

SEVEN SPECIAL TRAINS FILLED WITH TAMMANY MEN OFF FOR BALTIMORE

missionary work among the delegates and leaders not allied with the machine. There is discord in the Harmon camp. The shrews of war are missing in the Harmon headquarters and his lieutenants are rebellious. Nor is the Ohio delegation a unit for Harmon, although bound by the unit rule adopted by the State Convention.

Mayor Baker of Cleveland, a district delegate and Wilson man, went before the National Committee this afternoon and asked that body to break the unit rule in the Ohio delegation. Mr. Baker said if the committee refused his request he would take the matter before the convention.

The Kentucky delegation at a meeting to-day announced their intention of supporting the choice of the National Committee for Temporary Chairman despite the fact that Senator Ollie James of that State had been suggested as a candidate by the Bryan forces against Parker. After the delegation in caucus had adopted a resolution pledging support to the National Committee, James announced that he would not be a candidate for the place.

Several delegates from Alabama called on Mr. Bryan this afternoon and told him that while they were bound by the unit rule to vote for Oscar Underwood for President, they would be against Judge Parker for Temporary Chairman. Mr. Bryan replied that he hoped the National Committee would settle the matter without a fight.

"I am for harmony," added Mr. Bryan. "I am the greatest harmonizer here." Regarding a report that he had been visited by William R. Hearst, Mr. Bryan said he would not give out a list of his callers.

The Pennsylvania delegation this afternoon in caucus voted 59 to 6 to oppose Judge Parker for Temporary Chairman.

The Texas delegation sent a written protest to Col. R. M. Johnson, the Texas National Committeeman and member of the sub-committee, on his vote for Parker for Temporary Chairman.

Chairman Cone Johnson of the State delegation signed the letter for the delegation, asking Committeeman Johnson to change his vote and oppose Parker.

The session of the National Committee was short. After Judge Parker had been placed in nomination before the committee several speeches were made for and against his selection. No other nominations had been made when the recess was ordered shortly before 2 o'clock. Committeeman Kremer announced that the Bryan Democrats would defy the committee if Mr. Parker's name is ratified, and declared that Mr. Bryan would himself lead the fight as a candidate for the Chairmanship.

Following efforts at the recess the Chairman announced the agreement to send a committee to the opposing leaders in the fight, to see Mr. Bryan and Judge Parker. WILSON LINES UP WITH BRYAN.

The Wilson boomers have lined up with Bryan. Supporters of the New Jersey Governor instructed Robert S. Hudspeth, national committeeman from New Jersey, to vote for Senator-elect Ollie James of Kentucky, an avowed Champ Clark man.

"We cast our support with Ollie James," said Mr. Hudspeth to-day, even though he is a Clark man. We do this that the cause of the people and progressive Democracy shall not fail, or, if it fail, the responsibility will be upon others and not upon us."

In a statement Mr. Hudspeth urged all progressives to join in fighting Judge Parker's election.

Mr. Bryan said at noon after Mr. Sullivan had left: "There will be a progressive candidate for Temporary Chairman against Mr. Parker. If the progressives cannot agree upon a candidate for Temporary Chairman I will be a candidate myself."

That an open break between the forces of Champ Clark and Bryan is impending was the general opinion of the majority of the Democratic leaders. The Murphy-Taggart-Sullivan combination, who are behind the selection of Parker as Temporary Chairman, was openly claiming that Bryan was for Wilson and that he was waiting for the psychological moment to come out flatly for the New Jersey candidate.

The conservative combination in figuring at first on its vote on the Temporary Chairmanship, insisted that Parker would receive between 600 and 700 votes.

Ohio's forty-eight votes in the Democratic Convention will be cast for Alton B. Parker for Temporary Chairman if the Harmon men in the delegation can put through the unit rule by which they plan to bind the nineteen Ohio delegates to the Harmon interests. In any event Parker will get twenty-nine from Ohio, according to Edmund Moore, the Harmon manager, who is to be the new National Committeeman from Ohio.

The Wilson men in the delegation will have two fights on their hands—one against Parker, the other to free themselves from the unit rule which ties them to Harmon though they were elected to vote for Wilson. Both battles are to occur on the convention floor.

