

Do you see equally well with "both" eyes?

Our experience of sixteen years shows that in nine people out of ten the sight of one eye differs from that of the other.

This is but one of many reasons why you should only wear glasses made upon the prescription of an OCUList (Registered Eye Physician) for YOUR special eyesight needs.

Harris Glasses include the double services of a skilled Oculist and a practical Optician. Due to the magnitude of our business and our systematic organization, we furnish you with perfect-fitting glasses made for your special eyesight requirements for from $2.00 and upward.

AMERICAN IN THE TRENCHES TELLS HOW GERMAN SPIES PAY PENALTY FOR THE CAUSE

One French Woman Sold Out Her Country and Was Caught—Collie Dog Courier Betrayed Man in Foreign Legion.

Following is the fifth of a series of articles by Phil Rader, a correspondent, who since the war's outbreak has been serving with the world-famous Foreign Legion of the French army. After four and a half months of service in the trenches his regiment of an original strength of 1,500 men was reduced to 385.

A change in Rader's assignment, entailing a furlough in London, made possible his preparation of these articles.

In the series, Rader, soldier of fortune, aviator and newspaper man, has drawn sketches of the war of 1915 that the grim profession of arms is stripped of its last vestige of romance. He reveals war and its ghastly horrors in such striking fashion as to cause the narrative he has written for the United Press to stand out as one of the really great journalistic accomplishments of the war.

By Phil Rader.
ARTICLE No. 5.
LONDON (by mail), Feb. 28.—There was a little old woman of French nationality, whose little cottage was about a mile behind our trenches. She had a huge supply of cider, and when one of us got money and a chance we would sneak through the trenches back to her little house, knock on the shuttered window until she opened it and handed out a big cupful of apple juice. "My good old husband," as she described him, "was killed in the cottage by a German bullet." We buried the body for her and asked her why she didn't move.

"No! No!" she exclaimed, "this is my home, and if I die anywhere I die here."

One night we saw three little flickers of light come from a chink of the shuttered window on a hill, far away, in the German lines, we saw a tiny light blink three times. For three nights we watched the sparkling chink in the widow's window blind. We didn't want to believe she was a spy, because if she were taken away we would miss our cider, but at last we had to act. We caught her one night in the deed, and our officers sent her away. I don't know where. She had sold her country for German gold. Hers was only one instance of the thoroughness of the German spy system.

One day we found a telephone wire running through the best fields from the German trenches to a point far behind our lines. It ended at a poplar tree, where a German spy, hidden in the branches, had been phoning the enemy all the details of our movements. But Demelle was the spy of all spies. He lived with us in our trenches, he shot at the Germans, and cursed them as we did. But all the time he was sending messages to them. And when he was caught in the act, he kept silence like a man.

Our officers took charge of him, and he disappeared, executed, we heard.

GERMAN SPY JOINED FOREIGN LEGION.

In those early days of the war, when foreigners in Paris were forming a foreign legion, Demelle, a splendid looking, big man, with a beard that gave him a distinguished appearance, and a manner that was the essence of courtesy, got his name into the list and was accepted. He had money in unlimited quantities, and before we departed from Paris to the front he gave parties right and left to little

T. R. WILL BARE POLITICAL HISTORY AT BARNES TRIAL

Case Will Be Opened Before a Jury in Syracuse on April 20.

ALBANY, March 23.—Both Theodore Roosevelt and William Barnes are in training for a fight to the finish over their libel suit. It has been definitely arranged that they will go into the ring on Tuesday April 20, at Syracuse.

Mr. Barnes said today: "The case will go to trial without any delays so far as I am concerned, and will be pushed to the finish."

On the Roosevelt side there is just as much aggression. Agents of the Colonel have been interviewing witnesses, gathering data, and subpoenas are being served. One of these who is at work in Albany said today to The Evening World:

"This fight promises to be the most sensational contest of recent times. It will be an exposure of inside political events of the past fifteen years, beginning with Col. Roosevelt's election as Governor in 1898. He will show the methods and effects of boss political rule and will single out specific events to demonstrate his contentions."

"One of the earliest examples will be the contest with the Legislature over passage of the franchise tax bill. As Governor, the Colonel succeeded in enacting it into law that still stands despite the powers that sought to defeat it."

"Next will come the attempt of the politicians to force the Colonel to appoint Lou Payne as State Superintendent of Insurance. He refused and finally Payne was withdrawn, and Francis Hendricks of Syracuse was appointed. Col. Roosevelt will reveal the inner history of that event."

"Another notable contest between the Colonel and the political leaders was over primary reform. This had its origin at the Saratoga convention of 1908 when the bosses attempted to prevent the renomination of Gov. Hughes and the Colonel, who then was President, came out in support of the Governor."

"Lastly, will be the record of the

TWO FIRES IN SUBWAY FILL TUBE WITH SMOKE

Short Circuit in Harlem Holds Up Trains for Only Two Minutes.

Two short circuits, one at One Hundred and Thirty-second Street and the other at One Hundred and Thirty-fifth Street and Lenox Avenue, accompanied by blinding flashes of light and smoke, caused some excitement among subway passengers at that point this morning, but the fires were quickly extinguished and traffic was held up but two minutes.

The first short circuit occurred on the third rail at the south end of the One Hundred and Thirty-fifth Street platform, and is believed to have caused the second, which was in the transforming box at One Hundred and Thirty-second Street.

The smoke was caused by the burning of the wooden guard over the third rail and the insulation in the transforming box. Two firemen in one of the trains helped employees put out the blaze with extinguishers, and a citizen notified Fire Headquarters, Engine No. 30, which is on One Hundred and Thirty-fifth Street, a few hundred feet from the station, pulled out, but when the firemen entered the station they were informed employees that the fires were out.
