

GERMANS KEEP DRIVE IN RUSSIA; EXECUTE RED GUARDS

had conquered the waves and taken to safety.

WORK OF RESCUE CONTINUES FOR FIVE HOURS.

The work of rescue occupied five hours and at the end of the endeavor it was stated probably most of the alien passengers were lost.

FLORIZEL DIRECTOR AND HIS DAUGHTER SWEEPED TO DEATH

When naval gunners had shot a line from the shore across the bow of the Florizel as she lay submerged from her funnel aft and saw no attempt on the ship to make the line fast, it was believed that all those on board were dead.

SHIP GOES ON ROCKS IN RAGING BLIZZARD.

Forcing his ship against a blizzard in which blinding snow was driven by winds often reaching hurricane proportions, the Florizel's commander, Capt. W. J. Martin, yesterday morning sought to round Cape Race on his voyage from here to Halifax and New York.

Apparently, however, he misjudged his position, for the Florizel crashed on the jagged rocks of Broad Cove on the east side of the island, north of the cape. The region is uninhabited and means of rescue were not available.

These reported boats could not be used and expressed doubt if any on board could be saved. Through the day reports came that the ship was going to pieces and her after decks were being submerged.

RELATIVES FRANTIC TO LEARN SURVIVORS' NAMES.

Frantic efforts were made by relatives of the passengers aboard the Florizel to learn the names of those picked up by the Prospero. The first message from that vessel stating that at least forty persons were waiting to be rescued held out hope that others might be saved, and the Prospero's commander was directed by the Minister of Shipping to send the names at the earliest possible moment.

Although the sea to-day was not as rough as it was when the steamer struck on the rocks, reports indicated that rescue work was extremely dangerous. The Florizel's wireless was wrecked, fires were out, and the ship, helpless and at the mercy of the waves, offered little protection against the cold and the fury of the elements.

Many of those lost yesterday had attempted to reach shore in small boats, which were tossed about and swamped almost in sight of men and women watching from the bow of the Florizel, or from the rigging, where a few had climbed for safety. Others who had taken refuge in the forecastle were driven out when that part of the ship was battered in.

WRECKED BOAT WAS SISTER OF U-S 5 VICTIM.

The Florizel was built for rough work in the northern ice fields as a sealer, as well as for passenger and freight service on the New York route. With her hull sheathed like a battleship and with her sloping bow reinforced with concrete to crush ice, she attracted the attention of the Russian Government at the outset of the war, and a large prize was offered for her as an ice breaker to keep open the port of Archangel. The offer was refused, however.

Queen of Red Cross Fleet Wrecked in a Blizzard Near Cape Race, and Veteran Who Commanded Her

Heavy Losses Were Inflicted by Allies Near Armentieres and Dixmude.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—The official statement from the British headquarters in France and Belgium today says: "Early this morning a hostile raiding party was repulsed with loss east of Armentieres. The enemy's artillery has shown activity southwest of Cambrai and in the Meuse sector."

"Four German attempts during the night of Feb. 23-24 to approach our advanced posts at various points on the front were checked by our barrage fire, machine guns and grenades. Artillery activity on both sides was general along the front, most intense in the region of Dixmude, where we effectually silenced several batteries by our destructive fire. Our aviators have carried out a number of flights and engaged in several aerial combats."

LENINE-TROTZKY HAVE BEEN SHOWN IN GERMAN PAY

Amazing Peace Terms Accepted Emphasize Importance of Paris Revelations.

The amazing peace terms accepted by Lenin and Trotsky have given new and important emphasis to the charges made with documentary support early in February that a number of the Bolshevik leaders had been in German pay. The Evening World reprints a Paris despatch to The World on Feb. 8:

PARIS, Feb. 8.—Leon Trotsky, the Bolshevik Foreign Minister, and Nikolai Lenin, the Bolshevik Premier, are named, with others of the Bolshevik, in official German documents which the Petit Parisien publishes to-day, in continuation of its revelations designed to show that Germany aided in the disruption of the Russian Army and fomented trouble in many countries even before the war began.

