FRIEDMANN PICKS 28 AT BELLEVUE FOR FEDERAL TEST

Will Treat to-Morrow Tuberculosis Patients With Well-Defined "Histories."

CULTURE SUPPLY LOW.

Improvement Is Reported by Cable of Sufferer Treated Abroad for Advanced Disease.

After an inspection of the patients in the tuberculosis wards of Bellevue, including those on the converted ferry-boat Southfield, where youthful patients with incipient tuberculosis are cared for, Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann returned to his hotel to-day with the announcement that he would not operate at Bellevue this afternoon, as he had intended, because he has only enough of his culture supply for the treatment of ten or eleven patients, and he intends to operate on twenty-eight whom he selected at the hospital to-day. Of these three are children and nine are men taken from the land wards and nine young men and seven women from the Southfield.

Some of the cases brought to Dr. Friedmann's notice were rejected by him as subjects. The hospital physicians agreed that he was entirely within his rights in declining to treat them, because their cases were not clearly defined and typical and were complicated with other diseases. Dr. Friedmann was really in no condition to go on with his work to-day, he was exhausted and nervous after the strain of his four hours of operating under very difficult conditions yesterday at the Hospital for Deformities and Joint Diseases in Harlem.

SHOWS EFFECT OF STRAIN ON NERVOUS SYSTEM.

The small operating room was crowded with medical witnesses. The doorway and hall were clogged with doctors, and the room, necessarily warm for the safety of the scantily draped, delicate patients, was without ventilation.

The long nervous strain which Dr. Friedmann has undergone, augmented by the hostility of some of his profession who have little faith in his culture, has also told heavily on his vitality. He seemed drawn and worn, though cheerful, when he left his hotel to-day.

Dr. Brannan, in speaking to Dr. Friedmann of the clinic in Harlem yesterday, said that it had been intensely interesting to him because the subjects were all suffering from forms of tuberculosis which Dr. Bier, the eminent German specialist, was quoted in cable despatches as saying were beyond reach of the Friedmann treatment.

Dr. Stimson and Dr. Salmon of the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, who are observing and teaching the hospital treatment for the Government, asked the German physician to-day if he would be willing to have ten patients selected from the Hospital for Deformities (which has a peculiarly wide range of subjects in its care at present) sent to Mount Sinai Hospital for his treatment.

The Government surgeons said they would like to have these cases directly under their eyes all the time after the first treatment was administered, and that this could be done best at Mount Sinai. Dr. Friedmann readily assented, but declined to make the selection, saying that he had no more satisfactory cases at the Government.

Dr. Anderson, who has been working with Dr. Stimson and Salmon, went to Washington yesterday to report to his chief, Dr. Rupert Blue. His colleagues said that the report, which would be published to-day or to-morrow, would not deal at all with the progress of patients, but would have to do with Dr. Friedmann's methods and the types of patients treated.

BANKER FINLAY TO GIVE BANQUET TO SCIENTIST.

The friendly relations between Dr. Friedmann and Charles E. Finlay, real estate promoter and president of the Aetna National Bank, have been resumed, so far as they ever were interrupted. Mr. Finlay, who has a tuberculosis, accompanied Dr. Friedmann to his visit to Dr. Friedmann last winter and was the leader in the movement to persuade Dr. Friedmann to come to this country. Mr. Finlay made public his offer to give Dr. Friedmann $11,000.00 for a cure if it proved efficacious in 95 per cent of the cases treated in this country.

When some of the officials of the County Medical Society showed opposition to Dr. Friedmann immediately after his arrival here Mr. Finlay was his foremost champion. But at about the time the physician returned by his week's trip to Canada Mr. Finlay dropped out of the group of friends who were always to be found about Dr. Friedmann's headquarters, and it was given out that he was one of the backers of the treatment.

It was announced at the Ansonia to-day, however, that Mr. Finlay would give a formal banquet in honor of Dr. Friedmann and his assistants, Dr. A. C. H. Friedmann, Dr. Maurice Sturm and Dr. Harry Benjamin, at the banker's home, near Great Neck, Long Island, Sunday evening.

