

M'GUIRE DECLARES THAT HE GAVE SULZER $3,000

Metz Will Fight to Drive Murphy From Tammany

WEATHER—Fair to-night and Friday.

WEATHER—Fair to-night and Friday.

FINAL EDITION.

The Evening World.

FINAL EDITION.

"Circulation Books Open to All."

"Circulation Books Open to All."

PRICE ONE CENT.

Copyright, 1913, by The News Publishing Co. (The New York World).

NEW YORK, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1913.

20 PAGES

PRICE ONE CENT.

BLOCKADE MEXICAN PORTS, WILSON'S PLAN NOW, IN HIS WAR TO FORCE HUERTA OUT

President Massing American Fleet to Aid Foes of Dictator if He Refuses to Quit.

HE NOTIFIES CARRANZA.

Sends Envoy With Proposition That Involves Lifting of Embargo on Arms.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—President Wilson, through his special agent, Dr. William Bayard Hale, has submitted to the revolutionary party in Mexico a proposal that the United States blockade the ports of Mexico and let the Mexican factions fight it out between themselves.

This involves lifting the embargo which has hitherto prevailed and allowing the Carranzistas to purchase arms, which they say is all that is needed to enable them to knock Huerta out of the dictatorship.

It is not proposed that this Government shall intervene in favor of any faction, but merely to stand by and see fair play in the interest of its own citizens and other foreigners.

Confirmation of President Wilson's blockade plan is seen in the order sent to-day to the battleships Louisiana, New Hampshire and Michigan of the second division of the Atlantic fleet, which were to be relieved from duty in Mexican waters upon the arrival of the four vessels of the third division, to remain at Vera Cruz. Orders were also issued for the armored cruiser California to remain in Pacific Mexican waters, although original orders to the Pittsburgh were to return.

As the White House this afternoon it was officially stated that Charge O'Shaughnessy at Mexico City had recently been given certain instructions to communicate to the Huerta Government. Whether such instructions were the same as those referred to as demanding the elimination of Huerta, officials declined to state specifically.

Word has been received from Vera Cruz that John Lind, special envoy of the United States, has confirmed the report that this Government has sent an ultimatum to Huerta demanding that he resign all pretensions to the Presidency and keep the pledges he made before the recent election.

This report is represented as having occasioned the greatest excitement at Vera Cruz, and this has been increased by the presence of seven American warships in the harbor, and the announcement that orders are on the way. The American gunboat Iroquois, which has been at Vera Cruz for a fortnight, has departed for Tampico.

SPARRING FOR TIME TILL NEW CONGRESS MEETS.

According to some officials, Huerta wants to wait until Nov. 15, when the new Mexican Congress convenes, before making his announcement as to whether he is going to eliminate himself as demanded by President Wilson, or remain as the head of the de facto Government.

While Dr. Hale is enroute to the

(Cont. on Last Page)

WHO PAYS INCOME TAX, NAT GOODWIN OR WIVES?

Treasury Officials Troubled Over Problem Presented by Actor's Alimony Bills.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—If Nat Goodwin pays over $3,000 a year alimony to his ex-wives, must he or the wives pay the income tax? This question Treasury officials today and yesterday admitted that it was not particularly for Nat's sake that they worried but for the sake of a puzzled army of ex-husbands.

World "Wants" Work Wonders.

MURPHY MUST GO, NOTICE GIVEN BY HERMAN A. METZ

"Tammany and Murphy," He Says, Has Been the Cry Against Democracy.

A BUGABOO TO VOTERS.

"The Chief" Grimly Determined to Retain His Power, but Fears Combination.

Herman A. Metz, Tammany's defeated candidate for Comptroller, called today for Europe on the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie. Mr. Metz said that he was not running away from defeat and that he was not taking a vacation. He had his vacation during the campaign, he added.

"I'm going over on business," said Mr. Metz, "and I'll be right back. I'm quite sensible of the fact that there has been an election, and that I was among those who were walking, not running. I didn't want to do it, but I did. I don't want to be a candidate this time, but my friends insisted."

"What do you think will be the effect of the election on Tammany?" he was asked.

"At any rate, when Mrs. Leiter and her pretty sister appeared in Paris a short time ago the Chairman of the National Committee was seen in Miss Williams's company often. The wedding, begun in Washington, was swift and the announcement of the engagement followed. The happy pair will spend their honeymoon, it is said, aboard the yacht and finish the cruise with the party."

Miss Williams is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. John R. Williams. She made her debut into Washington society five years ago and has been a main favorite there since.

