

MANAGERS OF CAMPAIGN MAKE FINAL FORECASTS FOR THE EVENING WORLD

Democrats Claim Every State in Union for Wilson, Republicans See Taft Victory and Moosers Predict Landslide to T. R.

The Evening World presents herewith election forecasts of the three national campaign managers made this morning. The Democrats claim every State in Union; the Bull Moosers see a landslide to Roosevelt, but admit Wilson may carry some of the South, and the Republicans are satisfied with claiming a majority in the Electoral College.

Wilson Will Carry Every State in Union Is McCombs' Prediction

BY WILLIAM F. M'COMBS. (Chairman of the Democratic National Committee.) We will carry every State in the Union. We do not concede any State. We hope for the greatest victory ever gained by any candidate for President in this country.

Taft Sure to Win, Says Hilles; Voters Prefer Safe to Sorry

BY CHARLES D. HILLES. Chairman of the Republican National Committee.

William Howard Taft will be re-elected President of the United States next Tuesday. I have no doubt of it. Reports received from every section of the country within the past twenty-four hours are positive and convincing. The critical period of the campaign was passed more than a week ago. It came when the hopelessness of the Third Term cause was popularly recognized, and when the people understood the fight to be between Taft and Wilson. The thoughtful voter declined to place the prosperity of this country in jeopardy by entrusting the administration of affairs to a party and a leader committed to the proposition that a protective tariff is unconstitutional. There will be no tariff tinkering during the next four years. The revision that is to come will be for the purpose of adjusting inequalities, and it will be along lines laid down in the Republican platform, recognizing the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, determined accurately by a commission appointed for that purpose. President Taft will receive the support

Landslide for T. R., Says Dixon, And Debs Will Crowd Taft

BY JOSEPH M. DIXON. Chairman National Progressive Committee.

The nation will be astounded at the enormous vote for Roosevelt and Johnson next Tuesday. The election returns of four years ago count for nothing in the present contest. All indications point to a Roosevelt landslide. No one longer questions that either Col. Roosevelt or Mr. Wilson will be elected President. Taft will certainly be a bad third in the race, with Debs pushing him closely for third place in Connecticut, Illinois and Indiana. The past ten days have seen a tremendous drift toward Roosevelt in every part of the country. The fatal error in Democratic forecasts is the assumption that Wilson will receive the Bryan vote of four years ago. Nothing is more certain than that 1,500,000 men who voted for Bryan in 1908 will not vote for Wilson on Nov. 5. The test polls in every great industrial centre show Roosevelt leading Wilson by a large margin. Debs alone will take not less than 50,000 votes from the Bryan vote. More than one million wage workers and citizens of foreign birth, who cast their votes for Bryan four years ago, will vote for Roosevelt this time. In a three-cornered fight, with Debs looming up close to the million mark, I do not believe it possible for Roosevelt to again receive his enormous plurality of approximately two and one-half millions, as in 1904; he should receive not less than five hundred thousand plurality over Wilson and three millions plurality over Taft. Facing political revolutions as we do, there can be no certain yardstick of measurement as in former years. Based on most comprehensive reports from every State Chairman of the Progressive party, it now seems certain that Roosevelt will carry twenty-five States, having a total of 27 electoral votes. Wilson will carry twelve States, having 139 electoral votes. Ten States, having a total of 104 electoral votes, I believe to

Wilson Will Carry Illinois And Sweep the Middle West

(Special to The Evening World.) CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 2.—Gov. Wilson will carry Illinois by a good plurality. A week ago the State would have been called doubtful for Chicago has been a Bull Moose hot bed. Of late the Taft campaign has made excellent progress, although the President is likely to run third. Judge Edward P. Dunne will be elected Governor by a large plurality. Gov. Wilson will sweep the Middle West and he will carry Ohio. He will

