HARVARD AND PRINCETON BATTLED ON EVEN TERMS THROUGH SCORELESS HALF

Forward Passing of Tigers, Which Gained Nearly 50 Yards, Was Feature of Closely Fought Game at Cambridge.

SOLDIERS' FIELD, CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 11.—Harvard and Princeton met here to-day on a hard, dry field, under the most perfect weather conditions possible. Perhaps down there in the bowl, with no cool breeze blowing, the players didn't think so much of the beautiful sky and the clear sunshine. There was heat in the sun, and the moleskins and woolen jerseys made each man feel like a soldier on the hike in Mexico.

There were 40,000 on hand when the game started at 2 o'clock.

At 1 o'clock the full Harvard squad came out for a warming up practice. The great stands were nearly empty, only dotted with a few stray thousands who had come early. On the brown field the players broke up into groups, some practicing passing, others kicking goals or punting. From the top of the high stadium wall they looked like midgeets—or more like warrior ants or beetles in their glittering black leather head gears.

The river Charles, curving around the stadium to the north, was blue as a tropic sea. Across the bridge a solid column of spectators marched. Long lines of automobiles rolled down the roads to the river to be parked on the river banks.

Suddenly there was a roar from the scattered crowd of Tiger rosters as the Princeton team ran out on the field. The Harvard men gathered into a squad and marched off, politely giving the Tigers elbow room. In a few minutes it would be quite different. There would be no ceremonial making way for Princeton then.

The Tigers took possession of the field and warmed up in turn. Soon they finished and retreated, leaving only half a dozen men cheerfully kicking field goals. Among them was Tibbett in full uniform.

Among them was a player with Tibbett's number, 14, on his jersey. He kicked several field goals, sending the ball neatly over the middle of the bar. This looked odd, after a report just from the Princeton headquarters that Tibbett was just recovering from a dislocated knee. But it was rumored that "No. 14" was another player, Haaren, in Tibbett's jersey.

RIVAL ROOTERS SEND UP CHEERS FOR OPPOSING TEAMS.

It was a few minutes before game time and the bands began to play. In the middle of the first song there was a great roar from the Crimson stands and the Harvard squad came rushing out upon the field. Immediately they broke up into three teams and rushed through a series of plays like a fighter shadow boxing before a real contest. Two or three minutes minutes of this and then all the subtlety of the Princeton squad ran into the gateway.

The Princeton rooters stood up and barked a short cheer for Harvard. They ended with the Tigers' roar for the Orange and Black. While the din was at its height the megaphone

TALK OF A MISTAKE.

Shot Sent Through Hotel Window Kills Owner as He Converses With Friend.

(Special to The Evening World.)
GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., Nov. 11.—John Elkberg and his wife are locked up in the Fulton County jail at Johnstown in connection with the shooting of Edward Ostrander, proprietor of the Riverview Hotel at Northville. Sheriff William J. Shepard says both have confessed that Elkberg fired the shot that killed Ostrander shortly before midnight, as he stood in the hotel office talking with John Bettinger.

According to the Sheriff, Elkberg admits quarrelling with Bettinger yesterday, and the bullet that killed Ostrander was intended for Bettinger. The shot was fired by some one on the outside of the hotel and, crashing through the glass of a front window, struck Ostrander in the back of the head, killing him instantly.

The murderer made a quick getaway. Bettinger dashed through the door out into the darkness, but there was no trace of the person who fired the gun. Policeman Charles Miller, Sheriff William J. Shepard, Coroner F. N. Wright and Dr. C. J. Robinson and Dr. C. R. Blake were summoned to the scene.

Elkberg was arrested at 2:30 A. M. at the point of a revolver at his home on the river road by Sheriff Shepard, Deputy Sheriff Keaveny and Chief of Police Joyce of Johnstown. According to the Sheriff, he had a rifle in his hands when the officers entered his home. He obeyed an order to drop the weapon and surrender. It is said, he and his wife were taken to the Riverview Hotel, where they were put through a grilling over the body of the dead man, and the alleged confession obtained.

WILSON TAKES IT EASY.

Returning at Williamstown, Mass.—Returns to Washington Tomorrow Night.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Nov. 11.—President Wilson ignored politics to-day to remain quietly with members of his family here. Several hundred telegrams congratulating him on his re-election arrived during the morning. Several telegraph operators were kept busy.

The President plans to leave here shortly after 5 o'clock to-night by train for Rhinecliff, N. Y., where he will board the naval yacht Mayflower for a trip down the H. river to New York City. He is due to arrive in Washington Sunday night.

Twins Are Unanimously Certain Wilson is Elected.

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, O., Nov. 11.—For three whole days the twins born to Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Shipley on Election Day had to go nameless owing to the sudden political switch, but to-day they are called "Woodrow" and "Wilson."