Mr. McCombs has been abroad since almost immediately after election setting a rest. He is the most prominent possibility for Ambassador to France to succeed Mr. E. Herrick. The chairman has also declined the place, but reconsidered at President Wilson's personal request, and since he has been abroad the post has been held open for him, with the general understanding in official circles that he eventually would accept it when he got his business affairs and law practice in condition for his abroad board. Mr. McCombs is a bachelor.

Does anybody know anything about Magistrate House's shirt? Magistrate House was sitting in the Yorkville Police Court today and the song of the shirt was heard throughout the session.

Much soiled linen has been aired and washed in the Yorkville Police Court, but never was there anything like this. Maurice Patz, twenty-six years old, was charged with having embezzled a dollar from Mrs. Bertha Eckert of No. 1428 Lexington avenue. Maurice bolted up the dumb waiter and asked Mrs. Eckert if she wanted any beer today. She hollered down that she did not, but would send down a dollar for the beer she had last week. Maurice took the dollar and his departure. He was chased and caught as he was about to board a Third avenue car.

"Ask him if he knows any of his profession who has some shirts that don't belong to him?" said Magistrate House.

"He says he doesn't," returned the Assistant District Attorney.

"He is held in $50 bail."

His Honor the Magistrate went out on election day with a new boiled shirt. He had other shirts at home. It was the day on which the laundryman called for his Honor's soiled linen. Somebody called and got the shirts. Somebody comes to making a splash with linen. Magistrate House has all the other occupants of the bench in the police court looking like Tammany the morning after.

So, it may be imagined that the man who didn't bring out "soiled" shirts in the morning is being sent the outrage. He is angry of his loss when the regular laundryman came after the laundry.

"This morning to a pretty party," said His Honor, "when men stoop as low as to soiling the shirt of a man's back."

"They don't do that," said the Assistant District Attorney.

"Well, they might have."

THE WORLD TRAVEL BUREAU, Arcade, Palace Hotel Building, 2015 Broadway, N. Y. City. Excursions to all parts of the world. Rates and conditions on application. Telephone 1000.

Believe Jacob Schiff Gave Half Million to Commerce College

Donor of Big Gift Has Thus Far Kept His Identity a Secret.

Announcement was made today by Mortimer L. Schiff, Chairman of the Committee on Commercial Education of the Chamber of Commerce, of the gift of $500,000 to be used in erecting and equipping a college of commerce on the site of the old College of the City of New York, at Twenty-third street and Lexington avenue.

Mr. Schiff announced that for the time being the donor, whose identity is concealed, and speculation which started immediately among the members present, was centered on Mr. Schiff's father, Jacob H. Schiff.

"Why, my son, won't tell even me the name of our benefactor," declared Mr. Schiff when he was asked if he had discovered the fund, but it was only in this way that he would say the report.

Contributions of $50,000 each had been made already for the projected college, and the donor of the $500,000 made the stipulation that these other donors release their subscriptions for the establishment of a museum of commerce and a club to be maintained in connection with the new college.

M'COMBS IN LOVE ROMANCE WILL WED MISS WILLIAMS

Democratic Chairman Takes Washington Belle as Bride To-Morrow.

WILL MARRY IN LONDON.

He Wooed in Secret and Announcement Comes as Big Surprise to Their Friends.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—A cable received here today from Mrs. John Williams by one of her friends said that William F. McCombs, Democratic National Chairman, and Miss Dorothy Williams would be married in London to-morrow. Miss Williams is a sister to Mrs. Joseph Leiter and has been prominent in Washington society.

The McCombs-Williams romance began in this city shortly after President Wilson's inauguration, when the couple met at a dinner.

Not even her closest friends in Washington knew that when Miss Williams left the capital a month ago to sail around the world as one of a party on her brother-in-law, Joseph Leiter's, yacht, that the climax of the love romance awaited her before the close of the globe was a quarter made. Perhaps Miss Williams herself did not know.

At any rate, when Mrs. Leiter and her pretty sister appeared in Paris a short time ago the Chairman of the National Committee was seen in Miss Williams's company often. The wedding, begun in Washington, was swift and the announcement of the engagement followed.

The happy pair will spend their honeymoon, it is said, aboard the yacht and finish the cruise with the party.

Miss Williams is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. John R. Williams. She made her debut into Washington society five years ago and has been a main favorite there since.

Mr. McCombs has been abroad since almost immediately after election setting a rest. He is the most prominent possibility for Ambassador to France to succeed Mr. E. Herrick. The chairman has also declined the place, but reconsidered at President Wilson's personal request, and since he has been abroad the post has been held open for him, with the general understanding in official circles that he eventually would accept it when he got his business affairs and law practice in condition for his abroad board. Mr. McCombs is a bachelor.

