what the steamship representatives characterize as an outrage perpetrated yesterday by Custom House officials in the forcible searching of Miss Janette Farnie, first cabin stewardess on board the Cameronia.

Miss Farnie, who is a comely Scotch woman, several years in the service of the line, left the Cameronia at its dock, No. 64 North River, about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and took a Fourth-street car, intending to meet friends for a shopping tour.

Two roughly dressed men boarded the car at its terminus, just behind Miss Farnie. One of them sat in the seat beside her and the other stood in front of her.

Before the car had progressed a block toward the Custom House, the man next to her was coolly passing his hand back and forth over her lap. When she turned on him indignantly and demanded that he cease his actions, he said:

"What are you carrying away under your skirt?"

Miss Farnie flushed with anger and appealed to the conductor of the car for assistance. The conductor advised her to get up and sit in the next car, and threatened the man sitting beside Miss Farnie that if he did not cease his obnoxious behavior, he would be thrown out of the car.

FORCED TO STRIP FOR SEARCH AT THE CUSTOMS HOUSE. Then the two men showed badges of Customs House watchmen and notified Miss Farnie she was under arrest. They refused to give any reason for the arrest and insisted she should accompany them to the Customs House.

But Miss Farnie, when she alighted from the car at Seventh street, broke away from the grip of one of the men, who had his hand on her arm, and, running across the street, appealed to a policeman to protect her from what she believed to be impostors.

Once more, the two men flashed their shields and the policeman advised Miss Farnie she would better go along quietly. Then she accompanied the two watchmen to the Customs House.

There, under orders from some superior, whose identity attorneys for the Anchor line are now trying to determine, the young woman was taken into a private room and, on the orders of a matron, divested herself of every stitch of her clothing. The matron even made the stewardess take down her hair. She made a thorough search of Miss Farnie's person and clothing and found nothing dutiable.

The young woman, meanwhile, suffering severely under the shock of her arrest and the humiliation of stripping herself before the matron, became hysterical. Her cries sounded through the corridors on the lower floor of the Customs House, and the official who had ordered the ruthless search became worried. He sent orders to the matron that she should get Miss Farnie dressed as soon as possible, and when the young woman was fully clothed again, she was smuggled out a rear door and into a taxicab on State street. The taxi took her, unaccompanied, back to the Cameronia.

GIRL NEAR COLLAPSE AS RESULT OF HER TREATMENT. Miss Farnie was in a state of high nervous excitement when she returned to the ship and had to be put to bed by some of the other stewardesses. Later, when she had calmed, she told her story to Capt. Baxter, commander of the ship. He lost no time in reporting the whole matter to the agents of the steamship line.

To-day the steamship company's agents put Miss Farnie's case into the hands of the line's attorneys for a thorough investigation. Henderson Brothers say they will not be satisfied until responsibility for the treatment imposed upon the stewardess is determined and punishment to all concerned in the usual proceedings is ordered.

Miss Farnie, the steamship agents declared to-day, has never been suspected of smuggling. She is one of the most efficient stewardesses on the Cameronia, and on several occasions she has received gifts from Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, whom she has served on her passages to Glasgow.

William Coverly, partner of Henderson Bros., said to-day he would take steps to redress the humiliation of Miss Farnie. What these steps would be he refused to say.

When Gen. Nelson Henry, the Surveyor of the Port, was asked by an Evening World reporter for the names of the Customs House inspectors who made the arrest he said:

WILL CONTINUE IN SAME WAY, SAYS SURVEYOR OF PORT. "I cannot see the reason for all this fuss. In the line of their duty these men may not have displayed the grace of a Chesapeake, but they did what they thought was the right thing. They were stationed on the dock to prevent smuggling. You know as well as I that half the pursers, stewardesses and even the officers of steamship companies are petty smugglers. If you don't it's a fact just the same.

"Now in the case of this woman, there seems to be no reason for suspecting her. She should not feel indignant over being accused of something and exonerated from the charge. She said herself, after we had apologized to her, that the thing she felt most was the way the men questioned her. She said to me it would have been all right if they had merely asked, 'What have you concealed on your person?' I have no objection to the matter ends, as far as I am concerned. We are in our duty forced to examine suspected persons. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred we are right. Miss Farnie was the hundredth. If the Anchor Line is indignant, I can only say we will continue to do business in the same way."

ROBIN A GOOD LAWYER.

Surprises Court by Way He Cross Examines.

Joseph G. Robin proved to the satisfaction of a large crowd of spectators in Justice Gerard's part of the Supreme Court to-day that he would make a better lawyer than the bank wrecked Robin, who has been confined for some time in the Tombs awaiting sentence on the plea of guilty in connection with the failure of the Northern Bank, was allowed to appear before Justice Gerard as his own attorney in a suit brought by Anthony Stumpf against himself, James M. Gifford, Frederick K. Morris and the Fidelity Developing Company.

The action arose out of an alleged agreement whereby Stumpf was to advance Robin $10,000 for the purchase of the property known as the Morris Park Race Track, in the Bronx. Robin, according to Stumpf, was to dispose of the property to a corporation and reimburse Stumpf. Although the property was sold at a handsome profit, Stumpf said Robin forgot all about him, not even remembering to return the $10,000.

Robin was represented by Attorney H. G. Chanin, but persuaded Justice Gerard to allow him to conduct the cross-examination of Stumpf and other witnesses. He surprised the court and others present by his familiarity with legal matters, and when he had finished his own lawyer complimented him and told him he could not have done any better.

COVER UP GARBAGE CAN.

If You Don't, the City Authorities Will Get You.

