

RATE SENOR HERE FOR SENORITA AND HER 'BEE-LEE-FEECH'

Nicaragua on Trail of Gringo Who Carried Off His Daughter. SHE'D BEEN TO CHICAGO And There Lived With Relatives Who'd Forgotten Latin and American Customs.

Three Carranza and a couple of Diaz! The fat Senor Bernabes Harlos is a man engaged in the verge of apoplexy, for the Hacienda Harlos, near Bluefield, Nicaragua, has been despoiled by a pig of an Americano of its priceless treasure, the fair Senorita Dolores. To-day the Senor Harlos is in New York with the announced intention of searching for the city and then the country for one William S. Fitch, whom he suspects of having carried off his daughter.

On board the steamship Zaeppa of the United Fruit Line, which brought him from Port Limon, Senor Harlos paced the deck wildly and demanded of every likely-looking gringo he passed if he were the man Senorita Dolores had described as "Bee-lee-feech."

As the ship news reporter of The Evening World, most likely looking gringo, approached him to-day Senor Harlos eluded his shoulder, and "Bee-lee-feech" he suggested, involuntarily.

"Look like a man not easily thwarted," he said. "I shall find him—where he is three times the size of Bluefield! He has stolen the Senorita Dolores!"

The Senor was purple of face and not filled with emotion to make any effort at concealment. So, then and there, knowing only that he had a sympathetic audience, he told the story of Senorita Dolores and "Bee-lee-feech."

THE SENORITA VISITS RELATIVES IN CHICAGO. The Harlos has relatives in Chicago and what more natural than that the Senor should have visited them?

At the next hacienda Senor Juan Trujillo, favored of Senor Harlos, lives in joyous anticipation of the day when his establishment shall be graced by the sparkling daughter of the Hacienda Harlos. All he will and then Senor Harlos deigns a letter. The language of the gringo is incomprehensible, even harder to comprehend when written upon paper than when voiced, so there comes an interpreter. Senor Harlos is a man of resources.

DOLORES LEAVES A LETTER TELLING OF ELOPEMENT. Learning from the interpreter that the Senorita Dolores is voluntarily becoming Senorita Dolores to elope, Senor Harlos fumed. He is a man of strong heart, but the blow was too great. Senor Harlos read the letter and had not showed it to him! When he recovered the worst had happened. The Senorita is gone and upon the inside table lies a note which she says she has gone to Bluefield to meet her Bee-lee-feech and take the steamer.

"But will you not forgive them if you find they are married—give them your parental blessing?" "Oh, no!" cried the Senor Harlos. "Forgive! It is a word I do not know!"

And he started up Broadway in search of likely looking gringos who might be Bee-lee-feech.

Frank Victim Recovering. Regardless of the fact that a three-ton truck passed over his body, Richard Sprague, six-year-old son of Eugene Sprague, the superintendent of Greenfield Cemetery, Hempstead, L. I., is alive to-day in the Marine Hospital at Mineola. His left leg and right thigh are broken, but the boy will recover.

Don't Live to Eat, But Eat to Live

Eat Well! Eat Plenty! Eat Regularly!

Any physician, as well as common sense, will thus prescribe: During the cold winter months, especially, people need good, nourishing, well-cooked and enticingly served food. And they should eat regularly mild congenial surroundings to keep healthy and happy.

"BOARDERS WANTED" advertisements in The World, from day to day, point out many eating places where all these requisites are in waiting.

GREEKS PUSH WAR, BOMBARD CITY IN WARSHIP ATTACK

Valona Raked With Shells in Protest Against Declaration of Autonomy. HOLD OFF ON ARMISTICE Balkan Allies Preparing for London Conference to Finally End the War.

VIENNA, Dec. 4.—Two Greek gunboats to-day were reported to be vigorously bombarding Avlona, a city of Albania. The gunners aimed their shells especially at public buildings displaying the Albanian flag, despite the protests of Ismail Kemal Bey, Provisional President of Albania.

This action on the part of Greece made military experts believe that the plenipotentiaries of King George were sincere in their refusal to sign the protocol for an armistice at Bagtche and that Greece meant to carry on active warfare against her.

