

NAVY YARD BUILDS U BOAT CHASERS IN RECORD TIME

Has Launched a Dozen, Though Only One Was Expected.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Rapid progress is being made in the construction of the hundreds of submarine chasers for the Navy Department. At the New York Navy yards alone, a dozen of the 110-foot wooden hulls have been completed already, although the original plans called for the production of only one during the month of June. In August the yards will begin to deliver hulls at the rate of three a day and keep that up until the big order has been filled.

At the present time the engine production for the boats is a little behind schedule. Definite assurances have been received, however, that the engine builders also will be ahead of schedule before Aug. 1.

A considerable number of engines already has been completed and delivered. The New York Navy Yard has already completed entirely, including engines and armament, one of the new boats and it is under test for minor modifications in later boats.

No decision has been reached yet as to additional boats. With vessels purchased and those under construction, many officials believe enough have been supplied of this type of craft. There is some discussion of a larger boat, mounting heavier guns, a vessel of 160-foot length having been proposed.

The 110-foot type was adopted on a unanimous recommendation of all experienced British naval officers. The 80-foot type, employed by the British, it is understood, has been found smaller than efficiency and sea-keeping qualities dictate. The 110-footers are the minimum and that length was selected because it represented the maximum that American yards and services were needed could undertake.

She is a daughter of the late Sir Alex. Tilloch Galt of Montreal.

CHANCE TO SAVE OLYMPIA; HIT ON UNCHARTED ROCK

Court of Inquiry Likely to Show the Cruiser's Navigator Was Not at Fault.

NEWPORT, June 29.—A report received from naval officers investigating the grounding of the United States cruiser Olympia, Admiral Dewey's old flagship, in Block Island Sound early Tuesday stated that the warship struck an uncharted rock 500 yards south of Cerberus Shoal buoy, and that a court of inquiry probably would show that the navigator was not at fault.

It was suggested that the Coast Survey be advised of the apparent defect in the chart and that the water in the immediate vicinity be thoroughly dredged at once.

Although the Olympia remains hard aground, wreckers sent word that hope of saving her had not been abandoned and that, with a continuation of moderate seas, the chances of getting the warship into deep water were decidedly more favorable.

UP GOES MILK PRICE AGAIN AFTER JULY 1

Shortage of Supply Excuse Given in Preliminary Warning of Advance.

Consumers of milk will have to pay more for it after July 1, it was announced today. Definite figures have not been given out, but it was said the increase will probably be one cent a quart bottle of milk and the same on a half pint of cream. It has been almost five months since there was an increase in the price of milk to the New York consumer.

In February 10 cent milk was advanced to 11 cents and 16 cent cream to 17 cents. The big distributors say now they have to ask more for milk because they have to pay more. The dairymen say dairy cows are being sold because of the high price of feed, which has resulted in a milk shortage. In another year, some of them predict, there will not be enough milk at any price to supply the demand.

House Passes Niagara Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The House this afternoon passed the Flood bill permitting the diversion until July 1, 1918, of 20,000 cubic feet of water per second from the Niagara River above the falls for water power purposes.

Women Demand a Share In Directing War Service; Appeal to Gov. Whitman

Want to Originate Work and Urge a Woman's Division in Resource Mobilization.

Marguerite Mooers Marshall.

Gov. Whitman will receive to-day a resolution adopted by representatives of every important woman's organization in the State, asking him to add a Woman's Division for war service to the existing divisions of the Resource Mobilization Bureau.

This new classification of woman's work is urged for the purpose of unifying, simplifying and bringing under the direction of Washington the patriotic service of New York women.

The plan for the Woman's Division developed at a meeting called by Mrs. William Grant Brown, State Chairman of the Women's Committee of the Council of National Defense.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, representing the committee, said frankly it had struck its first snag in New York. The Governor has placed a woman at the head of the Division on the Co-ordinating of Co-operating Agencies, which means the co-ordinating of organizations of men and women. The sub-committees of this division, however, are led by men in nearly every county.

