

"STIR SIMPLE" MADE HIM CONFESS TWENTY MURDERS.

Chicago Police Believe Spencer Victim of Queer Mania Contracted in Prison.

HAVE A NEW MYSTERY.

Now On a Hunt for Another Assassin Who Tortured Girl Student to Death.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—A speedy trial for the murder of Mrs. Mildred Allison...

His admission of the Barrett crime is substantiated by evidence. He is known to have committed many of the large number of burglaries he has confessed...

While the police are trying to unravel the story of Spencer they are facing another problem in the murder of Miss Ida G. Leeson...

With the finding of an abandoned automobile in Palos Park the detectives to-day redoubled their energies in the search for the mysterious "Wilson"...

The automobile was garolled early Sunday after a struggle. The automobile was stolen before 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon from Jackson Park...

The police have ascertained that Miss Leeson was met by a man in a black automobile when she alighted from the Western avenue car...

The police believe they are confronted with the problem of solving a mystery where the victim may not have known to person who plotted her death.

"Beware 'Scrupulosity.'" Pass Heggars and Cop Car Nickel. Without a Quail-Sure Escape.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—"Scrupulosity" or "psychasthenia" is the latest disease. The United States Public Health Service is busy investigating it to-day.

"Scrupulosity" is what strikes you a twinge when you suddenly pass a blind beggar in the street or beat the street car company out of its nickel.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—"Scrupulosity" or "psychasthenia" is the latest disease. The United States Public Health Service is busy investigating it to-day.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—"Scrupulosity" or "psychasthenia" is the latest disease. The United States Public Health Service is busy investigating it to-day.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—"Scrupulosity" or "psychasthenia" is the latest disease. The United States Public Health Service is busy investigating it to-day.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—"Scrupulosity" or "psychasthenia" is the latest disease. The United States Public Health Service is busy investigating it to-day.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—"Scrupulosity" or "psychasthenia" is the latest disease. The United States Public Health Service is busy investigating it to-day.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—"Scrupulosity" or "psychasthenia" is the latest disease. The United States Public Health Service is busy investigating it to-day.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—"Scrupulosity" or "psychasthenia" is the latest disease. The United States Public Health Service is busy investigating it to-day.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—"Scrupulosity" or "psychasthenia" is the latest disease. The United States Public Health Service is busy investigating it to-day.

EARLY COMERS IN LOWER GRAND STAND HOURS BEFORE GAME STARTED.

(Specially Photographed for The Evening World by a Staff Photographer.)

SULZER ASKED RYAN TO CALL OFF MURPHY AS WELL AS BARNES

(Continued from First Page.)

asked this friend to meet me at my office. The Republican organization as such will do nothing not in order.

Q. Did that friend hand you this paper? A. Yes, he did. Q. When you handed the paper to Gov. Sulzer what did he say? A. Nothing further than that it was the best I could get.

Q. What else? A. He asked me to see Mr. DeLoach, Nicoll, to see if he couldn't carry out the same idea. He said that Mr. Nicoll could see certain parties and possibly persuade them to do what he wished to accomplish by having me see Mr. Root and having him see Mr. Barnes.

Q. Whom did he wish Mr. Nicoll to see? A. Mr. Murphy. Q. What did he wish Mr. Nicoll to do for Mr. Murphy? A. He wanted this procedure stopped. He wanted the court to vote that the Assembly did not have the right to impeach and try him.

Q. What else did he wish Mr. Nicoll to do? A. He wanted me to have Mr. Nicoll persuade Mr. Murphy to endeavor to call off this inquiry by getting his following to vote that the Assembly had no right to vote this impeachment.

Q. Wasn't there more than that? A. He said Mr. Nicoll could be the going-between, that he (Sulzer) was willing to do whatever was right. Q. Was anything said by Gov. Sulzer as to the number of votes he had in the court? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was said? A. He said he had ten Democratic votes. Q. What did he say to tell Mr. Nicoll to tell Mr. Murphy would be done if the vote was taken as he wished? A. That he would do whatever was right.

