MADAME CAILLAUX IN COURT SAYS SHE SHOT CALMETTE FOR HER HUSBAND'S SAKE

Weeps as She Declares She Always Shared His Cares and Pleasures in Politics.

ATTACKS AROUSED HER.

Took Revenge After Two Years of "Abominable Campaign Directed Against Him."

PARIS, March 21.—Mme. Caillaux was arraigned in court today charged with having shot and killed editor Calmette of the Figaro. She was taken from the jail to the law courts in a taxicab preceded and followed by other taxis containing policemen. She wore a black dress and hat and as she descended from the cab hid her face with a large fur muff.

The journey of the prisoner was kept as secret as possible and few of the public were aware of it. The inquiry began immediately.

Mme. Caillaux gave briefly the history of her married life. She said:

"I always took great interest in the public life of my husband, sharing the pleasures and the cares of politics. The prisoner's recital was suspended temporarily when she burst into a fit of sobbing. On resuming her testimony, she said:

"For two years an abominable campaign was directed against my husband, who was attacked on every occasion, notably on the charge that he had secretly ceded a portion of the French Congo to Germany and in connection with the Agadir incident in Morocco.

"I was deeply grieved by these calumnies, which became particularly venomous at the time of the formation of the Doumergue Cabinet. The feeling of hostility I noticed especially at receptions. My indignation was aroused because I had implicit faith in my husband's probity."

Madame Caillaux, answering questions of her counsel, Maitre Labori, said she had married Leo Claretie in 1894 and by him had two girl children, one of whom was dead and the other, Germaine, fifteen years old, was still living. She declared a divorce in her favor was obtained against Claretie in 1908 and that she married Caillaux in 1911.

"That was a true love match," she told the Magistrate. "Our fortunes were equal and both of us were independent."

Mme. Caillaux wept when she mentioned her babies and her love for Caillaux.

Mme. Caillaux to-day had one of the longest calling lists in Paris. Her friends and acquaintances having partly recovered from the shock caused by her act, are now showing their interest in her fate, and hundreds of them have written to her or left cards at the gate of Saint Lazare Prison, where she is in custody.

The woman whose deed almost wrecked the French Cabinet this morning received a big batch of letters as well as great bouquets of flowers, baskets of fruit and books.

Mme. Caillaux passed the greater part of the forenoon in answering her correspondence, reading the newspapers and conversing with her husband, the former Minister of Finance, and her little daughter.

The sharp watchfulness of the prison wardens and the attendant nuns which had been called forth by rumors of the prisoner's intention to commit suicide has now relaxed. Mme. Caillaux gives no indication of being morbid or depressed. She now has three calls, one of them serving as a bedroom, another as a dining room and a third as a workroom. All open into the same corridor, which is floored by a finely meshed wire netting.

OSBORN LAUNCHES GLYNN'S BOOM FOR THE GOVERNORSHIP

Hails Him as Leader and Forecasts Nomination as Party's Candidate Next Fall.

MURPHY KEEPS SILENT.

Governor Asks for Big Vote on the Calling of Constitutional Convention.

ALBANY, March 21.—Almost the entire membership of the newly organized Democratic State Committee was present to-day when William Church Osborn called the body to order for the first time since he was named chairman.

Charles F. Murphy held numerous conferences with leaders, but persisted in the statement that he was here solely to discharge his duty as a committeeman. Mr. Osborn opened the meeting with a brief speech.

Osborn declared Gov. Glynn the leader of the party in this State and gave every indication that the present Chief Executive would be the Democratic nominee for Governor next fall.

"More than two-thirds of the Democratic voters of this State are represented here," said Osborn, speaking before the joint meeting of county chairmen and the State Committee. "What a magnificent tribute to Gov. Glynn, who is leading us this year to victory."

"What a sound and brilliant speech," declared Osborn, after Gov. Glynn concluded his address. "Very good," was the only comment Murphy made.

"We have got to fight," continued Osborn. "We've got the jump to-day on Republican organization in this State on the question of a Constitutional Convention. That organization is in the position of standing pat. The recent vote in the Assembly for a repeal was a stand pat vote."

"That party attempted to make some arrangement with the Progressives on this question. If the Progressives in the Assembly do not de-

BILL IN CONGRESS TO IMPEACH WRIGHT

Following Dismissal of One Complaint, Action Is Again Asked Against Washington Justice.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—A resolution to impeach Justice Daniel T. Wright of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia was introduced in the House to-day by Representative Park, Democrat, of Georgia, and referred to the judiciary committee to decide what action shall be taken. The committee recently dismissed an uncorroborated charge similar to those contained in the Park resolution, which allege the Justice was guilty of improprieties on the bench and in private life.

