SIX GERMAN RAIDERS HURLED BOMBS FROM AIRSHIPS ON ENGLISH TOWNS

22 DEPUTIES ARE THRUST INTO JERSEY JAIL CHARGED WITH SHOOTING STRIKERS

Men Unable to Get $3,000 Bail Each When Arrested for Manslaughter.

MAY STAY IN CELLS.

Company Says County Will Have to Furnish Bond for Its Deputies.

Warrants for the arrest on charges of manslaughter of twenty-two of the "deputies" of the Williams & Clark and Liebig chemical plants in Roosevelt Borough, N. J., known to have participated in the volley firing upon strikers yesterday afternoon, were issued at noon to-day by Justice Sedam of New Brunswick, on the application of District Attorney Edwin Florence of Middlesex County. County Detective Ferguson and Justice of the Peace Sedam motored over from New Brunswick to the chemical works and picked out the twenty-two men named in the warrants. They were taken back to New Brunswick by train and there Sedam, sitting as a Justice, held each of them in bail of $3,000 for the Grand Jury.

"We certainly do not intend to furnish bail," said Superintendent Hossman of the Williams & Clark Works. "The County hired the men as deputies and the County can furnish bail if it wants to."

There was no indication that Middlesex County intended to put $60,000 bail for the "deputies," and the probability is that they will stay in jail until action is taken by the Grand Jury.

Mayor Joseph A. Hermann of the town of Chrome, who was actively engaged in running down evidence for the District Attorney, said after the warrants had been issued: "I will see that every man named is caught and forced to stand trial for manslaughter. Their act was a cold-blooded attempt at wholesale murder."

Mayor Hermann declared that he was going to force the settlement of the trouble between the strikers and their employers to an issue. He said he had been asked by a committee of strikers to intervene with their employers for an adjustment of their differences through arbitration. "I had 150 of the strikers searched for arms directly after the shooting," he declared, "and not a single weapon was found on any one of them."

That Gov. Fielder of New Jersey is considering the contingency of calling out State troops to handle the strike situation at the chemical works in Roosevelt Borough, complicated yesterday by the slaying of one man and wounding of fifty more by armed deputies, was indicated to-day by the presence in Roosevelt of two representatives of the State Executive.

FRANCIS SAYRE, NAME OF WHITE HOUSE BABY

Final Decision to Call Him After Father—Wilson Likely to Be Godfather.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Francis will be the name of President Wilson's grandson, the child of Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, who was born at the White House Sunday. The announcement was made to-day by Mr. Sayre. Some of the family wanted to call the baby Woodrow Wilson Sayre or Woodrow Sayre, but the President thought the child should have an individuality of his own.

No date has been set for the christening, but it probably will be held in the White House. President Wilson probably will be the godfather.

Both Mrs. Sayre and the baby continued to progress favorably to-day.

BANK WRECKER SULLIVAN MAY BE FREED IN MARCH

Cropsey's Notice of Other Indictments Against Him Probably Prevented Release at Once.

ALBANY, Jan. 20.—Following the session of the State Parole Board at Sing Sing yesterday, David A. Sullivan, the Brooklyn bank wrecker, may be released any day after March 1. Superintendent of Prisons Riley said to-day.

"Sullivan's request for release was based principally on the assertion that if at liberty he could assist materially in the liquidation of the Union Bank."

BIG ALARM FOR LITTLE BLAZE TIES UP TRAFFIC

Much Ado About Next to Nothing in Fire Line Excites Lower Broadway.

Somebody threw a match or a cigarette butt into a packing case in front of No. 27 Mercer Street at 1 o'clock this afternoon and set fire to a pile of excelsior. Somebody else ran out of the building with a pail of water and extinguished the blaze.

But, in the mean time, industrious citizens had turned in fire alarms from Broadway and Great Jones Street, Broadway and Bleeker Street and Bleeker and Greene Streets. In response thereto, Deputy Chief Langford, two battalion chiefs, four high-pressure engine companies, two trucks, water tower and two automobile fire patrol trucks (invaded the neighborhood).

This occurred at a time when traffic in the vicinity was thickest and the situation was complicated by the fact that Broadway is badly torn up by subway work. A relay of traffic policemen worked like beavers for half an hour after the fire apparatus left to get things moving again on Broadway and across town.

Investigation on behalf of the commission.

TAR SAILS A TAXI, AND-Y'HEAVE, HO—SHE BOWLS AWAY!