Does anybody know anything about Magistrate House's shirt? Magistrate House was sitting in the Yorkville Police Court today and the song of the shirt was heard throughout the session.

Much soiled linen has been aired and washed in the Yorkville Police Court, but never was there anything like this. Maurice Patz, twenty-six years old, was charged with having embezzled a dollar from Mrs. Bertha Eckert of No. 1428 Lexington avenue. Maurice bolted up the dumb waiter and asked Mrs. Eckert if she wanted any beer today. She hollered down that she did not, but would send down a dollar for the beer she had last week. Maurice took the dollar and his departure. He was chased and caught as he was about to board a Third avenue car.

"Ask him if he knows any of his profession who has some shirts that don't belong to him?" said Magistrate House.

"He says he doesn't," returned the Assistant District Attorney.

"He is held in $50 bail."

His Honor the Magistrate went out on election day with a new boiled shirt. He had other shirts at home. It was the day on which the laundryman called for his Honor's soiled linen. Somebody called and got the shirts. Somebody comes to making a splash with linen. Magistrate House has all the other occupants of the bench in the police court looking like Tammany the morning after.

So, it may be imagined that the man who didn't bring out "soiled" shirts in the morning is being sent the outrage. He is angry of his loss when the regular laundryman came after the laundry.

"This morning to a pretty party," said His Honor, "when men stoop as low as to soiling the shirt of a man's back."

"They don't do that," said the Assistant District Attorney.

"Well, they might have."

THE WORLD TRAVEL BUREAU, Arcade, Palace Hotel Building, 2015 Broadway, N. Y. City. Excursions to all parts of the world. Rates and conditions on application. Telephone 1000.

Believe Jacob Schiff Gave Half Million to Commerce College

Donor of Big Gift Has Thus Far Kept His Identity a Secret.

Announcement was made today by Mortimer L. Schiff, Chairman of the Committee on Commercial Education of the Chamber of Commerce, of the gift of $500,000 to be used in erecting and equipping a college of commerce on the site of the old College of the City of New York, at Twenty-third street and Lexington avenue.

Mr. Schiff announced that for the time being the donor, whose identity is concealed, and speculation which started immediately among the members present, was centered on Mr. Schiff's father, Jacob H. Schiff.

"Why, my son, won't tell even me the name of our benefactor," declared Mr. Schiff when he was asked if he had discovered the fund, but it was only in this way that he would say the report.

Contributions of $50,000 each had been made already for the projected college, and the donor of the $500,000 made the stipulation that these other donors release their subscriptions for the establishment of a museum of commerce and a club to be maintained in connection with the new college.

MISS DOROTHY WILLIAMS

W.F. McCOMBS

POOR JUDGE HOUSE! SOMEBODY STOLE ALL HIS NICE NEW SHIRTS

He's 'Boiling' With Rage, 'Blue' With Anger and 'Wringing' Hands in Wild Despair.

Excited Would-Be Borrower at Pier, With Tin Watch Security, Rebuffed.

A young man rushed up on deck of the Kronprinzessin Cecilie shortly before she sailed this morning from the Hudson pier. He wanted to see Herman Metz, who had just got through running for Comptroller and who was then on his way to Europe. The young man found the steward who had charge of Mr. Metz's room and baggage. He said he must see Mr. Metz and handed a card to the steward reading as follows:

"Herbert Jay Collins, Grand Rapids and New York."

"I must have 150 marks," he explained to the steward. "Here, let me have it, and you can keep my watch until I see Mr. Metz."

He produced a Tin Trust timepiece as big as a sea biscuit, and the steward's eyes glistened. He said that he didn't have the money, but told Herbert Jay Collins, Grand Rapids and New York, Detective Zerkow, and New York City Police Officer Keady, who were on duty in the room.

"I don't know you!" said the steward. "Metz, I might have been a user during the campaign, but I ain't got 150 marks by even the Fustoni's figures."

"Take him away!" said the steward. "This morning I saw Keady of the Hudson police conveyed Herbert Jay Collins to the station house, where he said that he was Harry Campbell of No. 11 West One Hundred and Tenth street."

"That must be near the Harlem river, in Central Park," said Detective Zerkow to Keady.

"They put him in a cell and took away his alarm clock, saying that they would call him when it was time to get up."

THE WORLD TRAVEL BUREAU, Arcade, Palace Hotel Building, 2015 Broadway, N. Y. City. Excursions to all parts of the world. Rates and conditions on application. Telephone 1000.

Believe Jacob Schiff Gave Half Million to Commerce College

Donor of Big Gift Has Thus Far Kept His Identity a Secret.