TORREON BATTLE OPENED BY VILLA WITH 12,000 MEN

War Office at Mexico City Told Rebels Are Attacking Federals Near City.

MEXICO CITY, March 21.—That heavy fighting at Torreon between the Federals and Villa's advance army began this afternoon was reported here in telegrams to the War Office. The news came from Gen. Refugio Velasco, in command of the Federal forces. He said the engagement had begun when his dispatches were sent and that the enemy were in sight of the town.

CONSTITUTIONALIST HEADQUARTERS, YERMO, DURANGO, Mex., March 21.—Gen. Pancho Villa with his 12,000 rebel soldiers to-day was prepared to hurl the first shell into the trenches around Torreon of the resisting Federal army under Gen. Refugio Velasco in what is considered the most important battle of the Constitutional revolution.

Full of confidence, Villa has transmitted his energy to his subordinates, and the camp at Yermo presented a scene which never had marked a revolutionary movement in Mexico. The men soldiered hurried here and there, giving final touches to the establishment of the rebels' plans opening assault.

The beginning of the day saw the rebel army stationed on the outskirts of the Federal stronghold, a position they had gained without resistance and with scarcely the sound of a shot to check their preparations for an assault. Within Torreon all was comparatively quiet and none of the rebel camp knew what preparations Gen. Velasco was making to repel the attack of the revolutionists.

Speculation as to when the battle will begin was rife to-day among the soldiers and civilians who had followed the rebel leader south from Chihuahua, but Villa answered all inquiries with the vaunt that "Torreon will be mine in a week."

EL PASO, Tex., March 21.—A brief despatch received early to-day from an American correspondent, with Francisco Villa's Constitutional Army at Torreon, stated that the advance guard of the rebel forces was at Yermo, sixty-five miles north of Torreon. Another despatch was received by the Constitutionalists infor-

BUFFALO CHARTER VETOED.

Mayor Finds Flaws—Doesn't Oppose Commission Bill.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 21.—Mayor Louis P. Fichman announced to-day his veto of the Buffalo Charter Referendum bill, recently passed by both Houses of the State Legislature. The mayor bases his veto on alleged defects in the bill and not upon objections to the commission form of government itself.

The city was not committed by the bill, but the charter was merely submitted to the people this fall for a referendum vote.

The Mayor holds that the question should be submitted at a special election in order to get a reliable expression.

CADWALADER WILL GIVE $100,000 TO PUBLIC LIBRARY

Bronx Zoo Gets $20,000, Princeton $25,000—Art Works to Museum.

By the will of John L. Cadwalader which was filed to-day in the Surrogate's Court, a number of bequests have been made to the public institutions with which he was connected.

Princeton University gets $25,000 as an endowment for the preceptorial system for the undergraduates.

Originally by the will $25,000 was given to the New York Public Library of which he was the president, but by the codicil the gift was successively increased to $50,000 and later to $100,000 for the purpose of enlarging the print collection and increasing the salaries of employees in the reference department. With respect to the prints, he expresses a preference that the expenditure should not be made for modern prints.

He also gave to the New York Public Library his collection of prints which is noteworthy.

RELICS FOR METROPOLITAN MUSEUM.

To the Metropolitan Museum of Art, with which he was long associated as a trustee, he bequeathed his collection of Chinese and European porcelain, all Japanese, Chinese and other bronzes in his house, which the museum may select, certain antique furniture, a marble bust by Cerraci of Gen. Washington, now in the museum on loan, and a bronze bust of Paul Jones.

He also makes a bequest of $20,000 to the museum, to be applied to the increase of the collection of English furniture and of English and European porcelain.

The New York Zoological Society, in charge of the zoological gardens at Bronx Park, of which Mr. Cadwalader was Vice-President, gets $20,000, the income to be used in the purchase of animals. To Harvard University is given $20,000 as a fund for the purchase of books for the law school.

MONEY FOR RELATIVES AND FRIENDS.

To the Alumni Association of Harvard Law School of New York City, of which he had been President, is given $5,000.

Among the gifts to relatives and friends are the following: $50,000 to his brother-in-law, Dr. S. West Mitchell, who died about a month before him, $20,000 to Mrs. Max Farrand, wife of Professor Farrand, who was Miss Beatrix Jones; $20,000 to Edward J. Haney, one of the executors; $10,000 to Mrs. Frank D. Miller; $10,000 to Dr. John C. Billings, who had been the director of the New York Public Library, as a remembrance; $10,000 to Sarah B. Cadwalader, daughter of John Cadwalader of Philadelphia; $5,000 each to Antonio Ferns De Navarro and Mary De Navarro.

