

ROBIN AT LAST GOES TO ISLAND TO SERVE A YEAR

Bank Wrecker Leaves Tombs at 12.30 for Penitentiary After Months of Delay.

Joseph G. Robin, sentenced last January to serve a year in the penitentiary for the looting of the Washington Savings Bank, began the actual service of his term today.

This order was continued by Supreme Court Justice Seabury who did not vacate it until last Tuesday. Then the papers were mislaid and as a result it was not until today that Robin could be removed from the Tombs.

Mr. Wright found himself in a quandary this morning. Supreme Court Justice Seabury had said yesterday that as long ago as last Tuesday he had ordered Robin sent to the penitentiary, but no such order had been served on Mr. Wright and he had no authority to remove Robin from the Tombs.

Meanwhile, however, he was facing a writ of habeas corpus issued by United States Judge Hand calling for the production of Robin before a referee downtown.

Mr. Nott explained how Justice Seabury's order had not been served on Mr. Wright, where he had signed it Tuesday, but by mistake had been sent to the District Attorney's office and later to the clerk of General Sessions.

Mr. Nott explained how Justice Seabury's order had not been served on Mr. Wright, where he had signed it Tuesday, but by mistake had been sent to the District Attorney's office and later to the clerk of General Sessions.

Without stopping to remove his coat, the policeman dived over into fifteen feet of water. At the first dive he was unsuccessful, but upon going down again he found the body of the boy on the bottom and swam with it to shore.

A telephone message to Fordham Hospital brought Dr. Donovan with a patient. The policeman worked before the ambulance came to restore life to the boy, but in vain. Nor did the instrument avail more.

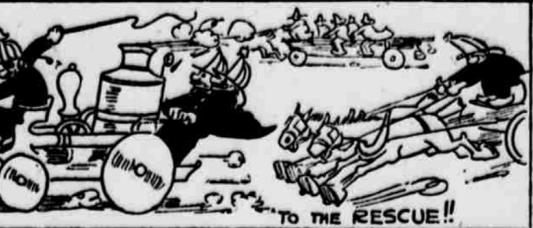

AMERICAN COUNTESS LOSES. Former Miss E. Pratt Falls in Property Action in French Court.

VERMILLES, FRANCE, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

The court held that the divorce of the exceptional tribunal of Rostock, Mecklenburg-Schwerin, which last April annulled her marriage to the Duke, was binding on the French courts. The Countess had married Duke Henry Horvitz in 1911, in England.

Dr. Charles J. Ferry Improves. The condition of Dr. Charles J. Ferry, proprietor of the all-night drug store in the Pulitzer Building, who is at St. Vincent's Hospital, was said to be somewhat improved today, although Dr. Thomas Kelly of No. 87 West Fifty-seventh street, his physician, said that the critical state of the diseased member remains, but was not actively prevented.

Carried His Jag to Top of Telegraph Pole; Police and Firemen Come to the Rescue

TIPSY SKYLARKER FELL ASLEEP ON TOP OF HIGH POLE

Police and Fire Department Rescued Paterson Man From Perilous Berth.

William Quinn, skylarking about Paterson, N. J., during the early hours of the morning, was arrested only after the police had enlisted the services of the Fire Department and a corps of expert linemen from the Edison Company.

The officer on post copied him at 4 o'clock and hurriedly called the reserves. Those hardies stood impotently at the foot of the pole with mingled feelings of hilarity and horror and at length decided it was a case for the Fire Department. The hook and ladder arrived on the scene, the extension ladder was raised and the life net stretched.

When Quinn woke he stretched himself and yawned. Then he realized where he was and, becoming mortally afraid, clung to the pole with a grip that the firemen found hard to loosen.

M'RORIE SENTENCED TO JAIL. Convicted Minister Gives Bond as Appeal is Filed.

ELIZABETH, N. J., July 11.—Rev. Willis McRorie, the minister who was convicted here on June 27 of having had improper relations with Miss Edith Nelson, a youthful member of the congregation he formerly preached to just outside of Plainfield, was today sentenced to three months in the county jail.

