

and the stenographer, Miss Winter's relatives tried to break off the relationship, but Reese's family appeared to have been different.

When Miss Winter had not appeared at home on the night of June 4, or at the office where she was employed in this city on the morning of June 5, her mother telephoned to Reese. At least she claims she telephoned Reese on that Friday morning—she says he did not telephone until Saturday. At any rate, she called him, and the time of that call is likely to be a considerable figure in the case's progress.

Reese says he told Mrs. Winter he had not seen Ella since about 9 o'clock Thursday night, when she started for home from a landing in Flood's Park on Curtis Bay, about a square from a street car line which would take her almost to her door. He had been out for a motor boat ride with Ella, he said, and she had started home in a driving rain.

Mrs. Winter agrees that Reese's report of the telephone conversation is correct. Now comes the important point as to the time of the conversation.

Reese says he did not hear of the disappearance of Miss Winter until Saturday morning, twenty-four hours after he says he told her he was going to sell the boat. Reese has stated that Reese discharged him Sunday morning.

"I discharged him right there," said Reese. "I told him I was tired of his careless habits and I was going to sell the boat anyhow."

"Why were you going to sell the boat?" he was asked.

"You don't think I'd keep it after this horrible affair, do you?" was the answer.

CARRANZA ENVOYS WON'T BE RECEIVED AT PEACE MEETING

Mediators and Delegates Angered by Dictatorial Policy of Mexican "First Chief."

LITTLE HOPE HELD OUT.

Washington Trying to Get Insurgent Leader to Agree to Peace Terms.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 12.—The A B C mediators will not officially admit to the peace conference here the representatives Gen. Carranza has announced he will send. The South American diplomats said they could not recede from their original condition, demanding an armistice.

The mediators would have no objection if a conference could be held between the Huerta delegates, the Carranza delegates and the Americans. In fact, such a suggestion has been under consideration for some time, so that if an agreement could be reached between these three parties at interest, the mediators would finally admit all to the signing of a protocol.

It is considered possible that the Carranza delegates might be informed received here and their argument heard as to why an armistice cannot be declared. The influence of the American delegates to obtain at least a hearing for the Constitutionists may be brought to bear on the situation.

Despite Carranza's official announcement that he will send representatives, neither the mediators nor the peace delegates are very hopeful of quick success of mediation. Carranza's dictatorial attitude in refusing to send delegates when first asked, in refusing to agree to an armistice, and in refusing to submit to mediation the internal disputes in Mexico, which the mediators declare must be settled, has angered the mediators and the Mexican delegates almost to the breaking point.

Although President Wilson has demanded that any provisional President selected to succeed Huerta must be C. O. G. by Carranza, and although the rebel chief has had all the best of the terms so far agreed upon, he still holds aloof in a manner so dictatorial as to make the mediators bitter.

A. B. C. COUNTRIES WILL NOT RECOGNIZE CARRANZA.

It is known that if peace terms are agreed upon here by the Americans and Mexicans and if Carranza still persists in making war in Mexico, he will never be recognized by Argentina, Brazil or Chile.

From now on, the mediators, Mexican and American delegates will hold two sessions daily. A full conference was scheduled for this afternoon.

The chief agreement reached thus far has been that a provisional government shall be established to succeed Huerta; that it shall be composed of a President and four cabinet members with equal responsibility and on a division, the President shall cast the deciding vote. The manner in which this government is to be selected has not been decided. The Americans demand that Huerta shall not be permitted to name his successor, as required by the Mexican constitution, even if he does agree to select a man named by Carranza. It is argued that to permit Huerta to do this would be to recognize him and make legal all his acts as Provisional President, a condition to which America will not agree.

