

have had a front of more than fifty or sixty feet. Possibly it was the head of a sap driven out into No Man's Land at right angles with the general trench line, to be used as a listening and observation post.

It appears possible that the three men killed and five wounded may have been the sentries, overwhelmed by the rush of the German raiders in the dark, and that the other twelve were in their shelters. To be hailed by an unseen enemy and told to come out or bombs would be hurled in among them, there would be no choice for them but to surrender. A majority of the Germans captured by the British and French in trench raids are taken in this way.

The German General Staff, in its night bulletin Saturday, reported that on the Rhine-Marne canal "North American" prisoners were brought in as the result of a thrust of a reconnoitering detachment.

The War Department in Washington had never permitted it to be stated where Gen. Pershing's training battalions were stationed in the French trenches, other than to say it was in a quiet sector.

The Rhine-Marne canal crosses the battle front on the road from Nancy to Strassburg, about twelve miles from Nancy, and almost on the Lorraine frontier. On this front, early in the war, there was severe fighting, but there has been none save of a desultory character there for the past two years.

This position is almost down to the Swiss frontier, far past Verdun. The American troops, therefore, apparently are getting their initial French training in the eastern gateway to France. These positions were lost to the French in August, 1914, but were regained the following month.

SIX KILLED AND 50 HURT BY WAR PLANT EXPLOSIONS

Works of Aluminum Company of America, Busy on Government Contracts, Wrecked. NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Nov. 5.—Simultaneous explosions in several sections of the plant of the Aluminum Company of America, working on government contracts, to-day caused death and injury among the employees and wrecked the works.

Six men were killed and fifty injured. Inhabitants of New Kensington fled from their homes, fearing that 30,000 pounds of illuminating powder in the burning plant would explode and destroy the town. There was no way to fight the fire, as contact with water will make bronze explode. The powder was being manufactured for the United States and its Allies, to be used for "star shells."

The police believe the fire is incendiary but plant officials refused to accuse themselves as to the cause of the explosion.

MY OFFICERS AT YALE. They are training with French 20th Infantry.

YALE, Conn., Nov. 5.—Twenty officers from the Field Artillery at Camp Upton, Long Island, began at Yale to-day a week's course of intensive artillery training, including practice with the French guns recently received at the university.

The officers are headed by Lieut. Col. Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of War in the Cabinet of President Roosevelt. It is planned to send different groups of men here each week.

PARENTS PROUD OF AMERICAN BOYS IN FIRST BATTLE

Those Whose Sons Are Killed, Wounded or Missing All Resigned to Loss.

GLIDEN, Ill., Nov. 5.—"I am proud of my boy if he has given up his life for his country," said Harvey D. Hay, father of Mervin D. Hay, one of America's first three soldiers to die for his country in an engagement with the Germans.

Young Hay enlisted in the Army on the 9th of last May, shortly after the declaration of war. He had been working on the Hay farm.

"He had my consent to go and I am not sorry," said his father to-day. "I won't object to his brother going, though just now he is too young."

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 5.—When news of the death of James B. Gresham in action in France was broken to his mother, Mrs. Alice Dodge, here to-day, she collapsed. The mother was so shaken by the news of the death of her son that she was placed under a physician's care.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 5.—Parents of three Oklahoma youths whose names were mentioned in the first casualty list express great pride in them. All three of the boys were farmers until they took up arms to fight for democracy.

"Then I can yet hope," was the expression of Mrs. Elizabeth Haines of Woodward, Okla., when given first information that her son, Corp. Estlin H. Haines, was listed as wounded. "I am proud of him. He first tried to join the Navy, but couldn't. He is only eighteen. Then he joined the Army. I have not heard from him since the last day of August. I did not know that he had been promoted to corporal."

"My boy helped me on the farm until he went into the Army last May," said Samuel Kendall, father of Private Vernon H. Kendall, Roll, Okla., reported missing. "I heard from him about a week ago. I am proud that he is doing his duty."

"I heard from my son last Thursday," said James L. Box, Altus, Okla., father of George Box, reported wounded. "He spoke of being wounded in the arm. He said that he had been in the hospital and I took it that the wound was received some time ago."

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—"Harry's wishes have been granted, I suppose," said Mrs. R. Loughman, mother of Harry Loughman, who is twenty years old. "He refused to join the National Guard, like his brother, Stephen, because he said he wanted to be where there was real action."

"If Stephen has to go to France, I will go with him," continued the mother. "I am anxious for some more news regarding Harry."