M'GUIRE GAVE $2,500 TO HENNESSY TO HAND TO GOVERNOR SULZER

Governor Had Sent for Him Before His Impeachment, Said He Needed Money Badly, Hennessy Was After Him for It.

BEFORE NOMINATION GAVE SULZER $500 IN BATHROOM

Hennessy Told Him Sulzer Wanted Him (Hennessy) to Get After Mack and His Contributions.

George H. McGuire of Syracuse, who was the first witness called this afternoon when the John Doe proceedings were resumed before Chief Magistrate McAdoo in the Criminal Courts Building, testified that he had voluntarily contributed $500 to William Sulzer's campaign fund, handing him the money in a bathroom. Later, he said, when the impeachment proceedings were instituted against the Governor, Sulzer asked him for $2,500 because Hennessy needed the money, which later in an envelope he handed, he says, to Hennessy.

John A. Hennessy, who has been in Albany looking up further evidence in support of his "black book," was in the room.

Mr. McGuire said he was in the bond-line business in Syracuse. District-Attorney Whitman obtained from the witness that his company had done a large business in bonding persons and companies working on contracts for the State. The United States Guaranty Fidelity and Casualty Company, which Mr. McGuire represented, he said, had written three or four bonds for contractors doing work on the barge canal.

"You have practically control of this sort of bonding?" Mr. Whitman asked.

"Well, we've done far more than all the other companies combined in canal work bonding," the witness replied. "We started to issue bonds back in 1871, when the first contract for the barge canal was let."

"Do you know Mr. John A. Hennessy?"

"Yes, I met him first in January of this year. I cannot recall whether I had a conversation with him then or not."

"What was the first conversation you had with him?"

"I can't remember what it was not when" GAVE SULZER $500 IN BILLS IN THE BATHROOM.

"Did you ever know William Sulzer?"

"Yes, I saw him in a hotel in Syracuse at the time he was nominated for Governor."

"Did you ever have any dealing of any kind with him at that time?"

Mr. Whitman's question brought a protest from Mr. McGuire, who said: "I'd rather not answer that."

But Magistrate McAdoo instructed him that he must answer.

"Well," the witness said, "I saw Mr. Sulzer the day after his nomination and after congratulating him I said that I'd like to make a contribution to his campaign."

"How much was this contribution?"

"Five hundred dollars."

"Did you give it to him?"

"Yes, in cash. I went up to his room and he took me into the bathroom and there I gave him $500 in bills."

Mr. Whitman then asked Mr. McGuire if he had had any subsequent meetings with Mr. Sulzer.

"Yes, I met him in Washington during the inauguration ceremonies there. Mr. Sulzer said to me that he wanted to make me his private secretary, but I told him the salary was not enough to tempt me."

"I was making a good income at the time. I told Mr. Sulzer that I appreciated his kindness, but I must decline. I assured him that I'd be as friendly as possible in any way, but that I did not want the place."

The witness said that he had never had public office of any kind. Only

REPUBLICANS FAIL TO CONTROL ASSEMBLY; HAVE ONLY 74 VOTES

Boss Barnes Admits That Bull Moosers and Democrats Combined Have a Majority.

After a careful compilation of election returns from all over the State, William Barnes regrettably announces that the Republicans do not control the Assembly. They lack two votes of a majority. The Republican leader's returns show that 74 straight-out Republicans have been elected, at Democrat, 24 Bull Moose and 11 Bull Moose endorsed by the Democrats.

If the Bull Moose and the Bull Moose Democrats should unite with the Democrats the combination might elect the Speaker of the House. If the Bull Moose should hold aloof the Democrats and Republicans would have to form some alliance to elect a Speaker and control the House.

But Mr. Barnes does not despair. He is resourceful, and may have hopes of inducing two Democrats to the Republican way of thinking. He says that he wants to have a real direct primary law passed at the next session.

LULU GLASER SICK.

Actress Suffering Attack of Peritonitis—Stricken in California.

OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 4.—Lulu Glaser, the actress, is seriously ill of peritonitis and her engagements at Stockton, Sacramento and Los Angeles will probably be canceled this afternoon.

The actress collapsed during her vaudeville performance here last Friday, but the news was suppressed until today. The doctors say she will probably recover.

Fisherman Is Drowned.

Capt. Matthew Brown of the fishing schooner Elk anchored in the Marine Basin at Bath Beach this afternoon and reported to the police the drowning last night of Bernhard Iverson, a fisherman of his crew, who lived at No. 72 Hubbard street, Brooklyn. Iverson had tried to shift anchor while the Elk was off Ellis Island last night and had gone overboard, caught in the painter.