REBEL ARMY BEGINS ITS FINAL ASSAULT UPON MAZATLAN

ON BOARD U. S. S. CALIFORNIA, MAZATLAN, Mexico, June 11 (Via Wireless to San Diego, Cal., June 12).—The Constitutional army, under Gen. Obregon, began to-day its first concentrated general assault on the Federal fortifications at Mazatlan, commanded by Gen. Rodriguez. The battle raged all day and although the besieged garrison held its positions, it lost heavily in killed and wounded.

Coroner Hemphill of Anne Arundel County at the request of the dead girl's brothers reopened the case, and Drs. Brooks and Horton held an autopsy.

They found that there was no water in the girl's lungs. This established that she was either unconscious or dead before she was thrown or fell into the water. They also found that she had a deep three-inch-long gash on the right side of the skull, the mark of a blow sufficiently violent to have rendered her unconscious.

These revelations aroused the police authorities, and for the first time an active effort was started to solve the mystery of the girl's death. Rice, the negro cook, was arrested on the advice of members of the Winter family. They are sure that he knows how she came to her death and that he will tell in time.

the warning whistle to begin jockeying for the start. Vanitie came down on Resolute's weather quarter, but Skipper Adams quickly wore ship and stood away. This move was quickly followed by Vanitie and the two racers were working almost as one boat. Manoeuvring under the committee boat, Vanitie lost her weather position.

Resolute kept working steadily to weather of Vanitie and had increased her lead to about thirty seconds at 11:20 o'clock. As in yesterday's race, the headsails of Vanitie were at times starved of wind.

To-day's race was the last until June 23, when the candidates for the honor of defending the America's Cup against Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger Shamrock IV, will meet under the auspices of the Indian Harbor Yacht Club of Greenwich, Conn.

When the wind had quickened to fifteen knots Resolute not only pointed higher but appeared to foot along a trifle faster than Vanitie, which seems to develop her best sailing qualities in light airs. The Resolute at this time was about a minute ahead of her rival and she rounded the first mark at 12:30, three minutes and nine seconds ahead of Vanitie. Resolute rounded the second mark at 12:38; Vanitie followed at 12:47.

NEW FRENCH CABINET FALLS ON FIRST VOTE

Ribot's Plan for Military Service and a Loan of $180,000,000 Falls.

PARIS, June 12.—The new French Cabinet, of which Senator Ribot was Premier, was defeated to-day in the first division taken in the new Chamber of Deputies by a vote of 306 to 282.

Ribot, having held office for one day only, resigned immediately after his defeat in the Chamber.

The Premier had announced that he would favor a loan of $180,000,000 and a three-year military service. Opposition to his programme was so strong that he could not carry his project through.

WILSON DECLARES PEACE PROGRESS IS "ENCOURAGING."

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The White House to-day officially announced the Mexican situation as "very encouraging." Following a conference with the President, Secretary Tumulty said:

"The President authorizes me to say that the Mexican situation, so far as mediation is concerned, is very encouraging. The outlook is very good."

Further than this Secretary Tumulty would not go. He let it be known, however, that the President has received official word that Carranza is to participate in mediation.

It is understood Justice Lamar let the President know to-day that real progress is already being made on the terms of the peace protocol.

President Wilson to-day issued the following executive order:

"Whereas the clearance of vessels fall within the jurisdiction of the Department of Commerce, it is hereby ordered that instructions to customs officers concerning the exportation of arms and munitions of war to Mexico by sea shall be given by that department. Similar instructions concerning such exportations by land shall be issued by the Treasury Department."

No explanation of the order was made, but it was recalled that the recent clearance of the liner Antilla from New York for Tampico with arms for the Constitutionists was described as a "misconstruction of orders" and it developed that there was conflict of authority between the two departments.

RECRUIT POLICEMAN SHOOTS TO DEATH, FLEEING BURGLAR

"Coke Fiend" Runs When Told He Is Wanted and Is Killed.

HAD ROBBED WOMAN.

Second Bullet From Patrolman's Gun Enters Leg of Boy Bystander.