Dr. Friedmann received a cablegram to-day from Dr. Welch, the specialist with whom he left his Berlin practice, in a report of marked improvement in a patient about whom Dr. Friedmann was greatly concerned because the culture had been administered at a time when the case seemed hopeless. Dr. Frederick Enck, an eminent chemist, called on Dr. Friedmann at Bellevue to-day, to ask him to treat a friend who is to be taken to Bellevue. Dr. Enck said afterward that Dr. Friedmann's trouble with other members of his profession in Germany was due to their intolerance of his secrecy. Other discoverers of great remedies had been ostracized, he said, for refusing to tell the secrets of their discoveries.

training children in clean living without waste. The problem of saving the working girl from shame, he said, would become far easier when the children of the poor were properly trained and started in healthy directions of mental and moral and sanitary activity.

John A. Kingsbury, general agent of the association, says: "Mrs. Anderson's gift enables the association to bring its work nearer the original purpose as expressed in its constitution—namely, the elevation of moral and physical conditions and, so far as compatible with these objects, the relief of necessities. It is the largest gift ever received by the association."

The new Department of Social Welfare will be under the direction of the Board of Managers, but will be entirely separate from the association's relief activities. A tentative programme of the social work to be undertaken has been outlined. It includes an educational campaign in New York for the extermination of common disease carriers, such as the housefly and the roach.

WANTS TO HAVE A SCIENTIFIC INQUIRY. "It is Mrs. Anderson's desire," said Mr. Kingsbury, "that the Committee on the Welfare of School Children make a searching and thoroughly scientific inquiry into the subject of sanitation of schools and other public buildings in New York. She has also suggested consideration of the introduction of public bakeries in this city."

In offering what is to be known as the Milbank Memorial Gift, Mrs. Anderson said: "I fully appreciate the necessity for administering to the physical needs of the sick, disabled and unfortunate, but in undertaking the work outlined I wish to make it clear that the proposed Department of Social Welfare is to conduct itself, in so far as it employs funds supplied by me, with a social programme based upon preventive and constructive measures."

"Generally speaking, therefore, this programme should include those activities which are calculated to prevent sickness and thus diminish poverty, such for example as the promotion of cleanliness and sanitation and aid in securing a proper food supply."

Mrs. Anderson is of small stature and quiet tastes. She goes about but little among those who seek fashionable diversion indoors and spends a great part of her time riding and driving.

Mr. Anderson has painted many notable canvases. Among portraits that he won great praise are those of Ethel Root and John Wanamaker. He has been active in the affairs of the Republican Club, and was one of those who opposed action by the club endorsing Gov. Hughes for the Presidential nomination. His studio is fitted with more costly tapestries and beautiful bronzes and soft electric lights effects than that of any working artist of real achievements in this country.

CHILD BRIDE TRIES MARRIAGE FOR A YEAR; NOW ASKS ANNULMENT

Minnie Deatty Was a 15-Year-Old Schoolgirl When She Wedded.

For the second time in two weeks a "child bride" appeared in the Supreme Court to-day in the person of Mrs. Minnie C. Mestemake, just past her twenty-first birthday, and asked that her "trial marriage" to Henry C. Mestemake, and electrical engineer of Chicago, be annulled.

Mrs. Mestemake was married on April 13, 1907, in St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church at West End avenue and Eighty-sixth street. At that time she was fifteen years, four months and five days old. She admits that she lived with her husband for exactly a year, but she informed the Court that her year's trial of the marital state proved unsatisfactory and she asked that the marriage be annulled on the ground that she was under eighteen when the ceremony was performed.

As Miss Minnie Deatty, the young bride was attending school when she was affianced to Mr. Mestemake, who, under a contract with the city, was inspecting the electrical wiring of the school.

After an acquaintance of three weeks Mrs. Mestemake carried Miss Deatty's books down to the City Hall, instead of to her home, and with the license tucked among the leaves of the algebra book, the journey continued to St. Paul's Church, where the knot was tied.

They a home was set up in a comfortable flat on the upper west side. After living there a year she bade her husband adieu and went home to her mother's home in West One Hundred and Seventy-ninth street. Mr. Mestemake went to Chicago, where he has lived since.

Mrs. Mestemake's attorney, S. Leighton Prokes of No. 37 Cedar street, obtained today an order from Supreme Court Justice Davis permitting Mrs. Mestemake to serve her husband with the papers in her action by publication.

