

CANADIAN CAVALRY DESTROYS GERMAN BATTERY IN RAID

CANADIAN CAVALRY FIGHTS WAY OUT OF GERMAN LINES

Gallops In and Destroys Battery, Stampedes Horses and Bayonets Way Back.

CANADIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN PHOENIX, Nov. 25 (By Canadian Press L-44)—Canada was splendidly represented in the great British advance of Nov. 20, which broke the Hindenburg line and drove the enemy back on Cambrai. For the first time since the German retreat from Bapaume last spring, the Canadian cavalry went into action with their horses.

After waiting a long time opposite the village of Masnières for the signal which sent them into action the "Hell-for-Leather" Fort Garry's galloped to the attack. They succeeded in crossing the L'Escaut Canal and penetrated the enemy's country.

What followed equals anything in cavalry exploits in the history of the Empire. A single squadron found itself all alone, racing forward, with the enemy to the right and left of them, the Fort Garry's galloped over the crest of a hill concealing the enemy's guns. Advancing down the slope they found themselves facing a battery of four light German field guns. Charging straight for the battery, sabring everything as they came, the officers and men raced to the guns.

In line of troop columns they advanced, coming so quickly that the enemy had no time to man two of his guns. One there was cut off and put out of action. The gunners attempted to blow up the fourth. The cavalry wiped out that battery with the sword. The majority of the enemy gunners attempted flight and only a few brave men stood at attention beside their cannon. On swept the little squadron. The retreating enemy's infantry were engaged.

Dark found our cavalry two miles inside the enemy's territory, commanded by a Lieutenant. A defensive position was essential. With sword the horsemen fought their way through to a sunken road. There they dismounted. Two messengers sent back to report their position had their horses shot under them, but struggled back to our lines. Darkness was falling. The gallant band was isolated. Stamping their horses to divert the enemy's machine gun fire, what was left of the squadron prepared to return.

As they had galloped forward, using the sabre, they now fought their way back on foot with their bayonet. The retreat was a succession of hand-to-hand struggles. Four times the little party met working parties with the bayonet and dispersed them. Midnight had passed when they reached Masnières again and fought their way through the enemy infantry in the town to a wrecked bridge, where they crossed to safety.

Forty-three of the men came through unscathed, and they brought back their wounded and over a dozen prisoners.

BIG CAN OF POWDER FOUND IN COAL FOR STEAMSHIP

Five Pound Container in Cargo of Barge Transferring Fuel to the Caracas—Army Men Investigating

A five-pound container of powder, with the screw top tightly fastened, was found today in a cargo of coal aboard the barge Evelyn Y., which was being steamed to the Red D. Line Steamship Company's dock in Brooklyn. The coal was being transferred from the barge to the hold of the steamship Carlos Meana of No. 38 Atlantic Avenue, who was helping transfer the coal, discovered the container. A telephone message was sent to Police Headquarters and the find was turned over to the Explosive Squad.

Starting in mid the explosion of last Saturday night in a police station in Milwaukee, the police took no chances with the container. They opened it carefully out in the air. Officers put some of the powder on a piece of paper and touched it with a match. It was a puff and a flame, showing that the powder was active.

PROF. MATTHEWS, TEACHER OF JOURNALISM, DROPS DEAD

Member of Pulitzer School Faculty, Long Prominent in Newspaper Work, Stricken in Station.

Prof. Franklin Matthews of the faculty of the Pulitzer School of Journalism of Columbia University, dropped dead on the Long Island Railroad platform in the Pennsylvania Terminal today while en route from his Long Island home to the university. The body was taken to the station hospital pending orders from the Matthews family.

Prof. Matthews lived at No. 427 Manor Avenue, Woodhaven. He was fifty-seven years old. For the past five years he had been connected with the school with the School of Journalism, teaching practical newspaper work. He was a graduate of Cornell University and began newspaper work in Philadelphia in 1883, coming to New York in 1899 and joining the staff of the Sun.

In addition to his newspaper work, Prof. Matthews did considerable writing for magazines. An article on "Wide Open New York," published by him in 1908, was the entering wedge to the investigation which called Richard Croker to the witness stand, where he stated that he worked for his own pocket all the time. Prof. Matthews was a correspondent in Cuba during and after the Spanish-American War and was the correspondent of the Sun with the American battleship fleet on the cruise around the world. In 1912 Prof. Matthews joined the staff of the Times and went from there to the school of Journalism.

COAL NOW BEING MINED AT RECORD BREAKING RATE

"No One Will Freeze," Says Head of One of the Big Operating Companies.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—Leaders of the coal industry are optimistic with regard to the situation. The president of one of the largest anthracite producing companies said today: "The anthracite mines are producing more than ever before. If nothing goes wrong at the mines and if the people carry out their usual use of hard coal, all will have enough to keep warm. No one will freeze."