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Mrs. William C. Oberst burst into tears to-day when informed that her son, Heruel Godfrey, was among the "missing."

Young Godfrey, who is twenty years old, enlisted in the Regular Army last April and was in the first contingent of the Pershing expedition to cross the Atlantic.

Inglorious Mumps, Not Germans, "Gets" Three U. S. Soldiers

AMERICAN FIELD HEADQUARTERS, Nov. 5.—Three disconsolate Sammie rode in an American field ambulance last evening—coming back from the trenches. They were just waiting every minute for gruffaws from their comrades behind the lines, for none of the three came back a hero, wounded and covered with glory, but for treatment for plain, ordinary, common, inglorious MUMPS.

Their battalion had been having a quiet time, they said, but others had been subjected to an unusually lively shelling.

TROOP TRAIN ATTACKED BY 25 I. W. W. MEMBERS

Soldiers Beat Off Armed Force With Clubs After Stubborn Fight in Feather River Canyon.

MARYSVILLE, Cal., Nov. 5.—Twenty-five armed men, alleged to be members of the I. W. W., attacked a troop train on the Western Pacific in the Feather River Canyon and cut two coaches from the train. They were beaten off by the soldiers, with clubs, after a stubborn fight.

Although the attack occurred Sunday, word of it did not reach here until today. The attackers fled to the hills and today possess from Oroville and from Marysville are on their trail. So far as known here, none of the soldiers was seriously injured.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Major General Arthur Murray, commanding the Western Department of the army here, said he was inclined to believe the reported attack was not of a very serious nature.

100 GERMANS ARE KILLED IN RAID BY LONDON TROOPS

Haig Reports Successful Trench Attack in Neighborhood of Gavrelle.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—At least 100 Germans were killed in a highly successful trench raid in the Gavrelle neighborhood reported to-day by Field Marshal Haig.

"Yesterday London troops captured 100 German prisoners and machine guns, with two trench mortars," the statement said. "It is estimated 100 of the enemy were killed. Their dugouts were destroyed. Our casualties were light."

"Northwest of Loos the Sherwood Foresters raided the enemy and captured a few, killing a number of others. Arundel Hallebeke and Reutel hostile reconnoitering parties were dispersed."

U. S. TROOPS GUARD PIERS.

Trapped in Treachery By America, Berlin Now Admits Text of Notorious Message.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 5.—The Berliner Tagliche Rundschau says it learns from an authoritative source that the text of the treacherous despatches of Count von Luxburg, the German Minister to Argentina, as made public by Secretary Lansing, in the main were correct.

These messages, sent through the Swedish Minister, urged that Argentine vessels be sunk without leaving a trace. The Berlin paper adds that the possibility of a visit of a fleet of German submarines to Buenos Ayres was discussed by Germany and Argentina.

AMERICAN WOMAN TELLS VIVID STORY OF ONRUSH IN ITALY

Escapes From Battle Zone With Children—U. S. Consul Aids Fleeing Civilians.

ROME, Nov. 5.—A flood of human wreckage borne forward on the tidal wave of the German-Austrian advance into northern Italy reached Rome to-day with harrowing tales of suffering and despair.

Signora de Zulliani, formerly Miss Davidson of Sioux City, Ia., with her two children, both under four, arrived safely from her home in the northern provinces, exhausted by the flight. She told a vivid story of day and night hurrying ahead of the enemy, of the orderly ranks of Italian troops, steadily tramping backward as others heroically fought back the advancing hordes. Soldiers refused to abandon the wounded, and Signora de Zulliani told of hundreds of cases where three and four bandaged men were lashed to each gun carriage and hauled along with the precious artillery.

American Consul Carroll of Venice telegraphed the American Embassy to-day that he had returned to his post at Venice after a visit to the front. He was of great assistance to the Italian Army authorities in the civil evacuation of many of the northern Italian cities. Carroll reported all Americans safe in the section now overrun by the enemy. He was also greatly impressed with the Italian Army's re-establishment along the Tagliamento line and completely optimistic of its ability to throw the Germans back.

The Third Army, Carroll reported, is safe and almost intact. Mrs. Page, wife of the American Ambassador, and other American women in Rome were busy to-day helping care for refugees and children.

The Popolo D'Italia to-day urged that America participate in the present fighting in Italy, declaring that American soldiers would thus "probably take part in the decisive battle of the war."

Italian workmen everywhere are re-pledging their patriotism and solidarity of support for the Government. Scores of messages have been received from all over Italy in which workmen's organizations offer their services and reassert their unqualified allegiance.