The proclamation of Ismail Kemal Bey as provisional president of autonomous Albania some days ago to-day was followed by the announcement of Monsignor Casaroli as vice-president. One Catholic, three Mohammedans and three members of the Greek Church make up the rest of the provisional government.

VIENNA, Dec. 4.—The reported activity of Greek gunboats off the Albanian coast to-day upset the calculations of military experts watching the war game.

It was apparent that the Greeks were in earnest in declaring that they alone would carry on the war with Turkey.

It had been reported that the envoys of King George would sign the protocol for an armistice within twenty-four hours, and that their refusal to sign with the other envoys was just a ruse to enable the Greek navy with the full understanding of the Balkan nations to keep a weather eye on the Porta.

Greece all along has covered a large slice of Albania, which is that portion of Turkey in Europe lying to the north of the Greek frontier. The firing upon Avlona to-day was taken to mean that the Greeks refuse to recognize the autonomy of Albania, and aim by continuing fighting to bring about a partition of that country.

GREECE MAY SIGN ARMISTICE IN FEW DAYS. An armistice between Greece and Turkey is to be concluded in a day or two, according to a news agency despatch from Constantinople.

Ismail Kemal Bey, the leader of the Albanian, has telegraphed to Vienna, from Avlona protesting against the bombardment of that town by two Greek gunboats, according to a despatch from the Austrian capital. After bombarding the international telegraph office the gunboats made special targets of those public buildings in the town which were flying the new Albanian flag.

The dispute between Austria-Hungary and Serbia arising out of the Balkan war, which has threatened a general European conflict, will have been steered into a safe channel and the peace of Europe will be maintained, if, as is announced to-day, Serbia has definitely decided to leave her case in the hands of the great Powers.

With the admission of Austria-Hungary, the proposal of Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Secretary, to call a meeting of the ambassadors clearing houses has now received practically unanimous approval. There seems to be a general disposition to-day to actively and honestly to prevent further complications arising from the clash between Turkey and the Balkan allies.

Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Secretary, declared this afternoon that although the proposed Ambassadorial conference in London was making progress toward realization it had not yet been definitely decided by all the European powers whether the moment was opportune for it.

FIRST FOOD TRAINS ON WAY TO ADRIANOPLE. CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 4.—The first food trains to-day were on their way from Constantinople to Adrianople, carrying rations to the Bulgarian army before the besieged city. The trains set out last night as soon as the interpretation of the terms of the protocol was made clear to the officials.

The truce agreement provided that the beleaguered cities of Scutari and Adrianople should not be reprovvisioned by the Turks, but their civil inhabitants and defectors will be fed by the Bulgars. Turkey will supply daily rations to the Bulgarian soldiers by way of the Oriental railway to Adrianople, and by the Black Sea and Aegean routes, and the Bulgarians in turn will pass food into the cities.

The leading Constantinople newspaper, to-day stated that Greece would formally participate in the armistice within a few days.

The Turkish Council of Ministers has prepared a scheme of autonomous government for Albania. The project has been submitted to the Sultan for imperial sanction.

negotiations for peace between Turkey and the Balkan states emanated from the Turkish government which besides desiring that they should be held on neutral ground also wished to have the advantage of the advice of Sir Edward Grey, the British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

Despite the signing by Turkey and the Balkan states of the truce agreement, it was officially announced to-day that a state of war still existed with regard to Greece. It was learned that the fall of both Chios and Janina, besieged by the Greeks, was imminent, and it was said that as soon as these towns were captured Greece would be willing to suspend hostilities.

VIENNA, Dec. 4.—The Austro-Hungarian government has communicated to the British government its adhesion in principle to the proposed conference of Ambassadors of the great European powers on the Balkan situation to be held in London.

PARIS, Dec. 4.—France spoke plainly to-day on the European situation. Premier Poincaré told the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the Chamber of Deputies:

"We stand by our allies and our friendships. The Premier was laying down the policy to be pursued by France in the Balkan settlement.

France's position in the present tense European situation was summed up by Premier Poincaré in a few words. He said:

"France's programme is: 'First—Continuity in our foreign policy and consequently the practical and persevering operation of our alliance and friendships.