To Put Up Big Apartment House. Plans have been filed for a twelve-story fireproof apartment house to be erected on the southwest corner of Park avenue and Seventy-seventh street for the 850 Park Avenue Corporation.

WALL STREET

Market Closing.—The last hour was just as dull and listless, without anything to break the monotony up to the close. Penn. stock closed 1/2 point higher, also New York Central advanced 1/4.

Stock market trading in the final fifteen minutes was extremely quiet, and price changes were without much importance, except in Canadian Pacific which yielded 1/2 to 3/4 on the initial transaction.

Interest is centered in the outcome of the demand by the railroad employees for an increase of wages. Just before 1 o'clock Southern Pacific stock was sold freely and declined from $2 to $1 7/8.

The Closing Quotations. The following were the highest and lowest prices of stocks for today, and the net change as compared with yesterday's closing prices:

Table with columns: Stock Name, High, Low, Last, Change. Includes Am. Oil, Am. Sugar, Am. Tobacco, etc.

WANT HIGHEST COURT TO PASS ON POWERS OF MONEY TRUST. WASHINGTON, July 11.—Steps to have the Supreme Court pass upon the ineffectual powers of the Money Trust Committee of the last Congress, and eventually the powers of like committees, were begun today with an appeal by George G. Henry, a New York banker, from the decision of a New York Federal Court, which refused to release him from custody on a habeas corpus proceeding.

GIRLS TO RING BUS FARES. Girls to take the place of conductors in an innovation that will be seen on Coverts, W. Lott's five-cent bus line, if it gets a franchise from the Board of Estimate. Four companies are applying for franchises.

KNEW HOW IT FELT. (From the Oberlin Enquirer.) "Don't you ever grow tired of waiting?" asked the diner as he tried to his time while his order was being prepared.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

MAYOR ISSUES ORDER TO POLICE REGARDING BOYS IN THE PARKS

Ball Tossers Must Be Warned, and, If Arrested, Given a Speedy Hearing.

In order to prevent unnecessary arrests of boys in the parks for minor offenses on Sunday, the Mayor today sent the following letter to Acting Police Commissioner Douglas McKay:

Sir: My reports from Central Park and also from Prospect Park, in Brooklyn, are that more or less littering of the park and some breaking of shrubbery still continue on Sundays by certain ignorant or reckless people. Please have a sufficient number of plainclothes men in each of these parks next Sunday, and until further notice to summon or arrest further, as the case may require. There is also some throwing or tossing of balls in these parks on fields where that is not permitted.

NO MORE EXCURSION STEAMERS TO NEWPORT. Merchants and Beach Resorts Suffer from Exclusion of "Trippers."

NEWPORT, R. I., July 11.—When it was announced today that the Providence, Fall River and Newport Steamboat Company will run no more excursions to Newport, people realized that the first shot had been fired in the war by Newport's permanent summer residents, who wish to keep the town exclusively for themselves against "trippers" and the "masses."

FIREPROOF SCHOOL BUILDING. Plans have been filed in the Building Department for a four-story school building for the Yorkville Jewish Religious School on the north side of Eighty-fifth street, 54.2 feet west of Lexington avenue. It will have a frontage of thirty-four feet and a depth of fifty feet, with a facade of terra cotta and brick, and will be fireproof. The cost has been placed at $30,000.

POLICEMAN KAVANAUGH INDICTED FOR BRIBERY

Charge is Based on Statement Made by Rader, the Confessed Fence and Master Thief.

An indictment charging Policeman Frederick Kavanaugh of the Bedford avenue station, Brooklyn, with accepting a bribe from Isador Rader, the fence and master thief who made a long confession to Judge Swann after being convicted a month ago, was filed today before Judge O'Sullivan in General Sessions Court.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

GIRL IN NEW TROUBLE OVER LOVE OF FINERY HYSTERICAL IN COURT

Florence O'Connor, With Suspended Sentence Hanging Over Her, Forges Her Aunt's Name.

