WIFE OF PARSON TAKES THE STAND IN HIS DEFENSE

Seeks to Show Husband Had Little Time to Be With Nelson Girl.

HIS CONFESSION READ.

Counsel Claims It Was Signed to Save Choir Singer From Prosecution.

Mysterious forces worked tirelessly to-day in behalf of Rev. Willis E. MacRorie, the clergyman on trial in the Court of Common Pleas at Elizabeth, N. J., on the charge of wronging nineteen-year-old Edith Nelson of Plainfield, N. J.

More remarkable even than the girl's change of front in taking the stand yesterday and repudiating her signed accusations against her former pastor is the presence of former Gov. Foster M. Voorhees and former State Senator William C. Gebhardt as counsel for MacRorie. It is well known that neither the accused clergyman nor the girl has any means.

The distinguished counsel declined to state today how they were induced to enter the case, but it is intimated that back of MacRorie is one of the wealthiest families in the State ready to spend huge sums in the defense of the pastor. That there is something peculiar in the unprecedented support of this unknown clergyman was more than intimated when the trial was resumed to-day by Prosecutor Albert A. Stein. In the course of a heated argument over the admissibility of certain evidence, Stein turned on ex-Senator Gebhardt, who is now clerk of the Supreme Court of Union County, and cried:

"If you persist in crossing me I shall demand to know by what right the Supreme Court and the Appellate Court appear in this case as counsel to the defendant."

"It is perfectly proper," shouted Gebhardt.

"It is not," retorted Stein, "and you know it."

CASE WAS FIRST HEARD OF LAST FALL.

Judge Connolly hastily interposed to stop the quarrel, but the incident recalled the fact that the case against MacRorie was hushed up last fall and only came to light again when Stein became prosecutor in April and dug the documents in the matter out of the files. Against every recourse and quibble that could be seized upon by Voorhees and Gebhardt, the prosecutor to-day arranged to pile up evidence against the clergyman. One of the State's strongest witnesses was Mrs. Catherine J. Schaefer, with whom Edith Nelson was living in Plainfield while attending a business college there. According to Mrs. Schaefer, MacRorie took Edith out automobile riding several times, and when she questioned the girl Edith said: "He is my pastor and gives me spiritual advice."

At the end of one of these rides, Mrs. Schaefer said, MacRorie brought Edith into the house. "I didn't like the looks of it," said the witness, "and when I asked him what he wanted to take a young girl around riding with him, a married man, he said: 'I tell Edith she is all right so long as she goes around with old married men like me and not with young fellows.'"

"That convinced me," said Mrs. Schaefer, "that something was wrong, so I notified the Plainfield Business College and the girl's mother at Martinsville and they investigated, and the first thing I knew MacRorie was arrested."

POLICE CHIEF TELLS OF CONFESSIONS IN NOVEMBER.

Patrick E. Kieley, Chief of the Plainfield police, followed Mrs. Schaefer to the stand and described how the Nelson girl and MacRorie signed confessions of guilt in the office of former Assistant Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield last November. Kieley identified the documents. According to him, the girl not

MRS. C. H. MACKAY HURRIES TO TOWN TO SEE LAWYER

Henry W. Taft, Former President's Brother, Admits "an Important Engagement."

SAILING A SURPRISE.

Learned From Evening World Reporter of Husband's Departure With Children.

After carefully reading over the accounts in the newspapers of her husband's departure for Europe on the Emperor with their three children yesterday Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay, apparently much disturbed, ordered a motor car and started for New York to consult with Henry W. Taft, her personal lawyer. Mr. Taft is a brother of former President William H. Taft.

Mr. Taft left his office not long after Mrs. Mackay left Roslyn. He excused himself to persons who were waiting to see him on the ground that he had "an important engagement, which was immediate," and started uptown. It was assumed that he was going to the town house which Mrs. Mackay recently leased in her own name from John R. Drexel, at No. 1 East Sixty-second street, and was there to meet Mrs. Mackay.

Mr. Taft said that, possibly, later he might make a statement regarding Mrs. Mackay's affairs.

GOT HER FIRST NEWS FROM THE EVENING WORLD.

Mrs. Mackay, before leaving Roslyn, L. I., was no more prepared to give a reason to-day than she was yesterday for the elaborate precautions with which Mr. Mackay took their three children—Bill, Katherine and John William—to Europe yesterday on the Emperor. She had her first knowledge of the sailing of her husband and children from a reporter of The Evening World.

Mrs. Mackay was explicit in her denials that any contemplated action by her was the reason for the presence of twelve private detectives about the Hamburg-American pier in Hoboken yesterday charged with the duty of keeping subpoena servers from handling any legal papers to Mr. Mackay. She admitted that she had retained Mr. Taft as her personal counsel, but neither she nor Mr. Taft would give any intimation as to her need for other counsel than W. W. Cooke, who represents Mr. Mackay in his legal affairs and is his co-trustee in charge of the $5,000,000 Harbor Hill property, in which Mrs. Mackay three months ago resigned all her dower rights, retaining only the authority to collect the rental should the establishment be leased.

Mrs. Mackay visited her husband and children at the Essex and Sussex hotels last Friday. Their friends said then that she had an intimation that Mr. Mackay was about to take the children to Europe and expressed her decided disapproval. Mrs. Mackay remained only a short time at Spring Lake and dinner was the only meal she had with the family.

HOW MR. MACKAY GOT THE IMPERIAL SUITE.

