

Sophie Braslau, Paul Kefer, and Civic Orchestra

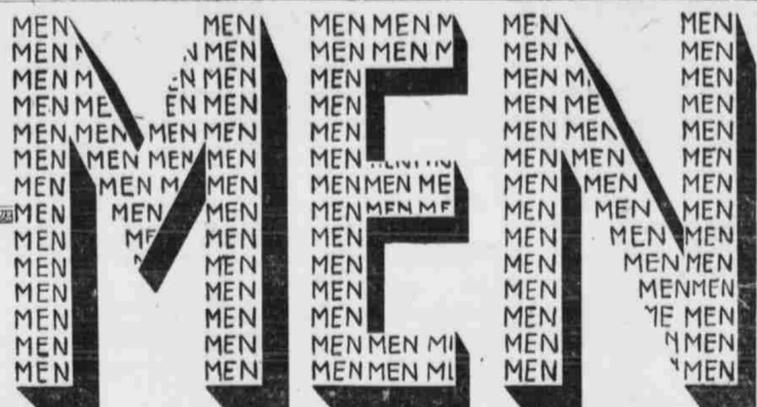

By Sylvester Rawling. SOPHIE BRASLAU'S turn it was to sing the "Star Spangled Banner" at the Civic Orchestra's concert in the St. Nicholas rink last night. She reached for no electrifying top note, but with simplicity and naturalness she gave utterance to the anthem in a spirit of patriotism that stirred the great audience mightily.

libested from "Tristan and Isolde." No advocate of music of lighter vein for these summer nights' concerts can well object to these immortal works, for they also are "popular." At the end, there was Chabrier's "España," rhapsody. The "recruiting" speaker, introduced by Miss Maynard, was Senator Burton, of Ohio, who made an effective appeal. One of his hits was that a girl would better have a sweetheart in the trenches at the front than a "slacker" by her side at home.

"LA BOHEME" AT COLUMBIA. It will be sung July 17 and 18 to Open Opera Season. The first opera to be presented by the Summer Season Opera Company in the gymnasium at Columbia University will be "La Boheme," sung July 17 and 18 by a cast including Luca Botta, Pompilio Malatesta, Paolo Ananin, Pietro Audisio, Philip Bennyan, Virgilio Lazari, Mabel Riegeiman and Magglo Teyle.

Ziegler From Pillows Sees Base-Ball Game. STAMFORD, Conn., July 9.—Propped up on pillows, William Ziegler, millionaire baking powder manufacturer, witnessed a game of baseball between the Greenwich Field Club and the All-Fairfield County Club yesterday. The game was played on Mr. Ziegler's estate at Noroton and the proceeds were for the Red Cross. Matrons and young women of social prominence sold tickets, and upward of $300 was realized. Mr. Ziegler is recovering from an operation for appendicitis.
