

Three Saturday Surprises

HOLIDAY shoppers, who keep in mind their own immediate wants as well as opportunities to secure unusual gift values for their friends, will find in the new Bedell Fashion Shop in Thirty-fourth street three notable surprises for Saturday.

Fashionable Winter Coats Fifteen Dollars for Women and Misses

Coats taken directly from models which have had their pictures in the fashion papers. Many of them have been heretofore in this Cabinet of Coats at prices one-third to one-half higher.

They include long coats, full and flaring in the back; three-quarter lengths; and the very smart skating styles, which are being much seen in Fifth Avenue.

Warm mixtures, chevots and fur fabrics—many of them fur-trimmed. The newest high collars and smartest sleeve styles.

Reductions in the Balcony of Shoes

Gray Buckskin Boots, with leather Louis XV. heels and smart tipped toes, button style. Six dollar values, reduced to $3.50.
Black Russian Calf Walking Boots; Cuban heels; kid or cloth tops. Five dollar values; reduced to $3.00.
Satin Evening Slippers; pink, blue and white; all sizes. Value $3.50; reduced to $2.00.

Waists Good to Give—Better to Keep

Three splendid Saturday assortments, crowding the Waist Salon to its limit with unusual values.

Blouses at Two Dollars

Include silk crepe de chine, silk and shadow lace waists, French voile waists, satin habutai blouses, and a variety of silk chiffon waists—all appropriate for the handsomest costumes.

Blouses at Three Dollars

Taffetas with satin stripes, velvet and lace costume waists, combination waists, satin-striped crepe de chine—and dozens of others.

Unusual Five Dollar Waists

From the simple blouses in the new heavy silks, silk broadcloths and radium silks to smart evening waists of laces, silks and velvets—things which suggest much higher prices. If requested, these waists will be packed in appropriate Holiday boxes.

NAGGED BY JOKERS, WARDEN OSBORNE PORTCHESTER MAN KILLS 2 AND SELF FACES GRAND JURY; WAIVES IMMUNITY

Runs Through Street With a Revolver and Crowd Witnesses Tragedy.

(Special to The Evening World.)
PORT CHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 10.—Angered by the jokes of acquaintances about a suit for forty dollars he had brought against a former friend, Max Pellinsky, a butcher, killed two men and himself here to-day.

He shot Max Clark, the man he was suing, and Philip Ticker, a friend, and with the smoking revolver ran through the streets seeking the others who had joked with him. Scores ran in panic from the streets.

Clark and Pellinsky had been friends until they undertook a business transaction a few weeks ago. The suit for forty dollars resulted and last Wednesday it was partially tried in the local court. The case was adjourned and there was to have been another hearing shortly. When Pellinsky's friends found it annoyed him to have the suit mentioned they persistently spoke to him about it.

This morning Pellinsky entered the butcher shop of Ticker on East Williams Street and met Clark. He demanded the money he was suing for and when it was refused, drew a revolver and started firing. Clark fell with a bullet in his brain at the first shot. Ticker started to run to the street and at the door Pellinsky shot him down. He jumped over his body to the sidewalk and faced the crowd running from all directions with the smoking revolver. "I'll kill the rest of them," he shouted, "where is Louis Miller or Barney Mathensky?" and he raced through the main streets repeating his query to the frightened men and women who were running for shelter. He ran to his home on Travis Avenue.

A squad of police running to surround the place met Mrs. Pellinsky coming from the place. She told them her husband had killed himself and collapsed. They found Pellinsky dead in the hallway of his home.

CONGRESS MUST ACT FOR U. S. RIGHTS, SAYS HOKE SMITH

Protests to Warring Nations Have Only Brought Increased Lawlessness, He Contends.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The State Department has failed and Congress must act if American rights on the seas are to be protected, Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia declared today in the first set speech of the Senate session.

Diplomatic protests to Great Britain over her blockade and orders in council have brought only "increased lawlessness," said the Senator, and the time has come to consider whether the United States should become the champion of neutral powers. England's present conduct he termed "a bold, reckless disregard" of international law.

