

RUSSIANS SUDDENLY RECOIL ON BOTH ENDS OF LONG LINE

Understand that by automatic to his Embassy, made an English draft of the note and despatched it by special messenger to the State Department, where work began immediately on the preparation of a copy of the note.

WILSON IS HIGHLY PLEASED.
President Wilson was in his White House study when Secretary Lansing sent him a copy of the letter from Ambassador Bernstorff. Although no formal statement was issued at the White House, officials there without exception expressed the utmost satisfaction over the successful outcome of the negotiations.

Count Bernstorff's announcement that the policy had been decided upon before the sinking of the Arabic agreed with statements by officials in Berlin and with information upon which American officials had been depending. Soon after the despatch of the last Lusitania note President Wilson understood there would not be another such disaster. The sinking of the Arabic, therefore, came as a double shock.

Inasmuch as it seems to have been established that the submarine which sank the Arabic has been destroyed by a British patrol boat, the exact circumstances may never be determined, other than by testimony from British and American sources.

The German Government's statement that before the sinking of the Arabic the submarine commanders had been ordered to sink no more passenger ships without warning may be taken as a disavowal of that act.

That Ambassador Bernstorff believes the Berlin Government's action has cleared the way toward peace in Europe was freely stated by persons in close touch with the Embassy.

The Count believes he has reinstated himself in American good opinion, but he is said to feel that his action in inducing his Government virtually to repudiate the course of the German submarine commander who sank the Arabic may make his position at home a very unhappy one.

It is generally acknowledged Germany expects President Wilson to renew his representations to Great Britain against interferences with neutral trade. The President has steadfastly declined to conduct one negotiation in a relation to the other.

The new American note to Great Britain making representations against the restrictions imposed by the Orders in Council is almost ready to go forward to London.

Senator Lewis of Illinois, who called at the White House, quoted Chief Justice White of the Federal Supreme Court as characterizing the result as "the greatest stroke of modern diplomacy."

"I myself," said Senator Lewis, "regard the communication from the German Ambassador not only as satisfying the American demands; not only as a disavowal of the Lusitania incident, but as an acceptance of fundamental principles of international law which must stand forever as a precedent and a tribute to American diplomacy."

WILSON PLANS ECONOMY TO HELP NATIONAL DEFENSE

Will Ask Congress to Cut Various Appropriations to Build Up Army and Navy.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Economy in appropriations for little used army posts, navy yards, rivers and harbors, and public buildings will be recommended to Congress by President Wilson in order to leave the money for an adequate programme of national defense. This information came to-day from a high Administration source.

Chairman Tillman of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee censured national defenses to-day with President Wilson. Later he said he favored a reasonable increase in the navy and would support the President's recommendations to Congress this fall.

Senator Tillman said he had not decided exactly what increases were needed and was willing to trust the President to decide. No definite programme will be mapped out, he said.

until the President has received a report from Secretary Daniels and discussed the subject with himself and Chairman Baggett of the House Naval Affairs Committee.

It was stated authoritatively by Administration officials to-day that there is no basis for reports that the President had decided to recommend army and navy appropriations totaling $500,000,000. One Cabinet member said he did not believe the amount to be asked for would be that large.

Mother and Lost Son She Seeks; Sister of Missing Jersey Child

Mother Instinct May Restore Lost Son to Mrs. Glass

Woman Who Made Vein Trip to Oklahoma Does Not Lose Hope.

"Instinct tells a mother what to do," so says somebody, somewhere; but—suppose instinct-taught a mother just how to rear and bring a child to the age of four, small years, according to the strictest ethics, and then that four-year-old mite of human life were unceremoniously snatched away. What then? Would that selfsame instinct teach the parent how to act in order to regain her lost babe?

Six years ago Ella Englebrecht, then twenty years of age and the daughter of thrifty German parents, whose father was employed by the Eagle Pencil Co. for twenty years—ever since he had first come to this country and had made his home at No. 13 Lineau Street, Jersey City—fell in love with and married Charles Glass, a night cashier in the employ of the Evening Journal. Two years later they were blessed with a boy whom they christened James Douglas, and, within the next four years, two little girls, Blanche and Madeline followed.

Last May, on the twelfth, just sixteen weeks ago to-day (and one day after the family had gone to spend the summer at Okeley, Pike Co., Pa.), while the mother had gone to the post office accompanied by her two younger children, and the father had turned his head for a few moments, little James mysteriously disappeared, and up to date, no definite trace of him has been found.

13 NEW TYPHOID CASES IN BROOKLYN EPIDEMIC
177 Cases in All in the Fort Hamilton Section—Health Board Baffled.

The Brooklyn branch of the Health Department announced to-day that thirteen new cases of typhoid fever were reported yesterday from that section of South Brooklyn stretching generally from the Park Slope to Fort Hamilton, where an epidemic has been prevalent for more than a month. Two new cases were reported in that section on Monday and one new case on Sunday. The total of new cases reported in the past week is forty-three and fifty-nine cases were reported in the past ten days.

Since the beginning of the epidemic 177 cases have been reported and 26 of the victims have died. The center of infection appears to lie in the section between Twenty-third and Sixty-fifth Streets, and it has been most virulent in the Eighth Ward, which has produced 84 cases of typhoid and 15 deaths.

Health Department experts have sought in vain to find the source of the epidemic. Water, milk and food have been examined without avail. The authorities had hoped from reports at the beginning of this week that the epidemic was under control, but thirteen new cases in one day speedily demolished that theory.

