SIGNAL LIGHT SHOWS SAILOR'S FACE AS HE DROWNS IN MID-OCEAN

Freighter, Swept by Gale for Days, Brings Story of Sea Tragedy.

The British steamer Mountfield, Capt. Robert Dwiggin, from Plymouth, Eng., went to her pier at Black Tom, N. J., this morning. Her salt stained funnel and ice sheathed deck gave mute evidence of the storms that delayed her ten days.

On Jan. 29, in latitude 39.13 north and longitude 45 degrees west, far south from the regular ship's lane, the worst of the storm was encountered. The wind was shrieking at the rate of ninety miles an hour. Each giant comb threatened to engulf her. In the darkness of the night one terrific wall of green, white fringed water rose high in the path of the ship, broke over her bow and crashed down upon the steel deck.

MISS VANDERBILT RALLIES QUICKLY AFTER OPERATION

Surgeons who operated on Miss Grace Vanderbilt, fifteen years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, for appendicitis yesterday are astonished by the unusual recuperative powers their patient displays this morning.

A vigorous outdoor life, with long canters in Central Park every afternoon, have equipped the girl with a physique which rallied immediately from the shock of the operation. It will be difficult, the doctors say, to keep her in bed the requisite time for the wound to heal.

Miss Vanderbilt became suddenly ill yesterday in school. She was taken to her home, at No. 67 Fifth avenue, where Dr. Joseph A. Blake, Dr. Hugh Auchincloss, Dr. Austin Flint and Dr. Samuel Lambert were called into consultation. Their diagnosis was acute inflammation of the appendix, and because of the patient's robust condition it was not thought best to defer the operation, which was performed by Dr. Blake and Dr. Auchincloss.

Mrs. Vanderbilt has attended many children's parties this season. Two years ago she was awarded first prize for the best sand fort constructed on Children's Day on the beach at Trouville.

Her mother, who recently returned from Europe, was at her daughter's bedside when she emerged from the anesthetic. Miss Vanderbilt quickly fell into a natural sleep after the operation and spent last night restfully.
