New Yorkers to Honor Ogden.
A special train will leave New York to-day carrying a large party of friends of the late Robert C. Ogden to Hampton, Va., where they will pay a tribute to the memory of the former leader of the Conference for Education of the South at the corner Memorial Auditorium, Hampton Institute. It was announced here yesterday that $90,000 of the $150,000 required for the auditorium had been raised.

IS YOUR HEALTH WORTH $5.00?

Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Lima, Ohio.—"I was all broken down in health from a displacement. One of my lady friends came to see me and she advised me to commence taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I began taking your remedies and took $5.00 worth and in two months was a well woman, after three doctors said I never would stand up straight again. I was a midwife for seven years and I recommended the Vegetable Compound to every woman to take before birth and afterwards, and they all got along so nicely that it surely is a godsend to suffering women. If women wish to write to me I will be delighted to answer them."—Mrs. Jennie Meyer, 542 E. North St., Lima, Ohio.

Women who suffer from displacements, weakness, irregularities, nervousness, backache or bearing-down pains, need the tonic-strengthening properties of the roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice, write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.—Advt.

Evening World Thrift Campaign

SUCCESS OF THREE FAMILIES FOUNDED ON ONLY $51 WEEK

One Man With $10 Salary, Another With $16 and a Third With $25 All Assured Independence Through Care in Expenditures.

Many thousands of persons would not regard an income of $50 weekly as sufficient to insure an independent future. Yet to-day's letters from thrifty Evening World readers show how three families starting with incomes aggregating only $51 per week built securely for the future. One man earned $10, the next $16 and the third $25 weekly, but each made the proper start, and untold happiness has been the result.

Such experiences show conclusively the value of making the start, regardless of the size of the income. Indeed, it may almost be taken for granted that the amount of money available makes very little difference, so certain are the results from systematic saving.

A college man, who signs himself "Pay-as-You-Go," began work at $10 per week, but he now earns $36, and has practically assured himself and his family an early independence.

West Summit, N. J.
To the Thrift Editor of The Evening World:

"Fourteen years ago I was graduated from an Eastern college and began work with a $10 a week position. "From time to time during the next five years my salary was increased until it reached $28 per week, and at that time I married.

"During the five years I had saved $500 and had paid $65.78 on life insurance policies.

"My wife and I have always kept an account of our expenditures, and at last we have a budget which fits us—now a family of five.

"Since our marriage my salary has been increased to $34 per week, or $1,872 per year, and this is the way we apportion it:

"Rent, 15 per cent., $510; food, 25 per cent., $463; operating expenses, 26 per cent., $449; clothing, 11 per cent., $205; insurance and savings, 18 per cent., $240; amusements and miscellaneous, 4 per cent., $166; total, $1,872.

"It is nine years since our marriage, and during that time I have paid $66.93 on life insurance policies and my bank balance has increased from $500 to $2,118.28.

"My father left me a legacy of $2,000, which with $1,500 of my own savings is invested in real estate.

"At present I am investing $3.50 per week in the stock of the company by which I am employed. I have $152 thus invested. Total amount of money invested is $7,323.09.

"If we have any rules of thrift they are: Buy only what you need. Compare prices and values. Pay cash.

"PAY-AS-YOU-GO."

Thrift and consistency are shown in every line of this letter. There has been more or less discussion as to the worth of a college graduate at the time he enters the business world. While the above writer started at $10 per week it did not take him long to climb. The two prominent features are, of course, insurance and cash in the bank, guaranteeing present and future security. The amount thus accounted for is really remarkable when the size of the income is considered. At the expense of saving, however, more money ought to be devoted to clothing, amusements and incidentals, for the amount allotted seems wholly inadequate for a family of five.

HARDSHIPS Warded OFF BY GUARD ON POCKETBOOK.

Precautions against extravagance, early in married life, saved this family from hardships and privations.

Somerville, N. J.
To the Thrift Editor of The Evening World:

"My husband and I started house-keeping on a salary of $15 per week. Having heard of so many family disputes over money matters, I decided there would be none in ours, so I kept account of every article I bought in order that if there were any questions asked I could hand over the books. At the end of the month in looking over accounts my husband was surprised to find that two had lived better and cheaper than he did when alone.

"I was a country girl and had been taught how to do baking and all kinds of canning and pickling; also my own dressmaking. I never spent my afternoons at the movies and never had to go home in a hurry to get supper, stopping at the delicatessen store to buy boiled ham at 66 cents per pound. I stayed at home and prepared my meals and was contented to spend the same time for pleasure that my husband did. The first two years we put $50 in the bank each month. Then we bought our first home, a farm. As the children came there was less for the bank but more joy at home. After twenty-two years of contented married life my husband died and I had the hardest problem of life to face.

"But I often thought of the day that I started to keep track of the pennies and look out for the rainy day that is likely to come to all. I have been a widow for six years; the older children have now gone to work to help take care of the younger ones, we know the value of money, and we are ready for any kind of emergency that may come up."—MRS. J. J. K.

There is no mistaking the value of thrift under such circumstances as these. The first saving went for the purchase of a farm home, and the $250 IN PRIZES FOR THE BEST COMMON SENSE PLAN OF SAVING.