When the secretary calls for Ohio's vote on the temporary chairmanship, the chairman of the Ohio delegation, who will be a Harmon man, will announce that Ohio casts forty-eight votes for his candidate for chairman, Mayor Newton Baker of Cleveland, a Wilson delegate and leader of the anti-Harmon forces, is then expected to challenge the announcement and ask for a roll call.

The chairman of the Ohio delegation will protest that under the unit rule all Ohio delegates must vote unanimously on all matters affecting the interests of Harmon, and the fight will be on.

MACK WILL HAVE TO DECIDE.

It will be up to Norman E. Mack, Chairman of the National Committee, who will be chairman until a temporary chairman is elected, to decide whether the nineteen Wisconsin men can be voted en bloc for the Harmon interests. Mack is for Harmon.

With the necessity confronting them of lining up 729 delegates to nominate, the managers of the various Presidential booms showed an activity in juggling figures that would have done credit to the cashier of a ten-cent circus. Each of the leading candidates was shown by figures issued from the respective headquarters to be in the lead. But the figures when analyzed all showed beyond the question of a doubt that there was no chance of any candidate securing the two-thirds vote needed to nominate, unless there was a stampede. And the danger of a stampede was believed today to be remote.

The Champ Clark managers insisted that their man would poll 612 votes on the first ballot. They divided these as follows: Instructed, 423; pledged, 189.

They said that Wilson had only 122 instructed and 88 pledged. The Clark managers insisted positively that they would put their man over on the second ballot. But the politicians who are supposed to have a good line on the situation were quietly insisting that Clark would show his total strength on the first ballot, and that if he had not enough to nominate then he would have shot his bolt and would dwindle on each succeeding ballot.

The Wilson managers claim that they will have 222 instructed delegates on the first ballot and that there are 187 who are pledged that will fall into line. They also claim that they will receive strong accessions from the uninstructed delegations.

There is little doubt that the Wilson men are forcing consideration of their claims by insisting that if their man is turned down they will line up behind William Jennings Bryan and force him over. This was best shown by the attitude of a member of the Pennsylvania delegation who openly told the New York delegates: "Either you help us put over Wilson or we will jam Bryan down your throats."

The Wilson men have an enthusiastic supporter for their cause in Senator James A. O'Gorman of New York. One of the "Big Four" from the Empire State, the New York Senator is a friend of the New Jersey Governor. He believes Wilson would be the strongest candidate who could be nominated and has been doing much missionary work among the New York delegates to have him made the choice.

The New York delegates were scheduled to get together this afternoon to consider ways and means and to adopt a general programme for the convention. It was expected that candidates would be talked of, but it was not believed any one man would be decided on to receive the New York support. They will hold themselves open for the time being.

GAYNOR BOOM GETS AWAY AHEAD OF TAMMANY HOST ON TRIP TO BALTIMORE

Boosters for Mayor Off an Hour Before Fourteenth Streeters, but Very Quiet—"Big Tim" and "Boys" Depart.

The Tammany and otherwise Democratic line of Maryland and the various boroughs of New York set off for Baltimore to-day to proclaim and boost whatever booms may appeal to the mighty chieftain of the Hall, Charles F. Murphy. The privately conducted Gaynor boom, parented and fostered by the Democratic Association, of which Jacob Cantor is the head, got away with a flying start about an hour before the fourteenth streeters, and one Brooklyn Tammany special began pulling out of the marble-roofed trainshed of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

There were between 200 and 400 in the organized boom outfit, 200 of them Italians under the leadership of Caesar Conti. Mingled with the Conti clan were the members of the East Side Business Men's League, led by Street Opening Commissioner Jacob Katz.

The Gaynor boom arrived in the Pennsylvania trainshed as quietly and decorously as a funeral procession, bearing placards and banners but making no sort of noise and giving vent to no sort of enthusiasm. They were accompanied by their energetic forerunner, said Mr. Cantor, who added that all kinds of support from pivotal States for the Gaynor boom.

