

MILITARY PARADE PARALYSIS DROPS; ATTACKS THE 14TH; MEN QUARANTINED

Suspected Cases in One Day, but There's No Epidemic or Danger.

THEY'LL BE HOME SOON. Sixty-ninth Held at a Remote Ranch, Safe From Contamination.

By Joseph S. Jordan

Forty new cases of infantile paralysis and sixteen deaths were reported today by the Health Department. This is a decrease from yesterday's eight cases and four deaths.

While all cases are reported as mild, and there is no fear of any epidemic or fatalities, no chances are being taken for the spread of the ailment.

The origin of the malady has not been discovered, but it was thought wise to move the men from the seat of the complaint, which appears to be Mission.

The Sixty-ninth Regiment, returning from its hike, reached Sterling's Ranch yesterday and its conical and pyramidal tents were pitched.

The reorganization of the Twenty-second Engineers, which has been in process since July 15, was completed yesterday.

Capt. A. McC. Barrett, also formerly of the regular army, is the regimental Adjutant.

Private Phil Shorey of Troop E, First Cavalry, is a good soldier.

McAllen has been doing a land office business since the order for the regiments to go home.

Union Leaders Roused by "Ads" for Men Able to Run Trains.

B. R. T. MEN ARE RESTIVE. Leaders Now Talking of Forcing the Company to Recognize Their Union.

By Joseph S. Jordan

The appearance in The World today of advertisements for guards, gatemen and motormen experienced in the use of airplanes brought to several addresses in Manhattan and Brooklyn.

It so happened that one of the addresses mentioned, No. 122 West Forty-first Street, is a short distance from the Continental Hotel.

While Fitzgerald and his associates were disposed to look on the advertisement and the employment of the men as a "bluff," they also took cognizance of the situation.

Reports that Mr. Hedley of the Interborough is away from the city on a week end period of rest are believed, to a certain extent, by the union leaders.

The unions are now committed to a policy of insisting on recognition of their organization, while Mr. Hedley and the Interborough are committed to a policy of individual contracts between employers and employees.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit union leaders are talking of forcing recognition of the organization.

WILSON ACCEPTS LINCOLN'S CABIN IN NATION'S NAME

In Visit to Birthplace Calls Him Embodiment of Democracy.

BOONSVILLE, Ky., Sept. 4.—Abraham Lincoln's birthplace here, a little but now preserved and protected within a shrine of stone, was added today to the treasures under control of the United States Government.

"This little hut," said the President, "was the cradle of one of the greatest sons of man, a man of singularly delightful, vital genius, who presently emerged upon the great stage of the nation's history, gaunt, ungainly, but dominant, his majesty, a natural ruler of men."

Lincoln was not a typical American, the President said, "because no man can be typical who is so unusual." But, he added, "it was typical of American life that it should produce such men with supreme indifference as to the manner in which it produced them."

After a day and a night of ovations and demonstrations by crowds led by bands that greeted the President's passage through every city and hamlet en route, Louisville early this morning presented the climax of greetings when the Presidential train steamed over the bridge and entered the station here.

Searchlight beams on big river excursion boats waited out "My Old Kentucky Home" and patriotic airs. Crowds gathered at every vantage point in hope of seeing the Chief Executive when the Presidential train steamed over the bridge and entered the station here.

Virginians, West Virginians and Kentuckians vied with each other in greeting the President and his entourage. The President's enthusiastic reception on his first extended trip since his re-nomination by the Democratic Party.

The President remained up late last night to shake hands with thousands who gathered about his private car at every stop. He retired about 11 o'clock, being too tired to respond to the call of a crowd of 5,000 who were headed by a brass band at Huntington, W. Va.

Mrs. Karst Tells Police She Thinks Her Husband and Niece Have Eloped.

Mrs. Madeline Karst of No. 429 East Sixty-fifth Street told the police of the East Sixty-seventh Street Station today that she believed her husband, Leo M. Karst, had eloped with her niece, Mary Hutalier, eighteen years old, and that their disappearance was not a suicide compact, as it first appeared to be.

There Are 1,000,000 Hay Fever Sufferers in the United States, 25,000 in New York, and Latter Turn Loose 76,650,000 At-Choo Every Year—It's Another Jersey Pest.

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall.

At-choo! Do you? Or are you blissfully immune to the curse that has come upon us these late August and early September days? The curse's scientific name is pollenosis; its aesthetic title is rose cold; popularly—and usually profanely—it is known as hay fever.

The United States Hay Fever Association, founded forty-three years ago by Henry Ward Beecher, is now holding its annual convention at Bethlehem, N. H., one of the blessed oases where the sneezers cease from sneezing and the weepers are at rest.

It has been estimated that there are at least 1,000,000 victims of hay fever in the United States, and 25,000 sufferers in New York State; also that the total number of sneezes in the Empire State during hay fever season is 76,650,000.

EVERYBODY LAUGHS AT HAY FEVER'S VICTIM. The hay-feverite is the yellow dog of invalids. There's nothing either dramatic or pathetic about him.

"Why is hay fever?" "What can be done for it?" "There is balm, mental balm, for the hay fever victim in Dr. Smith's first words.

"May fever is not a joke," he told me. "It makes the sufferer absolutely wretched. In addition to its obviously painful symptoms hay fever causes a man or woman to be temporarily good for nothing, nervously depressed, unable to do efficient work. I have known people ready to jump out of their skins with the pain and strain.

"Hay fever is due to the toxic action of the pollen of plants upon the delicate membranes of nose and throat. Many persons are naturally immune to this pollen. Those who have a catarrhal or an asthmatic tendency are most likely to suffer from hay fever, also those whose nasal bones are unusually large."

"MOSQUITO FLEET" ASSEMBLES HERE FOR WAR GAMES

Fast Motorboats Ready to Start Week's Manoeuvres To-Morrow.

The speediest ocean-going power boats on the Atlantic coast trilled into Gravesend Bay one after another today. They will take part in the first manoeuvres of the "mosquito fleet" auxiliary to the United States Navy, organized by powerboat and hydro-aeroplane owners for scouting and despatch purposes in case of war.

Beginning to-morrow the manoeuvres will continue a week. The local practice drills are part of an extensive programme of preparedness which takes in motor boat fleets all along the coast from Maine to the Delaware Capes.

In addition to privately owned power boats and hydro-aeroplanes, part of the reserve battleship fleet and a number of submarines will take part in the game.

It is expected seven hydro-aeroplanes will comprise the air section of the make-believe defense fleet. Harold E. Pratt's Dodge II is the flagship, as it was of the flying boat section.

Among the power boats to participate in the manoeuvres are: Elvira, Henry F. Monquin; Rosa, Sigmond Cohn; Troubadour, R. P. Huntington; Porpoise, Orden M. Reid; Priscilla, F. S. Fisher; Robert B. Roosevelt's Sunbeam II, Simon F. Rothchild's Lillian II, August Belmont Jr.'s Barracuda, J. Maynard Kissam's La Boheme and Richard E. Sause's Richard III, Henry S. Beardley's Mustang, Robert H. Ingersoll's Psyche IV, Wallace M. Brown's Alturia II, Matthew Rock's Florence and H. H. Gordon Jr.'s Narda II, William T. Wheeler's Tea, William T. Donnelly's Dawn, Horace E. Boucher's Zita and C. B. Parker's Louise.