Q. Did he specify what he would do that was right? A. No, sir. Q. Did you see or communicate with Mr. DeLoach, Nicoll, on Oct. 2? A. No, sir.

Q. Or Senator Root? A. No, sir. Q. What reply did you make to Gov. Sulzer? A. I told him I would see what I could do, and I went out in the country and forgot it.

The defense attorney declined to cross-examine Mr. Ryan was excused and the defense began its case through the air and land on prisoner and policeman indiscriminately. The crowd tried to take young Fiorino away from Park, trying to tear him to pieces if they once got hands on him.

Two other policemen finally came as reinforcements and the badly frightened prisoner, who had nearly lost his life as the result of parading the soda man, was at last locked up.

Two years ago, after a ferocious bucking of the bank at Monte Carlo and wild cables for money which were ignored by his brother and mother on this side of the water, young Brandreth found himself in a Belgian jail. In company with a man calling himself Mathias and posing as Brandreth's secretary, the New York spender had been tried and sentenced to two years for attempting to defraud a hotel keeper.

After he had spent twenty days in the Belgian prison, Brandreth was released with apologies. Since that time he had managed to avoid having his name in the papers until the present time.

IMPEACHERS CALL PASTOR WHO HAS DEFENDED SULZER. (Special to The Evening World.) ALBANY, Oct. 7.—Rev. J. Chalmers Richmond of Philadelphia, religious deender of Gov. Sulzer, was served with a subpoena in the Senate Chamber today and will be taken before the Impeachment Court for interrogation about his last Sunday's sermon, in which he denounced the court and Senators.

The Board of Managers plan to cite him for contempt unless he gives satisfactory explanation and apology. Mr. Richmond said he welcomed the subpoena and would preach the same sort of sermon next Sunday night, only worse.

Public was Deceived Over $2 Ticket Sale. (Continued from First Page.)

would have been a matter of utter impossibility for each of them to have bought a ticket at the box office. Many of them must have had their tickets in advance.

This is the first instance in New York where a solemn pledge to the public regarding baseball tickets in the reserved section has been violated so brazenly. As for the reserved tickets, it was natural to expect that when the plan of allotment was designed to satisfy political favorites and friends of persons connected with the management, there would be a scandal connected with the distribution.

Mr. Foster said the New York Baseball Club employed private detectives yesterday afternoon to go out among the ticket agencies and ticket speculators and find if it was true that reserved tickets were being sold at exorbitant prices. The detectives reported that it was absolutely true.

But, Mr. Foster said, they brought in reports of only 162 reserved seat tickets they found on sale. We kept the names of everybody we sold seats to and the number of the seats they got. If they had been sold to the 162 tickets found by our detectives had been sold by men in the Corporation Counsel's office and the District-Attorney's office and some other employees and officials of the city.

"We are willing to make the names of these men public and we think they should be made public. But that rests with the National Commission. If they tell us to give the names to the newspapers we will do so."

The fact that the private detectives were able to get hold of 162 tickets shows that many hundreds of these pasteboards were got into the hands of speculators. The detectives didn't start out until late in the afternoon. The tickets had been trafficked in for hours before they became active.

At the request of Mr. Ebbetts of Brooklyn, the National Commission allowed him some 22 tickets because reserved seats were sold. About 200 more were allowed to minor league club men who had come from long distances, because the supply of 22 tickets was exhausted. It was a courtesy that was deserved. If it should be said that any more were given out to be sold, not a single 22 ticket except those was allowed to go out. Why, it would be foolish for any one to buy a 22 reserved seat when any one could buy at the gate at any time just as easily, and getting a good seat all depended upon getting here early.