"The cobaltion of the priority order on Nov. 20 will help conditions. That order was bituminous and not on anthracite, but the same cars that carry soft coal can be used for hard coal, and a great number of these cars which have been going to the lakes will be released to bring anthracite coal in this direction."

Altoona reports that shipments on the Pennsylvania Railroad have increased tremendously within the last week. From 1,100 to 2,900 carsloads of bituminous are being sent through the yards there daily and there is now no shortage of cars.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The Lehigh Valley Transportation Company and the Ontario and Western Railroad to-day asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to increase water rates on anthracite to New England by varying amounts ranging from 25 to 50 cents per gross ton.

Three U. S. Soldiers Die in France From Various Causes.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The death from various causes were announced to-day officially. Private Joseph L. Boyce, infantry, died Nov. 11 from heart disease; emergency address, Lawrence Boyce, 115 E. 125th St., Tittus, Pa.; Bugler Marion C. Stoddard, infantry, died Nov. 15, accidental bullet wound; mother, Mrs. Georgia M. Stoddard, Silver Springs, N. Y.; Corporal Horace Foulds, headquarters company, infantry, died Nov. 15, hemorrhage; emergency address, Harry Foulds, 348 Clifton Place, Newark, N. J.

Tommy Takes a Whack at the Ornamental Home Guards.
LONDON, Nov. 25 (By Mail).—The Home Guards, who have done sentry duty at the War Office for years, wear a gorgeous uniform of plumed brass helmet, shining brass breast plate, scarlet jacket, white trousers and high jackboots. The other day two Tommies were passing in their full marching kit-dress, with horn and fife from the trenches.

One of them, not a Londoner, had never seen the guard, he looked them over contemptuously and taking a derisive turn in their direction, said "I say, Bull—BOLDIER!"

TRIAL OF MEANS IS POSTPONED FOR FULL JURY PANEL

Talesmen, Summoned From All Over County, Caused Delay in Opening of Case.

Special From THE EVENING WORLD, CONCORD, N. C., Nov. 25.—The trial of Gaston B. Means, charged with the murder of Mrs. Maude A. King, the wealthy New York woman, on Aug. 29 last was to have begun today, but owing to delay in the response of a special venire of 150 men, a number agreed upon by both state and defense, the opening was postponed at noon until 9:30 A. M. tomorrow. The jury panel has been called from all over the county, which necessitated the delay.

Gaston Means, the defendant, was in court seated with his counsel. He was in the best of moods. A broad smile which was directed toward everyone alike, expanded his face. His attention was directed especially to the press table and he discussed its different occupants in whispers with his counsel.

The prosecution is being directed by State Solicitor Hayden Clement, assisted by L. C. Caldwell, R. O. Everett and Jake T. Newell. Its chief witnesses comprise John T. Dooling, Assistant District Attorney of New York, and Federal Agent C. H. Ambrose.

The defense is being represented by an array of counsel which includes all the prominent lawyers of the town and county.

The courtroom was filled to capacity, but because of the routine work of the opening there was no overcrowding.

Mrs. Gaston Means and Means's father and two of his brothers were in court. Upon the arrival of the prisoner his wife went forward and took a seat at the counsel table beside him. She was dressed in a dark blue serge suit with a small dark hat and fur.

Both sides are eager and confident, and it is predicted the trial will be the bitterest in the history of North Carolina. One question that no one seems able to answer is on which side Mrs. Mary Melvin, the dead woman's sister, will be found. No one appears to know whether she will testify for the State or for Means. She has stuck by Means since the alleged murder, and has been staying at the home of Means's parents here. It is reported the State has summoned her as a witness.

IRISH CARDINAL DENOUNCES REPUBLICAN MOVEMENT

Declares Plan Means Disaster and Collapse and Can Never Be Realized.

DUBLIN, Nov. 25.—Cardinal Logue, the Roman Catholic Primate of all Ireland, in a pastoral letter, describes the Irish Republican movement as ill considered and Utopian. If persevered in, he says, it cannot fail to entail suffering and disorganization, and is sure to end in disaster, defeat and collapse.

He declares it is a dream which no man in his sober senses can hope to see realized, either by an appeal to the peace conference of the European potentates, or to physical force by hurling an unarmed people against an empire which has 5,000,000 trained men.

DOCTOR AND DRUGGIST HELD.

Brooklyn Physician Alleged to Have Sold Detectives Heroin.

Dr. Reginald M. H. Banbury, No. 261 Warren Street, Brooklyn, and Samuel E. Strawgate, No. 180 Smith Street, Brooklyn, a druggist, were arraigned in the Federal Court in Brooklyn to-day charged with violating the narcotic laws. It is alleged the druggist failed to register the sale to the physician and that the latter sold half an ounce of heroin to detectives for $15. Banbury was held in $2,000 bail, Strawgate in $2,500.

