

SOCIOLOGICAL STUDENTS SLEEP IN MILLS HOTEL

101 Yale Men Visit New York for Inspection of City's Places of Unusual Interest.

Studying American social conditions one hundred and one Yale students are today visiting points of interest in New York. Under the leadership of Prof. William B. Bailey the students slept last night in Mills Hotel No. 3, Seventh Avenue and Thirty-sixth Street, and this morning started on a tour of the city.

The first place visited was the Morgue, in East Twenty-sixth Street. From there the students were taken to Blackwell's Island, Ward's Island and other public institutions. On the programme for the evening was a visit to Chinatown.

For to-morrow the programme includes visits to the University Settlement, Educational Alliance and Ellis Island. The students will again sleep in the Mills Hotel to-night and will return to New Haven Friday evening.

"Safety first" as applied to the correct fitting of glasses. It is because we pay such careful personal attention to our eye examinations that Harris Eyeglass Service is of so high a standard.

Our Oculists have the experience which comes as a result of examining thousands of eyes each year.

Safety first in eye examination is our watchword.

Harris Glasses (if glasses are required) are priced as low as safety in production permits—$2.00 or more.