"That is, according to the present arrangement, men in most instances will lay down the work that women are to do," said Mrs. Catt. "Now I do not believe New York men intended to snub their women; they simply followed the universal masculine habit of forgetting them. Abroad it has been proved repeatedly that women have had to fight and struggle to get things to do in this war. They have invented and volunteered the service they have performed, and after it has proved successful the men have thanked them."

"For example, at least nine base hospitals have been organized by Englishwomen, and politely declined by the British Government. Accepted by the French Government, these hospitals have been of inestimable service to thousands of Englishmen, yet, from the English Governmental point of view, the hospitals do not exist."

"I cannot help believing the spirit, inspiration and originality of New York women will be lost or impaired if they cannot work by themselves and in their own way. The Governors of forty-seven States already have recognized a Women's Division in their respective States. SHOULD DO THE WORK THAT NEEDS TO BE DONE."

"The thing for the women of each community to do in the present crisis is not to wait on Washington, but to go ahead and work. Do the thing that needs to be done where you are. For example, the women of Plattsburgh should find out how the men at Plattsburgh are fed. Do they have the woman can feed them better than men can."

"One of the important things that women will be asked to do is to cooperate in the national food program. That is a problem which women must work out. The men want the wheat. They want the beef. But they have not found the substitutes which poor people can use for these customary foods. The rich may live on strawberries and lobster, but we women must start classes to teach the great majority how to substitute, how to get out of the routine of their grandmothers and yet give their children the food that you or I would want our children to grow on."

"Women, like soldiers, must be mobilized for service. They must be there when called, must obey commands and must do their duty."

Mrs. CARRIE CHAPMAN CATT

We must be minute men, ready to do what we are asked to do and to serve the general public. This is the resolution which the women of New York are sending to their Governor:

Whereas, The National Council of Defense has recognized the value of woman's war service by the appointment of a Woman's Committee; and

Whereas, This committee appointed a provisional Chairman to co-operate with and report to them; and

Whereas, The Governors of forty-seven States have recognized the Chairman of the Woman's Division elected by the National Council of Defense;

Whereas, On recommendation of the Governor and by the action of the Legislature, New York State had anticipated this action of the National Council of Defense;

Whereas, We, the undersigned organizations, officially represented at Hotel Astor June 28, earnestly request that a Woman's Division be added to the twenty-two divisions already constituted in the Resource Mobilization Bureau in order that woman's work in this war may be uniform with that of similar effort in other States; and that it may cooperate with the Woman's Committee of the National Council of Defense, under whose direction this committee was instituted.

EVENING WORLD'S CAMPAIGN FOR FOOD CONTROL APPROVED.

It is planned to have a Golden Roll of Honor for the Irene Loeb of The Evening World's campaign to cut the cost of living by means of a drastic food law and control of the food speculators. At the meeting yesterday Mrs. Catt declared her approval of this campaign as an immediate and important duty for women of this city and State.

Mrs. William Grant Brown, who presided, called attention to the mass-meeting to be held at the Washington Irving High School next Monday evening as a part of the celebration of Americanization Forum Day and to promote the wider use of school buildings in community work, as the Evening World has consistently advocated.

Among the leading organizations represented at the meeting were: Y. W. C. A., American Red Cross, Stage Woman's War Relief, D. A. R., National League for Women's Service, National Society Daughters of the Revolution, New York State Nurses Association, the Big Sisters, Federation for Child Study, Barnard College, Mayor's committee, Association of Collegiate Alumni, National Woodcraft Association, the Girls' National Home Guard, National Society Daughters of America, Resource Mobilization Bureau, National Association of Colored Women, National Special Aid Society, the American Nurses' Association, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, New York State Association of Women, National Suffrage, Medical Women's National Association, League of Catholic Women, Girls' Friendly Society, New York State Association of Women and National Housewives League.

SHARK CAUGHT IN SOUND.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 29.—Sharks that terrorized bathers along the Atlantic Coast last summer, have reappeared this season.

A seven-foot man-eater was towed into this harbor this morning by the fishing smack Lulu. The big fish was caught in the trawling net a short way out in Long Island Sound. It was alive when brought here and put up a hard struggle before being landed.

The shark was taken to a Chinese restaurant in Bank Street, where he will be utilized for food.