Aaron Hirsch, according to the police a "coke" fiend, a burglar with a long record and a general all-around crook, who preyed on married women, seeking their friendship and then blackmailing them by threats of making false accusations to their husbands, was shot and killed to-day by Policeman Joseph Wallace, a "rookie" attached to the East Fifty-first street station.

The bullet, according to the policeman, was fired only to frighten the man and was aimed at the sidewalk, from which it ricocheted, killing Hirsch. A second bullet, aimed also at the sidewalk, rebounded into the right leg of fourteen-year-old Frank Gettwald, an errand boy of No. 1888 Avenue A.

The home of Mrs. Hattie Gross at No. 237 East One Hundred and Forty-fourth street was entered yesterday while she was visiting Mrs. Bertha Zorn at No. 411 East Fifty-sixth street, and $45 in cash and two new dresses were stolen. When she got home she was told by neighbors that a "big man in a brown suit and a Panama hat" had loitered about the house. Mrs. Gross recognized Hirsch from the description and suspected him.

Fifteen years ago August Zorn, husband of Mrs. Gross's friend, had met Hirsch and the men became friends. Gross, too, met him and liked him and he was a frequent visitor at the homes of the Grosses and the Zorns until they discovered his character and the fact that he had been in jail frequently.

Then they forbade him their homes, but recently he had appealed both to Mrs. Zorn and to Mrs. Gross for aid, admitting that he was only just out of prison and was penniless. Both declined to have anything to do with him.

Mrs. Gross carried her suspicions to Detective Enright of the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street station, to whom she gave a good description of Hirsch. Hirsch, apparently learned of this, for this morning Mrs. Zorn received a postal card which read:

"Meet me at 11 o'clock Friday at Fifty-seventh street and Second avenue. Good news. Mrs. Gross."

Mrs. Zorn recognized the writing as that of Hirsch and not of her friend. Having learned of the robbery from Mrs. Gross, she suspected that Hirsch himself would keep the appointment, probably to beg her to persuade Mrs. Gross to drop the case against him.

So she went to the East Fifty-first street station, where Wallace was provided with a Rogues' Gallery portrait of Hirsch and directed to accompany the woman. They stood on the corner till Mrs. Zorn saw Hirsch approaching and Wallace ducked into a doorway.

Hirsch had just spoken to Mrs. Zorn when Wallace stepped out and clutched his arm, saying:

"Aaron Hirsch, I want you for burglary."

Hirsch jerked away and reached toward his hip pocket. Afterward it developed that he had no revolver, but Wallace, taking no chances, fired at the ground. Hirsch, who fell at the first shot, picked himself up and staggered a few feet while he drew papers from a pocket and tore them up, falling on them so that his blood made them almost illegible. The police are trying to decipher them.

Young Gettwald was taken to Flower Hospital by Dr. Bergen, who said he was not much hurt.

TENEMENT COLLECTOR ROBBED BY FOOTPAD

Crowd Sees Crime, but None Offers to Aid Miss Ingram.

As Miss Artha Ingram, collector for the Suburban Homes, known as the Phipps Model Tenements, approached her office at No. 243 East Thirty-first street this afternoon a man snatched her handbag, containing $150, and ran back into the hallway at No. 345 and disappeared. In wrestling the handbag from her, he pushed Miss Ingram against an iron railing and she fell to the street.

The theft was committed in a crowded street, but none offered to lend any aid to the young woman.

SHIP PISSER OTTO WEEPS IN HIS JOY, HE HAS HIS EDWINA!

Phantom Pursuit of His Bride and Over Seas Ends—He Catches Up at Last.

There is joy in Hoboken. Otto is back!

Otto? Who is Otto? He is Otto Van Warpf, the hat blocker of Danbury, Conn., the honeymooner of Holland, the miser of ships, the new Sindbad of the Sea. He is the husband of pretty former Fraulien Edwina Haariven, the sweetheart of his youth, whom he went home to wed in Rotterdam.

