

DROPS HER BABY THROUGH FLAMES TO MAN IN STREET

Mother and Child Are Both Badly Burned at Blaze in Bronx.

A piece of burning paper was blown from a nearby bonfire into a binnacle on in the doorway of Abraham Gordon's paint shop at No. 1018 Webster avenue, the Bronx, last night. The oil exploded and instantly the store was aflame.

Gordon, his wife, their eight-year-old daughter, Bessie; Isidor, four, and Felix, three, were in the rear of the shop at dinner. Their living rooms were on the floor above and the only exit except by way of the shop, was through No. 42 East One Hundred and Seventy-ninth street. Mrs. Gordon evidently forgot this, for after she had picked up little Philip she ran up stairs, went to a front window and began to scream.

Meantime, her husband had gathered up the other children and followed his wife. Not seeing her, he went through the hallway to the entrance on One Hundred and Seventy-ninth street. Hearing his wife in the room above, he went to a front window and began to scream. Meantime, her husband had gathered up the other children and followed his wife. The fire burned several hours and did $2,000 damage.

The Coming Of the Law!

HER MAKE-UP MISSING, ACTRESS SUES FOR $1,000.

Juliet's Trunks Sent to Wrong Address and She Lost Two Weeks' Pay.

What chance has an actress without her make-up box and wardrobe? Not a chance in the world, according to Miss Juliet Rosenfeld, known on the stage as plain Juliet, who is suing the Long Island Express Company for $1,000 damages because her two trunks went astray in the summer of 1910.

Trial of the suit was begun to-day in Justice Gerard's part of the Supreme Court. The plaintiff, who was all in black except for a huge white plume on her hat, said that in August, two years ago, she was playing an engagement at Stockyard Beach. She had two trunks with her, but when she got ready to appear she discovered that her trunks were missing. They had been sent to New Orleans by mistake.

What could she do? Now if Juliet was doing artistic plastic poses or had a job in a chorus she might have gotten by without the two trunks for any trunk at all, but she is a mimic and you have the word of her manager that she is a marvel.

The case was brought to trial a year ago but was adjourned when Mrs. Rosenfeld, the plaintiff's mother, fainted in the courtroom. The $1,000 damages asked represented two weeks of lost work. Her salary is $500 a week, she says.

GIRL TELLS HOW HER ACT CAUSED DEATH OF FRIEND

In Great Grief Describes Her Effort to Run Elevator and Its Fatal Results.

With tear-stained eyes, and fingers that nervously clapped and unclapped about her handkerchief, fifteen-year-old Rose Camparone told Coroner Feinberg and a jury to-day how her desire to run an elevator had caused the death of her friend, Pauline Tobias, sixteen years old, who was killed on Aug. 23 while stepping into a lift of the Waldorf Realty Building, Nos. 38-40 West Thirty-third street. Both girls were employed in the building.

"Oh, I don't know what made me do it," cried Rose. "Malcom Young, the elevator man, was leaning out of the elevator door as I got in at the sixth floor. 'Let me run the car,' I asked him in a joking way, never thinking he would let me. I thought he said 'yes' or 'all right,' and before I realized what I was doing my hand was on the lever and the car shot up. When Young stopped at the fifth floor we were going down. I didn't see Pauline put her foot into the car. Then some one shouted, 'Pauline is killed,' and I knew I had done something terrible, for I had touched the lever of the car and it had stopped between the sixth and fifth floors."

Before Richter was arraigned to-day the coal that had been delivered to Cohen was weighed. It was 230 pounds.

THIS "GOOD SAMARITAN" ARRESTED AS BURGLAR.

McCabe's Record Was Against Story He Told to a Policeman.

Except that there are three entries on his police record card, James S. McCabe would have had a better chance to pass successfully to-day as a Good Samaritan.

Policeman Gaffney saw McCabe descend the steps leading to Morris

Levy's junk shop at No. 255 East One Hundred and Twenty-second street. Then he heard the double doors crash open and followed McCabe into the cellar.

"What are you doing here?" demanded Gaffney.

"There was a bag lying out on the sidewalk with some junk in it, and I was afraid some unprincipled person might take it. Levy's a good fellow, so I thought I'd carry it inside for him."

As for the innuendo that he had broken into the place—McCabe said it was ridiculous. He had simply leaned against the door while waiting for Levy to answer his knock, and it had given, he said. He pointed to a bar on the sidewalk to prove his story. It contained a quantity of lead pipe and some brass faucets. The police say McCabe was arrested for burglary in 1907, spent part of 1908 in the House of Refuge, and was sentenced in 1909 to serve form one to three years in Sing Sing for burglary.

The Exception.

(From the Kansas City Journal.)

"Remember you can't recall the spoken word."

"Can't you? Why, Congressmen every day of the session have remarks expunged from the record."

Every MEISTER PIANO is sold on the weekly or monthly payment plan and no cash payment down is required. This is entirely unusual and originated at this store.

The Victor-Victrola and Records You Want

All in One Easy Purchase

An example: A dealer induces you to buy a Victor instrument at so much down and so much per week or month. Then, "But how about records?" "Oh records are sold strictly for cash!" You have thus come into possession of the instrument on payment of a small sum, but you must pay $10.00 or more CASH for a selection of records.

The above is fact, as every one knows. It points out the distinct advantage of these two special combination offers. You purchase the instrument and a fine selection of Records at one price. You pay for them on terms that anyone can easily meet.

These offers are limited, and you must act quickly.