District-Attorney Whitman was quite wrought up when told this afternoon that the New York Club accused members of his staff of selling to speculators reserved seat tickets that had been allotted to them because of their official positions. He said he would try to get all the facts and would take appropriate action if he found that anybody connected with his office had aided in ticket speculation.

Young Cohen Home on Evening Gross Girl Disappeared. Radio Gross, the pretty seventeen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Mollie Gross of No. 464 Third avenue, was reported to the police as still missing to-day. The girl left her home Sept. 29, telling her mother she was going to a dance at Fleischmann's cafe with David Cohen, the son of her employer, Mrs. Gross. Mrs. Gross said she believed that the girl used the name of her employer's son in order to reassure her mother, who knew of the excellent character and standing of the Cohen boys—meaning all the time to seek the company of a man of whom she knew her mother would not approve.

Didn't Feel Well Ended Life. The body of Michael Kinnestad, a wholesale cloak and suit salesman, who lived at No. 18 Weyland place, Arverne, was found by his wife today hanging from a short section of clothesline over the stair well on the third floor of the house. He had gone upstairs a few minutes before complaining that he did not feel well. The police entered the house through the evening when the death on the station blotter as "presumably suicide."

office and some other employees and officials of the city. "We are willing to make the names of these men public and we think they should be made public. But that rests with the National Commission. If they tell us to give the names to the newspapers we will do so."

The fact that the private detectives were able to get hold of 162 tickets shows that many hundreds of these pasteboards were got into the hands of speculators. The detectives didn't start out until late in the afternoon. The tickets had been trafficked in for hours before they became active.

At the request of Mr. Ebbetts of Brooklyn, the National Commission allowed him some 22 tickets because reserved seats were sold. About 200 more were allowed to minor league club men who had come from long distances, because the supply of 22 tickets was exhausted. It was a courtesy that was deserved. If it should be said that any more were given out to be sold, not a single 22 ticket except those was allowed to go out. Why, it would be foolish for any one to buy a 22 reserved seat when any one could buy at the gate at any time just as easily, and getting a good seat all depended upon getting here early.

District-Attorney Whitman was quite wrought up when told this afternoon that the New York Club accused members of his staff of selling to speculators reserved seat tickets that had been allotted to them because of their official positions. He said he would try to get all the facts and would take appropriate action if he found that anybody connected with his office had aided in ticket speculation.

Young Cohen Home on Evening Gross Girl Disappeared. Radio Gross, the pretty seventeen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Mollie Gross of No. 464 Third avenue, was reported to the police as still missing to-day. The girl left her home Sept. 29, telling her mother she was going to a dance at Fleischmann's cafe with David Cohen, the son of her employer, Mrs. Gross. Mrs. Gross said she believed that the girl used the name of her employer's son in order to reassure her mother, who knew of the excellent character and standing of the Cohen boys—meaning all the time to seek the company of a man of whom she knew her mother would not approve.

Didn't Feel Well Ended Life. The body of Michael Kinnestad, a wholesale cloak and suit salesman, who lived at No. 18 Weyland place, Arverne, was found by his wife today hanging from a short section of clothesline over the stair well on the third floor of the house. He had gone upstairs a few minutes before complaining that he did not feel well. The police entered the house through the evening when the death on the station blotter as "presumably suicide."

Didn't Feel Well Ended Life. The body of Michael Kinnestad, a wholesale cloak and suit salesman, who lived at No. 18 Weyland place, Arverne, was found by his wife today hanging from a short section of clothesline over the stair well on the third floor of the house. He had gone upstairs a few minutes before complaining that he did not feel well. The police entered the house through the evening when the death on the station blotter as "presumably suicide."

Didn't Feel Well Ended Life. The body of Michael Kinnestad, a wholesale cloak and suit salesman, who lived at No. 18 Weyland place, Arverne, was found by his wife today hanging from a short section of clothesline over the stair well on the third floor of the house. He had gone upstairs a few minutes before complaining that he did not feel well. The police entered the house through the evening when the death on the station blotter as "presumably suicide."

