LEACH CROSS EXPECTS TO DEFEAT RIVERS.

CARDINALS VISIT THE GIANTS TO-DAY.

R. Edgren's COLUMN

No New York Promoter Would Have Thought of Matching Young Ahearn With Gunboat Smith.

THESE days that Gunboat Smith is matched with Young Ahearn in England, to fight in two weeks, seems like a joke. Young Ahearn was just a fairly clever boxer when in this country. He did fight well occasionally and was always trying when he thought he had a chance. When he wasn't so confident he could run faster than any scared rabbit.

Ahearn was born in England and began fighting here when he landed in New York from the steamer on which he worked. He was a light-weight but grew into a welter. After four or five fights he gave up the custom trips and devoted all of his time to teaching. He was a tall, lathy fellow with a very quick eye and a bank of being somewhere else when the other fellow swung at him.

It seems almost a shame that such a splendid and promising youngster as Carpenter should have to get out among the bullets. However, I predict that if we ever hear of Carpenter again it will be in an account of his excellent work in the front lines of the French army.

Johnson was generally known that Jack Johnson had military experience. He served for a time in the United States Army, down in Texas.

ROAMER WINS TRAVERS STAKES, BREAKING RECORD

Best Three-Year-Old Races 1 1/4 Miles in 2:04—Regret Takes Special.

SARATOGA RACE TRACK, NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Andrew Miller's Roamer again demonstrated his superiority over the best three-year-olds of the year when he won the historic Travers Stakes here this afternoon by ten lengths in the new track record time of 2:04 flat. The old mark was 2:04 1/2, made by Dandelion back in 1904.

Roamer stepped to the front at the start and never relinquished the lead. Surprising staggered in second after following Roamer from start to finish. He lay within two lengths of Roamer to the far turn, but when Butwell let Roamer down it became no contest. He drew away with ridiculous ease and just galloped home.

SECOND RACE. Lysander won the North American Steeplechase, but he needed everything to put the English jumper Marcellinus out of the way. The latter was a contender all the way, while Lysander, the favorite, lay off the pace.

FOURTH RACE. Harry Payne Whitney's Regret, an added starter, won the Saratoga special, but it was a lucky victory. Pobbles, the second horse, was left at the post, and before the first sixteenth had been covered she was absolutely last.

SARATOGA ENTRIES. SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 5.—The official entries for Monday's races are as follows.

Greenwich Village will be interested to know that Maurice McDonald, the Riley Granon of that section, is rolling high. Just a little quart is the very frequent remark addressed to the Grand Union walkers by Maurice these nights.

DULUTH OARSMEN FAVORITES FOR BIG RACE ON SCHUYLKILL

Crews Coached by Jim Ten Eyck Jr. Sweep River in Opening Day's Programme.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5.—In the first day's races of the forty-second annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen Duluth, coached by Jim Ten Eyck Jr., a former winning Syracuse varsity stroke and son of the present Syracuse rowing mentor, swept the river, Duluth won the intermediate double sculls, the senior international four-oared shells and the intermediate eight-oared shells.

In two of these events Argonaut of Toronto was palpably inferior to Duluth. Thus the odds have changed and Duluth is favorite for the big race to-day.

Young Ten Eyck has taught his men a scientific stroke. It is quite long at each end, there is a quick start on the recover and a slow stop at the slides. The catch at the beginning of the stroke does not seem to be prominent, but the leg drive and the hard finish of the hands into the body are most admirably and strongly done.

The senior international four-oared race was the feature event of the day. Five crews faced the starter. They were Argonaut of Toronto, Duluth, University Barge of Philadelphia, Western Rowing Club of St. Louis and Potomac of Washington. It was a beautiful race. All of the crews got away together to a good start and it was a see-saw race for a furlong. Then the Duluth crew, the little holder, began to forge ahead and shot out being thereafter out of danger. Duluth finished an even length ahead, rowing in remarkably good form; University Barge Club was second, beating Argonaut by a couple of feet.

Both heats of the quarter-mile dash were won by the Canadians. Dibble and Butler. Dibble won his race hands down. Dibble got the jump on the start, Pearce of Nonpareil being a safe second. Butler had a harder task in his heat and was just able to beat out Noer of the Detroit Club. Dibble should win the final in the quarter to-day. Dibble's time was 1 minute 28 seconds and Butler's was 1 minute 28 1/2 seconds.

Smith and Kelly of the Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia had a leisurely row in winning the senior double scull championship. They won by three lengths over the Rapid of Toronto and Cambridge, Mass. Quinn and Shepherd of the Harlem Rowing Club were last. Time, 7 minutes 46 seconds.

Never before in the history of rowing on the Schuylkill have so many eight-oared crews gone abreast as faced the starter in the intermediate eight-oared shell event. The crews were Duluth, the Rapid of Toronto, Argonaut, Illinois Valley, Grand Rapids, Detroit, Vesper of Philadelphia, and Annapolis of Washington.

Duluth won the final in the quarter to-day, Dibble's time was 1 minute 28 seconds and Butler's was 1 minute 28 1/2 seconds.