Nathan Straus to Judge Hylan

27 West 72d Street. NEW YORK, November 4th, 1917.

My Dear Judge Hylan: You should have heard from me before. But I have been devoting all my time and strength to war relief work and I have not been able to interest myself in the election.

But there have been such unfair attacks made in this campaign—mainly by people who never voted the Democratic ticket—and by disgruntled Republicans—that I feel compelled at this eleventh hour to do my bit for yourself and our party.

Government by small and selfish rings cannot endure in this most American, this first city of the country. Such an administration may contrive to have itself praised, to have itself credited with many achievements, to have itself endorsed by conspicuous men. But it cannot hold the confidence of the people.

Such billingsgate as displayed by the opponent parties has never yet hurt a candidate, and I trust the voters to consider the source and see the motives of their attacks. Every outburst serves only to make more clear the fact that the Democratic Party has in yourself an honest, capable, brave and trustworthy candidate.

Every effort to read wrong from the records of your life they have garbled proves more clearly that our standard bearer deserves our full support.

There is nothing more unjust than the attacks made upon your Americanism and your loyalty. Your friends know that and the people generally understand it.

The opposition simply slanders every one who dares not agree with it. I remain, as always,

Yours, most sincerely,

Nathan Straus

JUDGE HYLAN FINDS WORK FOR CONVICTS EAGER TO MEND WAYS

Sixty-five Men Whom He Has Reclaimed From Evil Courses Give Good Reports of Their Conduct.

WOMAN'S RENT PAID WHILE HUSBAND WAS "DOING BIT"

Real Estate Sharks Forced to Restore Property to Aged Couple.

Sixty-five men reclaimed from evil ways reported last Tuesday night to County Judge John F. Hylan. Old and young—the wealthy degenerate and the poor man driven to crime by privation—were represented.

Judge Hylan, a self-made man, looks behind the crime and studies the culprit. In 90 per cent. of the cases he sees what caused the sudden turning from the straight path and applies corrective methods. He began three years ago to turn over to the care of business and professional friends convicted men eager for chances to make good. It was a sort of Big Brother movement.

Gave Good Report. Every one of the sixty-five gave a good report last Tuesday night, and all were thankful to Judge Hylan for their "come-back" to proper living.

So popular is the Hylan system among Brooklyn men anxious to help "down-and-outs" to a higher plane that the Judge has more applications than he has convicts to fill positions.

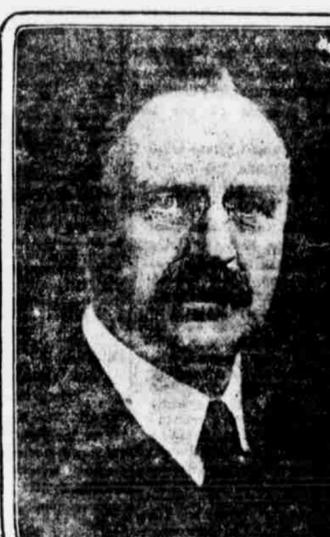

Inquiry at the court revealed that Judge Hylan also takes care of the dependents of those that have come into harsh contact with the law. He shows leniency to many criminals because he considers the plight of their relatives. In many cases he visits the homes of persons in trouble and does what he can to lighten their burdens.

A case that recently attracted the Judge's attention was that of a young woman living on Jewel Street, Greenpoint. Her husband, one of the type that congregates along Manhattan Avenue, went one night for an auto spin with half a dozen others of his age. The ride was frequently broken by stops, and soon every one became hilarious. At last some one "pulled a gun." The young man that later appeared before Judge Hylan got the gun and fired, and a girl dropped in the street with a bullet through her neck.

Her Rent Paid. Judge Hylan found that drink and bad companionship had caused this man's trouble. He took a plea of guilty and sentenced him to serve ninety days in the Workhouse.

A week later, baby in arms, the man's wife appeared in court weeping. She had no money and the rent was due. She told Judge Hylan neighbors would supply her with "some bread" if the rent could be raised. Judge Hylan sent her home. She received the rent that night, and for three months thereafter the rent money came. When her husband was released employment was found for him by Judge Hylan.

In another recent case Judge Hylan found that property purchased by an aged couple with their life savings had been taken from them by real estate sharks. One of the swindlers was arrested. Judge Hylan summoned to his chambers all persons implicated in the case. He declared that unless restitution was made he would take steps to inflict punishment. The property was at once returned.