FISHING BOATS MISSING IN WESTERN SEAS.

SANDUSKY, O., March 21.—Two boats are missing; one is on the rocks, and another is in distress in the sixty-mile gale that is sweeping Sandusky Bay to-day. It is feared that six or more men have been drowned. Life savers have gone to the rescue of six others, who are in extreme peril. The missing boats are fishing smacks that were sighted three miles off this harbor this morning and later disappeared. Each carried a crew of three men.

A boat went ashore on the rocky coast at Danbury, eight miles west of here shortly before noon. It was smashed to pieces, but as telephonic communication with the boat had been known about the crew's fate, a lifeboat and the steamer Otcutt is trying to reach the launch Carrie W., which is drifting between here and Kelley's Island, so far they have been successful. She is occupied by six persons, George G. Wick, his two sons, Frank Link, George G. Wick and George J. Wick.

asked in extenuation, "And when a man signs his name to it he becomes a party to that contract, does he not?" The contract does not hold its responsibility for fire or burglary.

It was 4 o'clock this morning when the first ticket-holder came to take place before the doors of the pawnshop. The proprietors had announced through the Jewish papers of the east side that they had a large clerical force assisting experts in bringing order out of the confusion left by the careless handed burglars and that they would be in a position to begin returning pledges at the opening hour Friday.

SOME PLEDGED VALUABLES TO KEEP THEM SECURE.

Mrs. Rachel Shenlinsky was the first to take her place, like a patiently waiting Nemesia, before the pawnshop door. She brought a sapphire with her and a shawl. There, with hooded head, she sat so close to the door that her knees touched the glass, waiting.

As the line grew toward sunrise, fathers and mothers who could not come themselves until the breakfast for the family was over, sent some and daughters to find and keep a place in line, which they would occupy later. Many came breakfastless or with a little parcel of cold food in their hands. From nearby tenements children came

NEW DISCOVERY IS SUCCESSFUL IN EVERY TEST

John Beazley Webb Advances Reports on Rigorous Series of Tests.

MANY CASES SELECTED

Statements From These Cases Prove Conclusively the Merits of Tona Vita.

An extremely interesting series of medical tests have just been completed by John Beazley Webb, the Tona Vita expert. Ten users of Tona Vita were selected, and instead of any doctor diagnosing their ailments the symptoms were taken from their own statements. Every one expressed themselves as greatly benefited by Tona Vita, and every one of them confessed to a different form of ailment. This goes to prove how many ailments really exist in the nerves.

Charles J. Rudd, of 1185 Putnam Ave., Brooklyn, stated: "My stomach was badly out of order and I had dizzy spells, but since taking Tona Vita I am not troubled with them any more."

Mrs. E. E. Roden, of 183 Hull St., Brooklyn, said: "I recommend Tona Vita to all those who are run-down and are nervous wrecks."

Mrs. Elizabeth Mulroy, 895 Brooklyn Ave., Brooklyn, said: "I am glad to be able to recommend Tona Vita for that tired, run-down feeling."

Mrs. S. Marbach, of 172 E. 100th St., New York City, said: "I can sleep better since I have taken Tona Vita."

Mrs. Martha Rudolph, of 110 Third Ave., New York City, said: "My headaches are all gone as well as my Tona Vita."

Mrs. Alice I. Way, of 450 Mott Ave., New York City, testified: "I am feeling and eating much better these days, thanks to Tona Vita."

W. Brown, of 915 Garden St., Hoboken, said: "I heartily recommend Tona Vita for nervous conditions. My children also take it, and it does them good."

Lewis Perrine, of 80 Warren St., New York City, said: "On recovering from an attack of La Grippe, Tona Vita has proven a valuable restorative of strength."

Mrs. D. Biets, of 160 Shaw Ave., Union Court, New York City, said: "Before taking Tona Vita I was much troubled with pains in my chest and a very stubborn cough, but now I am relieved of both and feel fine."

B. R. Clifford, of 253 Seventh Ave., New York City, said: "In three weeks I lost twelve pounds in weight, but since taking Tona Vita I can eat and sleep and have gained in weight."

These statements prove conclusively that Tona Vita is the most remarkable nerve tonic that has ever been put on the market.

It can be obtained at any first class drug store in New York City.—Adv.