Wilson Will Carry Pennsylvania By 50,000 at Least, is Prediction

(Special to The Evening World.) HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 2.—Pennsylvania ends its final week of the campaign with strong indications that the Democrats can make good their promise at Baltimore of "Give us Wilson and we'll give you Pennsylvania," but so many complications exist that no one, aside from professional politicians, ability of Taft to hold the Keystone State and admit practically that he has little more chance of the electoral vote from Pennsylvania than has Debs. Flinn's figures, of course, are ridiculous. If Roosevelt does carry this State nothing short of a landslide is likely to give him more than 25,000 plurality. The Wilson claim is considered conservative. Four years ago Taft polled 76,000 votes and Bryan 49,000. If the Democrats hold their party vote Wilson should poll more than Bryan did in 1908. They base their claim to carrying the

Republicans on Run in Ohio; Wilson Will Win by 100,000

(Special to The World.) COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 2.—The Republican rout in this State will be complete. Wilson electors will be elected by a majority greater than Harmon for Governor had two years ago. That was 100,000. It may double that figure. Cox, Democratic candidate for Governor, will be elected. The Legislature will be in doubt by Democrats in both cases, but that is without national significance, as there is no Senator to be chosen. State Chairman Finley of the Democratic Committee claims sixteen of the twenty-two Congressmen sure, and the number may run higher. It is more likely to be more than less than the number claimed. Roosevelt seems to have slightly increased his strength in the last two weeks, so that he will closely divide the Republican vote in the State with Taft. However, he is still likely to stand third in the race in Ohio.

"Triumph of a Great People" Says Wilson in Rally Messages

Governor Woodrow Wilson, in his "Rally day" message, says: "A great people is turning its face to the light, not desiring a revolution, but loving the right and the just, and it will be conducted temperately, honorably, with prudence and patient debate, not irritation or in haste, but like men, not like children. It is a great day and a propitious one. The responsibility is ours, and we shall assume it knowing what it means."

BETTING ON INDIANA FAVORS WILSON 5 TO 1.

(Special to The Evening World.) INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 2.—At this late date in the campaign Wilson looks as good as across the goal line for a Free and Open Market for Government. The denial touchdown so far as the score in Indiana is concerned. It is generally agreed that Taft is absolutely out of the running in this State, and that, with the split in the party, Roosevelt's chances are very poor in Hoosierdom. But Roosevelt will outrun Taft by a large plurality. Ex-Senator Albert J. Beveridge is making a strong race on the Progressive ticket for Governor. He has made a remarkable campaign and on State issues alone appears to have a slight chance of election. He will outrun Roosevelt by thousands of votes, while Samuel H. Ralston, the Democratic nominee for Governor, will run far behind Wilson. Interest in the national fight so far as Indiana is concerned is greatly weakened by the bitter fight for Governor. Baldwin and Winfield T. Durbin, the Republican nominee, are jointly fighting the Bull Moose nominee.

SITUATION DOUBTFUL IN NUTMEG STATE.

(Special to The Evening World.) NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 2.—The situation in Connecticut this year is very doubtful. The State is claimed by all

TAFT FAVORS HADLEY FOR VICE-PRESIDENCY.

Republican National Committee Likely to Name Missouri Governor Before the Election.

At breakfast to-day in the Hotel Manhattan, President Taft made it known to former Vice-President Fairbanks and Chairman Hilles of the National Republican Committee that Gov. Hadley would be acceptable to him as running mate to replace the late Vice-President Sherman.

The President expressed the opinion that Gov. Hadley was the logical selection of the National Committee, and hoped that some way might be found to name Gov. Hadley before Election Day. Chairman Hilles assured the President that a thorough canvass was being made by telegram among the members of the National Committee and that thus far Gov. Hadley had led as choice of the committee. Mr. Hilles hoped to be able to present a vote of the committee to the people before election day if it was impossible to make a formal selection before the committee meets in Chicago on Nov. 12.

At least the name of Gov. Hadley could be put before the people and his popularity in the Middle West would be a signal advantage to the Republican ticket.

NOTHING ON HANNAH; SHE FLED COP, JUST THE SAME.