The Uranium liner Campanello arrived this morning from Rotterdam and with her came Otto. All lovers of romance have followed the strange misadventures of Otto and his bride for several months. No movie picture of merit ever portrayed with honesty and sincerity such a record of mixups. Otto made enough money as a blocker of hats in Danbury, Conn., to return to his native land and marry Edwina. They shipped for this country on their honeymoon and beautiful skies and sun-kissed seas followed them all the way to Halifax.

Otto went ashore in Halifax and the boat sailed without him. Almost frantic, the groom threw himself on a train bound for New York, as he thought, and awakened in Quebec. He found that his bride, thinking herself deserted, had sailed for Rotterdam on the Prinsesse. He rushed to Hoboken to board the boat and to follow his wife only to find that the Prinsesse had changed her sailing time and that he was nine hours late. Agony was his for several days until the North German Lloyd liner Prinz Frederich Wilhelm was ready to sail for Bremen.

He was on board the liner several hours before her sailing time, but his friends invited him to while away the intervening time in the Hoboken House and he was there at 10 o'clock when warned by the whistle of the Prinz that she was casting off her lines. It was a terrible chase for the pier, but Otto was dragged and pushed and finally landed on the steamer, which had been delayed by her mails. In the midst of the cheerful goodbyes of his friends Otto's brother rushed down the pier waving a cablegram in his hand.

It was a wireless from Edwina from the deep blue sea. The message bade him wait, saying that she would return.

But Otto was on his way. The brideless groom was bound for Rotterdam for the second time within two months. And the bride—

When Edwina reached Rotterdam on the Principello and told her relatives of the treatment she had received on her to forsake an unworthy a swain. She let the Principello depart without her. Then she got sorry and borrowed money from a dear old uncle and hastened to Hamburg and caught the Hamburg-American liner George Washington.

She arrived here on last Monday, expecting to fling herself into the arms of the elusive Otto. But there was no Otto and the grief of the bride knew no limit. Then she got indignant and declared that if her missing spouse did not show up in a week she would go back to Holland and divorce him.

So this morning Otto came back on the Campanello. And there was nobody on the pier to meet him. It was not enough to melt Holland cheese, and yet Otto was cold as "September Morn" in January. A stevedore saw the forlorn creature on the pier and hastened to spread the news to the Hoboken House.

Soon there came a crowd of Otto's old brother revellers dancing about him like a corps of bachelors. They rushed Otto to the Hoboken House and between schnapps told of the return of the faithful Edwina. Otto was happy again.

"Edwina!" cried the hero of many a marine and marital mishap. "Oh, Otto!" shouted Edwina, and they mixed it.

TO IMPEACH U.S. JUDGE.

Formal Charges Made Against Dayton of West Virginia.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—In a resolution charging U. S. District Judge Alston G. Dayton of West Virginia with "conduct unbecomingly dishonorable in office," Representative Neely of that State to-day formally impeached the Judge in the House and asked an investigation of his activities on the bench.

Neely requested the appointment of a sub-committee of the Judiciary Committee to conduct the probe.

He then charged the Judge with "having unlawfully conspired with certain corporations and individuals to bring about the removal of former Judge John J. Jackson in order that he (Dayton) might be appointed to the vacancy in the office."

Antilla's Cargo Delivered to Rebels. TAMPEICO, Mexico, June 11, via Laredo, Tex., June 12.—The steamship Antilla from New York to-day discharged her cargo of ammunition for the Constitutionists, sixteen hundred cases of ammunition and two airplanes were sent to the rebels. They were dispatched on a special train.

KING IS GUARDED AS "FURIES" FIRE ANOTHER CHURCH

Three Lights Set by Arson Squad at St. Margaret's in Chipstead.

LONDON, June 12.—While the guard around King George was being doubled to-day as a result of the effort to destroy the coronation chair in Westminster Abbey determined attempt was made by the furries to burn the ancient church of St. Margaret's, at Chipstead, about fourteen miles to the southeast of London. Three fires, fed by freights, composed of squares of felt saturated with oil, were set by the "arson squad."

