

Decidedly Modish Is the Frock for a Miss Of Velvet and Satin Accordion Plaited

Evening World's Original Fashions for Home Dressmakers

All questions concerning designs and materials of dresses should be addressed to the Fashion Editor of The Evening World. No patterns for designs in this column can be obtained, but with the description furnished it is a simple matter to work out patterns.

A distinctive feature of this department is the illustration of the different pieces of the pattern necessary for the making of the garment. It shows how easily the attractive design can be executed, and also serves as a guide in cutting one's own pattern if such be needed.

DESCRIPTION.

This desirable afternoon frock for a miss is a combination of velvet and a lighter weight material, such as cashmere or satin, and would be appropriate for almost any occasion. The little Russian coat effect of dark blue velvet has the long sleeves finished with a deep turnback cuff of heavy cream lace, while a square tab of it hangs from the back of the neck. The wide front portion of the accordion plaited dark blue material is cut straight across from the velvet yoke, but shaped down a little in the front on the lower side. The pattern for this is omitted, as the lining pattern is sufficient. The accordion plaited skirt portion is from a straight piece of material, and, if desired, could be attached from under a deep tuck, which finishes the peplum portion. A belt of cashmere or satin at an elongated waistline gives a decided modish touch to the frock.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

Dear Fashion Editor:
Will you kindly suggest a becoming style to make a gray charmeuse gown for general afternoon and informal wear? I have one and one-half yards of enclosed lace which might be used on it. Am 37 years of age, well proportioned and can wear simple clothes.
MRS. H. D.

Make the waist with a deep pleat at the edge of the shoulder line and connect them under the arms by a band of raw heavy lace over the bust. On the right side of the skirt two large black velvet buttons will give the effect of holding the pleat to the lace. On the skirt have two more buttons in line with these on the waist, to serve to hold a draping. Finish the neck and sleeves with a delicate collar of lace and black velvet.
Dear Fashion Editor:
Will you advise me how to make a

BY Mlle. LODIEWICK

dark blue serge dress for business wear? I like to look a little distinctive, but not dressy. Am 32 years old, five feet four inches tall, weigh 112 front and back of the waist defined by a cording of blue brocade velvet, while a flat collar of brocade rolls back from the neck. Have a diagonal closing line which continues in effect down the skirt to the knees, held with brocade covered buttons. On the long sleeves have deep cuffs which hold a few gathers, and are opened up the back with rounded corners and three velvet buttons. A straight belt of serge clasped with a gold buckle could be worn.

Dear Fashion Editor:
How can I fix a dance frock of rose tulle which looks quite worn across the back and under the arms? The side seams are opened with accordion plaited lace inserted. The same lace forms a fichu effect on the waist. The neck and sleeves are finished with tulle.

Use some rose chiffon cloth as an over-drapery on the waist to cross in surplice style with the lace to turn over the edge, while pearl beads could finish the neck and sleeves. Have the skirt drapery part away in the front to be caught across the back into a strap of pearl beaded banding just below the knee line.

Dear Fashion Editor:
Will you kindly let me know how to trim over a plain Duchesse satin evening gown? The waist is very plain with a low round trimmed with rose-buds, also the sleeves. The skirt is a plain three-piece model with a fishtail train. Would like to veil it with something or use a beaded tulle. What kind of beards and what color shall I use? Am medium height and slim, blonde.

A tulle of dull blue chiffon or marquisette headed in crystals would be beautiful over your dress as it is so plain otherwise. But a draping of rose chiffon, although not so elaborate, would be pretty. On the skirt have it drape from the left side front around the right side and back to be caught on the lower left side by a strap of brown fur or a beaded ornament. The same effect could hold the draping of the waist in front.

Slain After Card Game.
Salvatore Lanna, a foreman on the new aqueduct, was found shot to death last evening in the apartments of Vincenzo Termino, on the second floor of No. 308 East Forty-fifth street. Lanna spent yesterday playing cards in a neighboring saloon. The police learned he had been attacked on the street and ran into the hallway of No. 308, where he was shot.