DEMOCRATS NOW HAVE 216 CONGRESS SEATS, WHICH GIVES CONTROL BY PLURALITY OF 1

Wilson Got 8,563,713 Direct Votes and Hughes 8,160,410, Giving the President a Popular Plurality of 403,312—Biggest Showing in History.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 11.—With all but thirteen California precincts heard from, Wilson was leading Hughes 3,621 votes, on the face of returns to-day, at 11:30 A. M. (Western time). The totals were: Wilson, 465,887, and Hughes, 462,266. This includes slight revisions in several precincts.

With these new returns there was a gain to-day for Wilson of 335 votes in the five districts canvassed.

National Chairman Willcox and Charles E. Hughes outwardly maintained to-day their position that they cannot admit the re-election of President Wilson until the vote has been officially counted in California and New Hampshire. Mr. Willcox does not charge that there has been any fraud, although he says he has received many charges by mail and telegraph, mostly anonymous, which have been referred to the Chairman of State Committees.

New Hampshire went definitely into the Democratic column to-day when Secretary of State Bean announced in Concord that Wilson's plurality, with only one precinct missing in Dorchester, is 63 votes. All the vote has been certified except that of the missing precinct, and that, the Secretary of State says, is probably truly recorded in the unofficial returns.

National Chairman Vance McCormick went to Harrisburg to-day, but will return Monday to take up the work of collecting $200,000 which the Democratic National Committee owes. He thinks he can raise the money.

LITTLE CHANCE THAT THERE WILL BE A RECOUNT.

In their determination to hold that Wilson has not been re-elected, Mr. Hughes and Mr. Willcox stand alone among the leaders of their party. Frank Hitchcock, compared with whom both are amateurs in national politics, has conceded the Democratic victory. The hope that there may have been errors in computation of the vote sufficient to swing ten electoral votes is looked upon by Mr. Hitchcock and other Republican leaders of experience as bordering on foolish optimism. President Wilson has a margin of ten votes, with the twelve votes of Minnesota looming large in the near political future. Summed up, it would be seen that there will not be a demand for a recount.

President Wilson gained 349 votes in Minnesota this afternoon when the official count of Ramsey County disclosed that Hughes had been credited with votes that went to the Democratic candidate. This cuts Hughes's lead in Minnesota down to 248, with twenty-nine precincts missing within the State and the soldier vote and absentee travelling men and railroad men vote still to be counted.

Mr. Willcox took some satisfaction yesterday in returns showing that the Republicans would control the next House of Representatives. To-day's returns give the Democrats 216 members and the Republicans 216 members. The Democrats took the lead with the election of a Congressman-at-large in New Mexico, Thomas J. Scully, Democrat, of the Third New Jersey District who was beaten by Richard Carson by twenty votes has demanded a recount and says he is sure of reversing the returns as they now stand. If Scully is elected the House will stand 217 Democrats, 214 Republicans, 219

FIRST CONGRESSWOMAN WILL CONDUCT FIGHT FOR WOMEN AND CHILDREN

MISS RANKIN, FIRST CONGRESSWOMAN, SPEAKS OF PLANS

Will Take Up 8-Hour Day and Urge That Women Get Equal Wages for Equal Work.

MISSOULA, Mont., Nov. 11.—"I am going to Washington to represent the women and children of the West—to work for an eight-hour day for women and for laws providing that women shall be paid the same wages as men for equal amounts of work."

Miss Jeannette Rankin, newly elected Republican Congresswoman from Montana, was sewing as she said this to-day. Even after entering politics she refused to forsake the old household arts, cooking and needle work. Miss Rankin failed to become excited when returns showed she was running ahead of the Republican ticket in Montana and later that she was elected.

"I'm glad of this chance," was her comment when cheering friends "broke the news."

"Of course," said Miss Rankin to-day, "I know I'll be the first woman member of Congress, but I won't be the last, and I believe I'll be received with courtesy and as an equal by those Eastern Congressmen even though they are enemies of suffrage. While working for suffrage in the East I found that no matter how strenuously our opponents fought us they were always ready to hear our side."

In addition to her eight-hour day and equal wage laws Miss Rankin intends to fight for woman suffrage from the moment she gets into the Capitol. Her suffrage bill, she says, will be one of the first introduced at the next session. She also declares her intention of seeking extension of the child labor laws, mother's pension and universal education.

As a fighter, Miss Rankin's friends believe she will make some of the oldest battles in the House give ground. Not so long ago she tramped through deep snowdrifts getting bears and wolves just for practice. Her father came to Montana when it was an empty wilderness and his four daughters endured all the hardships of American pioneer life.