The Gaynor special left the trainshed at 9:30. It was made up of seven cars—four Pullmans, two diners and an observation car—and is scheduled to arrive in Baltimore at 2 o'clock. Borough President Connolly of Queens has declared himself in favor of the Gaynor boom and accompanied it to Baltimore, but of course he will be bound by the unit rule, he says, and if the Gaynor boom is dropped he will rally himself and his following to any other boom that is spread on the carpet. He said before leaving to-day that the New York delegation would make its choice in caucus to-night.

There were many Gaynor men in the five Tammany specials that followed the Gaynor special, notwithstanding the report that Mr. Murphy is leaning toward Gov. Harmon.

There were about fourteen hundred men, representing twenty-one assembly districts, in the Tammany delegation that boarded the four Tammany specials. They were all on their way before the Brooklyn lot of 400 arrived via the Long Island Railroad and boarded their special, which pulled out at 10:35.

The Tammany regulars were just as undemonstrative as the organized Gaynor boomers. The various district leaders in charge marshaled their forces in solid phalanxes and led them to their respective trains. Not a cheer was uttered and the Gaynor boom was mentioned only in whispers.

In the first train, which drew out at 10:30, were the delegates of the faithful from the Fifth, Nineteenth, Thirtieth, Eighteenth and Seventh Assembly Districts. Two minutes later the second Tammany special was on its way, carrying the hosts from the Fifteenth, Eleventh, Ninth, Twentieth and Twenty-second Assembly Districts. The third special left at 10:35 with representatives from the Twenty-sixth, Twenty-fourth, Twenty-seventh, Twenty-eighth, Thirty-first and Twenty-ninth Assembly Districts. The last of the Tammany specials, leaving at 10:47, carried those chosen from the Thirtieth, Thirty-fifth, Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth and Thirty-second Assembly Districts.

Secretary Says Murphy's Stronger Than Ever. Secretary "Tom" Smith, who boarded the last special, said before leaving that any report from Baltimore that Leader Murphy would be superseded in authority by Senator O'Gorman or any other New York Democrat was absurd.

"Mr. Murphy," said Secretary Smith, "is stronger than ever. The 'old New York' delegation will stick by him through everything." Reids Commissioner O'Keefe, who accompanied the Brooklyn delegation, with Herman Metz and a score of other notable Democrats from over the river, said that he was confident that Mayor Gaynor would be the second choice of the convention.

"The Mayor is not a candidate of his own volition," said Mr. O'Keefe, "no whatever happens we will not be disappointed."

With the usual brass bands and other forms of enthusiasm, Tammany delegates to the National Democratic Convention left for Baltimore on the Central Railroad of New Jersey special at 10 o'clock to-day. Favorites were cheered as they arrived, but when the "Bigelow" strode through the crowd the Tammany colorists gave him an ovation. Just how many delegates went on this special no one seemed to know. The train started 400 men, most of them wide shouldered, lightly juggling suit cases and waiting for orders. Some said there were fifteen delegates and some said forty out of the four hundred that boarded the train. The others they said, were just "the boys" going along to see "that everything was all right."

The first division of "the boys" took a nice auto ride from the Tenth Assembly District on Second avenue. They were going to parade the machines along the line of west side admirers, but something went wrong with the calculations of Simon Steingut, the Little Mayor of Second avenue, and no machines greeted "the boys."

Great enthusiasm was shown by the delegates and "the boys" from that part of Manhattan below Fourteenth. With such champions as Senator Chauncey S. Ryan, Senator Fitzgerald, State Camp Usher, Senator Joseph Harbinger and Mr. Timothy D. Sullivan, himself, they outdid all former efforts.

BRYAN SAYS HE MAY NAME HIMSELF AS CHAIRMAN

Will Fight Parker From Convention Floor Unless Committee Chooses a Progressive Who Suits Him.

BY WILLIAM J. BRYAN. Copyright, 1912, by Virgil V. McEitt. BALTIMORE, June 24.—The most prominent arrival this morning was Gov. Burke of North Dakota. He has the support of his State for the Presidency and at once aligned himself with the progressive fight against Judge Parker for Temporary Chairman. He brought his answer to my telegram and delivered it in person.

