WILSON REFUSES PARDON APPEAL OF 20 'DYNAMITERS' CONVICTED IN LABOR PLOT

Only Four of Those Who Asked for Clemency Have Their Sentences Commuted.

RYAN GOES TO PRISON

Head of Bridge Workers and
Other Leaders Off to Leavenworth To-morrow.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—President Wilson to-day denied applications for pardons of the responsible former heads and agents of the International Bridge and Iron Workers Union convicted in the dynamite conspiracy cases. The President commuted, to expire at once, the sentences of four defendants, Michael J. H. Hannon of Scranton, Pa.; Frank K. Painter of Omaha; Fred J. Mooney of Duluth, Minn., and William Shupe of Chicago.

The President agreed to consider an application for executive clemency on receipt of separate petitions of John H. Barry and Paul A. Morrin, both of St. Louis. In the meantime Barry and Morrin will begin serving their sentences.

The other defendants out on bail must go to the Federal Penitentiary at Leavenworth to-morrow. These include former President Frank M. Ryan of the union.

Hannon had been sentenced to three years; Painter to two; Mooney and Shupe each got a year and a day. Barry got four years and Morrin three. Those whose applications for clemency were finally denied and the terms they must serve are as follows:

Frank M. Ryan, head of the Iron Workers, Chicago, seven years.
Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco, six years.
Michael J. Young, Boston, six years.
Frank C. Webb, New York, six years.
Philip A. Cooley, New Orleans, six years.
John T. Butler, Buffalo, N. Y., six years.
Charles N. Beum, Minneapolis, three years.
Henry W. Legleitner, Pittsburgh, three years.
Ernest G. W. Basesy, Indianapolis, Ind., three years.
J. E. Munsey, Salt Lake City, six years.
Peter J. Smith, Cleveland, four years.
Murray L. Pennell, Springfield, Ill., three years.
W. Bart Brown, Kansas City, three years.
Edward Smythe, Peoria, Ill., three years.
George Anderson, Cleveland, three years.
Frank J. Higgins, Boston, two years.
Michael J. Cunnane, Philadelphia, three years.
William E. Riddin, Milwaukee, three years.

No memorandum was given out accompanying the President's action, as sometimes is done in such cases, but it was understood the President followed closely the recommendations of Attorney-General McReynolds. The four men whose sentences were commuted had a minor part in the conspiracy, the Government charged.

The twenty-four men who applied for pardon were convicted of conspiracy and the transportation of dynamite in interstate commerce for the wrecking of buildings and other structures in a labor war between the Structural Iron Workers' organization and the employers. The noted case grew directly out of the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times

COLLISIONS IN BAY, DUE TO DENSE FOG, PUT 1,500 IN PANIC

Ferryboat Red Bank Rams
Taurus and Schooner Hits
the Point Comfort.

ALL SHIPPING SUFFERS.

Swift Lusitania, Outward
Bound, Anchors all Night
Off Staten Island.

One of the worst fogs in many months which covered the harbor with an impenetrable pall of gray, caused two collisions to-day and held many vessels at anchor, their commanders fearful of proceeding into a mist which concealed from their bridges even the forward works of their own vessels. The ferryboat Red Bank of the Central Railroad of New Jersey ramm'd the iron steamship Taurus in the North River off Liberty street, shortly before 8 o'clock; in the bay the schooner Samuel P. Bowers crashed into the steamship Point Comfort; the Municipal ferry Bronx drifted helplessly around for a few minutes with a broken rudder chain; the Cunarder Lusitania dropped anchor off Stapleton, unwilling to risk a start to sea, and several incoming liners stayed outside Sandy Hook waiting for the fog to lift.

The revenue cutter with Customs men aboard and the Immigrant with the Ellis Island officials, though due to leave Quarantine at 6 o'clock, stayed by their piers until after 9 o'clock, when a hot sun partially burned the mist away.

HARBOR A BEDLAM OF WHISTLES AND BELLS.

The fog was an unlooked for as it was heavy. It is past the season when the harbor should be shut in by mist, but daylight revealed a gray blanket of dampness in which Niles, the aviator, might have circled over New York as often as he wished without danger of a rebuke from the Aero Club. The harbor was a bedlam of shrill whistles and bells. Ferryboats fairly crept along their course, and all shipping that had not to run on fixed schedules dropped hooks into the harbor bottom and waited impatiently for the fog to lift.

The Taurus was making her way slowly down the river toward Pier 1, where she was to take on a load of fishermen for a day's sport off Barnegat. Capt. M. B. Allen was going at half-speed and keeping his whistle blowing. He was off Liberty street, in a mist so thick that he could not see his own bow, when he heard a ferryboat leaving the slip. At the same time he heard the Red Bank coming in.

ZACATECAS FALLS AFTER BIG BATTLE, TAMPICO REPORTS

Rebels Said to Have Captured
3,000,000 Rounds of Ammunition Landed From Ypiranga.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Zacatecas fell into the hands of the Constitutionalists last Friday—June 19—after hard fighting, according to word received here from a high authority in Tampico. San Luis Potosi is expected to fall in several days. Another big battle is imminent at Queretare, according to this dispatch.