The twelve rooms of the "Imperial suite" of the great Emperor were rented for Mr. Mackay by curiously indirect methods. The Right Hon. A. M. Carlisle, a man of much influence in shipping circles because of his work as an architect of steamships, took the suite, ostensibly for the use of himself, his wife and a friend who is a director of the steamship company. The Carlisles and their friend did not use the suite. Mr. Mackay went aboard at 2 o'clock yesterday morning with his children and a corps of servants. They had come by motor from Spring Lake preceded by a car full of detectives, several of whom had been on duty about the cottage where Mr. Mackay had been living near the hotel for several days. The trip was made in a way indicating a desire to conceal the intentions of Mr. Mackay. The cars went nearly half way to Atlantic City before turning and dashing for Hoboken. The steamship pier was reached when passengers who had intended sleeping on the ship before sailing were all in their staterooms and morning arrivals had not begun.

GERARD CHOSEN AS AMBASSADOR TO GERMAN COURT

Announcement Made in Washington That Wilson Will Name New York Justice.

Special from a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26.—New York is to have more diplomatic jobs. Justice James W. Gerard, who sailed yesterday for Europe on the Emperor, is to be named Ambassador to Germany. Frederick W. Penfield will be appointed Ambassador to Austria.

Augustus Thomas, the playwright, will be given an important governmental post outside the diplomatic service.

These nominations will be sent to the Senate within a few days. It became known to-day that the State Department has inquired of the German Government whether Justice Gerard would be "persona grata."

It is understood that before he sailed for Europe yesterday he sent word that under no circumstances could he leave his present position for any office below that of Ambassador. The selection of a representative of the Kaiser's Court has troubled President Wilson because of the fact that the Ambassador there is under extraordinarily heavy expense for entertaining Justice Gerard in very wealthy and in addition is a man of unusual ability. The embassy to France is still being held open for William F. McCombs, the Democratic National Chairman. It was reiterated to-day that within a year Charles R. Crane of Chicago would become Ambassador to Russia. Practically the only European posts which have not been filled or for which no choice has been made are Lisbon, Constantinople and the Balkan States. Joseph E. Willard, former Lieutenant-Governor of Virginia, now is slated for Madrid. Recently he had been selected for Belgium. It has not been decided upon who will take his place on the list for Brussels. Justice Gerard is expected to return to Washington before finally taking up his residence in Berlin.

Dealers Make Horses Blind.

CHICAGO, June 26.—That a large number of horses in Chicago have been deliberately made blind to make them more easily managed is the report of agents of the anti-cruelty society whose curiosity was aroused by the docility of young and apparently normal animals. Warrants will be asked for horse dealers accused of the mutilations.

DAUGHTER OF BROKER, ILL FROM EXPOSURE, FOUND IN RIVER PARK

Missing Sixteen-Year-Old Helen McCarthy Discovered at Fort Washington After Two Days and Nights Without Shelter.

WEAKENED AND STARVING, IS RUSHED TO HOSPITAL

Denies Her Identity, but Is Recognized by Ring of Dead Sister, Which She Wears.

Sixteen-year-old Helen McCarthy, daughter of John A. McCarthy, a wealthy newspaper broker, who disappeared from her father's home, the Hotel Hargrave, No. 122 West Seventy-second street, between 9.15 and 9.30 o'clock last Tuesday morning, was found shortly before 4 o'clock this afternoon in Fort Washington Park. The girl seemed dazed. Her clothes were soiled and covered with dirt. She was unable to answer questions at first, but finally admitted her identity.

The girl said she had spent all the time since she left home in the park.

"Where did you sleep?" she was asked.

"Oh, under the trees," she replied, "and I washed my face and hands in the water. Then I sat under the tree all day."

She seemed uncertain as to how she eaten. Her mind was dazed on this subject but she ate ravenously when the police of the St. Nicholas avenue station brought her sandwiches.

Joseph Daly of No. 542 West One Hundred and Forty-eighth street and Francis Brophy of No. 746 St. Nicholas avenue, discovered the girl. She was acting so strangely that the young men stopped to look at her and then notified Mounted Policeman Holt.

GIRL REFUSED TO TALK.

The girl refused at first to answer any of Holt's questions and finally said she came from Albany. That was all she would say. Just then Inspector George Titus drove up in his automobile and Holt stopped him.

"I think she's Helen McCarthy," said the policeman, and the Inspector decided Holt was right when he saw on the girl's hand the seal ring belonging to her dead sister, a description of which had been sent out to all police stations.

Titus put the question flatly to her and the girl finally admitted that she was Helen McCarthy. She mumbled something about "Father spanked me." It seemed to obsess her mind.

Dr. Shaw was called from Washington Heights Hospital and word was sent at once to the girl's parents.

The girl had a little silver mesh purse in which was eighty-six cents. She also wore some gold beads and the seal ring. She answered questions slowly and it was apparent that even when she wished to answer truthfully it sometimes was hard for her to recall what her questioners wanted to know.

She declared she had run away of her own accord and had not been lured away. She said that once before, two years ago, she had left home and had gone to board with strangers for several days.

Though sixteen years old, Helen, according to her father, resembles much more a child of eleven or twelve than one approaching womanhood. Her life has been sheltered always. She has attended convents and has less knowledge of the world than many girls much younger.

Mr. McCarthy said to-day that his daughter had no money, so far as he knew. She wore no jewelry except a simple gold ring which had belonged to

M'NAB ASSISTANT FIRED WITHOUT ASKING WILSON.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The suspension of former Judge Herrington as a special representative of the Department of Justice because of his telegram to President Wilson demanding the removal of Attorney-General McKeeney was not by direction of the President.

New Deputy Sworn In. Richard C. Harrison, formerly an examiner in the office of the President of the Board of Aldermen, was appointed second Deputy Dock Commissioner this afternoon, to succeed William J. Barney, resigned. Commissioner R. A. C. Smith made the appointment and Mr. Harrison was sworn in by Mayor Gaynor.