One letter tells of the opening of an account "for Comrade Trotsky's enterprise" in a German bank; others disclose the payment to Lenin of sums varying from 150,000 to 200,000 marks (nominally $17,500 to $25,000).

The documents, the Petit Parisien asserts, were brought to France by a French scientist, who obtained them from a Russian revolutionary newspaper. One of them, dated March 2, 1917, is from the German Imperial Bank to all its representatives in Switzerland instructing them to honor all demands for money from Nikolai Lenin, M. Zinovieff, President of the Petrograd Soviet; Leon Trotsky, M. Kohneneff, one of the Russian representatives at the Brest-Litovsk peace negotiations; M. Sushomson and Mazza Koslovsky, who has been described as the chief German agent in Russia; Mme. Alexandra Kollontay, a supporter of Lenin, and now in charge of the Bolshevik Department of Public Welfare; Gen. Sivers and M. Mercala. The money was to be paid "under certain conditions."

Another letter is dated at Stockholm, Sept. 21, 1917, from Y. Furstenberg to Raphael Schumann at Haparanda. It reads:

"Honored Comrade: Varburg's Bank, on receipt of a telegram from the President of the Rhenish Westphalian Syndicate, has opened an account for Comrade Trotsky's enterprise. The lawyer has brought arms and arranged for their conveyance as far as Lulea and Varda. Instruct the firm of Essen Sons at Lulea as to whom they are to be consigned and to whom the sum asked for by Comrade Trotsky is to be paid over."

In another circular Zinovieff is named, as is also M. Lovnatscharky, Commissioner of Public Instruction. It follows:

"Circular Nov. 2, 1914. Imperial Bank to representatives Niabankon at Stockholm and to agents Diskonto Gesellschaft and Deutsche Bank: At the present time pourparlers between authorized agents of the Imperial Bank and the revolutionaries Zinovieff and Lovnatscharky are terminated. The said persons addressed themselves to certain financiers, who, in return, addressed themselves to our representatives. We consent to uphold the agitation and propaganda they intend to make in Russia on the sole expressed condition that this propaganda, directed by the above named Zinovieff and Lovnatscharky, touches the armies at the front. If the agents of the Imperial Bank present themselves to your banker we beg you to open necessary credits, which will be covered by Berlin at your first request. RISSER."

Another is addressed to the banks above mentioned as well as to the Diskonto Gesellschaft agents at Copenhagen and to the representative of the Deutsche Bank in Switzerland.

GERMANS STILL DRIVE THROUGH TERRITORIES OF HUMBLED RUSSIA

retary, and William C. Huntington, Commercial Attache, and some members of the staffs of the Japanese and Chinese Embassies leave to-night for Volodga. Col. James A. Ruggles, the American Military Attache, will stay in Petrograd for the time being.

The Germans into the provinces were still advancing late Saturday and that the Americans defended themselves vigorously, wounded five of the Mexicans. The affair, these advices said, might result more seriously than supposed, possibly in the withdrawal of the Americans.

Officials regarded the incident as a case of robbery rather than an outbreak of anti-American feeling.

Efforts to retake the oil fields about Tampico from Manuel Palacios have been resumed by the Carranza troops with some success.

Socialists Cheer Him, While Other Members Call Him a Traitor.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 25.—There are numerous indications in Germany of a very systematic campaign to promote a new general strike, says a Berlin despatch to the Weser Zeitung of Bremen.

A revolution in Germany was predicted by Dr. Cohn, Independent Socialist Deputy, in an address to the Reichstag on Friday, the Cologne Volkszeitung says. Dr. Cohn's address, made during the debate on the peace treaty with Ukraine, threw the Reichstag into an uproar.

"It is not correct to say that the people of Russia's Baltic provinces are longing for German rule," he declared.

"The treaty with Ukraine is not the first step toward general peace. I see the day coming when revolution will reach Germany, and the people will take the fate of their rulers into their own hands."

The Independent Socialists cheered the speaker. From other parts of the house came shouts of "traitor."
