

"LOOPS THE LOOP" IN HIS AEROPLANE 1,500 FEET IN SKY

Pagoud, Daredevil Aviator, Takes Lightning Dive Then Turns Full Somersault.

Frenchman Who Thrilled Big Throng Created Previous Sensation in Parachute.

SEVENT, France, Sept. 1.—A French aviator named Pagoud today "looped the loop" while flying at a height of 1,500 feet in his aeroplane. His attempt succeeded without injury.

Pagoud, who recently caused a sensation by dropping safely from an aeroplane with a parachute, had announced this he intended to turn a somersault in the air with his aeroplane and his movements after his ascent today were followed closely by a large throng of observers.

When Pagoud had reached a height of about 1,500 feet he turned the nose of his machine straight toward the earth and started downward with his motor working at full power.

After plunging about 1,500 feet with frightful velocity, Pagoud changed the position of his rudder and caused the aeroplane to turn a complete vertical circle. The machine then glided down in a huge spiral volplane and alighted safely on the ground.

Pagoud says he will repeat the feat tomorrow in the presence of a committee of military officers.

MRS. ROBBINS ANGRY AT REPORTS OF SENDING AWAY HER TWO SONS

Wife of Wealthy Polo Player Says She is Living Up to Separation Agreement.

Mrs. Clarence A. Robbins Jr., wife of Ted Robbins, the wealthy polo player, athlete and guardian of Great River, Long Island, denied today that she had surrendered her two boys to her husband's parents and had closed her magnificent home at Bayside, L. I., for good.

The two children are John, three years old, and Norman, two years old. Ted Robbins was still a student at Williams College, but was home on his vacation when he eloped with the pretty Edith Norman Hyde, sixteen years old, of Dedhamton, N. Y. They were married by a Justice of the Peace on July 15, 1914.

On the return to Manhattan, young Mrs. Robbins returned to her father's house and failed to mention the ceremony in Jersey City. Ted Robbins was equally uncommunicative about his separation agreement which was signed in the fall he went back to Williams, apparently to study and learn something.

Just what caused the Robbinses to break up their home was not disclosed. By the terms of the agreement she got the Bayside home and receives a large cash allowance.

HOW TO BUILD A HOME WITH YOUR FIRST $1,000

Best Way to Borrow the Money Required in Addition to the Original Nest Egg

Find a Loan Association That Will Lend 75 Per Cent. of the Value of the Property and You Can Build a $5,000 House Which Will, at $40 a Month, Be Paid for in Twelve Years.

If you had only $1,000 and wanted a house, how would you go about it? These are the questions that confront the man of modest means if he would have a home of his own, having saved $1,000 cash.

What arrangements can I make for getting more money, having no other means? How much could I properly spare from my earnings each month? In accordance with this how much should my lot cost? How much should my building cost? Where would it be most desirable to build? What is the most direct method to begin immediate operation?

In this series of articles The Evening World will present facts found after investigation in the interest of the would-be home builder so that he may avoid pitfalls that confront the small investor, who can ill afford to lose his hard earned savings.

Since the market is full of various materials for building, it is not the purpose of these articles to go specifically into the merits of these, but the building plans will present materials of recognized worth.

HOW YOU CAN BUILD WITH THE LEAST CASH ON HAND. A man writes to The Evening World asking in what way can he borrow the most money at a monthly payment rate.

While we have treated of building and loan associations, which arrangements have proved satisfactory to many home builders, there are, very few associations that lend more than 50 per cent. of the valuation of the property.

The Best Brooklyn Savings and Loan Association, perhaps, lends more than any other concern of its kind, allowing 75 to 80 per cent. Therefore the home builder is not required to have more than 20 to 25 per cent. of the property value in cash to begin with.

Thus a man having $1,000 cash could, in this way, build a home to cost as high as $5,000. The rate of payment of this association is $10 per month on each $1,000 borrowed. On this basis the property becomes clear of loan in twelve years and four months.

The loans can be procured as the building proceeds in structure. Also the owner has the privilege of paying off the mortgage as he finds it desirable. There are no charges to join or transfer or draw on account. The expense to borrow is the actual cost of appraisal, drawing and recording the mortgage and examining the titles to the property. This cost varies, but is moderate and represents a cost only once. No charge is made for reserving a mortgage.