Japanese Mission Home, Tells of U. S. Big Part in War.

TOKYO, Nov. 25.—Viscount Kikuchi Ichi and the members of the Japanese Mission to the United States, which he headed, arrived home to-day after an uneventful trip. No formal reception was given the returning mission, in accordance with the wishes of Viscount Ichi.

The newspapers give much space to a statement by the mission regarding the vast war work of the United States.

Steel Common Makes a Bullish Movement.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—A bull movement in the last hour sent prices to the highest point of the day on the Stock Exchange this afternoon. Steel common jumped to 24 points in 15 1/2. Louisiana advanced to 23 1/2 and Republic touched 23 1/2.

crews have been wiped out either by machine gun fire at close range or by bombs.

Naturally many of the airmen had miraculous escapes from death and some, of course, have paid the full price and have gone to swell the toll of brave men who have given their lives for their king and country. Among the hairbreadth escapes reported is that of an aviator whose machine was torn to pieces while he was fighting German infantry with his machine gun. He was caught in the shellfire and all the wings of his machine were shot away.

Fortunately he was flying only twenty or thirty feet above the ground and close to his own lines. He crashed in No Man's Land and found himself unhurt. He immediately came under rifle and machine-gun fire, but he found a German rifle with some ammunition and engaged the enemy singlehanded. As he fired he worked his way back until he reached one of his own patrols.

There is not much humor in fighting of this nature, but one incident occurred which is making the whole British air service laugh. One of the youngest British airmen was flying at a low altitude when four enemy machine-guns opened on him. He swooped down and shot three of his opponents as he swept by. The fourth machine-gun kept firing and the aviator, in a spirit of boyish mischief, leaned over the side of his car and wriggled his fingers in joyous derision at the German. Just as he was in the midst of this interesting performance his opponent put a bullet squarely through the brain of the aviator's open hand.

THREE BROTHERS ON TRIAL.

Comiskey Charged With Gung Murder in Long Island City.
Thomas, James and Martin Comiskey, brothers, of Long Island City, were placed on trial before Justice Van Sice of the Queens Supreme Court to-day on a charge of having shot Harry Alexander to death in the saloon of Hugh Quinn, Vernon Avenue and Fifth Street, Long Island City, on the night of Aug. 2.

The prosecution charges that Alexander, a former pugilist, had incurred the enmity of a gang of which the Comiskies were members, and that the brothers were commissioned to shoot him. The District Attorney declares he will produce all the witnesses to the murder. Attorney Eugene N. L. Young, for the defense, will charge that members of a Bronx gang killed Alexander as the result of a bet.

"KEEP ON KNITTING FOR OUR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS"

Secretaries Baker and Daniels Urge the Women of the Country to Continue Their Patriotic Work.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Another appeal to the women of the country to keep on knitting or in other ways making comforts for soldiers and sailors was made to-day by Secretaries Baker and Daniels through the Red Cross, where the following statement was issued by the War Council:

"Secretary Baker and Secretary Daniels wish the people of the country to know that under no circumstances do they want to discourage our good women from knitting or otherwise voluntarily providing through the Red Cross, comforts for our soldiers and sailors.

GERMAN TROOPS WIPED OUT BY BYNG'S FLYERS

The whole appearance of the British and French gave a feeling of great power because of the perfect organization and order of all ranks, accentuated by the timeliness with which they are arriving in the vicinity of the battle front.

The correspondent went on a tour of the northern fighting front, where the great battle is continuing with violence. Major Gen. Di Giorgio was found commanding the extreme left of the Fourth Army at the point where the fighting was heaviest.

Throughout yesterday and to-day the battle in the mountains developed in a steady succession of heavy attacks and counter-attacks, with occasional brief intervals for reforming the lines and reorganizing new positions. Twelve different enemy assaults had been made within a few hours preceding the correspondent's visit to headquarters on the field, but the Italian lines had not yielded a foot of ground, and Gen. Di Giorgio, while grave because of the terrific struggle his men were making against tremendous odds, was calm and confident that the defensive line would hold until reinforcements were swung into the fighting line.

There were evidences of a bitter struggle just ahead, for along the route long lines of Italian infantry, decimated in the last few days, were reforming to return to the fight. They showed the fearful strain they had been under, but there was no trace of wavering, and the long lines breathed a spirit of eagerness.

Berlin Reports Only Minor Engagements in Italy.

BERLIN, Nov. 25 (via London).—Only local engagements on the Italian front are reported in to-day's statement from Army Headquarters. The Germans are said to have achieved successes in these operations.

FAKE WAR CHARITY SOLICITOR FOUND GUILTY OF FRAUD

Three-Year Term Possible, With Fine Equal to Collections, Alleged to Be $3,300.

