does. The Austrians held part of the town near the bank, with the Italians on the land side. The Austrians tried to throw a line across the town and succeeded in part on one side until the Italian batteries to the north got the range of the line outside the shelter of the streets. This line was the first to be demolished, and then the Austrians on this side of the town advanced cheering, leaving their way.

ALL AMERICANS SAFE IN MOSCOW AND PETROGRAD

New Army Reported to Be on the Way to Drive Out the Bolsheviks.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(Maximilian) have taken over all power in Moscow after a week of fighting, said a message from the American Consul General there to the State Department today. A second message from Ambassador Francis at Petrograd said the Moscow fighting had been "severe."

All Americans in Moscow are safe and there has been no harm to those in Petrograd. As a precautionary measure Francis advised all unattached women and married men with children to quit the city. He had asked the superintendent of transportation for two coaches for them. Kerenky, said the message from Francis, appears to be a fugitive, while Government departments are closed or operated without chiefs.

The American Embassy neighborhood was reported quiet, with only casual shots in the streets. Francis expressed himself as having no fear of personal injury or of damage to the embassy.

are sending out delegates to arrange for sending out delegate to arrange strikes and to take over the Government authority, stated the delegates.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The Extremists are in complete power in Petrograd, Chancellor of the Exchequer Bonar Law told the House of Commons today.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 19.—Russia's civil war has not ended with the first defeat of Kerenky. Reports that a large new army, composed of various elements from the front, has reached Gatchina are current here. Early, though unofficial, reports say this army has come to overthrow the Bolsheviks. It is declared it already has driven in the Reds' outposts and is advancing steadily.

According to some versions, Kerenky is with this army. Another large force is said to be approaching Moscow, though for what purpose is unknown. There has been serious fighting in Kakan and Tasskent.

Gen. Kaledines and his Cosacks, who are said to be willing to support Kerenky if he will wage determined war against the Bolsheviks, occupy the great Denetz coal field, placing the entire Russian railway system at their mercy. Kaledines can now starve out Petrograd. At Khar'kov he has stopped 200 cars loaded with food for Petrograd and has announced that he will cut the city off from food and force its surrender.

Lening's Government has split. Commissioner of Trade and Industry Nigin, Minister of Interior Milutin, Minister of Food Terodovich, Minister for Labor Shvaplinski and the Commissioners of the Ways of Communication, the Press and the Red Guard, formally announced their resignations, declaring it was necessary to come to terms with other Socialists in order to form a Socialist Government.

Details of the fighting in Moscow between the Bolsheviks and troops of the Provisional Government are given by a member of the Moscow City Council who came to Petrograd to appeal for help. He was besieged for four days in the Council building.

Three thousand persons, chiefly members of the peaceful population, had been killed or wounded up to Wednesday.

Casualties at Moscow Now Placed at 7,000.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Casualties in the fighting in Moscow will probably reach 7,000 according to reliable information received here this afternoon, summarizing conditions in the city Sunday. Fighting continued there from Nov. 7 to 15, it was asserted. Many houses were damaged by artillery fire.

The revolutionaries are now in complete control of the city.

Mrs De Saulles Appears Like Schoolgirl in Court

Marguerite Mooers Marshall.

MINEOLA, L. I., Nov. 19.—When Mrs. Bianca DeSaulles entered the Mineola court room this morning to stand trial for the murder of her husband, John Longer De Saulles, she created an impression of almost incredible youth and fragility. She is slender and not over 5 feet in height. Her slightness and clear, smooth pallor were accentuated by her diaphanous white chiffon blouse with its low, rolling collar, and her clinging, many-pleated black skirt. Her heavy, soft dark hair was drawn straight back from her forehead, looped over her ears and wound in a loose, thick coil at the nape of her slender neck.

She sat with her counsel, and beside her was a motherly, gray-haired figure, Mrs. Pinesas A. Seaman, wife of the Sheriff. It is Mrs. Seaman who has cared untiringly for Mrs. De Saulles during her three months' sojourn in jail, and a strong affection has sprung up between the two women.

But Mrs. De Saulles scarcely looked in the direction of her friend. Occasionally she exchanged a word with one of her lawyers, but for the most part she sat squarely in her chair, her dark eyes gazing fixedly before her. Apparently she was trying to keep herself as unconscious as possible of her surroundings.

She does not look her twenty-three years. She does not look a mother, although it is because of her motherhood and her mother love that she is in court today, her counsel will contend. With no member of her family beside her, with her motherly, white dress, her youthful severe self-control, her quiet, unflinching, and the woman present for business reasons there were not more than a dozen women in the court-room at any one time.

SLOW SELECTING JURY FOR MRS. DE SAULLES; INSANITY TO BE PLEA

after Frank Roberts had been excused. Mr. Roberts said he was employed on the Nassau County Review, but could not say whether his paper had ever carried a story of the De Saulles case. He said he was a printer.

Davis, in answer to Henry A. Uterhart, chief counsel for Mrs. De Saulles, said that if he were instructed that Mrs. De Saulles killed her former husband, he would find a verdict of guilty. He was challenged, but Judge Manning, after questioning him, found that he had not fully grasped the purport of the question. The challenge stood just the same.