But She Runs Sternwise Instead of Straightwise, Soon Luffing on Broadway

A deep-sea sailor was shipwrecked on the shoals of Broadway at two bells this morning, and was chucked into the booby hatch at the West Side Police Court in Irons. First they thought he had too much rum aboard and then they thought the lights of Broadway had made him crazy. Now they don't know what to do about him.

He is Eugene Cucucunoo, of the Austrian-American liner Martha Washington. He was cruising around the capes near Broadway and Fifty-first Street when he spied a taxicab unmoored and her engines snorting and straining in front of a garage. He climbed aboard and took the helm. He must have stepped on something vital, for the vessel shot backward.

There was a wild cry of a sailor in distress and Henry Einwohner of No. 1001 Kelly Street, the Bronx, a peace loving chauffeur, stuck his head out of the garage where he had gone to get some gasoline. He saw his taxi shooting backward down Broadway. The chauffeur ran into the street, shouting and waving his arms.

The taxi careened and performed a sharp left oblique. Then it swerved and started to box the compass, bumping around in a circle. Autos and trolley cars stopped, and the deep sea salt had the choppy sea all to himself. Policeman Fleming came running up, but just then the taxi did another backward slide and almost ran over the cop. The latter jumped for his life and tried to seize the gunwales.

But the navigator caught wildly at a lever and the taxi shot forward. It sped up the street at a sixteen-knot gait, swerving and sliding and doing unexpected gymnastics. The cop and the chauffeur in wild pursuit finally came alongside and each leaped to the running board on opposite sides. The chauffeur wrenched the wheel from the frightened sailor's grasp and brought the boat to a stop. The cop dragged Eugene out of the seat and rushed him up the gang-plank of a patrol wagon that steamed up just then.

They took him to the quarterdeck in the West Side Court this morning and the Magisterial skipper looked him over. Policeman Fleming testified that Eugene was not intoxicated but unquestionably was guilty of disorderly conduct.

"Disorderly conduct!" exclaimed the Magistrate, "why, that tar is crazy!"

So they charged the deep sea sailor with insanity, but when he was brought back again the Magistrate decided he didn't act like a nut and switched the charge back to disorderly conduct. Eugene was placed under $100 bail until some one from the Martha Washington comes in to solve the mystery of the deep sea sailor's running jag.

HAEFFNER BABY, LEFT IN STREET, DIED FROM COLD

18-Months-Old Infant Abandoned in Storm a Victim of Exposure.

PARENTS ARE ARRESTED.

Children's Society Agent Discovers Tragic Record in Foundling Asylum.

The eighteen-months-old child of Frederick and Jeanette Haeffner, abandoned by its father in a hallway during a rain storm on the night of Nov. 15 last, died on Dec. 10 in the Nursery and Child's Hospital of bronchial pneumonia, the result of exposure.

As soon as an agent of the Children's Society discovered this fact to-day in the records of the institution to which the abandoned baby had been taken, Superintendent Ernest Coulter of the Society, conferring with District Attorney Perkins and was by him advised to lodge a criminal charge against the Haeffners, father and mother alike, in the Yorkville Court.

Mr. Coulter immediately caused the arrest of the Haeffners and they were arraigned in the Yorkville Court on the charge of abandonment. Haeffner protested violently against his arrest, saying he had been promised immunity from prosecution when he came forward yesterday and claimed as his own the two children, Richard and Jimmie, whom the Haeffners left in front of Gimble's store on Saturday afternoon. Superintendent Coulter answered that the consistent falsifying done by Haeffner and his wife had relieved the Children's Society from responsibility for the promise given.

Both the Haeffners, Frederick and Jeanette, pleaded guilty to the charge of abandonment when arraigned before Magistrate Freschi in Yorkville Court and went to cells in default of the $5,000 bail apiece.

According to the records in the police station and hospital, "an unknown child" was found by Policeman Fempel of the East Fifty-first (Continued on Tenth Page.)

STATE BUREAU HEADS IN FEAR OF WHITMAN?

Friends of Comptroller Travis Say They Do Not Know When Legislation Will Be Aimed at Them.

(Special to The Evening World.)

ALBANY, Jan. 20.—According to friends of Comptroller Travis there is discontent among fouled heads of State Departments because they fear executive encroachment from Gov. Whitman. They do not know, it is said, when legislation may be presented by the Governor reorganizing and stripping their departments, as has been done in the Comptroller's office in the Tax Reform Bill.

Saw Vessel Flooding Bottom Up. The Southern Pacific steamer El Alba, which left New York yesterday for Galveston, reported by wireless to-day that she had sighted the wreck of a vessel floating bottom up 120 miles east of the entrance to Chesapeake Bay. The message said the name of the wrecked vessel could not be ascertained.