A jury in General Sessions took just five minutes today to reach a verdict convicting Eugene Jess, advertising solicitor, of No. 629 St. Ann's Avenue, of the fraudulent collection of money for pretended charitable purposes.

Judge Malone, in remanding Jess to the Tombs pending sentence, intimated that he might impose the maximum penalty, three years in Sing Sing and a fine amounting to the sums fraudulently collected, which in this case would be about $3,300.

"The people of New York are being swindled by unscrupulous men, who use the name of charity," said Judge Malone. "It is high time to put a stop to it."

It was shown that Jess obtained donations and programme advertisements for "a concert to be given at the Manhattan Opera House on Oct. 21 for the benefit of the American Red Cross." The specific donation on which the indictment was based was that of a Chinese merchant, Ho Kai, No. 7 Mott Street, who paid $40 for an advertisement.

The "dummy" programme shown to advertisers represented that the patronesses included Mrs. Robert Bacon, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Mrs. Henry Clews, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt Jr., Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney and many other women equally well known. Assistant District Attorney Donohue produced evidence to show that the names of these women had been used without authorization and that the concert was not authorized by the American Red Cross.

Solicitors for programme advertisements, it was testified, presented a letter setting forth that the money paid for advertising would pay all the expenses of the concert, leaving it to be inferred that all the money paid for tickets would be given to the Red Cross.

District Attorney Swann has received scores of letters complaining against men and women who apparently are growing rich by fake charity schemes, mostly using the war as the basis of appeal to the generosity of the patriotic—collecting in the name of "the boys over there," but really for the benefit of "we boys" over here.

An investigation of the Wheaton Service Corporation, No. 347 Fifth Avenue was started to-day. This concern has promoted several alleged benefits for New York regiments and is now promoting another.

Mr. Swann said many army officers have been duped by schemers wearing military uniforms. Thus officers are induced to lend their names to bogus charities. The solicitors work on a fifty-fifty contract. Mr. Swann said, but they manage to get 70 per cent.

The Grand Jury to-day received the testimony of several witnesses regarding George F. Sweeney, who had the advertising contract for the Army and Navy bazaar.

C. Donald Fox, promoter of the same bazaar, pleaded not guilty to-day on indictments charging forgery and grand larceny.

MAIL CARRIERS TO SELL WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Will Carry a Supply and Are Urged to Solicit Along Their Routes.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Every city and rural mail carrier in the United States will be a salesman for war savings stamps in the campaign which opens next Monday, under orders issued to-day by the Post Office Department. Carriers will be supplied with savings stamps and urged to solicit along their routes.

Favorable notations will be made on the records of carriers who make good sales.

USE OF THE RIFLE STRONG POINT IN PERSHING TRAINING

Our Soldiers Expected to Go Into Battle Better Marksmen Than Foe.

AMERICAN FIELD HEADQUARTERS, France, Nov. 25 (United Press).—America's great new army will take the field against the Germans armed with the spirit of the offensive.

The army that strikes blows keeps the other army busy trying to ward them off. This is the principle of the training which thousands of young officers and privates are going through to-day in the camps of France. It is the French war idea. Byne's recent drive illustrates it is the British idea.

Nevertheless, while teaching American fighters the new man-killing specialties devised by the Allies to offset the cruelties of the Boche, the whole scheme of instruction retains its American characteristics.

The rifle and the bayonet will be the principal weapons Americans will use in the trenches. Americans will go into the line a better marksmen than Fritz, squating over there in his concrete emplacements. If it comes to a rifle combat between an American and the individual Boche, the American will have the advantage.

In the bayonet attack our soldiers will reckon only on killing the enemy—not in warding off bayonet thrusts from the enemy's blade.

To build up the unbeatable spirit in the army as a whole our forces are being trained in the rigid unquestioning kind of discipline taught at West Point. An army of West Pointers cannot be taught in months—but as far as possible the West Point idea is being breathed into the camps on the hillsides and in the valleys of this great training area.

Young officers a few months out of civilian life, graduates of American training camps, find out when they come over here that they must undergo another period of training in the West Point style. They have to specialize on every department of war for several weeks.

This means discipline. The training will give them the spirit of invincibility.

U BOAT VICTIMS ARRIVE.

Eight of Rochester's Crew Show Evidence of Suffering.

With frost bitten feet and still showing evidences of the sufferings they had endured, eight members of the crew of the American freighter Rochester, torpedoed off the Irish Coast, Nov. 2, arrived at an Atlantic port to-day on an American liner. They are David Caldwell, William F. Elenhart, Thaddeus Pellow, Oscar Gales, Edward McCauland, Warren B. Thompson, Charles Boig and William Poulos.

Caldwell said the U boat gave no warning of the attack and that the crew had no evidence of the submarine either before or after the Rochester was torpedoed.