"And the crime is more flagrant," Smith asserted, "because England is permitting her traders to send to the neutral north European ports the same sort of material she is refusing to permit our business men to send. Her traders are being enriched at the expense of our citizens."

"England and Germany have both been our friends, but the United States owes it to its citizens to maintain its neutral rights from all. Great Britain may desire to crush an enemy nation through suppression of trade, but she can have no right of doing it at our loss or of making us the instrument of it."

LAX EMPLOYER FINED $20.

Watch Had Not Provided Enough Fire Escapes in Harlem Factory.

Joseph Nacht, of No. 156 East One Hundred and Fourteenth street, a cloak and suit manufacturer with a factory at No. 184 East One Hundred and Fourteenth Street, was fined $20 by Magistrate House in the Harlem Police Court this morning, charged with violating the fire exit laws by not having sufficient fire escapes for the girls and men employed. Inspector Smith of the Labor Department was the complainant.

FROZEN DEAD ON LINKS.

Employee at Fox Hills Golf Club, Staten Island, Died of Exposure.
Richard Elmore, employed as an extra man at the Fox Hills Golf Club, at Clifton, Staten Island, was found frozen to death on the course near the fourth hole to-day. He was sixty-five years old and lived in Pleasant Valley Avenue, Stapleton. His body was found by Sylvester Juliano, the greenskeeper.

(Special to The Evening World.)
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Dec. 10.—After a parley of two hours in the Prosecutor's office, during which hot words were passed between District Attorney Weeks and Huntington M. Merchant, counsel for Warden Thomas Mott Osborne of Sing Sing, Mr. Osborne signed a waiver of immunity just before noon to-day and went before the Westchester County Grand Jury, which for five weeks has been inquiring into affairs at Sing Sing prison.

The warden objected to signing the waiver of immunity because of the words: "So far as any crimes committed by him in Westchester County, outside of being agent and Warden of Sing Sing prison."

Finally, District Attorney Weeks, Assistant District Attorney Fallon, Mr. Osborne and Lawyer Marobant went before Justice Morschauer in Part II. of the Supreme Court, where Judge Morschauer smoothed out matters by inserting the words "alleged acts or omissions." Then Mr. Weeks said in a loud voice:

"Now, Mr. Osborne, will you sign this waiver, with the words 'alleged crimes and omissions.' If you will not, forever hold your peace."
The warden thanked the Judge for his fairness and signed the waiver. The Court told Mr. Osborne that he should go before the Grand Jury and give his side of the controversy, because if he didn't it would leave a bad impression with the public.

"I want Mr. Osborne to be given every opportunity to be heard," said the Judge. "I cannot understand why everybody is getting so excited."

Mr. Osborne, before testifying, stated that he could not understand why the County Prosecutor showed so much hostility toward him.

"When I came to this office this morning," said Mr. Osborne, "he deliberately turned his back on me. In prison we make up our minds what we think of a convict who will not look you in the eye. I am greatly surprised at the treatment I am getting from the District Attorney. He is continually hostile to me. I have personally committed no crime and am over-anxious to have the Grand Jury investigate all my acts as agent and Warden of Sing Sing Prison. I fear nothing. I welcome the investigation, but I don't like to be personally attacked. I have given the District Attorney a list of witnesses I would like to have him call in my behalf. Whether he will or not I am not sure."

When Warden Osborne was told the Grand Jury may inspect the prison next week he looked serious and said that he was not certain how the convicts would act. He appeared to fear a hostile outbreak by the convicts.

"I have ten affidavits in my office," said Assistant District Attorney Fallon, "which bear specifically against the Warden personally, and if he had not appeared before the Grand Jury I would have published them."

CRACKSMEN SCARED OFF.

Had Bored a Hole in a Butcher's Safe in the Bronx.

The absence of light in the butcher store of Solomon Ginsberg at No. 244 Avenue St. John, the Bronx, early this morning aroused the suspicions of Patrolman Sommer who knew Ginsberg customarily left a light burning.

Investigation showed that a small safe had been wheeled to the rear of the store and a hole had been drilled near the mechanism of the combination burglar tools were on the floor and an open window at the rear showed the number of exit of the cracksmen when they were frightened.