"Second—Sincere and continued efforts to secure the peace of Europe. 'Third—Above all, the firm and calm resolution to secure respect for our rights and maintain our national dignity free from all possible attack."

SENATE DEFIED BY WITNESS IN ARCHBALD CASE

Refuses to Obey Summons to Testify and Action Against Him Is Asked.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Legal action to compel J. H. Rittenhouse of Scranton to appear as a witness at the Archbald trial was asked by Representative Clayton, Chairman of the House Managers, when the Senate reconvened to-day as an impeachment court. Mr. Clayton said Rittenhouse had announced he would not come to testify.

J. K. Julian, connected with the Senate Sergeant-at-Arms office, testified that he had served a subpoena on Mr. Rittenhouse Nov. 28 in Scranton. President Tom Bacon then directed that Rittenhouse be brought before the Senate by an officer.

Edward J. Williams then resumed the stand as a witness. Williams testified he had gone to Judge Archbald's office in Scranton when he had been subpoenaed in the impeachment proceedings started by the House last summer.

"He told me to tell the truth and let the consequence go where it will," Williams added. He admitted that Judge Archbald paid his railroad fare to Washington at that time.

LITTLE FOLK TOIL MAKING DOLLS FOR LUCKIER CHILDREN

Factory Commission Hears Startling Facts About Tenement: "Home Work."

YOUNGSTERS KNITTERS. Shoes at 50 Cents a Dozen—How Disease Strikes the "Outside Worker."

Children four years old and companions little older work at night in tenement house rooms to do 65 per cent. of the work of picking the meat from nuts for confectionery purposes that is accomplished in the city.

This startling revelation of the lengths to which child labor has gone was testified to-day by Miss Elizabeth C. Watson before the New York State Factory Investigating Commission at its session in the Hall of Records.

The woman investigator said that dark, ill-ventilated tenement houses occupied by scores of Italian families constitute the "factories" where the nut picking is done by children. Many of the little ones spend the day in school and long hours over piles of cracked nuts.

The National Child Labor Committee has set up an exhibition in the Hall of Records to show how the labor laws fail to protect workers who keep away from factories and insist on carrying their trades in their homes.

One placard read: "The doll trade is coming to America; all kinds of dolls' clothes outfits and other toys are made in the tenements." Accompanying this were photographs showing little girls who can play with dolls and little girls of their own age who don't play with dolls but make them in their homes.

Prof. Adolph Knopf of the Post-Graduate Hospital discussed the hygienic side of tenement labor. He said that measures for prevention from tuberculosis and other diseases were useless if the sufferer was permitted to leave the hospital or sanitarium and return to his home to spread the plague among workers in his family.

Bad hours, underfeeding and overwork are important factors in developing tuberculosis; there have been 1,000 cases of pulmonary tuberculosis in this city in 1912, he said.

CHILDREN KNIT SLIPPERS FOR 50 CENTS A DOZEN. To get at the facts in regard to home industries the commission has subpoenaed manufacturers. The first to be called was Samuel Borchardt, manufacturer of crocheted slippers, who told of conditions in his industry, which is carried on largely at home without any supervision. He said children from ten to twelve years old usually do the work, knitting the shoes or slippers for 50 cents a dozen.

When Mr. Elkus questioned him closely he declared that the children who made the slippers were from all walks of life.

"From the Four Hundred, for instance" interjected Mr. Elkus. "They do the work for 50 cents a dozen!" "No," replied the witness. "In ten hours a day steady work the children can make 62 cents worth of slippers, the witness admitted, qualifying this by adding that he never investigated just how long it would take Mr. Borchardt said he was letting up on the home industry and turning out more slippers in his factory by machinery.

PRaises "OUTSIDE WORK" AS HELPING YOUNG GIRLS. "Yet they compete with the factory worker and cut down wages, don't they?" asked Mr. Elkus. Then he added: "You admit the home work is 20 cents a dozen cheaper?"

"Outside work is proper," said the witness. "If properly supervised, it keeps the young girls off the streets."

Benjamin Goldenberg, proprietor of the Enna Doll and Toy Company, was called to tell about the great quantity of work that is turned over to home workers after advertisements have been printed in the newspapers. Goldenberg denied that children do this work, but admitted that he had no knowledge of home conditions. He said he advertised for people to work in "private houses" and if the applicants "look all right" they got the work.

