

GIRL ASKED TO CHOOSE BETWEEN HER MOTHER AND HER GODFATHER

Court Helps Helen Ukers Decide, Despite Her Wishes, in Mother's Favor.

In obedience to a writ of habeas corpus obtained by her mother, Gladys Wright Ukers, a writer of moving picture plays living in the Fowler Apartments at No. 400 Riverside Drive, fourteen-year-old Helen Winmore Ukers appeared in the Supreme Court before Justice Weeks today, there to decide whether she preferred to live with her mother in a moderately furnished home or remain in the luxurious apartments of her godfather, Robert S. Winmore, wealthy member of the stock brokerage firm of John H. Davis & Co., No. 10 Wall street.

Helen's appearance in court was the climax to a dispute that had arisen between Mrs. Ukers, her divorced husband, William H. Ukers of No. 21 Gramercy Park, who owns the Tea and Coffee Trade Journal, No. 79 William street, and Robert S. Winmore. When the divorce was awarded to Mrs. Ukers in 1910 she also obtained the custody of the child. To give her daughter an education Mrs. Ukers signed an agreement with Winmore whereby he was to pay for Helen's education and maintenance. The child was to make her home with him.

Helen, at her own desire, was sent to Katherine Tingley's Theosophical School at San Diego, Cal. Early this year she returned to New York and was sent to St. Faith's School at Saratoga Springs.

When, according to the papers in the case, Winmore said that Helen could only be communicated with through him, the mother saw only one alternative—a writ of habeas corpus—and this she obtained yesterday.

Before responding to the writ, Helen had George Thoms, an attorney of No. 3 Rector street, appointed her guardian ad litem and in papers filed to-day she announced that she intended to apply in the Supreme Court for an injunction restraining her mother from interfering with her schooling.

"Come up here, Helen," said Justice Weeks, and the girl walked briskly to the judge's desk, where she talked with him for five minutes.

"I think," said the Justice after listening to Helen's story, "that Mrs. Ukers ought to let her daughter go to the little party that she has arranged as a finish to her Easter vacation and then she can take the girl."

"I am perfectly willing to do that," sobbed Mrs. Ukers, "if these people will let me have her after that. They have been keeping her whereabouts a secret from me and if they can I think they intend to keep her from me always."

Mrs. Ukers cried bitterly until the Justice said that no one could take her child from her.

Turning to Helen the Justice asked her if the arrangement would be all right.

"Oh, yes," said the girl indifferently, and she walked back to her mother's side. When they met the girl only clasped her mother's hand, but made no attempt to kiss her. As they were leaving the court-room together Helen said goodbye to her godfather and his friends.

FEAR STEAMER IS LOST WITH CREW OF 65 MEN

Wreckage at Sea Believed From the Sealing Vessel Kite, Last Seen a Month Ago.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., April 15.—Fear that the Kite, the smallest steamer in the sealing fleet has met with disaster, was increased to-day when the sealing steamer Eagle, in radio message reported sighting wreckage 170 miles off here last Thursday evening. Owing to stormy weather the Eagle was unable to pick up the float. It is now believed that the wreckage and that sighted on Saturday by the sealer Bloodhound, did not come from the missing steamer Southern Cross.

The last seen of the Kite, which carried a crew of 65, was on March 15, when she was sighted by the sealer Banner, which arrived yesterday, 150 miles off St. Johns. Although she was a staunch vessel, the fact that she had not been seen for a month, despite the search that has been made, has occasioned alarm, especially in view of the recent disaster to the sealing fleet.

DEER JUMPS OFF PALISADES.

Seized by Forest Fire and Killed by 500-Foot Fall.

The forest fires which have been lighting the Palisades opposite Yonkers since last Saturday night hemmed in last night a fine buck deer which had either escaped from one of the larger fires to the north or had been driven from its natural haunts by hunters violating the game laws.

Men from Crosskill, Glaston, Donarct, Tarrytown and other northern valley villages and towns had been called out to fight the fires and to save the many fine summer houses on the Palisades. Some of them saw the buck leap across a road and become cut off by the flames. One of them later saw the deer leap in the air at the edge of the Palisades and shoot downward more than 500 feet below.

2 EARLY DOWNTOWN FIRES.

Two incendiary fires early this morning called for quick work by the Fire Department. At No. 195 Worth street, in a three story tenement, the contents of a three ounce bottle of kerosene was emptied on the staircase, but the blaze was put out immediately by the tenants.

At No. 43 Walker street in a building occupied by the toy factory of H. Fleischman & Co. flames were discovered by the policeman on post and extinguished by the firemen with little damage. Both fires are being investigated by the Fire Marshal.

Drug Clerk Tells How To Cure Indigestion

Recommends to Sufferers the Best Stomach Remedy in New York Today.

"It is a wonder some of us have stomachs left," remarked a well-known drug clerk recently. "While all drug stores sell a score or more of stomach remedies, which is a wide demand, most of them are just pepin pills which digest the food that is in the stomach at the time. They have no curative or strengthening effect on the stomach at all, and of course do not reach or cure the cause. No the same people keep on coming here and buying and using them until they are real chronic dyspeptics. When any one really asks my advice, I swear by and recommend ordinary bismuth magnesia, which doesn't digest the food at all, but just acts as an antacid and sweetens the sour, fermenting contents of the stomach. That stops the pain, heart-burn, sour flatulency, wind, bloating, fulness, etc., in just a few minutes, and the stomach digests its food without help or trouble, which is the proper way."

"Doctors make mistakes sometimes, but I never saw a doctor who didn't have all kinds of trouble with his stomach for his patient. He bought and used several styles of digestive pills, but never really got along, as naturally he would, in trying to cure the stomach. He finally reached her to death by telling her she had cancer of the stomach. She died in just a few minutes, and the stomach digests its food without help or trouble, which is the proper way."