Didn't Feel Well Ended Life. The body of Michael Kinnestad, a wholesale cloak and suit salesman, who lived at No. 18 Weyland place, Arverne, was found by his wife today hanging from a short section of clothesline over the stair well on the third floor of the house. He had gone upstairs a few minutes before complaining that he did not feel well. The police entered the house through the evening when the death on the station blotter as "presumably suicide."

Didn't Feel Well Ended Life. The body of Michael Kinnestad, a wholesale cloak and suit salesman, who lived at No. 18 Weyland place, Arverne, was found by his wife today hanging from a short section of clothesline over the stair well on the third floor of the house. He had gone upstairs a few minutes before complaining that he did not feel well. The police entered the house through the evening when the death on the station blotter as "presumably suicide."

Didn't Feel Well Ended Life. The body of Michael Kinnestad, a wholesale cloak and suit salesman, who lived at No. 18 Weyland place, Arverne, was found by his wife today hanging from a short section of clothesline over the stair well on the third floor of the house. He had gone upstairs a few minutes before complaining that he did not feel well. The police entered the house through the evening when the death on the station blotter as "presumably suicide."

Didn't Feel Well Ended Life. The body of Michael Kinnestad, a wholesale cloak and suit salesman, who lived at No. 18 Weyland place, Arverne, was found by his wife today hanging from a short section of clothesline over the stair well on the third floor of the house. He had gone upstairs a few minutes before complaining that he did not feel well. The police entered the house through the evening when the death on the station blotter as "presumably suicide."

Didn't Feel Well Ended Life. The body of Michael Kinnestad, a wholesale cloak and suit salesman, who lived at No. 18 Weyland place, Arverne, was found by his wife today hanging from a short section of clothesline over the stair well on the third floor of the house. He had gone upstairs a few minutes before complaining that he did not feel well. The police entered the house through the evening when the death on the station blotter as "presumably suicide."

Didn't Feel Well Ended Life. The body of Michael Kinnestad, a wholesale cloak and suit salesman, who lived at No. 18 Weyland place, Arverne, was found by his wife today hanging from a short section of clothesline over the stair well on the third floor of the house. He had gone upstairs a few minutes before complaining that he did not feel well. The police entered the house through the evening when the death on the station blotter as "presumably suicide."

Didn't Feel Well Ended Life. The body of Michael Kinnestad, a wholesale cloak and suit salesman, who lived at No. 18 Weyland place, Arverne, was found by his wife today hanging from a short section of clothesline over the stair well on the third floor of the house. He had gone upstairs a few minutes before complaining that he did not feel well. The police entered the house through the evening when the death on the station blotter as "presumably suicide."

Didn't Feel Well Ended Life. The body of Michael Kinnestad, a wholesale cloak and suit salesman, who lived at No. 18 Weyland place, Arverne, was found by his wife today hanging from a short section of clothesline over the stair well on the third floor of the house. He had gone upstairs a few minutes before complaining that he did not feel well. The police entered the house through the evening when the death on the station blotter as "presumably suicide."

NO FOND HOMECOMING FOR CLEEVE; INSTEAD, GIVEN 30 DAYS IN JAIL

Magistrate's Sympathy Turned to Indignation When Wife Told Her Story.

Those who contend that a woman always gets the worst of it should send floral tributes to Magistrate Dodd of the Flatbush Court, Brooklyn, in token of his disposition to-day of the case of Charles J. Cleave, travelling salesman.

Cleave parted from his wife last December for a year's trip on the Pacific Coast, leaving her to care for her three children by a first marriage and another trio of youngsters in whom he had a paternal interest. About two months ago he began to yearn for his own friends and the embraces of his wife and little ones. He began assembling his dimes and nickels and a week ago had enough to take a train in San Francisco and make for his Flatbush home.