SLAYER KILLED IN KNIFE DUEL; HIS PAL DYING

Two Were Charged With Killing Third to Get $20 Gold Piece He Swallowed.

Two members of an alleged band of white slavers, robbers and murderers are dead, and a third was reported dying to-day in Polyclinic Hospital, as a result of a quarrel over a $20 gold piece one of them swallowed in Boston.

The gang operated in New York and Boston. According to the police, three members, Matthew Caselli, known as "Monte"; Thomas J. Abruzzo, known as "Ninny"; and Frank Caselli, a cousin of Matthew, known as "Slim," fled from New York to Boston two weeks ago.

Several recent Boston burglaries and robberies are credited to them. In one a man was robbed of a $20 gold piece, "Slim" took charge of the spoils, and on a division of the loot the gold piece was missing. For years "Slim" had been in the habit of swallowing the stakes in crap games. His companions remembered this and there was a fight.

When the police found "Slim's" body it had been hacked up with knives, but his murderers did not find the $20 gold piece, for the medical examiner who made the autopsy found it. Until then the Boston police had not understood why the body was mutilated.

"Monte" and "Ninny" slipped back to New York and rented a room at No. 460 West Forty-third Street. On reading in a newspaper that the New York police had been asked to seek the murderers here, they discussed what to do. Then they quarrelled over going West, and one accused the other of being about to "sneak."

Abruzzo said later that Caselli drew a revolver and fired a shot. The men then fought with knives. Police-men called in found Caselli dead, his throat slashed and a gash over his heart. Abruzzo was under the bed unconscious, cut on the face, legs, arms and body. Later in the hospital, the police say, he told them of the duel and said the dead man had killed his cousin in Boston. Before leaving New York the gang had lived in East Eleventh Street. There is only one remaining member.

A QUICK SUCCESS.

(From The Pittsburgh Post.)

"Was the operation a success?" questioned the young doctor.

"Most successful," replied the elder surgeon. "I received my check as soon as it was performed."

How You Can Remove Every Trace of Hair

(Toilet Talk)

A stiff paste made with some powdered delatone and water and spread on a hairy surface about 2 minutes will, when removed, take every trace of hair with it. The skin should then be washed to free it from the remaining delatone. No harm can result from this treatment, but be sure it is delatone you get and you will not be disappointed.—Advt.

The Famous Pictures of An Unknown Artist

Who is the most popular living American painter? What is the most widely known patriotic picture produced by an American artist?

To answer the second query first: The best known all-American picture is unquestionably "The Spirit of '76," sometimes called "Yankee Doodle"—that blood-stirring historical reminiscence, in which an old man with white hair and eagle eye, beating a drum, a wounded fifer, and a small drummer boy in the regiments of the Revolution, are marching over the triumphant battlefield playing the saucy martial tune of our fighting forefathers.

Ever since the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition of 1876, where it was first exhibited, this picture has been a favorite in practically all cities, hamlets and homes throughout the United States. It has circulated by the million in every form of reproduction, from old-fashioned chromo to modern photo-engraving and candy box lithograph.

Yet how many persons, even of those who profess to be connoisseurs or students of art, can tell you the name of the artist who painted "The Spirit of '76," or whether to-day he is living or dead? The "Who's-Whos" and art directories are strangely shy of information on the subject.

His name is Archibald M. Willard, and he lives in Cleveland, O., a stalwart Civil War veteran of eighty, who can paint about as well as ever when occasion may prompt. Only last year he did a life-size replica of "The Spirit of '76" for Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, who is a fellow townsman of the artist and a former Mayor of Cleveland.

A full account of the remarkable career of A. M. Willard, with color reproductions of his masterpiece and of other popular pictures on which he has been receiving fat royalties during half a century, will be found in next Sunday's World Magazine, July 1.

Girls! Try This on Your Hands! Make a Lemon Beauty Cream

Juice of lemons clears, softens and whitens the skin. Prepare a wonderful complexion lotion for a few cents!

"It seems that every girl and woman here is making lemon lotion," says a well-known druggist, and the reason is because at the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream they can prepare a full quartier pint of a creamy lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman has known for years that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smootheners and beautifier.

Try it, girls! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy or toilet counter and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quartier pint of this fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.—Advt.