THE LONG QUEST FOR KIDNAPPED BOY.
Every clue has been run down—the lake has been drained, detectives hired and even bloodhounds put on the trail—and all to no avail. Gypsy camps have been searched in a fruitless effort, and as a final resort the desperate father and mother travelled to Norman, Okla., where they had received positive proof that their boy was held. The result? The youthful mother describes it as follows:

"The uncanny resemblance of the youngster at first convinced me that our search for our boy was at an end, but my mother's instinct told me that this was untrue. Later I found that the little mite was a boy whose father had deserted his mother while he was a babe, so that in desperation she left him in the hands of a shoemaker, Robert Mellor, who later turned him over to Dr. O'Hearn, who adopted him. My husband wished to bring the lad home with us, but I am glad now we did not, although we are happy he has a good home, poor little kiddie."

TERRIFIC ATTACK ON VOSGES LINES BY GERMANS FAILS

Kaiser's Troops Suffer Heavy Losses Trying to Take Position.

PARIS, Sept. 1.—A violent battle is raging around Schertzmannville, in the Vosges, after a cessation of infantry actions in this region for several days.

The Germans yesterday shelled the French trenches on the slopes for several hours. Explosion of several hundred asphyxiating gas bombs was followed by a rush of German infantrymen upon the French works. The French chasseurs, who had protected themselves from the gas with respirators, met the attack with their bayonets and knives and drove the enemy back from the parapets.

The Germans suffered heavy losses, leaving many bodies before the French trenches, but apparently orders had been given to take the French position at any cost. A second charge was made last night, but this afternoon's communique from the War Office said it was repulsed.

"Elsewhere there have been no important infantry engagements since the last twenty-four hours. Heavy artillery duels continued throughout the night around Neuville, St. Vaast, Roye and at several points around Arras."

The official statement says: "Several artillery actions were reported in the course of the night around Neuville St. Vaast, in the region of Roye and in that of Ouberville on the Somme."

"In the Argonne there was violent cannonading yesterday to the north of Fontaine Houyette and on the Chevauchee Heights. During the night it was calm."

"In the Vosges, after a bombardment with asphyxiating gas bombs, the enemy last evening launched against our trenches at Lunge and Schertzmannville a violent attack. We maintained our positions. At midnight a new German attack was also repulsed."

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—The official statement regarding the operations in the western theatre of war says to-day:

"The situation is unchanged. Northwest of Bataune an English aeroplane was shot down by one of our aviators."

WAR NEWS IN BRIEF

Berlin, through Count von Bernstorff, to-day notified Secretary Lansing that the German Government had accepted in principle the American contention that no merchant ship should be attacked without warning or provision for the safety of passengers.

Serbia's intention to do the part asked of her in satisfying Bulgaria's territorial demand, has been communicated to Greece, of whom concessions also have been asked in the effort to secure Bulgaria's co-operation with the entente allies.

An impression that Japan may take part in the Dardanelles campaign is gathered in Paris from remarks recently made by Baron Hayashi, Japanese Ambassador to Italy.

In a report of the Finance Committee of the Russian Duma the amount necessary yet to be raised to meet the nation's expenditure for 1915 is placed at more than $1,500,000,000. The report says that all possible sources of revenue must be invoked to meet the nation's needs.

Russian resistance to the Teutonic advance is developing strength on the southern wing, according to the latest report from Petrograd, which in recording a success gained within a day or two in Galicia declares that 3,000 prisoners, 30 cannon and 34 machine guns were captured.

1,400,000 LOST BY RUSSIANS, SAYS GERMAN REPORT

1,100,000 Captured and 300,000 Killed in Drive Since May 2.

BERLIN, via wireless to Sayville, L. I., Sept. 1.—Since the beginning of the Austro-German drive on May 2 an entire Russian field army numbered 1,400,000 men has been captured or annihilated, according to an official review given out to-day.

Of this number 1,100,000 have been captured, the War Office estimates, and 300,000 have been killed or wounded. These figures cover operations from the battle of Gottlie, May 2, that marked the beginning of the Austro-German sweep, to the present date.

"The actual figures may be even higher," said the official review, "because the enemy saved his artillery by recklessly sacrificing his infantry."

"As a result the armies first encountered at the beginning of our offensive are now annihilated. The Russians have made up their losses by withdrawing troops from other parts, especially from the forces ready to invade Turkey. The fortresses have been denuded of their garrisons and half-drilled men have been hurriedly transported from the interior."

"All these efforts were fruitless. The enemy has been chased out of Galicia, Poland, Courland and Lithuania. Our forces have sent our enemy rolling backward in two separate groups. Twelve fortresses, among them four modern and big ones, forming the Russian outer and inner defenses, are in our hands as the result of this campaign of less than four months."

During the month of August, the War Office announced this afternoon the Austro-Germans took 2,000 Russian officers and 269,839 men prisoners and captured 3,300 cannon and 560 machine guns.

"Of these, 20,000 prisoners and 827 cannon were taken at Kovno. About 90,000 prisoners, including 15 generals and more than 1,000 other officers and 1,500 cannon and 150 machine guns were taken at Novo Georgievsk. The counting up of the cannon and machine guns taken at Novo Georgievsk has not yet begun. The figures quoted as totals, therefore, will be considerably increased."

"The stock of ammunition, provisions and oats in the two fortresses cannot be estimated."

"The number of prisoners taken by German and Austro-Hungarian troops since May 2, when the spring campaign in Galicia began, has therefore increased to considerably more than one million."