He said that he found that disease in the tenements is one reason for keeping the work away from the tenement dwellers.

Q. Did you hire her? A. No, Ben Teal engaged her.

Q. What did you say at the time? A. I didn't say anything. Mr. Teal just brought her into my office.

BEN TEAL ENGAGED HER, PRODUCER INSTRUCTS. Q. What do you generally do when your managers bring people to your office? Do you simply bow? A. No? Not yet. I instruct my managers.

The witness laughed, as did everybody else.

You told Mr. Teal to engage her."

Mr. Jerome objected to Mr. Mooney addressing his remarks to the jury.

"If the jury is offended," said Mr. Mooney, "by my walking in front of the box, they'll resent it and I'll feel it. I'm no play actor. I am trying to get through with this case and I object to this frivolity and criticism of my actions. All this is to do the record, to be read by some years after I'm dead and gone."

This brought another laugh.

Mr. Justice had testified that he had conversations with Mr. Erlanger in the summer of 1909 regarding a suit against the Circle Production Company. To show the friendliness Mr. Erlanger bore him a lawyer, Steuer, said the theatrical man gave him a list of witnesses to be used by Steuer in the suit.

Three of the men mentioned took the stand. They were Joseph Brooks, associated with the Circle Production Company; Frank McKee, and Florence Zieffler Jr. All denied they had been subpoenaed in the Circle Company's case.

Mr. Zieffler testified that he had engaged Miss St. Clair for "the Innocence" and that she was not sent to him by Mr. Erlanger.

State to Aid Cholera Victims. WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—That he may continue the work he has organized among cholera sufferers in Constantinople, Major C. N. Ford of the army medical corps has been assigned by the War Department to temporary duty in the Turkish capital, under the direction of Ambassador Hockhild.

"HANDED" ACTRESS MONEY AT TIMES, ERLANGER ADMITS

after reading it, and Mr. Mooney cross-examined Mr. Erlanger.

Q. When was the last time you handed Miss St. Clair money? A. Before 1908.

Q. You admit she remained in the employ of Klaw & Erlanger up to 1907? A. Yes.

Q. Do you know what money she got in 1907? A. I don't know how much she got from the firm; I know she got nothing from me.

The attorney then began a line of questions concerning the first engagement of Miss St. Clair with Klaw & Erlanger.

Bid That Corn "Good-bye!"

A little common sense applied to your corn troubles will go a long way toward ending them. ANTICOR will get the rest of the way.

It is strange that such a simple little thing as a corn is so widely misunderstood. Lots of people seem convinced that it is some sort of deep rooted mystery. They use all kinds of absurd "plasters," pastes, etc., trying to "cut out" the dead tissue with chemicals, and completely overlooking what may happen if these chemicals reach the live tissue. Hence many cases of blood poisoning.

A corn is a lump of callous, nothing more. The pain comes from the pressure of this lump upon the sensitive nerves beneath. Therefore, to remove the pain, remove the pressure; to remove the pressure, remove the callous; and to remove the callous, use ANTICOR. It is safe, simple, easy to use. It pares down the callous the thinnest wafer at a time. ANTICOR cannot injure live tissue. Relief is immediate.

KNUCKLES USED TO CRACK AND BLEED

Hands Chapped, Suffered Terrible Pain. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment Five Weeks, Hands Fine.

674 Park Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.—"My hands used to chape and bleed and they pained me very much. When I put them in water they used to burn terribly, especially in hot water. My hands looked dirty; that was because they were so chapped. The knuckles used to crack and bleed and I suffered terrible pain. I tried different remedies but they never did any good. A friend told me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I got some and made a lather from the Cuticura Soap and bathed my hands, then I dried them and put the Cuticura Ointment on and put on a pair of old gloves. I was surprised to see how my hands were healed. They used to be red and rough and now they are soft and velvet. I tried the Cuticura Soap and Ointment for a week and they got fine. I have no more trouble with my hands since I always use Cuticura Soap and I can't praise it enough to all my friends." (Signed) Mrs. M. Wierman, Dec. 22, 1911.