Went Down Fire Escape With Detective in Pursuit, While Neighbors Cheered Exhibition. Detective Daniel Curtayne totted up five flights of stairs at No. 42 West One Hundred and Thirty-ninth street last night, to ask Hannah MacFarland, a pretty quadroon, what she knew about the disappearance of two diamond rings from the home of her employer, Morris Eisenberg, of No. 125 West One Hundred and sixteenth street. Hannah, very scantily dressed, extremely scantily-tied to the fire escape when Curtayne showed his shield. The detective followed, and Hannah skipped lightly down to the second floor level amid great applause from a backyard gallery. In the second floor apartment, which was vacant, Curtayne overtook Hannah.

On the way up the fire escape again, all sorts of missiles rained about Curtayne. Curtayne shoved Hannah in the right window and told her to dress. It took her a long time for she had so many—oh, so very many—clothes yet to put on. Hannah, the police say, admitted that what she knew about the disappearance of the rings was everything. Building of the Home as a Matter of Economy

Auctioneer and Broker Who Distributes Nearly $40,000,000 of Realty a Year Points Out New Opportunities on the Line of Northward Expansion.

Homebuilders who carry the metropolitan burden by their operations year after year have worked hard and deprived themselves of luxuries, as a rule, in order to save. They must consider carefully every move they make with their capital and the persons who offer advice to them should feel under unusually serious obligations to reveal the real facts regarding such undertakings. With these ideas in mind, I think it a most opportune time to draw renewed attention to the city's northward movement of homes. It seems to me that the real estate opportunities of today are as promising as at any time in the past.

With new structures dotting the Dyckman section, and with the prospect that a very short time will bring about the improvement of the small amount of vacant property in that region, builders and operators are becoming more careful attention upon their capital and the persons who offer advice to them should feel under unusually serious obligations to reveal the real facts regarding such undertakings. With these ideas in mind, I think it a most opportune time to draw renewed attention to the city's northward movement of homes. It seems to me that the real estate opportunities of today are as promising as at any time in the past.

Interest in the section between Kingsbridge and the city line has been abundantly shown—most recently by the sale of the Van Cortlandt holdings around the Two Hundred and Thirty-eighth Street Station of the subway. In fact, at the time of the Van Cortlandt sale, it was recalled that for the last three or four years, during which real estate in many sections has been at best stationary as to value, and with the visible demand, public openings in the territory adjacent to Van Cortlandt Park have been uniformly successful and at prices which in most cases exceeded advance estimates.

The apparent Democratic high vote in the State of Missouri is a very interesting feature of the campaign. It is in favor of the former President. Roosevelt's doubts will not poll not less than 100,000 votes. Kansas will be close, with Roosevelt probably having the better chance of it. The State ticket will strengthen the chances of the Progressives, although Wilson is popular.

$150,000 HORSE SALES IN THE UTMOST LUXURY.

Rock Sand, Sold by August Belmont to French Syndicate, Has Six Attendants. Rock Sand, a noted stallion, called to-day on his way to France in the utmost horse luxury on the Minneapolis, of the Atlantic Transport Line. The great horse, which has been bought from August Belmont by a French syndicate of breeders for $150,000, had a big box stall. The floor was covered with closely packed moss, overlaid with heavy canvas carpet. On top of the canvas is loose straw knee deep in which Rock Sand can wade around at his royal pleasure. A group of six attendants called to wait on him, with Harry Clark, head groom for August Belmont, in charge, assisted by C. F. Hills, the representative of the syndicate of breeders, and carrots, bags of especially selected oats and bales of carefully picked over hay were taken along for feeding the horse. Mr. Belmont bought the horse five years ago from Sir James Hill of London for $125,000.

MR. YUTKOFF, HE CAUGHT IT, THIS HERE PICKPOCKET

He Yelled "Murder" and "Fire!" In Meeting and Nearly Caused Panic, But Saved His Money. While a speaker at a Socialist meeting in Teutonia Hall, Harrison avenue and Bartlett street, Williamsburg, was giving the trusts a piece of his mind, last night, Wolf Yutkoff, a tailor, fed some one's hand in his pocket, in addition to the $50 and the $100 check already there. Fearful lest the check and the hand and the money take simultaneous leave of him, Yutkoff raised his voice: "Policeman!" he yelled. "Help! Murder! Fire!"