Miss Rankin showed the Montana Republican organization some of her fighting qualities in the last few days of the campaign. Opposed by 45 of 47 leaders in many towns, she went ahead with the Montana Good Government League's backing. Kept her own Republican banner waving and made speeches in every city and town in Montana. In addition she organized a telephone campaign. On Election Day her friends called every telephone number in the State and asked whether answered if a vote had been cast for Miss Rankin yet.

BIG SEAPORT BOMBARDED AND IN FLAMES TWO DAYS; MACKENSEN STILL RETREATS

Czar's Troops Advancing Toward Cernavoda Occupy Two Villages—Roumanian Lines Taken at Point of Bayonet, Says Berlin.

BATTLE FOR GREAT BRIDGE OVER DANUBE CONTINUES

PETROGRAD, Nov. 11.—The Russian fleet has come to the aid of the Slavonic armies which are fighting in the Dobrudja. An official announcement from the War Office to-day said the fleet has heavily bombarded the great Roumanian seaport of Constanza.

The bombardment is said to have inflicted great damage. Reservoirs of benzine and naphtha were exploded and the resultant fires, fanned by the wind, spread rapidly and burned for two days. There were no means of controlling the flames, as the Roumanians had removed the fire apparatus when they evacuated the city.

The despatch says Bulgarian shore batteries were silenced and that heavy losses were inflicted on the garrison.

A German airplane which attempted to bombard the Russian squadron was brought down. The pilot and observer were captured.

Constanza is almost due east of Cernavoda, where vicious fighting is now going on between great Russian and Teutonic forces for possession of the Danube bridge.

Gen. von Mackensen's left wing rests on the Danube near Cernavoda. His right wing is on the Black Sea near Constanza.

Russian troops advancing southward on the right bank of the Danube River yesterday occupied the villages of Ghisladrecht and Topal. Topal is twelve miles south of Hirsova. In the Dobrudja province Russian detachments made a further advance to the southward.

The War Office statement adds: "West of Strobov farm we have recaptured a section of the trenches that were taken from us by the enemy in yesterday's battle. Fighting in this district slackened to-day evening."

"East of the Naraiyava region, in the vicinity of Lipitadoina and Svishtelnik, the enemy continued his fierce attacks throughout the day against the ridge heights. We repulsed five such assaults at the point of the bayonet."

"In the afternoon after repeated assaults the enemy succeeded in pushing from their positions several portions of one of our regiments. Two hours later, however, the enemy was driven off by our counter-attacks and our positions were re-established."

"In the wooded sections of the Carpathians the enemy developed an offensive four versts south of Dzondron, but was repulsed. South of Dornavatra enemy attempts to attack us in the region of Helbor, Holo and Tolesch were arrested by our fire and we then counter-attacked."

Mackensen's Retreat Continues, Says Bucharest Despatch.
LONDON, Nov. 11.—A Bucharest despatch, as forwarded from Rome to the wireless press, reports that Field Marshal von Mackensen's retreat in Dobrudja is continuing and that the Bulgarian population is fleeing from Dobrudja to Bulgaria.

The despatch says great fires have been observed in the direction of Cer-assaults launched by English and Germans at two points on Somme.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—The Germans sustained serious losses when they were repulsed in attacks last night on French positions south of the Somme in the vicinity of Denicourt, the War Office announced to-day.

"We maintained all our ground," the statement said.

North of the Somme there were spirited artillery duels in the region of Les Boeufs and Sully-Saillies. The statement continues: "North of the Somme there was fairly lively artillery struggle in the regions of Lesboeufs and Sully-Saillies."

"South of the Somme the enemy at about 2:30 o'clock this morning carried out a strong attack against our positions in the neighborhood of Denicourt, using flame projectors. He was checked immediately by our fire and was obliged to fall back with heavy losses."

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The War Office announces that 1,000 yards of a German trench on the Somme front was stormed last night by the British. The announcement follows: "Last night the eastern portion of Regina trench, on the northern end of the Somme front, being a continuation of the length of trench captured by us in our successful assault of Oct. 21, was stormed and captured on a front of 1,000 yards in spite of a heavy enemy barrage. The new trench has been joined up with the old line and the position secured. Prisoners of two regiments were taken."

BERLIN (via Sayville), Nov. 11.—Northwest of Courcellets, on the Somme front, the British last night entered an advanced German position, the War Office reports to-day. The statement follows: "Army group of Crown Prince Rupprecht's North of the Ancre a German patrol brought in two machine guns from a hostile position. "During the night the British, in the course of an attack, succeeded in entering a small portion of our most advanced trench northeast of Courcellets."

In a house-to-house engagement near the Sully-Saillies church the French gained no advantage. Attacks launched there on a large front also failed."