Cleave reached Brooklyn about noon yesterday and went to his wife's abode, No. 279 Lincoln road. He decided to wait a little. He watched his three children leave the house to return to school after lunch and remained on post until they came home again at 3 o'clock. Then he approached the front door. Mrs. Cleave had come out, but the six children were home. The three stepchildren refused to speak to him and his own little ones appeared afraid to come near him. Obviously the children had not been taught to cherish the memory of their father during his long absence.

Disheartened by this chilly reception, Cleave sought consolation at a corner establishment, where he continued to console himself until the place closed at 1 o'clock this morning. Then he went home and demanded admittance. Mrs. Cleave ordered him away and telephoned for the police. Patrolman Moran of the Flatbush station arrived just as Mr. Cleave was forcing the door.

Magistrate Dodd listened to Mr. Cleave's sad story with seeming sympathy, but when Mrs. Cleave explained that for five years Cleave had contributed nothing for her support and was addicted to perditional excess the Magistrate gave Cleave a sentence of thirty days in the workhouse.

"That's what I get for being sentimental and wanting to come home to my family," said Cleave as, weeping, he was led away.

"When he gets out I'll sue for a separation," was Mrs. Cleave's comment.

Magistrate Dodd listened to Mr. Cleave's sad story with seeming sympathy, but when Mrs. Cleave explained that for five years Cleave had contributed nothing for her support and was addicted to perditional excess the Magistrate gave Cleave a sentence of thirty days in the workhouse.

Magistrate Dodd listened to Mr. Cleave's sad story with seeming sympathy, but when Mrs. Cleave explained that for five years Cleave had contributed nothing for her support and was addicted to perditional excess the Magistrate gave Cleave a sentence of thirty days in the workhouse.

Magistrate Dodd listened to Mr. Cleave's sad story with seeming sympathy, but when Mrs. Cleave explained that for five years Cleave had contributed nothing for her support and was addicted to perditional excess the Magistrate gave Cleave a sentence of thirty days in the workhouse.

Magistrate Dodd listened to Mr. Cleave's sad story with seeming sympathy, but when Mrs. Cleave explained that for five years Cleave had contributed nothing for her support and was addicted to perditional excess the Magistrate gave Cleave a sentence of thirty days in the workhouse.

Magistrate Dodd listened to Mr. Cleave's sad story with seeming sympathy, but when Mrs. Cleave explained that for five years Cleave had contributed nothing for her support and was addicted to perditional excess the Magistrate gave Cleave a sentence of thirty days in the workhouse.

Magistrate Dodd listened to Mr. Cleave's sad story with seeming sympathy, but when Mrs. Cleave explained that for five years Cleave had contributed nothing for her support and was addicted to perditional excess the Magistrate gave Cleave a sentence of thirty days in the workhouse.

Magistrate Dodd listened to Mr. Cleave's sad story with seeming sympathy, but when Mrs. Cleave explained that for five years Cleave had contributed nothing for her support and was addicted to perditional excess the Magistrate gave Cleave a sentence of thirty days in the workhouse.

Clogged Nostrils Lead to Consumption

Have you pains over the right eye, pains over the left eye, pains across the front of the head? Do you take cold easily, sneeze a great deal? Do you sneeze until you become dizzy? Does first one nostril, then the other, close? Have you a discharge from your nostrils? Are you losing your sense of smell? Do crusts form in your nostrils? Do you sleep with your mouth open? Does your throat feel dry, as if sand was dusted over it? Does your throat tickle as if a horsehair had lodged in it? Have you a dropping in the throat? Do you have to be constantly clearing the throat? Is your hearing falling? Have you unnatural sounds in the ears? Are those sounds like steam escaping or like water falling? Do your ears feel like they were stopped up? Does the wax harden in your ears? Do your ears discharge?

Have you pains in the chest? Have you soreness behind the breastbone? Have you a dull ache under the shoulder blades? Have you an irritating cough? Do you spit up a tough, grayish material? Do you spit up a yellowish material? Do you spit up a dark brown, rusty looking material?