The Evening World, co-operating with the American Bankers' Association, is conducting a campaign for thrift.

It is not the easiest thing in the world to save money, but the readers of this paper during the next few months will be given every encouragement to learn how to do it.

Cash prizes amounting to $250 will be given to those who show the most sensible plans of home or domestic financing.

The Evening World campaign is designed primarily to help men and women earning $150 a month or less. The committee of awards will be announced later. Articles will be published on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

The American Bankers' Association offers $150 in prizes, and The Evening World adds $100, making $250 in all. The prizes will be as follows: First prize, $50; two prizes of $25 each; five prizes of $10 each; ten prizes of $5 each; twenty-five prizes of $2 each.

All correspondence will be kept confidential, but it will be necessary for you to give name and address.

value of money was constantly impressed on all members of the family. When the head of the house died his wife and children had a home and some money, the practice of thrift was firmly established, and in spite of the change in circumstances the household is well organized, and optimism prevails.

BUYING HOME IN COUNTRY LED TO COMFORT.

The lure of a home in the country started this family on the road to success.

Dover Plains, N. Y.
To the Thrift Editor of The Evening World: "Ten years ago we paid $250 on a farm (savings of three years from $18 per week). Each year we have paid something on the principal $1,500, also taxes and interest. Living in the city we rented the farm a few years. Six years ago my husband was advanced to $25 per week. The past four years I've enjoyed the country air all summer with my family. The farm is all paid for.

"We now intend to save for five years more and buy a mortgage. My husband will run the farm, I'll take summer boarders, and we hope to settle down to an independent old age."

MRS. G. K. P. S.—"We have had plenty of sicknesses and pay large insurance premiums, but get pleasure and amusement, and are contented."

MRS. G. K. P. S.—"I have the Evening World sent to us daily. It is tremendously satisfying to realize a big ambition. These people set their hearts on moving to the country, and they lost no time in preparing for the move. An income of $18 per week provided savings out of which the first payment was made; now the farm is all paid for, and the next step will be to 'settle down to an independent old age.'" In the mean time there is a certain security based on adequate insurance.

MORE AT HOME.
Fifth Avenue objects to the baby parade, which will therefore go up Lexington Avenue, where the babies will feel more at home, anyway.

The Day of Reckoning

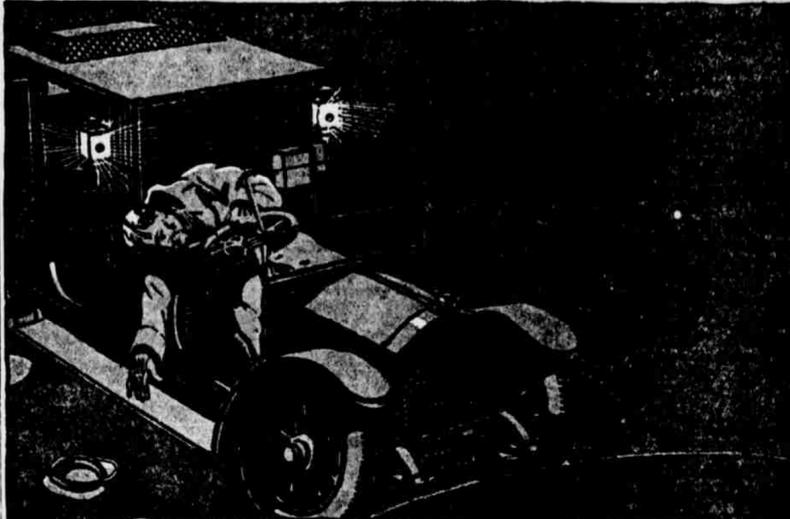

That awaits the indiscriminate.

Laws can be broken with impunity and offenders escape punishment for awhile, but the day comes sooner or later when the consequences must be faced.

This refers particularly to Nature's Laws. They must be obeyed. Bodily discomfort, loss of sleep, appetite and mental capacity follow in the wake of transgression, and unless corrected in time the condition is liable to become chronic.

A suggestion of inestimable value is the taking of Johann Hoff's Malt Extract with meals. This justly celebrated tonic food possesses digestive properties that have been recognized and endorsed by high medical authorities, is a natural blood, bone and muscle maker, and a brain and nerve food unqualified.

Can be procured from any first class druggist and the genuine Johann Hoff's should be insisted upon.—Advt.

United States Tread Chain Tires

Added Mileage in these Two Rugged Chains

By the time the two rugged anti-skid chains of rubber running 'round the tread are finally worn down, you have had your mileage in full and liberal measure.

Then you have the equivalent of a good, plain tread tire still to wear out—for your added mileage.

That is why 'Chain' Treads give the low mileage cost for which they are famous.

Besides—'Chain' Treads are the most efficient, moderate-priced anti-skids in the world.

The 'Chain' is one of the five United States 'Balanced' Tires which meet every motoring condition of price and use.

Ask the nearest United States Tire Dealer for your copy of the booklet, "Judging Tires," which tells how to choose the particular tire to suit your needs.