Gov. Burke has been elected for a third time in his State and his popularity is due to his strength as an Executive and to the satisfaction which his administration has given. He is one of the strongest men in our party, and is not only considered for the office of President but will doubtless have a still larger support for the Vice-Presidency if geographical conditions do not weigh against him.

PROGRESSIVES STILL LOOKING FOR A CANDIDATE.

The National Committee is in session, having under consideration the question of Temporary Chairman. The progressives are still engaged in an endeavor to get together on some candidate, with some prospect of success. The Wall street influence is on hand stiffening the backs of Judge Parker's supporters, but the tide seems to be turning more strongly against Parker as the delegates arrive.

I do not like to discuss my part in the convention and yet I am compelled to do so or deny this information to those who read these reports. I will therefore say that I am not attending the meeting of the full committee, preferring to leave them to agree upon a progressive without suggestion from me, if they can do so.

If they fail to do so, and Mr. Parker is recommended by the full committee, I shall, from the floor of the convention, oppose his selection, and propose the name of some progressive as a substitute for him. I do not know who that progressive will be and I shall not decide until the last moment, my sole desire being to bring about harmonious co-operation between the friends of the progressive candidates. Any one upon whom they may agree will have my hearty support. If they cannot agree, I will then take the responsibility of finding a progressive to present as a candidate, the best one whose consent is obtainable.

MAY SEEK TEMPORARY CHAIRMANSHIP. If I fall in my effort to find a candidate I shall myself be a candidate in order that those who are attending the convention may have an opportunity to vote for a Temporary Chairman whose speech will induce the party of progressive record and urge an advance along progressive lines.

The discussion of candidates is for the time being suspended. Until we find out what kind of a convention this is no forecast can be made. If it is known to be a reactionary convention the interest in the Presidential nomination will probably decline, for it will not make much difference who carries the standard of a convention in the party which enters into competition with the Taft party for the support of the predatory interests.

GUARDS SHOOT AT STRIKERS; 8 MEN, 1 WOMAN HIT

Orange, N. J., started from his home last Monday for Wellington, N. J., to investigate an accident and vanished. He did not reach Wellington. Detectives for the Travellers' Insurance Company, which employed the missing man, have done their best to get on his trail, but have not succeeded. They have found nothing to point to a possible reason for his voluntarily absconding himself. His accounts with the company are absolutely correct, they state. So far as can be learned he was fond of the home of his mother and sister made for him.

Papers in his pockets would identify him had he met with an accident and been taken to a hospital.

Warburton avenue, a block away, with an infant at her breast, received one bullet through her left shoulder. It ranged upward and cut through her neck, severing one of the minor arteries. Dr. Cole, who removed her to the Hastings Hospital, said the woman might die. The baby was uninjured.

Dominick Smith was shot again, during the second battle, and was taken to the hospital; he had five wounds in his body.

Six others, including a boy, were treated by physicians, who were summoned to the spot by telephone from the Police Headquarters of Hastings. The strikers were seen to carry several of their wounded into the woods across the tracks.

Adam Yankowitz was sitting at the dinner table in his house on High street, two blocks from the scene of the shooting, when two bullets, passed, almost simultaneously, between his head and that of his wife and buried themselves in the wall.

Your Opportunity to Purchase a $30, $35 or $40 Suit $22.50 Made to Your Measure

The values are absolute. Such sales as are announced by this house are the legitimate outcome of business conditions. They require no introduction—no unusual comment. There is enough cloth to make 650 suits. They will sell rapidly at $22.50.

It is the fixed policy of our house when we have but a suit length left of any style to close them out irrespective of their former price. That is the only reason for this sale, and to those men who come in time—we will make to your measure at $22.50 a suit that actually has sold at $30, $35 and $40.

These suits will be made for you—fitted to your form by a tailoring organization that gives you personal service. The members of this firm supervise absolutely every fitting, they see to it themselves that every customer receives the attention and care he should and when you leave our establishment it is with the knowledge that you have found your tailor—where you can in future go with the fullest measure of confidence. Early selection advised.