Brakeman Killed in the Bronx. George Lawler, a brakeman of No. 142 Willis Avenue, the Bronx, was killed to-day when a car from which he was signalling jolted as it struck a switch in the railroad yards at the foot of 81st Ann's Avenue. He was thrown from the roof and run over.

Opera Singer and Musical Star, Who, Rialto Hears, Are Engaged

INA CLAIRE ENGAGED TO BARITONE SCOTT, IS BROADWAY RUMOR

Musical Comedy Star's Mother Nearly Admits It—But, Goodness' Sake, Don't Print It!

Is Baritone Scott going to marry beautiful Ina Claire? That is the talk on Broadway. There are whispers of it in grand opera circles. There is mystery about it in the home of the very popular young leading lady of "Lady Luxur."

Antonio Scotti has been the baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company for fifteen years. He is fifty years old, but is as well preserved in figure as in voice. Never has he ceased being a matinee idol. Miss Claire has been on the stage six years. She is now twenty.

Miss Claire left "Lady Luxur" a week ago. The management said she was going to take a rest. Others said she had other offers. Then came the whisper that Cupid was going to manage her. The charming young woman who made "The Quaker Girl" a success at the Park Theatre three years ago lives with her mother in an apartment at the Wyoming, at Seventh Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street.

Yes, Miss Claire was in, her mother said to-day, but could not be seen. Was she going to marry Antonio Scotti? Why, the—why—why, no. No, of course not. Mr. Scotti was a very dear friend. Oh, yes; yes, indeed! But engaged—why, who said that?

In the centre of the drawing room, reposing on an easel, was a large photograph of Scotti inscribed: "To mamma from Antonio."

"Of course, Miss Claire denies her engagement," said Mrs. Claire. "I wish you wouldn't say anything about it in the papers. At least not for the present."

"Yes, the announcement of the engagement will be made in proper time—if there is any engagement." Up to the time Miss Claire left the "Lady Luxur" company, Scotti, it is said, escorted her home each night.

DREAD OF A NEW RAID BY GERMAN AIR CRAFT SPREADS IN LONDON

All England Is in a Rage at the Aviators Who Killed Men, Women and Children in Eight Towns on the Eastern Coast.

ENGLAND REJOICES OVER ESCAPE OF KING AND QUEEN

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The daring and destructive German airship raid on eight towns a little more than one hundred miles from London last night and the narrow escape of the King and Queen has shocked all England. But the prevailing feeling to-day is one of indignation and resentment over the ruthlessness of the foe in killing non-combatants, including women and children.

FLIES AEROPLANE UNDER BRIDGES TO SING SING AND BACK

Sperry Makes Long and Daring Flight to Test New Stabilizer.

In a navy test of the Sperry gyroscopic stabilizer young Lawrence Sperry, with Allen R. Hawley, President of the Aero Club, as his passenger, made a spectacular flight this afternoon in a Curtiss flying boat from the Navy Yard basin in Brooklyn to Oostin and back. In his flight he visited the Lower Bay, circled around the French Lese steamship Rochambeau as it was passing down the ship lane, and chased a flock of ducks down the Hudson.

Lieut. Saufley of the Naval Aerial Squad was on hand at the Navy Yard to watch the beginning and end of the flight, when Sperry tuned up his big hydro-aeroplane, with the stabilizing gyroscopes attached to the engine. The machine, skittered on the surface of the river under Manhattan Bridge, rose into the air below Brooklyn Bridge and made a wide circle of the bay over Governor's Island. Then it returned, topping both Brooklyn and Manhattan Bridges and diving again to the water.

"The gyroscopes," he assured her, "were the same," he assured her. She looked at her kilties and almost fainted.

"Jamey," she exclaimed, "ye canna wear those through the streets! Ye'd be arrested!"

Jamey swore he wouldn't take them off. He refused, too, to pay for a taxi. The street cars, he said, were good enough for him. His aunt began arguing with the cheeld.

"Nae, awntie, 't would be sae wicked to waste the money," burred Jamey when Mrs. Summerfield blushingly pleaded that they take a taxicab. But she finally won her point, and it was in a taxi they departed.

Ball Furnished in Passport Case. Walter Mueller, one of the German Germans arrested on the Scandinavian ship Hengenford, accused of complicity in a plot to buy and sell fraudulent United States passports, was admitted to $5,000 bail to-day by United States Commissioner C. S. Houghton in the Federal Court.