The next three talemans were excused because they had formed opinions. Two admitted that it would require evidence to change their view. John R. Raynor of Oyster Bay said he had read the papers and formed an opinion and that "no evidence could wipe it out."

Mr. Uterhart called on Mrs. De Saulles, whose eyes had been open ever prospective jury, but he was not asked what his opinion was. Samuel A. Carl of Oyster Bay said a revolver in her possession would not prejudice him against her and that the further fact that she had no in-

STOCKS TAKE A JUMP AS MARKET CLOSES

At the close of the most depressing day the stock market has experienced this year, with small trading and falling prices, particularly in Liberty Bonds, there came a sudden turn of the tide in the last fifteen minutes and stocks sprang upward in surprising manner. Railroads led the van, Union Pacific and Reading gaining four points in almost as many minutes and New York Central taking two points in the same time.

United States steel, after holding the year guard line all day, moved forward for a four point gain of its own. As the closing gong sounded at 3:30, every stock on the list was waiting up to join in the advance. In the absence of definite news the rise was attributed to the short interest rushing to cover in advance of a general improvement.

Liberty bonds of the new four per cent issue went down to-day on stock exchange to the lowest price that would have held. The $100 bonds sold at 97, a decline of three points below par. Balances of considerable amounts were said to be due to subscribers converting their patriotic subscriptions into cash to use for other purposes, principally taxes and low price bargains in the stock market.

While the stocks were sagging, the three and one-half per cent was rising in price and selling steadily above the higher interest bearing issue. Their price was between 99.02 and 99.50 for a $100 bond. Complete tax exemption was the reason assigned for the preference.

Italian and Russian foreign exchange went down to new low levels to-day. The Italian lire is now at 46 per cent discount in American exchange. English exchange holds steady at 10 cents discount to the pound sterling. Holland exchange is now at a premium and the Dutch guilder in world finance ranks higher than the American gold dollar.

British Troops Make Successful Raids on Greenland Hill and Other Defenses.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Heavy artillery fighting is still in progress on the Verdun front east of the Meuse, says today's official report.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—"In the battle area during the night the enemy's artillery was more active," says today's official statement. "Warwickshire and Scottish troops carried out successful raids last night on Greenland Hill, north of Roubaix and in the neighborhood of Monchy-lez-Preaux."

TELLS CITY HOW TO SAVE $10,000,000 THIS YEAR

Director of Bureau Submits to Aldermen Plan to Cut the City Budget.

Ernest P. Goodrich, Director of the Bureau of Municipal Research, showed the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen this afternoon how $10,000,000 could be cut from the 1918 budget of $40,000,000.

The first step in the programme of saving, Mr. Goodrich said, should be a refusal to countenance the increase of any salary that is now as high as $5,000 or over. But all salary increases to employees below the $5,000 margin should be sustained by the Board of Aldermen, the speaker believed.

Several hundred thousand dollars could be saved by cutting unnecessary lights, he said. Cutting London as an instance of public lighting economy, Mr. Goodrich pointed out that statistics do not show that the decrease in the number of street lamps has increased crime.

KRULWITCH IS CLEARED.

No Proof Against G. O. P. Leader, but Son's Indictment Stands.

Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions today dismissed the indictments for violation of the primary election laws against Samuel Krulwitch, Republican leader of the Seventeenth Assembly District. The indictments against Krulwitch's son, Alvin, will stand.

Krulwitch was charged by the Democratic Chairman of the Board of Election Inspectors with aiding his son in causing a false canvass of the ballots cast for John Purroy Mitchell and William H. Bennett for the Republican Mayoralty nomination.

Judge Mulqueen said there was no legal proof against the elder Krulwitch.

GENERAL MAUDE DIES; MAJOR ROTHSCHILD KILLED

London Announces Deaths of Mesopotamian Commander and Officer in Palestine.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Gen. Maude, British Commander in Mesopotamia, died yesterday.

Major Evelyn De Rothschild, son of the late Leopold De Rothschild, has been killed in Palestine. He was in the same regiment as his cousin, the Hon. Neil Petross, son of the Earl of Rosebery, who died recently of wounds received in the Palestine fighting.

Leut. Gen. Sir Frederick Stanley Maude was fifty-three years old. He was a son of the late Gen. Sir Frederick Maude. He served in the South African War and on various British fronts in the world war. On August 28, 1916, he was placed in command of the Mesopotamian Army.

He won an unbroken series of successes. He captured Kut-el-Amara, where Gen. Townshend's army had been compelled to surrender, and last March took Baghdad, later pushing up the Tigris more than 100 miles beyond the latter city.

HOBOKEN TO SELL COAL TO THE POOR NEAR COST

The Hoboken Chamber of Commerce today will establish ten stations throughout that city, where coal will be distributed in small quantities at the same price retail that is paid for coal in large quantities.

This is a direct blow at the small dealer, who has been charging his customers up to $15 a ton for coal sold in small buckets or bags, while the same product sold by the ton at wholesale has been costing from $8.15 to $10.

An agreement to subsidize the cost of supply of the city has been reached whereby the retail coal dealer will refuse to sell coal except to persons who make formal application in writing for their supply.

The proposed application demands information regarding how much coal the prospective buyer purchased last year, the name of the dealer who sold it to him, the price paid, how much coal he has purchased this year and from whom, and the amount on hand at the time of filing the application.