Liberal provisions are made for servants and for those who were associated with him in the law firm of Strong and Cadwalader, of which he had been a member for many years.

The bulk of the estate is disposed of to his sister, Mary C. Mitchell, who died a short time before him, and for the benefit of his brother, Richard B. Cadwalader, of Philadelphia, the latter's children, Mrs. John Hope, and Mrs. Honora's daughter, the executors of the will are Edward J. Haney and Francis Smyth, both long associated with Mr. Cadwalader.

Track Walker Killed by Train. His vision obstructed by a bag of bolts upon his shoulder, John Minotti, a track-walker of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, was run over and killed to-day by a westbound New York, Westchester, and Boston electric train at St. Ann's avenue and the Harlem River. Minotti, who was thirty-two years old, lived at No. 109 St. Ann's avenue.

TROOPS SURROUND CITY OF BELFAST AS CIVIL WAR MENACES

While Government Posts Big Forces and Fighting Ships for Action, Orangemen Await Rocket Signal That Will Mean Clash.

ARMY MUTINY THREATENS; MORE OFFICERS RESIGN

King George, Facing Irish Crisis, Acts to Avert Threatened Revolt—Excitement Increases.

BELFAST, Ireland, March 21.—Within twenty-four hours over 3,000 regular troops, including four battalions of infantry with machine guns and two batteries of field artillery, all equipped for active service, have arrived in the various towns of Ulster. These troops form the advance guard of a large armed force which the military authorities are sending to the northern province of Ireland to attempt to prevent the assumption of local government by anti-home rulers.

Still more troops were on their way to the north from the great military camp at the Curragh and from other army stations to-day. The first arrivals in Ulster this morning were the companies of a half battalion of the Yorkshire Light Infantry, which were conveyed from their barracks in Dublin to Belfast Lough on board the torpedo boat destroyer Pathfinder during the night. They disembarked at an early hour and marched to Carrickfergus Castle, a disused military station commanding the Lough.

MUTINY OF TROOPS IN BELFAST REPORTED

London Hears That Two Companies Have Thrown Down Their Arms and Refused to Fight Ulster Men.

LONDON, March 21.—A mutiny of two companies of the Dorsetshire Regiment, stationed in Belfast, is reported by the Pall Mall Gazette.

According to the Pall Mall Gazette's message, when the men of the first battalion of the Dorsetshire Regiment were paraded in Belfast to-day and notified that they were being transferred elsewhere they threw down their arms. A sergeant stepped forward, saluted the officers and said: "We will have no Home Rule here."

This is thought in some quarters to be an exaggerated version of the reports of unrest among the regular troops in Ulster.

OFFICERS MUST DECLARE THEMSELVES WITHIN 12 HOURS.

ENNISKILLEN, Ireland, March 21.—All the army officers here received a communication from the War Office to-day calling on them to make a definite statement within twelve hours as to whether they were prepared to retain their commissions in the event of hostilities in Ulster. If not, they were told they must resign forthwith.

Similar notices are said to have been received by all officers with the troops in the North of Ireland.

Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, and his lieutenants desire the Government to take the first provocative step. Sir Edward, realizing the vitalness of preventing an undisciplined outbreak as a prelude against all these troop movements, to-day again urged the Government to keep cool during the week-end, and his advice up till this afternoon had been admirably obeyed.

The city this morning presented its normal outward aspect. All the places of business were open, and in accordance with the urgent request of the Unionist leaders all the men worked until their usual Saturday closing time.

It lies fifteen miles below Belfast and is of historic interest, owing to its having been the landing place of William of Orange. Field guns were mounted on the old fortifications there this afternoon.

Orders were issued to other battalions of artillery to occupy strategic positions around the city of Belfast. It was generally expected here that a cavalry brigade would be concentrated in Belfast during the week-end. The Sixteenth Queen's Lancers and the Fourth Queen's Own Hussars stationed at the Curragh were yesterday equipped with carbines and were ready to move northward this afternoon.

GUARD AGAINST RIOTING BY IDLE THROUGHS.

These sudden preparations by the War Office so far have not created any public demonstration in Belfast. The leaders of the so-called Ulster Provisional Government, however, admit their anxiety lest their over-enthusiastic followers precipitate riots during the two days of idleness at the week-end and give their opponents the sought-for opportunity for enforcing rigorous repressive measures.