These are important questions for you to answer. If you have answered "yes" to any of the nostrils and throat. In other cases, however, the discharge from the nose and throat into the ear tubes, and this will stop up your hearing. It is a common mistake to begin like a cold in the nostrils and throat, and which has traveled down into the ear tubes and eardrums. This causes the eardrums to become stiff and the hearing to be lost. It is a common mistake to begin like a cold in the nostrils and throat, and which has traveled down into the ear tubes and eardrums. This causes the eardrums to become stiff and the hearing to be lost.

My specialty is treating clogged nostrils, leading to deafness, and I have cured many cases. I have cured many cases of deafness, and I have cured many cases of deafness. I have cured many cases of deafness, and I have cured many cases of deafness. I have cured many cases of deafness, and I have cured many cases of deafness.

Clogged Nostrils Cured. When Mr. Frank Harold first consulted me he said: "My nostrils have become so clogged that I can hardly breathe. I have a constant discharge from my nose, and I have a constant discharge from my nose. I have a constant discharge from my nose, and I have a constant discharge from my nose. I have a constant discharge from my nose, and I have a constant discharge from my nose."

Curing Shortness of Breath. When Mr. Edward W. Johnson first consulted me he said: "I have a constant shortness of breath, and I have a constant shortness of breath. I have a constant shortness of breath, and I have a constant shortness of breath. I have a constant shortness of breath, and I have a constant shortness of breath. I have a constant shortness of breath, and I have a constant shortness of breath."

ARE YOU GOING DEAF? I have made a discovery in the treatment of deafness, and I have cured many cases. I have cured many cases of deafness, and I have cured many cases of deafness. I have cured many cases of deafness, and I have cured many cases of deafness. I have cured many cases of deafness, and I have cured many cases of deafness.

Deafness and Head Noises Cured. When Mr. Edward J. Dunn first consulted me he said: "I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness."

Deafness, Head Noises, 30 Years. When Mr. Alfred H. Brown first consulted me he said: "I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness."

Deafness, Head Noises, 3 Years. When Mr. Alfred H. Brown first consulted me he said: "I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness."

Deafness, Head Noises, 20 Years. When Mr. Alfred H. Brown first consulted me he said: "I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness."

Deafness, Head Noises, 20 Years. When Mr. Alfred H. Brown first consulted me he said: "I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness."

Deafness, Head Noises, 20 Years. When Mr. Alfred H. Brown first consulted me he said: "I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness."

Deafness, Head Noises, 20 Years. When Mr. Alfred H. Brown first consulted me he said: "I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness."

Deafness, Head Noises, 20 Years. When Mr. Alfred H. Brown first consulted me he said: "I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness."

Deafness, Head Noises, 20 Years. When Mr. Alfred H. Brown first consulted me he said: "I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness."

Deafness, Head Noises, 20 Years. When Mr. Alfred H. Brown first consulted me he said: "I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness."

Deafness, Head Noises, 20 Years. When Mr. Alfred H. Brown first consulted me he said: "I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness. I have a constant deafness, and I have a constant deafness."

Bent Bone Pointed shoes cause bent bones, corns, bunions, ingrown nails, flat foot, fatigue, etc. Educator Shoe Co. We Sell Rice & Hutchins Educator Shoes. Signet Shoe Co., 112 West 125th St., and 149th St., Corner of Third Ave., New York, N. Y.

BONWIT TELLER & Co. Extraordinary Special Sale Tomorrow Women's High Class Dresses Smart, Unusual Models At the Very Special Price 29.50 Serge Dresses Broche Faille Dresses Crepe de Chine Dresses Minaret tunic model with deep fichu front of dainty lace net. Charmeuse Dresses Dancing Frocks Combination of crepe de chine and net, with new many-founced skirt effect. Fifth Avenue at 38th Street