AGED "BARONESS" FIGHTS SISTER FOR $250,000 FORTUNE

Mrs. Ewen Charges Eliza Re-fused to Return It After They Foiled the "Baron."

Strapped and held in her bed with weights at her home, No. 23 West Eighty-sixth street, Mrs. Maria Louise Ewen, formerly "Baroness" von Koenitz, sixty years old, told to a Supreme Court referee to-day an amazing story of how, she says, her fortune of $250,000 in stocks and bonds is being withheld by her sister, Eliza Ewen, and the latter's lawyers, Train & Olney. Mrs. Ewen's romantic marriage to the bogus Baron Boto von Koenitz was annulled six months after the ceremony, when the Baron had "blown in" some $45,000 of her fortune. She is suffering from a broken hip, and it was for her suit against her sister, scheduled for trial in Part III of the Supreme Court, Monday, that her deposition was taken.

BERNARD SANDLER PROVES HE'S MEMBER OF THE ELKS.

Sam Schepps's Attorney Surprised at Statement to the Contrary Made by Hulbert. G. Murray Hulbert, Exalted Ruler of New York Lodge, No. 1, of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, called up The Evening World on the telephone yesterday afternoon and made the statement that Bernard H. Sandler, attorney for Sam Schepps, is not and never has been a member of the Elks.

Mr. Sandler has been a member of the same lodge with Mr. Hulbert for the last four years, and is still a member in good standing, holding card No. 2,982 of New York Lodge, No. 1. Also Mr. Sandler is a member of the Entertainment Committee for the annual charity ball of the order. He was appointed to this committee by Mr. Hulbert. Mr. Sandler has written a demand upon Exalted Ruler Hulbert to explain why he should deny that Mr. Sandler was an Elk. Mr. Hulbert explained to The Evening World to-day that what he said was that Mr. Sandler was not an officer of the lodge. He did not intend to convey the impression that he was not a member.

BLOOD OPERATION SUCCESS.

MT. KISCO, N. Y., Nov. 2.—It became known here to-day that a week ago an extensive operation for the transfusion of blood was performed for the benefit of Mrs. Charles Pinkerton, daughter of the late President Chester A. Arthur. Dr. Lee Berger of New York, with two assistants and two men, who agreed to stand the loss of blood, came up from New York. The operation lasted between two and three hours. The doctor and his aides and the two men remained over night while the men regained strength. Mrs. Pinkerton, who had been suffering from a form of anemia, has improved steadily since the operation.

while she was willing to do so, her attorneys, Train & Olney, who had previously been my attorneys, refused to allow such transfer without legal proceedings. Regarding exhibits in the hands of the Train & Olney, which bear her signature and which purport to give her only a life estate in her property, she says she knows nothing about them. "On May 5, 1911, Train & Olney sent me a letter enclosing a bill for $7,500 as fees and disbursements and threatening to bring suit for an accounting, which would involve a great deal of delay and expense to the trust estate and publicity to the trust instrument, its nature and the extent of the property, all of which you desired to keep secret for various reasons and provided if I came back to New York and paid them, that the whole matter could be disposed of and the property returned to you within the course of a few hours."

WANTS $50,000 DAMAGES.

Bessie Wynn, Vaudeville Star, Says Injuries Are Worth That Amount. Bessie Wynn, the dainty little vaudeville star, is to retire from the stage permanently because of physical disability, according to a suit she brought against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in the Supreme Court to-day. She alleges that on Jan. 17 she slipped and fell on a passenger runway in the Pennsylvania Station, sustaining injuries which will make her retirement necessary. She asks $50,000 damages. Miss Wynn charges that the runway was not kept clean and that her fall was due solely to the defendant's negligence. She suffered, the complaint says, many bruises and internal injuries while her nervous system is injured permanently. The plaintiff says that she has not been able to dance since that time and that a serious surgical operation is necessary which will prevent any further appearance on the stage. She places her salary as upward of $200 a week, and adds that her injuries have deprived her of her only means of livelihood.