In this class of associations, the state superintendent of banks, in one of his annual reports to the Legislature, says: "The local associations are strictly mutual, co-operative organizations. The membership is usually confined to a limited territory, and their investments are restricted to the same territory and to specified and safe properties of the appraised value of the real estate upon which their loans are made."

BEST WAY TO PROCURE A HOME OF YOUR OWN. After twenty-seven years of experience, Mr. Benjamin Thompson, President, says: "Personally, I regard the savings and loan associations the best possible medium by which people with small means may procure a home. By these means a home buyer has the advice of practical and experienced men, which is a very important factor in selecting and buying a home. In our associations no premiums are charged, simply interest and principal on the installment plan.

These are organized under the laws of the State of New York and examined by a representative of the Banking Department at least once each year. J. J. M. writes as follows: "I am of the opinion that a one-story house has many advantages over other forms to make it more suitable for the average workingman with an ambition to own his own home. First, original cost of construction is less; second, cost of upkeep less; third, a vast amount of labor saved to the housewife through having her work at hand and not having to climb stairs."

BOY VICTIMS OF AUTO. One Was Fractured Skull, the Other Broken Ankle.

Isaac Benowitz, ten years old, and his five-year-old brother Harry, of No. 228 First avenue, were struck by an automobile while they were crossing First avenue at One Hundred and Nineteenth street this afternoon.

After Dr. Kahn of Marion Hospital had taken the boys away, Patrick Dowdell of No. 25 West Fifty-fourth street, the driver of the car which struck them, and who had wrecked the car against the curb in the effort to avoid them, was discovered walking away through One Hundred and Nineteenth street by Sergeant Kearns. Dowdell was arrested for not having a license for the car.

ERIE CANAL FLOODS TOWN. Does Thousands of Dollars' Worth of Damage at Cohoes.

TROY, N. Y., Sept. 1.—The Erie Canal at Cohoes overflowed its banks last night and flooded several streets and a number of buildings in that vicinity. Over one hundred families suffered losses which will amount to several thousand dollars, which the State will have to pay. Authorities at Cohoes are at a loss to account for the flood, and a rigid investigation is being made.

CHARLTON UNDER SECRET QUIZ AT LAKE COMO JAIL

Authorities Say American Accused of Wife Murder Shows No Signs of Insanity.

COMO, Italy, Sept. 1.—Porter Charlton, the young American who was recently extradited from the United States to stand his trial here on a charge of murdering his wife at Lake Como in 1910, was subjected today to a lengthy preliminary interrogation.

Judge Rognono, the examining magistrate, Signor Mellini, Charlton's counsel, and Signor Vitale, the official interpreter, accompanied by a court clerk, proceeded to the prison for the purpose this morning. Signor Vitale was at once sworn to secrecy.

During the examination Charlton was quite self-possessed and calm and was most respectful toward the officials, who thus far declare that they have not observed any sign of mental deficiency.

TROUSERS FOR WOMEN HAVE REALLY ARRIVED; BLAME TURKS FOR IT

Reversal of Form in Balkan War Puts Tights and Pants on the Modish List.

It has come! What? The trousered skirt! Yes! Take it from no less an authority than Miss Marion C. Folta, fashion scout for one of the city's biggest department stores, who arrived on the steamer George Washington today, the well-dressed woman this winter will embrace herself in a skirt that is designed to look precisely like the Turkish trousers of the women of the harem.

It's all the fault of the Balkan war. Following the Bulgarian victories the Bulgarian colors and designs were all the rage. Then came the Turkish reversal of form and the Ottoman victories and now all the Parisian dressmakers are vying with one another to put as much Turkish effect in their costumes as possible.

"The shades are invariably Turkish," said Miss Folta, "and the skirts are being made tight at the ankles and full at the knees and hips, with draping, and cut to give every effect of a pair of full length bloomers. No lingerie is worn, tights being the rule. In fact, it looks as though the petticoat and frilly underthings had been banished forever. Turkish blues, greens and purples are the favorite shades. They are even having fur dyed to match these shades."

BIBLE REVISER HERE. Big Delegation Receives High Reverend Gasquet on Pier.

The Right Rev. Abbot Francis Arlan Gasquet, who was assigned by the Pope five years ago to the vast work of revising the Latin Vulgate Bible, or Bible of St. Jerome, arrived here today on the steamer George Washington, to begin a series of lectures to raise money to carry on the work.