Further advices in the same dispatch from Tampico were that Gen. Aguilla, commandant of the Constitutional port of Tuxpan, had succeeded in intercepting three million rounds of ammunition landed by the German vessel Ypiranga at Puerto Mexico several weeks ago for delivery to Huerta and is making use of this ammunition to wage war against the Federals.

Believing that the capture of San Luis Potosi is only a few days off, the railroad is being repaired in an effort to cut off the retreat of the Federals. Gen. Natero with a large force of Constitutionalists is attempting to reach Aguas Calientes, further to block the Federal retreat to Mexico City. Many trainloads

PROMISE AID TO REDMOND.

Supporters Here of Irish Cause Say
Money Needed Will Be Sent.

PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—In reply to a cablegram received two days ago from John E. Redmond, the Irish leader, Michael J. Ryan, president of the United Irish League of America, to-day called for moral and financial support. Mr. Ryan's cablegram read: "National committee meeting July 16. All money needed forthcoming. Liberty-loving America practically unanimous in approval of our leadership. They consented tonight to twentieth century spirit and defeat certain. This is era of awakened democracy."

'FURIES' DESTROY MAIL.

In New Outbreak They Pour Acid Into London Letter-Boxes.

LONDON, June 24.—Another outbreak of the "furies" to-day took the form of pouring acid in letter-boxes. Three postal "pillar-boxes" were thus treated, a mass of correspondence being damaged.

The use of acid in destroying mail was resorted to largely by the raiding "furies" until some months ago, when that form of campaigning was abandoned.

APOLOGY TO WILSON FROM THE GOLFER WHO 'CUSSED' HIM

President Replies That He Was Within His Rights According to Rules of the Game.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The story of how President Wilson, golfing on a local green, sent a ball whizzing near another golfer's head, and how the other fellow roundly "cussed" the President of the United States, and then in the chagrin and confusion made profuse apologies, had a sequel to-day when President Wilson and the other golfer exchanged letters, one an abject apology and the other an acknowledgment coupled with a firm declaration from the President that he was within his rights under the rules of the game.

Managers of the club were expecting to take some action against the "cussing" member when he wrote his apology. Local golf clubs compete keenly for the President's game on their greens; he probably will not visit one of them again.

RICH WOMAN TELLS TWO STORIES OF THE KILLING OF OFFICIAL

Mrs. Angle First Says Councilman
Ballou of Stamford Left Her Apartments in Good Spirits, Then Says He Fell on Stairs.

ADMITS SHE CARRIED HIM DYING TO STREET

Insisted That She Wanted to Avoid a Scandal and Tried to Wipe Out Stains on Steps.

Special from a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.
STAMFORD, Conn., June 24.—The eagerness of the people of this city to learn just how City Councilman Ballou, sixty-three years old, director of the Varuna Spring Water Company and Republican leader, came to be found dying in front of the door of the dwelling of one of the best known and most beautiful women of Stamford was doomed to disappointment to-day.

Mrs. Helen Angle, daughter of Leonard Blondell, a retired contractor and coal yard owner, had promised to tell Coroner Phelan all she knew of Ballou's death at the inquest this afternoon.

But after a careful photographic and draughtsman's record had been made of the trail of crimson footprints leading from Mrs. Angle's door to the sidewalk, where Ballou was found dying, the inquest was adjourned until 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. Judge Finch, counsel to Mrs. Angle, said his client was too nervous to go through the ordeal of giving testimony, and that she wanted to talk with her father, who is hurrying here from his country place in Maine, before deciding how much of her story must be given to the world in her effort to clear herself of blame.

Mrs. Angle is a stately brunette, known both in Connecticut and New York for her remarkable soprano voice and deep interest in civic and social organizations, is forty years old. Ballou was twenty-three years her senior and a man of quiet and heretofore unquestioned behavior.

TELLS TWO STORIES OF THE KILLING.

At first Mrs. Angle insisted that Ballou had left her temporary quarters at 10 o'clock last night under commonplace circumstances. Later, she gave out, through her counsel, a different story.

"I found him at the foot of the stairs," Mrs. Angle said, according to this version, "I was afraid it would compromise me if he were found dead in the building, so I picked him up in my arms—he was not a heavy man—and carried him out to the sidewalk. I ran up to my rooms and found I had his hat in my hands. I hid that, and then I got a cloth and tried to wipe up some of the blood stains."

At 8 o'clock last night Mrs. Angle called Ballou on the telephone at the home of E. Paul Guernsey, manager of the Varuna Spring Water Company, with whom Ballou lived. Soon after the telephone conversation Ballou was seen to enter the building in front of which he was later found dying.

"Have you found any weapon with which Ballou's skull could have been fractured?" Chief Brennan was asked just before he went into the inquest.

"We have found a broken whiskey bottle," the Chief replied. He refused to tell where the bottle was found. Mrs. Frank Eagle of No. 474 Main street was subpoenaed as a witness at the inquest. Mrs. Angle telephoned her at 10 o'clock last night and talked for twenty minutes about her husband's death.