The failure of householders to conform to the ordinance requiring the use of certain receptacles with secure covers for the holding of garbage, has decided a plan of co-operation between the Street Cleaning, Health and Police departments to compel the enforcement of the law. Mayor (dayton issued the necessary official order to-day and henceforth these three departments will combine in making a crusade against offenders. Action is demanded now because of the approach of the hot spell when exposed garbage will tend to germinate and spread germs of disease. By compelling enforcement of the covered garbage can ordinance, the city officials expect to abate in a measure also the fly nuisance.

Regular inspections are to be made by the three departments and violations promptly reported and acted upon.

OIL MAGNATE PIERCE CALLED A PERJURER BY LAWYER IN COURT

Stewart Declares He "Played With Court" in $171,000 Damage Suit.

Henry Clay Pierce, multi-millionaire oil man, was denounced as a perjurer in the Supreme Court to-day by Robert Stewart, attorney for Mrs. Alice G. Hycroft, a widow, who recently obtained a judgment by default against Pierce for $171,000.

The sensational attack on the head of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company came in reply to a motion made before Justice Brady by former Justice Edward P. Hatch, on behalf of Pierce, to have the case reopened.

Judge Hatch told the court Pierce has a perfectly good defense to the suit of Mrs. Hycroft, growing out of some stock transactions, and that the reason he did not appear here in person, when the case was called for trial, some time ago, was because he was ill.

"We are prepared to show, Your Honor," declared Attorney Stewart, "that Mr. Pierce was actually attending to business in St. Louis when that case was called for trial. If he could attend to business there, he could have come here and obeyed the solemn obligation he owed this court."

"We will show," went on Mr. Stewart, "that at the very time Mr. Pierce and his wife swore in their affidavits that he had to go to Palm Beach, Florida, and because of his weakened condition was compelled to ride in a roller chair, he was in vigorous health. The only reason he rode in a roller chair was that everybody else there rode in roller chairs."

"He didn't want to come to New York at the time. He believed the festivities of the winter season at Palm Beach were more important than this case, but played with it to suit his own convenience."

The body was dressed in a suit of gray check goods with a thread of green in the wool black silk waist, black stockings and shoes. There were no marks about the clothing nor other means of identification.

WALL STREET

The stock market at the opening to-day was prompt to resume the upward movement of yesterday, only the upward trend to-day was conducted more aggressively. Shortly before the end of the first hour, when the market recorded top prices, the list represented the highest range established in months.

As was the case yesterday, the upturn was headed by Steel, Union and Northern Pacific, Reading, Copper and Lehigh Valley. Those issues all displayed advances of about 1 point. The remainder of the market reflected the pronounced strength of the leaders with fractional gains.

Subsequent dealings manifested a tendency to quiet down, although the list was maintained around top range. Stocks began to yield rather easily to realizing in the afternoon period after the early morning buying demand exhausted itself at midday. In the late rush-off prices reacted with ease from a point from the initial top. Realizing in Steel, Union Pacific and American Smelting was particularly heavy.

The list presented an irregular appearance at closing time.

SAYS WOMEN "DIPS" PICKED HER POCKET OF $1,895 IN GEMS

Shopper Identifies Two as Members of "Mob" of Market Female Pickpockets.

Mrs. Nellie Kroh, 33 and minus one tooth, who claims to be the champion hard luck victim of the east side, appeared at Police Headquarters to-day and identified Mrs. Kate Kopelton and Mrs. Lena Spring as members of a "mob" of female pickpockets who jostled her in the Yiddish market in Orchard street and "touched" her for jewelry worth $1,895. The women stoutly maintain their innocence.

Mrs. Kroh complained that she went to the market on Sunday, June 2, to buy vinegar. She stood in front of a push cart while the merchant went inside. Four women surrounded her at the push cart, each clamoring for half a pound of beans. They jostled about her. Having heard of female "dips," Mrs. Kroh clung tightly to her purse, but forgot the jewels, which she had in a pocket in her undershirt, declared Attorney Stewart, "that Mr. Pierce was actually attending to business in St. Louis when that case was called for trial. If he could attend to business there, he could have come here and obeyed the solemn obligation he owed this court."

"We will show," went on Mr. Stewart, "that at the very time Mr. Pierce and his wife swore in their affidavits that he had to go to Palm Beach, Florida, and because of his weakened condition was compelled to ride in a roller chair, he was in vigorous health. The only reason he rode in a roller chair was that everybody else there rode in roller chairs."

Summer Aids to Beauty

(Other in Household Hints.)

"Face powder helps that 'shiny' look only a few minutes, and then, when rubbed off, a woman's appearance is worse than ever. A true complexion beautifier is made by dissolving an original package of mayonaisse hair on her face. Sprinkle gently with this lotion over face, neck and arms every morning. It holds all day long, and your complexion soon is clear, smooth, satiny and free from blemish.

"Short-sleeved waists sometimes prove embarrassing to a woman never troubled with superfluous hair on her face. Dandruff will remove wild hairs. Just mix powdered detanant with enough water to cover the hairs; apply, and after two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs will be gone.

"A great advantage of a dry shampoo is that it does not require to devote hours drying the hair. The best shampoo powder is a mixture of four ounces oforris root and one ounce of talcum powder. Sprinkle a little on the head, brush through the hair, and it removes dust, oil and dandruff, leaving the scalp clean, cool and refreshed, and the hair light, fluffy and lustrous.

"To make thin, short eyelashes grow in length, thick and silky with a beautiful curl, apply plain pyroxin to the lash roots with thumb and forefinger daily. Rubbing pyroxin on straggly eyebrows will make them long and silky."—Adv.