A love of finery which got pretty eighteen-year-old Florence O'Connor of No. 49 East Eighty-fourth street into trouble today to the Bedford Reformatory for Girls, Judge O'Sullivan in General Sessions, who had suspended sentence on the girl a year ago, passed the sentence.

Before Judge O'Sullivan the girl at that time pleaded so hard that she had been unable to resist the appeal of pretty things, that sentence was suspended upon her promise to reform.

HAPPY, LAUGHING CHILD SHORTLY. If Cross, Feverish, Bilious and Sick, Let "Syrup of Figs" Clean Its Little Waste-Clogged Bowels.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 11.—When it was announced today that the Providence, Fall River and Newport Steamboat Company will run no more excursions to Newport, people realized that the first shot had been fired in the war by Newport's permanent summer residents, who wish to keep the town exclusively for themselves against "trippers" and the "masses."

FIREPROOF SCHOOL BUILDING. Plans have been filed in the Building Department for a four-story school building for the Yorkville Jewish Religious School on the north side of Eighty-fifth street, 54.2 feet west of Lexington avenue. It will have a frontage of thirty-four feet and a depth of fifty feet, with a facade of terra cotta and brick, and will be fireproof. The cost has been placed at $30,000.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

and spent the proceeds on pretty clothes. She pleaded when she was arraigned before Judge Foster and he, knowing of the suspended sentence, sent her to Judge O'Sullivan. "I believed a year ago," said the Judge, "that a girl of your age might be helped and saved. So I suspended sentence on you. Of late there have been one or two other girls like you who have come back to court after sentence has been suspended on them. Perhaps they believed that the Court did not mean what the Court said. "Because they are women do not mean that they may expect special leniency. I am not sending you away to impress this on you, but because I believe you will not reform. If I thought there was a chance that you would repent of your ways I would continue the suspension of your sentence."

IDENTIFIED. (From the Chicago Record-Herald.) A man who was "wanted" in Russia had been photographed in six different positions and the pictures were duly circulated among the police departments. The chief of one of these wrote to headquarters a few days after the issue of the set of portraits, reporting as follows: "I have received the portraits of the six miscreants whose capture is desired. I have arrested five of them and the sixth is under observation and will be taken shortly."

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The court here gave judgment today against the Countess de Gaget James, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pratt of New York, the widow of Count Amadeo Gaget James, a papal nobleman in the suit she had brought to force her second husband, Duke Henry Horvitz of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to give her the authorization to liquidate her husband's automobile factory in France in which she is interested.

Eyeglasses won't help you unless they are the RIGHT glasses—and the only absolutely sure method of obtaining them is by skillful, scientific examination of EACH EYE. Our registered physicians—who are OCULISTS—have at their command the most approved scientific instruments. Harris Eyeglasses for as little as $2.00—fitted with the HARRIS SUCTION CLIP at no extra charge.

Optical House of M. J. Starobin. New York: 54 East 23rd St., 27 West 34th St., 442 Columbus Ave., 70 Nassau St., Bklyn: 478 Fulton St. and 1009 E. 11th St., Newark: 597 Broad St., nr. Rahne & Co.

SUNDAY WORLD "WANTS" WORK MONDAY WONDERS.

Advertisement for OLUS medicine, featuring illustrations of people and text describing its benefits for various ailments.

Advertisement for Browning, King & Co. clothing, featuring text about a national institution and a sale of suits.

Advertisement for a protest against a tariff on bananas, held at Cooper Union on Friday, July 11, 1913.

Advertisement for Royal Furniture Co., offering home furnishings and credit terms.

Advertisement for free films, including Kodak bicycles and tennis goods, available at 405 Broadway.

Large advertisement for "FORCE" Toasted Wheat Flakes, featuring an illustration of a bowl of cereal and text describing its benefits.

Advertisement for a special gold watch, priced at $6, available until 6 o'clock Saturday.