The rector, the Rev. William H. Stone, and the villagers were soon on the scene and were able to extinguish the flames before much damage had been done to the church, which dates from the twelfth century.

Expressions of anger at the vandalism of the "furries" were more vehement than ever to-day among the general public, which was roused to a state of intense excitement by the details of yesterday's attempt to blow up the historic coronation stone and chair in Westminster Abbey.

The police to-day raided a private house in Kensington where the "wild women" established their headquarters after their offices in Westminster had been invaded and closed a few days ago. Great quantities of papers were seized by the police, but no arrests were made.

5,000 GIRL PUPILS SEE MRS. MITCHEL HOIST FLAG

Washington Irving Students Celebrate Birthday of Old Glory.

Twelve red-headed girl mascots of Washington Irving School acted as escorts and maids of honor to Mrs. John Purroy Mitchell to-day when she hoisted the flag over the school building in Irving place. The occasion was in celebration of the one hundred and thirty-seventh anniversary of the official designation of the flag of the United States. The twelve red-headed mascots also acted as police-women and likewise "Ared" a Colonial salute of thirteen guns to Old Glory.

Of course the girls did not touch fire to any dangerous explosive. They merely mimicked the cannon's boom with their mouths thirteen times in unison.

"Quick drill!" orders were given shortly after 12 o'clock and in five minutes the five thousand girls were on the street in front of the building. Mrs. Mitchell hoisted the flag to the top of the staff on the roof of the building.

BANK ROBBERS USED HOOKED CANE ON BILLS

Newark Paying Teller, However, Outwits Them and Recovers Money.

Three well dressed men attempted to rob the paying teller's cage of the Broad and Market Bank at No. 800 Broad street, Newark, N. J., this afternoon. They were noticed by the paying teller, Edward Schmidt, acting in a suspicious manner. He stepped to the rear of his cage and called to the cashier, Charles W. Lent. As he turned his back he saw a bundle of ten dollar bills being thrust into a satchel. He leaped for the bundle and grabbed it. The three men fled. The men had thrust a long cane with a hook on it through the window and drew the package toward it.

Easy Row for Crimson Crews.

RED TOP, Conn., June 12.—Work for the Harvard oarsmen was again light to-day because of rain. The variety and freshman eights had a two mile row during which they went short stretches at a high stroke. The object was practice in starting. The Henley eight covered three miles at an easy stroke.

CANAL TOLLS BILL AND AMENDMENT PASSED BY HOUSE

Measure Gets 216 Votes to 71 Against and Is Sent to President.

DEBATE IS VERY SHORT.

Members Say Amendment Passed by the Senate Will Have Little Effect.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Without the formality of a conference, the House to-day, by a vote of 216 to 71, accepted the Senate's amendment to the repeal of the Panama tolls exemption and sent the bill to President Wilson.

Twenty Democrats voted against the Administration on the Senate amendment: Brockson, Broussard, Conry, Detrick, Donohue, Driscoll, Dupre, Estopinal, Fitzgerald, Gallivan, Harrison, Kitchin, Lee of Pennsylvania; Mitchell, O'Leary, O'Shaunessy, Patten, Phelan, Baker, Reilly.

When the measure came up Chairman Adamson of the commerce committee, in charge of the bill, moved that the House concur with the amendments instead of sending it to conference.

"The Senate amendment," he said, "should be acceptable to all advocates of uniform tolls. It is appropriate that the statement contained in the amendment should be made and promulgated in connection with the repeal bill itself—it is nothing but the truth and substantially the same declaration has been made by us on the floor of the House and elsewhere many times."

Representative Adamson's motion was not objected to, and debate was limited by agreement to after a brief half hour, Representative Murdock declared he believed the President would veto the bill as amended.