He was met at the pier by a delegation of Knights of Columbus and many prominent Catholic laymen. The Abbot, who is President of the English Benedictines, said he expected it would take fifty years more to complete the task he has begun. The Bible he is revising has not been revised since the year 1582.

10,000 MILE WALK, SAYS YOUTH, CURED HIS TUBERCULOSIS

Man in Tatters, Picked Up by the Police, Tells of Tramp Across Continent and Back.

IN LESS THAN A YEAR. Gained 44 Pounds, Won a $1,000 Bet and Lost All Trace of Disease, He Declares.

A cross country walk from New York to San Francisco and back, accomplished in ten months and a half, cured twenty-one-year-old Herbert W. Hoover of Newark of a desperate case of consumption, if the story he told at Police Headquarters early today is correct.

Hoover has a skin tanned almost to a deep red, an expansive chest and a superb set of muscles to prove that he is free from tuberculosis now, and carries a package of letters from police chiefs and others, gathered at various points on the Continent, an evidence that he footed his way from ocean to ocean.

Incidentally, he says he has won a purse of $1,000 offered by the Gray Crest Athletic Club of Newark to any one who would walk from New York to San Francisco and back, under certain conditions, in one year and seventeen days.

Besides that, he claims to be the first person who ever made a round trip across the United States and walked all the way.

APPARTION STARTLES EVEN A DOWN TOWN POLICEMAN. Policeman Kuhne, stationed at Broadway and Grand street, first alighted the pedestrian. Kuhne saw a young man with half about a foot long, wearing tattered shawl, the raggedest shoes ever seen on Broadway and a whole lot of queer trinkets dangling from his belt.

"I think I know who's looney now," remarked the policeman as he seized the odd young man.

The long haired one was taken to Police Headquarters to ascertain if he was sane, and there he told his name and story. This is the story: "I live at No. 228 Mulberry street, Newark. A year ago I weighed 96 pounds and was dying of consumption. I heard of the Gray Crest Club's offer and Dr. Davis told me to try it. He said it would either kill or cure me.

"One of the conditions was that I neither ask for work, food, clothes or money. I was to get everything without asking. Most people helped me when I merely told them what I had started out to do, refraining from asking anything, however.

"The first day I made Perth Amboy, N. J., and had a hemorrhage. I had another hemorrhage near Philadelphia. But I had gained three pounds when I reached the Quaker City and I had no more hemorrhages. I went down the Eastern States to Florida, and across the Gulf coast, through Texas, between New York and Texas I was arrested ninety-one times as a vagrant.

GAINED 44 POUNDS AND A LOT OF HAIR. "I left New York on Oct. 14, last, and reached San Francisco, 5,233 miles the way I went, on March 27. I rested ten days and started back across the central line of the United States. I landed in New York at 2 o'clock this morning.

"Today I weigh 140 pounds and am perfectly well. I was 4 feet 7 inches tall when I started. I have gained three-quarters of an inch in height, but the extra height is not due to callousness on my soles.

"On the trip I wore out—really wore to rags—seven pairs of shoes and 23 pairs of silk stockings. I wore silk stockings because they were best for clean it with benzine. In the kitchen the woman screamed and ran about the room, fanning the fire. Then she thought of the baby. She ran behind the carriage and wheeled it and the child into the front room. The clothing of the little one had already caught.

Nathan grabbed Goldie and smothered the flames which scorched him, burning his hand badly in the work. Quickly he ran to the window and, calling to Sydney, handed the baby to him on the fire escape. Then the brave boy ran back and towed the clothing off his mother. His hands were burned, but the lad gave no heed to his sufferings, and screamed for help. The smoke was ascending the stairs, and tenants from the upper floor came screaming down in a panic.

Policeman Mallon, on fixed post, was notified and sent an ambulance call into Gouverneur Hospital. The streets were thronged with people waiting for the parade, and the ambulance was slow

BOY HERO TRIES TO SAVE MOTHER AND BABY AT FIRE

Benzone Caused Explosion and Flames Raced Through the Flat.

Little Nathan Tannebaum, thirteen years old, proved himself a hero today, but his courage and prompt work couldn't save his mother and his baby brother, Goldie, from being so badly burned that both will probably die.
