

SALE OF BAD MEAT BY BIG PACKERS IS CHARGED BY ARMY

Allegations Made Against Morris & Co. and Wilson & Co. by Federal Trade Board.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The sale of spoiled meat and other food products to the army, with the knowledge that the food was unfit for human consumption, is charged in complaints by the Federal Trade Commission against Morris & Co. and Wilson & Co., two of the five great packing corporations.

It is alleged that thousands of pounds of unfit meat and chicken were sold to Camp Travis, Tex. Most of it was detected and condemned, but it is said some of it may have been passed and consumed.

The alleged offenses were committed last December and are the same upon which indictments were obtained in Texas, but afterward dropped because returned under section 4 of the Food Law, which carries no penalty.

If the present complaint should be sustained the commission could do no more than order the packers to "cease and desist" from the practices. Upon repetition the offenders might be prosecuted.

A report to the Food Administration from E. A. Feden, Federal Administrator for Texas, is expected this week. Officials of the Administration say they probably will find some penalty to fit the cases, even if only on the ground of food wastage.

Mr. Feden recently gave his view of the matter in a letter in which he said:

"The basic trouble in this case is evidently the attempt of the concern to do business in San Antonio without proper storage facilities for their meat. Coupled with this was their failure to take the precautions necessary in view of the inadequate storage facilities. My guess is that there was a good deal of rash and confusion at this time and that the whole thing was due to neglect rather than intention."

As to the unfit chickens, it is charged that they were prepared in unclean surroundings by barefoot Mexicans in an unscrubbed room and shipped partially cleaned to the Herbert C. Hoover, Federal Food Administrator, said today that twenty-six cartons of beef intended for use at the various army camps throughout the country have been condemned in the past fifteen days.

MOTHER PASSES DRUG TO SON IN COURTROOM

Heroin Found in Handkerchief Given to Man on Way to Jail and Both Now Are Held.

The alert eye of Magistrate Healy in West Side Court today frustrated an attempt of a mother to pass drugs to her son in a handkerchief as he was being led away to jail. Mrs. Rosina Malito, fifty-six, of No. 338 East 113th Street, was the offender and she was arrested, charged with violating the anti-narcotic law. Heroin was found in the handkerchief.

The incident occurred as Magistrate Healy ordered Louis Malito held in $1,500 bail on a charge of grand larceny. The mother in an apparently hysterical mood rushed up to the court rail with tears streaming down her cheeks. Her son too was in tears. The mother leaned far over the rail and handed him a handkerchief.

Magistrate Healy saw it. He had the mother held in $1,500 bail and said: "You may think because I am sitting back here that I am not observing. You will find out I see everything that is going on."

MEN JOIN WOMEN IN RUSH TO METAL MARKET OPENING

All Classes Giving Up Heirlooms in Exchange for War Savings Stamps.

Patriotic women of New York today gave up gold and silver, family heirlooms, vanity bags, mesh bags and all kinds of trinkets, to be melted down in Uncle Sam's mint and turned into money to help win the war.

The War Savings Stamp Metal Market was opened this morning on the second floor of the new Woolworth Building at Fortieth Street and Fifth Avenue, opposite the Public Library. Acting in co-operation with the War Savings Committee of Greater New York, the market is in charge of a committee headed by Mrs. Joseph Griswold Deane. The purpose of the committee is to exchange war savings stamps for gold, silver and platinum, metals much needed by the United States.

By 10 o'clock, the opening hour, the avenue was lined with limousines and other fashionable vehicles, while crowds of pedestrians poured into the building from the sidewalk. Besides the Chairman, there were Mrs. Charles L. Tiffany, Vice Chairman; Mrs. F. Louis Slade and Mrs. Charlotte DeLaford of the committee. Two expert appraisers were present and gold and silver weighing scales were in evidence.

Before noon hundreds of women, young and old, stylishly apparelled or clothed in ordinary attire, had visited the market and disgorged trinkets once held dear but now considered useless in view of the good they might do in providing sinews of war. The men were in the minority, but there were some who bravely went forward to sacrifice attackpins, charms, fobs and other bits of jewelry, without which at one time they would have felt only partly dressed.

The girls and women brought their gold and silver meshbags, vanity bags, earrings, bracelets, gold and silver powder, puff receptacles and other articles always dear to the feminine heart. They brought silver sets and old plates, solid gold and silver service, heirlooms which had been in families for many years and exchanged them for War Savings Stamps.

One elderly woman brought a silver service which had been her mother's wedding gift. But she remarked that it would do more good in the form of coin than lying for more years in her home. She went away happy and content with $25 in War Saving Stamps.

Among the first contributions was a silver coffee pot, the property of Gov. Whitman, to be exchanged for War Savings Stamps. It was to remain on exhibition during the rest of the day, until the market closes at 4 o'clock. There followed silver saltshakers, soup tureens, silver ladies, gold and silver goblets, ornaments and what nots of all descriptions. The market will remain open indefinitely.

Miss Beatrice Stutz, daughter of Jesse Straus, President of R. H. Macy Company, was the leading saleswoman, and Miss Evan Evans was cashier.

In the afternoon Assistant United States Treasurer Martin Vogel and Assayer V. Bovie of the Sub-Treasury were on duty.
